1503 students set record

Enrollment at SMC has reached an all time high at 1503 students, announced Dr. Cyril Futcher, academic dean, at the close of registration. The enrollment is the highest that it has ever been. The gain in students, said Dr. Futcher, was represented mainly in the nursing and technical programs. Acceptances were up in every conference in the Southern Union except the Georgia-Cumberland conference.

Introduced for the first time this year, the two year programs feature college credit for work in the industrial field. Un-like Andrews University, Walla Walla, and Union, courses carry transferrable college

SMC is also trying a new concept, developed last year, of teaching courses that carry college credit on the academy campuses. Among the academis are Forest Lake, Georgia-Cumberland, Madison, and possibly Pisgah. With the enrollment of these schools, the number of SMC materials and the control of the second process of the of SMC students stands at 1560. The purpose of these extention courses is to allow high school students to get college credit, to make use of their spare time, and to provide good public relations for the college, since most students who take college courses go on to attend SMC.

College given rare Civil War and Lincoln library

McKee Library has become the recipient of two valuable collections of books. These collections are only a part of a gift of over 40,000 volumes presented to the library by Dr. Vemon Thomas, a Seventh-day Adventist physician living in Texas. The John W. Fing Jr. collection of books on Abraham Lincoln is considered one of the outstanding major collections.

books on Abraham Lincoln is considered one of the outstanding private collections of this type. The collection contains both books and other Lincoln memorabilia, such as porttails, photographs by Brady, and a check bearing the signature of President Lincoln.

The Civil War collection included many documents and over 1400 hard-bound volumes dealing with this era of American history.

history.

According to Charles Davis, librarian,
"This only happens to a library of our size once in a lifetime."

The Lincoln and Civil War collections will be housed in a special library. The remaining volumes of the gift will be incorporated into the general library incorporates and collections will be ready for public use by the spring of 1974. Much work remains to be done before the special library is opened.

Accent Objectives

The Southern Accent staff has carefully analyzed the objectives and goals of the paper for this academic year. The function of this paper, and its role in the college and community have been given thoughtful consideration.

As we see things, the primary objectives of the Accent is to keep its readers informed about what is happening here at Southern Missionary College. If we fail to adequately disseminate information and to objectively report the news, all that has been attempted will have accomplished virtually

A secondary objective of this paper is to provide meaningful commentary on some of the issues relevent to the college and the community.

Editorial policy will not be arbitrarily decided upon by any one member of the staff. An editorial board will meet weekly to weigh the pros and cons of an issue before we take an editorial stand. This board is composed of the editor, associate editor, news editor, copy editor, and faculty advisor.

We do not feel that it is compulsory for the Accent to take a stand on every issue that arises. We will not hesitate, however, to express our views as long as we are convinced that our expressing them will ultimately construct rather than destroy.

We invite you, the readers, to voice your opinions through this medium. Letters to the editor are encouraged.

We realize that we are going to make many mistakes, and perhaps many more than are our share. But our errors should become fewer and fewer as the year progresses.

Mrs. Ellen White states, "It is God alone who can give success either in preparing or in circulating our publications." (Counsels to Writers and Editors, p. 14) It is no secret that the Accent staff is dependent upon God for the success of this newspaper.

Beard voted down

With nearly a two thirds majority, the faculty at their recent colloquium voted down the Faculty Senate proposal that beards be allowed on the SMC campus.

The proposal sent by the Senate to the faculty reads that the senators "voted that beards no longer be prohibited on campus and that this action be reviewed by the faculty assembly at the time of colloquium."

The minutes also record that the meeting was delayed until a quarum (19 senators) was reached.

Listed among the 13 members absent were two students. Since the Student Association does not function during the summer, and since the students serving on the Senate are appointed by the SA, there were no students available for the July 15 Senate meeting.

The beard issue will inevitably rise again. Study needs to be continued in this area, and when the issue is again presented, a more carefully outlined proposal is essential. This proposal would conceivably contain certain regulations and controls, and more time should be spent developing the philosophy and rational behind the issue.

Arrangements should be made to have a better representation of the senators whenever a meeting is held.

Students also need to be included in the drawing up of such plans. The Senate should be structured so as to include students even during the summer.

Whether the faculty were right or wrong in voting down the Senate proposal is a judgemental question to be answered individually. But may we suggest that when the issue of beards rises again, a more in-depth study be given

Faculty involvement with students urged at retreat

"Faculty involvement with students" was the theme of the recent faculty colloquium-retreat. The August 24-26 retreat was held on the weekend before

He advised each teacher to set up a specific time each day to be available in the office for counselling. Counselling, he pointed out, should be emphasized immediately after grades come out.

Dr. Knittel continued by urging the faculty to attend chapels, college Sabbath School, church, and other religious activstition, charter, and other rengious activities where the young people are. "Of all the people who need a spiritual recharge once a semester," he said in reference to Weeks of Prayer, "we as faculty stand at

Student Center to open Sunday

The new Student Center will be open for use this Sunday, September 9.

"It will not be completed but will be functional and open for student use," said Marji Costerisan, interior designer of the center.

The new center will house all of the student activities offices, Pastor Cummings office, a prayer chapel, snack bar, game room, formal and informal lounges, TV room and two conference rooms.

Costerisan has been awarded an assistantship to the University of Tennessee at Knoxville based on her work at the Student Center.

The center has something for everyone. "We designed the center to fill the needs of the students, to fit their personality and to encourage creativity," says Miss Costersian.

Vivid, warm colors are throughout the building. Potted folige and blooming flowers will also add to the atmosphere.

The snack bar will have a supply of sandwiches, fruit, and drinks as well as an assortment of snacks.

assortment of snacks.

The TV room will also have on display various trophies and awards won by the students and organizations on campus.

To begin with there will not be any wall hanging or paintings in the center. "The plan is to use the better of the paintings, crafts and sculptures done by students," reports Miss Costerisan.

The entire center was designed by Miss Marji Costerisan and Mrs. Bettie Griffin, both senior interior design students last year, under the direction of Miss Ellen Zollinger, instructor of Home

4-year nursing: biggest and fastest growing dept.

The B.S. Nursing department is experiencing several changes this year along with rapid growth.

The B.S. Nursing department is exper-iencing several changes this year along with rapid growth.

Mrs. Doris Payne has recently been appointed chairman of the department.

Mrs. Payne served as Associate Chairman since her arrival to this campus in 1968, reports Dr. Cyril Futcher, academic dean. She heads a team of twenty instructors on two campuses; ten in College-dale and ten in Orlando.

"B.S. Nursing is not only the largest but the fastest growing program on cam-pus," says Dr. Arno Kutzner, Registrar. "There are 215 students enrolled in the four year program."

Mrs. Payne reports there is an addition to the curriculum this year. The new course is called Physical Assessment. In recent years the demand for doctors far outnumbers the doctors available, as ourses have stepped in to fill the void. This course will prepare the nurse to give thorough and complete physical exam-inations, treat chronically ill patients, diagnose problems and recommend fur-ther care and treatment from a doctor.

The student nurse now receives hospital training at Florida Hospital and Memorial Hospital along with emergency room training at Edanger. B.S. Nursing is housed in three mobile homes located between McKee Library and Hackmen Hall. The new nursing building is still in the planning stages. The plans have been sent back to the architect for revisions. The original plans exceeded the budget by about $100,000.00 reports President Frank Knittel, and the plans must stay within a $275,000.00 level. There is $160,000.00 in the building fund now and a probable $50,000.00 can be obtained through special nursing grants. The remaining funds will be solicited of Chattanooga businesses and friends of the college.

The new building will be situated beeen McKee Library and the Tab. No date has been set for ground breaking

Student appreciation 'the main thing' in new cafeteria

SMC's cafeteria services, under the direction of Mr. Ron Grange, began serving the student populace from its newly acquired facilities beneath the new student center last April. Before, the cafeteria was set up in the old tabemacle in sort of a make-shift operation and affectionately called the "tabeteria by the students who had to frequent the facility. Paper plates and plastieware were used as eating utensils.

Now, the new coffering has the latest.

Now, the new cafeteria has the latest in cooking devices, has taken on several new cooks, offers two entrees at every dinner, has a serving area known as a "scramble system", which according to Mr. Grange is "much more efficient and faster", and has supplied silverware and plastic plates as mealtime utensils.

In regard to the new "scramble system", Mr. Grange wants students to understand that there are three hot food serving decks and that students should form three seperate lines to the individual form three seperate lines to the individual serving decks not a long single line. In order to increase the speed at which every-one is served Mr. Grange wishes that every-one would speak distinctly and loud enough for the servers to hear the orders for the various food items. Having I.D. cards readily available for insertion into the badge readers, also helps to speed up the process.

The Campus Kitchen is now under the direct supervision of Mr. Grange and food expense. The C.K. is still basically a short order restaurant, however, new items such as pizza, Sam's chicken and fish n' chips have taken a place on the permanent menu. Mr. Grange mentioned that business at the

SMC sports plans set for 73-74

The SMC Student Association believes: that athletics should play an important role in the life of the SMC student, and is therefore offering a variety of sporting events for this year. A thorough program has been developed that will give each individual-boy, girl, or faculty-the opportunity of participate.

Softball is now underway. The fastpitch captains and co-captains are Lyle! Botimer and Steve Spears, Nelson Thoresen and Ric Hale, Ken Chrispens and John Maretich, Marvin Burke and Randy Cockrell, and Dave Knecht and Bemie Corbett.

Captains for slow-pitch softball are Roger Wiehn, Don Davis, Bob Zollinger, Steve Salisbury, Wayne Okimi, and Bill

Exhibition games have been staged and the regular season is underway.

Hawaiian football will follow the softball season. This fast - moving version of flag football is being introduced on the campus for the first time this fall.

Hawaiian football differs from flag football in that the ball must be passed into the end zone rather than being carried into it. Three passes are allowed per down. There will, however, still be six men per team.

Second semester basketball and soccer will be offered. During the basketball season a one-on-one single elimination tournament will be held. Other scheduled events include tournaments in golf, tennis, and handball, a road rally, and a decathelon.

The Rolling Hills Country Club will be the site of the golf tournament. Involved here will be three classes-beginner, average, and superior.

The tennis competition will include singles and couple's double events.

The road rally will cover approximately twenty-five square miles in the surrounding countryside. Success in this event will depend upon the driver's skill and efficiency in handling his car on the

The decathelon will include the 100 yard dash, the 220 run, the mile run, the running broad jump, the standing broad jump, the high jump, football punting, softball throw, push-ups, and weight

On October 14, one of the largest track runs in this part of the country will be held on SMC's six mile cross-country course. The various divisions will include the open division with an accompanying six mile jaunt, a high school division with a two-mile race, and a one mile run for the beginner.

A number of A.A.U. runners will be participating from various schools, and the event will have full coverage from the Chattanooga News-Free Press.

Students are encouraged to start preparing now for this meet in order for SMC to be represented in each of these div-

Better organized sports for the women are being emphasized. The recreation committee is giving careful attention to this area. The success of this program depends, however, upon the amount of interest shown by the girls.

Everyone is encouraged to participate in the intramurals and other sports events during this athletic year. The most important goal for this year's recreational program is to strengthen the minds and bodies of the students and faculty as they participate in good Christian fun.

Students Continue A record 1525 students are currently carolled at Southern Missionary College, with 42 of these on the Orlando campus, coming; 100 more than expected with 42 of these on the Orlando campus, a record enrollment for that campus also. According to Dr. Arno Kutzner, director of Admissions and Records, many records were set with this year's enrollment. Currently enrolled is the largest freshman class ever, 530 students. There are 355 sophomores, 267 juniors and a record graduating class of 280 four-year seniors, along with 114 Associate of Science degree seniors.

Nursing continues to have the largest enrollment as far as majors go, with 409 claiming nursing as their final objective, with an almost even split between the 2 year and 4 year curricula. Then there are 163 Religion majors, 125 of which are planning to become ministers. The fastest growing major field is in the newly initiated building technology curriculum.

Of the 1525 students currently enrolled, 641 or about 42%, are new stu-dents. Many colleges' enrollments are dropping, but SMC's has increased. According to Dr. Kutzner, there are many

According to Dr. Kutzner, there are many reasons for this increase. One is the institution of the building technology courses. Enrollment in Religion majors is also up. Due to various summer youth evangelism tetrivities, many college students came to cnow of Seventh-Day Adventists and of Southern Missionary College. This was tecontributing factor to the enrollment nerease. "We have a growing church," and Dr. Kutzner, "and if our college losen't grow with it, we'd better find out why."

Why 1525?

With 1525 students traversing about campus, questions arise in one's mind as to why SMC was chosen by so many as the beacon of higher education. Perhaps, the grandiloquent pleas fur higher student enrollment by various faculty members throughout the Southern Union played an important

Four reasons for coming come to mind immediately.

The first being the rural setting upon which SMC has been placed. Many students are really anxious to leave their urban habitats and become part of SMC's bountiful greenery and richness. SMC's rolling lawns give a person a sense of easiness and relaxation. In addition, the people who reside here permanently are easy-going and rather pleasant.

Secondly, the buildings students patronize everyday are styled most attractively in a modernistic style. The physical plant of the campus as seen from a birds-eye view is laid out in a symmetrical Southern Plantation style.

Thirdly, an item in which most parents delight, is that SMC's standards are conservative, more so than any other S. D. A. college institutions. Grooming and dress codes are stringent, but, when compared to the immediate surrounding area, SMC's standards are merely conformative.

Finally, students are drawn to SMC because of its religious sincerety. SMC students need not feel odd when expressing their belief in Jesus Christ in the classroom, dorm room, or cafeteria. Christ is a way of life and people looked upon with sympathy if they have not accepted Christ as their Savior.

There are probably many other reasons as to why students chose SMC, but whatever the reason, we hope you enjoy your stay.

1525 too many?

When does a college become too large? When enrollment reaches 500,1000,1500,2000? Perhaps never! SMC is in danger of becoming too big. It is possible that in the face of 1500 plus students that we forget the one thousand five hundred individuals who make up this large number.

There are two groups who can make SMC a "small" college no matter what the enrollment happens to be-staff and students. Friendliness and helpfulness in the classrooms, church, offices, dorms, on the play fields, on the walks must be practiced by both. Specifically this means smiles, bello's, offices hours, willingness to listen, fairness in the grading, overlooking the objectional traits in each other—in short the extra mile of Chrisitan courtesy. There is no reason that SMC should not always be a "small" college.

Quotables

"Never underestimate the power of one word, or one phrase when it is under the influence of the Holy Spirit." John Strickland, MV secretary of the Georgia-Cumberland Conference, during Thursday chapel.

"When we lose the concept of who we are and where we are going, it's hard to keep our confidence in God." Mike Stevenson, MV secretary of the General Conference, during Friday evening vespers.

"You cannot be a Christian without sharing your faith." Stewart Crook, MV secretary fo the Carolina Conference, to the personal evangelism class Friday morning.

College classes taught on academy campuses

SMC is presently offering collegelevel classes on two academy campuses, Madison Academy and Forest Lake Academy. The courses taught are acceptable at any accredited college.

This program came into being when it was noticed that many academy seniors were taking only two or three classes to finish their high school requirements. By adding a college class it was felt the students would make better use of their time. SMC benefits because many students attend the same college that gave them their credits.

At Madison Academy, English Comp. is taught by Marilee Easter Cothren. Students from Highland Academy join with Madison for the class once a week. Enrollment is expected to reach 20-24.

Around Campus

All SMC employees and their spouses are invited to come to the gymnasium for volleyball and swimming every Tuesday from 7:30 until 9:30 p.m.

Transfer and freshman students are encouraged to try-out for the New Student Talent Show, which will be held on Saturday night, October 6, in the physical education center. Try-out dates and times are soon to be posted.

The International Relations Club meeting will be held Thursday at 5:45 p.m. in the banquet room of the cafeteria. Dr. Carl Anderson, chairman of the history department at Oakwood College, will speak aon the subject of "Civil Rights Today." Everyone is invited.

Letters

Dear Staff:

You are off to a terrific start. Keep it up.

Lenna Lee Davidson A.D. Nursing Dept.

Dear Staff:

Thanks for the change. It is really great to see something new, fresh, and modern for the beginning of a school year.

I really enjoyed the new style that you put into the paper--headings--print--etc. I am sure that you put alot of hard work into the producingo the producing of such a sharp piece of manuscript.

Good luck!

Dear Staff:

I really enjoyed the first issue of the Southern Accent. It really caught my eye.

The lay-out was superb and the quality of the news was excellent.

Keep up the good work in the next 29 issues.

p.s. thanks for not printing that Ceasar column.

Forest Lake offers Survey of Civilization taught by Mr. William Coolidge. The class is composed of 17 students. In the summer, some Baker, of SMC's English department, goes to Forest Lake Academy to teach English Comp. She's been doing this for about four years. Last summer her class had 20 students.

Tentative plans are being made to offer a Bible class at Mt. Pisgah Academy. It will be open to students at Pisgah, Fletche and anyone in the community who is interested.

Friday night vespers to feature healthful living

"How to Overcome Health Problems" and "The Divorce of the Third Angel's Message" will be presented at vespers this Friday evening by Collegiate Adventists for Better Living (CABL). A face-lifting of the traditional temperence club, CABL is endeavoring to broaden the principles of better living to include all areas of student life. Waren Ruf, CABL chapter president, summarized the purpose of CABL this way, "In a Soyament can, our purpose is not only to inform our classmates of the basic health principles, but also to encourage each one to accept

Dr. Sines opens denistry practice in Collegedale

Dr. John Sines has arrived with his family to begin a dentistry practice in Collegedale, bringing with him nine years of experience in many parts of the world.

Missionaries are most often heard about in the Sabbath School missionary report. We hear of missionary doctors, nurses, and pastors, but it's not too often that we hear of a missionary dentist.

Dr. Sines is just that. He is a graduate of Columbia Union College, Washington, D. C. In 1964 he graduated from Howard University as a Doctor of Dentistry. For three years he had a private practice in Maryland and was doing very well when a call came through for him from the Middle Eastern Division to go and help in Ben Ghazi, Lybia. A hospital dentist was badly needed in the Seventh-day Adventist hospital there. Realizing the great need in that country, Dr. Sines and his family left the U.S.A. to serve in Lybia.

The need for medical attention was unending, and although the work was hard and tiring, it was also rewarding. On Dec. 17, 1969, however, Colonel Kadafi took over the country and the Seventh-day Adventist hospital was nationalized. Dr. Sines and his family sadly left Lybia and responded to a call for help in Cyprus. In 1970 Dr. Sines was transferred to Tanzania, East Africa, where he was made head of the oral medicine department at the beautiful Kilimanjaro Christian Medical | Dr. Sines and his family in Collegedale. Center situated on the slopes of Mt. Kilimanjaro. The multi-million dollar hospital is run by several Chrisitan denominations as a research center and training school for the African young men in the district and surrounding countries. It was here that Dr. Sines flew with the first flying doctor service to be started in East Africa.

in June of 1973 a call came through to him from the Far Eastern Division to respond to the desperate need for a relief dentist in Saigon. The hospital in that city was a military hospital which was left vacant when the American military left the country. The government asked the Seventh-day Adventists to take over the management of the hospital, presenting a great opportunity for further witnessing and spreading of the love of Jesus. A dentist was needed on the staff, and Dr. Sines agreed to come and help out for the summer until the permanent dentist from the United States could reach Saigon.

Last month Dr. Sines, his wife, and children arrived in Collegedale. When asked why he chose to come here, Dr.

Sines replied that wherever he had gone in the mission field, he had always heard good reports of Southern Missionary College along with the academy and elemtary school. Since two of his children, John and Valarie, are in academy and will soon be entering college and his two younger daughters are in elementary school, he willingly accepted the call to come to Collegedale. More important, though, was the need of a dentist in the area.

Dr. Sines will not only serve the Collegedale area but also the students of SMC. His office will be located across from the church, opposite Pierson Drive, beginning

Here are a few words of encouragement from Dr. Sines for the pre-dental students here at college:

"Dentistry is a great profession. It is challenging but also very rewarding. There is a great need for dentists in the mission field. At the present time only 30 dentists are serving abroad and a great many more are needed. The Middle Eastern Division alone is calling for four dentists.

"The American Dentistry Association is encouraging more men and women to take up this profession and the government is offering grants and encouraging more schools to offer training. The hours of work are good and working conditions are fall religion retreat, which is to begin Thursday.

Dr. LaRondelle, of Andrews University, will be leading out in the discussion of Christian perfection and righteousness by faith. Mrs. Ahnberg, a well-known lecturer, storyteller, and the "Aunt Sue" of the Story Hour radio broadcast, will speak on community services.

The retreat will begin at 6:00 p.m.

Thursday with a fellowship dinner in the banquet room of the SMC cafeteria. banquet room of the SMC cafeteria. The next meeting will be held on Friday at 7:30 at Atoka Springs Camp in Mountain City, GA. On Sabbath, there will be various meetings and activites, climaxing at 8:00 in the evening. This year the retreat will take on the tone of a workshop-"factual data plus inspiration", according to Elder Douglas Bennett, professor of religion.

The religion retreat, a biannual tradition sponsored by the Student Ministerial Association, is open to religion majors, Association, is open to length in alors, their wives, and others who are interested. All who wish to attend may sign up and arrange transportation with the religion

Of the 150 religion majors, Dr. Bennett expects between 120 and 130 to attend.

Faculty open homes students Saturday night

Saturday night the annual faculty home parties will be held, beginning around 8:30 p.m.

Students may receive a written invitation or be invited in person by the host. In some cases a whole class may be asked by the teacher or arrangements may be made for a certain group to wist a home. Since all 1500 of the students cannot be invited, activities are also helien lanned in the activities are also being planned in the gymnasium.

The parties provide an opportunity for the students to visit the faculty in their homes and become better acquainted. Food and entertainment will be available, along with relaxation and an enjoyable time. Any questions concerning the parties may be directed to Dr. Edgar Grundset of the Programs Subcommittee

Students patronize the recreational facilities available in the Student Center. Here four students display ping-pong ability. The various patterns on the carpet underfoot

Why is it, then, that in the Student Center women are not allowed to dress in an attire that is appropriate for the situation, and in harmony with the primary function of the Center?

The dress code policy requires that women wear dresses in the Student Center at all times, except on Sunday. This means that during the week, women must wear dresses even when participating in any form of recreational activity in the Center.

tn urder to play the floor games-checkers, chess, parchesi, dominoes, etc.-participants must sit on the floor. Playing in this position is more appropriate in slacks than in a dress.

When the Student Center first opened, our Accent photographer took a picture of students first using their new facilities. We would have been embarrassed to have printed the picture. It showed two girls wearing dresses, the hemlines of which, colloquially speaking, "were closer to their navels than to their knees." The shortness of the skirts was accentuated by the furnishings of the Center. The girls would have been more in harmony with Christian standards of modesty had they been wearing slacks rather

The Student Affairs Committee recently sent a recommendation to the Faculty Senate requesting that women be allowed to wear slacks in the Student Center on weekdays after 7:00 p.m.

Our thanks go to the Student Affairs Committee for realizing that a problem does exist in this area, and for recommending that something be done about it. We beseech the Faculty Senate to carefully analyze the sitnation, and to take proper action in light of the difficulties that have arisen from the present situation.

No Student Voice?

Important decisions that affect students are now being made by various organized bodies that do not contain any student representation. For instance, the Student Affairs Committee last week discussed the possibilities of offering mixed swimming. Dress and grooming policies were also discussed by the committee.

The structure of the Faculty Senate and most of the administrative committees provides that a certain quota of their memberships be made up of students with full voting priviledges.

Why then is there no student representation? Simply because the vacancies on theses committees have not been filled by appointments from the SA President.

According to SA President Leclare Litchfield, all appointments must be approved by the SA Senate, and the Senate is not even elected until September 25. At the earliest, the first Senate assembly could convene a couple of weeks after that, providing, of course, that no election run-offs are necessary.

By the time the Senate can get around to approving the student appointees, much water will have passed underneath the bridge.

It is the duty of the SA in the spring to appoint these student representatives. Last spring the SA was negligent in this matter, and now the students suffer. The mistake has already been made, though, and all that can be done now is to make the best of the situation.

Perhaps students could be appointed by executive command to these positions on strictly a temporary basis, serving until the Senate officially ratifies the SA President's nominations.

It is vitally important that the viewpoints of the students be blended into the rationale that formulates academic and social policies. It is essential that student representatives be appointed immediately to serve in the places that have been provided for them.

College receives Dow Chemical aift

Late this summer SMC was the recipient of a gift from Dow Chemical Company, consisting of the contents of an eight by ten foot trailer filled with items of interest to students and faculty. Since the company is mainly a chemical production center, the gift included items such as flow valves, pressure meters, and other items dealing with the production of chemicals. This contribution is of special value to the Biology, Physics, Industrial Arts, and Chemistry departments.

The Chemistry and Physics departments divided among themselves two large cardboard barrels full of clamps, lasks, and assorted items useful in conducting experiments. Also received was a device for measuring the flow density and mass of a liquid through a given area during a specific time. An instrument was included which measures viscosity and temperature of liquids. There were also thermometers, balances, refractometers, strain gauges, and a chromatograph, an instrument used for the separation of complex mixtures by percolation through a selectively absorbing medium, as through a column of magnesia, yielding stratified, constitute layers.

V.P. appeals foran end to student apathy

Ed. note-The following article was written as a letter to the Accent by John Q. (Moose) Smith, executive vice-president of the SA. We are publishing the letter as follows in the form of an article.

Elections for the Student Senate are less than a week away. The last election we had on this campus, fewer than 35% of the eligible students voted. When that 35% came to vote, the ballot actually didn't offer much. Six of nine candidates were running unopposed. Of course there were several unusual situations arising last year and people became tired of voting, or so I am told.

Personally, I wanted to have some voice in the way my money was spent, and the way my student government was run, so I voted.

Why should anyone vote? Why should anyone run for office? Someone once said if the government is run for the people, then the people should have a voice in who is running it. Another has said that when people cease to have an input to government then government ceases to have output for the people. As a student I can buy that. But there is more. We students are here to get an education, but even more to prepare for the future. I for one feel the latter is the main reason we are here, for the future is ours.

Those who are acquainted with me probably tire of this line, and I guess it has developed as my own philosophy of education and perhaps my philosophy of life at this age: For I am very serious in urging my friends-guess what! One of these days we're going to wake up and find we have to take over, in leading the church, in leading the schools, and even in leading our country. And you know why? Because it is our turn and there is nobody left but us. Isn't that what we are preparing for? And aren't we all very apathetic?

We exhibit a gross lack of concern, my colleagues and I do. Of course this isn't a peculiar trait of Seventh-day Adventists but more a trait of my peculiar generation, collectively. It is also a trait of America in the 1970's. This was exhibited in the last presidential election among other things. But why should the present college generation be more apathetic than others? I guess part of the fault belongs to the Vietnam war. It was disillusioning for those who went and for those who stayed. I can remember when the big thing was to keep score and we all wondered how many more would die, before this mess was over. Those who didn't go could sit around the tube and see an instant replay of the days action with Walter Cronkite and supper. And our minds and morals had to be affected. The last three presidential elections were decided partly by assasination. In 1964 President Kennedy didn't run for reelection. He had gotten involved too much. In 1968 Hubert Humphrey was defeated in the presidential election. He would not have run, but Senator Robert Kennedy was shot a few months earlier. He, also, had gotten involved too much.

In 1972 President Nixon won by a landslide. This has proved to be unfortunate in certain respects. George Wallace was recuperating from a gunshot wound. And when we are brought up in this atmosphere where those who get involved get shot, the only alternative is to not get involved.

Also most of us were reached in affluence, not wanting a great deal. We have not known or have forgotten how it feels to be hungry or cold or unwanted. Until one has experienced need it is hard to empathize, so we apathize.

In his war message President Abraham Lincoln said: "My fellow citizens we cannot escape history. We of this congress and we of this administration will be remembered in spite of ourselves." Shortly before his death Senator Robert Kennedy expressed his philosopy of life. "Some people accept things as they are and ask why. I dream things never were and ask why not."

How does this apply to students at SMC? I say we too cannot escape history and we will be remembered in spite of ourselves. We can accept things as they are and ask why, or dream things which never were and ask why not. Now why does the Student Senate have to do with all this? By getting involved we fight apathy. By fighting apathy we prepare ourselves for an active future. And the future is ours. Look around, there is no one else.

New industry open for student jobs

by Bev Self

Emergency Telephone Assistance (ETA) is the newest industry on campus and has possibilities of employing the "greatest number of students," says Mr. Americo Ciuffardi, director of the business.

With headquarters in Dallas, Texas, ETA is a service-oriented organization providing notification and identification help during emergencies. Each member's information is stored in the latest microfilm storage and retrieval system for instand recall.

The company is only two and one half years old and has caught on throughout the country. Plans are being made to open 77 regional centers. "ETA (also known as Life Bank) has been praised by both the medical profession and emergency rescue squads throughout the nation,' reports Ciuffardi.

Members of ETA are provided with an identification card for their wallets and a medalian to wear, each giving the mem-ber's identification number and instructions to call the central office toll free.

Types of emergencies that can be helped through ETA include: auto accidents, industrial or home accidents. missing children, epileptic seizure victums heart patients, drug sensitivities, and insurance confirmation; the list is end. less. Mr. Ciuffardi tells of a lady who called her ETA number when her house was being broken into. The police were on the scene within minutes of her call

Early in the summer of this year SMC was able to obtain the franchise from ET for twenty counties in four states: North Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, and Tennesse Students now have the opportunity to make this service available to citizens in this area.

"The student will be his own boss." says Ciuffardi. "He will set his own hour and work at his own pace." The only qualifications necessary for the job are. personality to meet people, an attractive professional appearance, and a steadiness and determination.

Mr. Ciuffardi says the student's earnin will be 40% of his sales. Thrity-nine students have already signed up for work and another 40 or so have expressed a serious interest.

Possible contacts for sales can be obtained through a door to door campaign, lead follow-up, industry or company leaders, civic clubs or church organiza-

WSMC-FM knocked off air

Lightning put WSMC-FM off the air last week. Simultaneously with a bolt of lightning and a momentary power failure in Collegedale the evening of September 14 the WSMC signal disappeared from the air. Equipment was put out of commission at both the transmitter sites and the studio, according to John Beckett, engineer.

Due to a continuing power failure on Whiteoak mountain, WSMC was unable to return to the air until about 10:00 the following morning. "We had power for some equipment such as the emergency services in the building almost immediately, but the three-phase power required for our ten-thousand-watt transmitter was out," stated Beckett. "We are happy to say that in our equipment nothing more expensive than fuses were destroyed."

Building Technology 'fastest growing class on campus'

"It's the fastest growing class on campus" states Dr. Arno Kutzner, Director. of Admissions and Records. Building Technology has grown from a small class of 9 students last year, to 29 students this year. This is the second year of this Associate Degree program offered in Building Technology. Hiawatha Estates on Ooltewah-Ringold road, is the sight of the one already completed home and three more currently under construction.

The houses being built this year are all on lots of approximately two acres. They will cost somewhere in the $60,000 price range, states Mr. Robert Warner, faculty instructor. One of the houses now under construction is already sold. The reason that the houses are so large, according to Mr. Warner, is so they can accomodate the twelve to fifteen students working on them. Also, he feels that building a fine home reaster.

Also, he feels that building a fine home creates a pride in each of the students creates a pride in each of the students that in turn promotes better work-manship and better learning.

First year students spend first semester totally involved in the class.

Morning classes are drafting classes, and from one to five in the afternoon, they work at the construction site. Second semester they take general class-se in the morning.

The second year students do all the work on their own. Mr. Thomas Grindley is in charge of them, but only as an overseer. Each student figures the cost of materials down to the smallest details and submits his bid for each particular phase of the construction. The lowest bid is chosen and the student who submitted it becomes the contractor for that particular parts on the contractor for that particular parts of the project, with the rest of the class working under him. They also do the plumbing, electrical writing, framing, block work, cabinetry, in short, all but the heating and air-conditioning. An added incentive is that during the second year, students are paid. $2.00 an hour for work on their houses.

Mr. Warner was quick to inform that, "Without the administration that we have at this school, this project wouldn't have gotten off the ground. They are very flexible people. They didn't know what they wanted last year, but they knew they needed something of this nature. I told them about this set up. They bought it and they were willing to try. If they hadn't been this way they never would have o.k.'d the blueprints to the first house, its teaching them to build with originality and pride. Building "quality" and developing pride in it is half the battle. We want to develop christian talents to further the Lord's cause."

The Industrial Arts department recently purchased a bus in order to provide transportation for the Building Technology students to and from work. This was necessary due to the size of the class and the amount of tools needed on the job

You might be interested in what is done with the money from the sale of the houses. Expenses and anticipated sale price are figured so closely that profits are not as great as you might expect. Nevertheless, $5,000 was donated to the Nicaragua Mission Project, as well as a summer's work by two of last year's class at the mission site.

Teacher exchange brings Oakwood instructor

A new concept in teaching-a teacher exchange- is in progress between the history departments of Oakwood College and SMC.

Dr. Carl Anderson, chairman of the history department at Oakwood College in Huntsville, Ala. spent last week teaching on the SMC campus. On October 3, Dr. Jerome Clark, professor of history at SMC, will be at Oakwood

According to Dr. Clark, it is only natural to have an interchange between the teaching resources of the two colleges because of the short distance between

Dr. Anderson taught the class in History of American Minorities, as well as the English class, Introduction to Linguistics. Dr. Clark will teach the classes Denominational History and International Relations.

Dr. Anderson also spoke to the International Relations Club meeting Thursday on the topic "Civil Rights Today.

The results of the experimental teacher exchange will be reported to the Association of Adventist Historians at a convention in San Francisco, December 28-30. The Association is made up of history teachers in Adventist colleges and academies, as well as recent graduate students in history. Representing SMC at the convention will be Dr. Clark and Mr. Floyd Greenleaf, assistant professor of history.

Dr. Anderson, a white teacher at a predominately black college, averred that there was no problem in his relationship to black students. When he first went to Oakwood College, he told his students that he was color-blind.

According to Dr. Clark, it is hoped that the exchanging of teachers will prove worthwhile and be adopted on a wider scale.

Elder Richard Fearing to present Week of Spiritual Emphasis

Mr. Aussner shaking hands with General Samoza

Student mission opens new medical clinic

Nicaragua is a word that means a lot the Students of SMC. Most students know that there is a missionary clinic there ut not everyone knows the story behind it. It costs a lot of money to run a clinic, and money is what people don't have enough of. Nicaragua is a hard country to get any supplies into because of the high custom's fee required on the goods. With this is mind Mr. R. R. Aussner, faculty sponser for Student Missionary Activities, journeyed to Nicaragua this summer to see General Somoza, the ruling power in the country. General Somoza is the only five-star general in Nicaragua, and as a result he is one of the most powerful men in the govern-

Mr. Aussner was given permission to present this case at an Emergency Com-mittee meeting which was called. At th meeting he was given a chance to introduce the program, which is being conducted by Southern Missionary College to help the Miskito Indians, to numerous government officials with General Somoza himself translating. The object of the presentation was to obtain permission to bring supplies into the country duty

Later that week Mr. Aussner was invited to supper with the General, his wife, and her parents. This supper gave further opportunity to explain the aim and purpose the clinic hoped to accomplish among the Indians. General Somoza was extremely interested and asked many questions not only regarding the mission but also about why Mr. Aussner didn't eat or drink certain things.

The result of that visit and also the presentation at the committee meeting was permission to bring supplied for the clinic free from the regular custom's

Mr. Aussner also went to visit Dr.
Fernando Valle Lopez, the minister of Health, who donated a gift of 226 lbs. of medicines to the mission, along with granting exemption from the license fee placed on vehicles.

praced on venters.

This exemption was especially appreciated as the clinic has three vehicles an old jeep, a truck, and a new carry-all van donated by Mr. and Mrs. E. McKee.

The carry-all van, badly needed by the clinic, has air-conditioning, four wheel divine, and trough for ten proude. A drive, and room for ten people. A major part of its work is acting as an ambulance, since the clinic has an average of five emergency runs a week to the nearest hospital forty-five miles away. There was some trouble with the customs officials in getting the van into the country. They wanted to charge $5,000 plus $5% sales tax. Mr. Aussner reminded them of the General's ruling, and finally the only fee that was paid was $11.00 in stamp fees.

Another problem which arose was the fact that the papers for the land on which the clinic stands had not been received. Mr. Aussner went to visit with the director of the Agricultural Institute of Nicaragua, Dr. Rodolfo Mejilla Ubilla. He discovered that the reason for the delay was the fact that the mission wasn't registered with the government. A fee of $2,500 - $3,000 is normally charged to register anything with the government, but God intervened and $900 was the only charge. The mission is now registered as the Seventh-day Adventist Mission of Tasba Raya - S.M.C.

Mr. Aussner asked Dr. Mejilla Ubilla

Mr. Aussner asked Dr. Mejina Udina to have the papers for the land drawn up by the Inauguration Day of the elinic. On that day it would be decided whether the mission was to expand or just remain as it is, a clinic in one of the four villages of that area

Inauguration Day was July 31, 1973.
General Somoza was to have attended, but trouble in the capital forced him to remain where he was. However, he sent several other government officials to re-present him. Mr. Aussner was presented with the papers for not only the land on which the clinic and the mission house stand but also a portion of land in each of the three remaining villages and a large percentage of land from an area centrally positioned amidst the villages.

As a result the future plans for this area are to have a small clinic in each village with a 12 bed hospital, church school, an agricultural and experimental station, and industries such as a broom shop and woodwork factory in the center section. These plans may take several years to finalize, but with God on our side and with the support of the stu-dents of SMC, nothing is impossible.

Any student interested in the Nicaraguan mission project who would like to help out in some way should contact Mr. Aussner, Modern Language Depart-ment, Lynn Wood Hall.

Chrispens unbeaten in A - league

With two weeks of softball in and one | third of the season over, Chrispens leads the fast pitch league with a 4-0 record. Chrispens knocked off Hale 4-1 and Corbett 5-4 in their bids for an undefeated season. Spears shutout Cockrell on a five hit pitching performance by Lyle Botimer. In the only other game played, Cockrell and Hale battled to a 3-3 tie. The Thursday scheduled game between Cockrell and Corbett was called off due to wet grounds.

Despite an error-infested game between Chrispens and Corbett, there were some defensive plays. Jim Johnson (Chrispens) made two excellent plays at first base by knocking down a hot smash off the bat of Dave Knecht to make the putout and snagging a line shot hit down the first base line by Wayne Liljeros. Steve Salsberry (Corbett) made a fine diving catch in the top of the fifth to rob Morgan Hellgren of a hit. After making two successive errors earlier in the bottom of the fourth inning, John Maretich made a comeback by making two successive putouts with the bases loaded, 5-2 and 5 unassisted, to end the inning and allow no runs to score.

Careers Day to be on quieter scale

When the annual Denominational Careers Day comes to SMC Tuesday, it will be a little different than it has been during the past two years, according to Dr. Cyril Futcher, ecodomic dean. academic dean.

There will be no displays or There will be no displays of booths in the physical education center; things will be done on a quieter scale. Neither will classes be interrupted as before. Only the 12:00 and 1:00 period classes will he omitted.

The sole purpose of Careers Day, according to Dr. Futcher, is to show students what the SDA church has to offer in the line of denominational employment. The day is designed to encourage students to consider working for the denomi-nation after graduation.

The following personnel will be on the campus to advise students concerning their future plans: 7 conference presidents 9 hospital administrators Others from Southern Union:

J. H. Whitehead V. W. Becker H. F. Roll

H. E. Metcalf Eric Ristau
5 local conference educational

Academy principals Union associate medical and dental secretaries

These men will be discussing employment situations with individual students. Interviews are to be arranged through the department heads of the fields represented.

During the interviews, information will be taken concerning the qualifications for employment of the individual seniors.

The interviews have in the past proven to be beneficial in helping seniors find job opportunities in the Southern Union.

The academy principals will be looking for deans, teachers, and other staff members.

Medical Technology students will be encouraged by representatives of Florida and Madison Hospitals to take their last year of training at these hospitals.
Others will be encouraged to come back to the Southern Union for employment after they have finished graduate work in law, medicine, denistry, and other such fields. There is also opportunity for some financial assistance for those attending graduate school who have been hired by certain branches of the denominational work in the Union.

Chapel at 11:00 a.m. will be presented by Eld. H. H. Schmidt, president of the Southern Union.

Following chapel, luncheons will be held in designated areas for the various groups of interest. The meals may be charged to the Southern Union. Luncheon and interview areas are as follows:

Nursing and paramedical Main dining room Elementary and secondary education Large banquet room

Banquet rooms A-D Business and secretarial Student Senate Committee Room

Pre-medical and pre-dental Student Center game room The interviews will be from 2:00

Dr. Douglas Bennett will arrange appointments for ministerial groups with the conference presidents and ministerial secretaries.

Mrs. Doris Payne and Mrs. Chris-tine Shultz will arrange appointments for the nursing students.

Paramedical groups will have appointments arranged for them by Dr. Henry Kuhlman.

Pre-medical and pre-dental group appointments will be arranged for the students by Dr. Huldrich Kuhlman and Dr. M. D. Campbell.

Business and secretarial group appointments for the education students will be arranged through Dr. Wayne VandeVere and Mr. Richard Stanley.

Dr. Stuart Berkeley will arrange appointments for the educational students, with the interviews con-ducted in the educational building. The interviews in education will be conducted all day, starting at 8:00

Not all sections of the college are included in the Careers Day, because it is aimed specifically at the opport opportunities available in the denomination.

President Knittel noted that several of the speakers during past Weeks of Spiritual Emphasis had been somewhat disappointed with the attendance of the faculty at the meetings. The faculty were encouraged to, whenever possible, attend the meetings and they were also specifically requested to participate in the voluntary prayer bands with the students and their

It was also requested that the faculty refrain from administering reg ular tests or making unusual assignments during the week.

There was a question and answer period during the meeting. General procedural aspects of the Fall Week of Spiritual Emphasis were discussed

According to Dr. M.D. Campbell, chairman of the chemistry department, a prayer service concluded the meeting, showing the concern by the faculty that the Fall Week of Spiritual Emphasis would be positive experience for all who participated.

Why work for church?

Tuesday is Denominational Careers Day, a time set aside for consideration of the professional opportunities available in the Seventh-day Adventist denominational structure.

The day is designed to help students become more aware of the responsibilities of working for

In light of this purpose, we share the following statements from the pen of Mrs. Ellen G. White:

"There is room in the work of God for all who are filled with the spirit of self-sacrifice. God is calling for men and women who are willing to deny self for the sake of others, willing to consecrate all they have and are to His work. Men are needed who, when they encounter difficulties, will move steadily on, saying, We will not fail or become discouraged. Men are needed who will strengthen and build up the work that others are trying to do." Review and Herald, April 28, 1904

"Dear young friends, remember that it is not necessary to be an ordained minister in order to serve the Lord. There are many ways of working for Christ. Human hands may never have been laid on you in ordination, but God can give you fitness for His service. He can work through you to the saving of souls. If, having learned in the school of Christ, you are meek and lowly in heart, He will give you words to speak for Him."

The Youth's Instructor, February 6, 1902 "The church is organized for service, and in a life of service to Christ connection with the church is one of the first steps. Loyalty to Christ demands the faithful performance of church duties. This is an important part of one's training; and in a church imbued with the Master's life it will lead directly to effort for the world without. There are many lines in which the youth can find opportunity for belpful effort." Education, pp. 268, 269

"The work above all work,--the business above all others which should draw and engage the energies of the soul,-is the work of saving souls for whom Christ has died. Make this the main, the important work of your life. Make it your special life work." The Youth's Instructor, May 4, 1893

Letters

Dear Editor:

Then there's the matter of roads It seems that the Hamilton County Divison of Roads has decided to make-as the sign so aptly states-some "Slow road repairs." It has in the short span of two months, through a super-human ef. fort, given us a badly needed dirt road from "Four Corners" to Summit. After many arduous hours on the job, the Division has actually been able to work the road into a passable jeep trail.

As the rainy season comes upon us, you will, I'm sure, notice the water collection basins provided for in the road bed itself-for our convenience. These are not only desirable as storage depots for any precious water that can be saved, but are also needed environmentally, decreasing soil erosion in the area.

1 understand that due to a recent landslide, earthquake, or other natural disaster, the road has become momentarily grameled. Rest assured, however, that the boys down at the "HCDOR" will have our road back in shape in no time, complete with built in drainage ditches, rock quarrys, water holes, dust bowls and many other modern conveniences of mechanized America, maybe even some which we haven't thought of

Let me say that I am proud to be living where such great advances are made in a state's highway system, yes, even daily. I am sure that the road will eventually fall again into its original state of asphalt and disrepair; but until then, let us rejoice greatly and be exceeding glad for our dirt road.

As for me, well, I'm building a car wash at each end.

> Signed David Taylor

In on to these programs, SMC is ng plans for a degree to be ofin early childhood education, ring the time from nursery school third grade. With the increase y schools for children, this se is expected to be well accepted.

"Last year the church experienced a real shortage of certified teachers cast of the Mississippi," according to Dr. Stuart Berkeley, chairman of the education department. "We could have easily placed 50-75 teachers in the church this year. In recent years, there has come to be a need for male teachers in the early years of grade schools. The stigma is off-males are being placed."

Schouls outside of the denomination in the Southeast have also experienced a shortage of teachers. "If they're willing to go where the needs are, we can place them," Dr. Berkeley added.

A great need has arisen for secondary level teachers in industrial arts, especially in the public school systems. Math and science are two other areas of teaching concern.

The wages of a teacher for the denomination approximately equal that of the public school teacher. Increases in salary occur with experience, especially within the SDA church.

Denominational teachers make around $6,500 a year, with retirement benefits including conference sustentation, and Social Security. Most benefits available to ministers are also available to teachers.

Students who wish to obtain placement within the denomination should contact the principals and superintendents in the conference where they desire employment.

For employment outside the denomination, the student should make application to the school in which desires to be employed.

For more information concerning the education program, contact Dr. Stuart Berkeley, chairman of the education department, and plan to attend the luncheon Tuesday in the large banquet room.

Nursing and Paramedical

There are an unlimited number of jobs available in the Florida and Tennessee Conference in Adventist hospitals. The hospitals are looking for nurses and other personnel who are dedicated, consecrated workers for God.

Florida Hospital and Madison Adventist Hospital have opportunities for as many nurses who are willing to work any one of these three shifts:

7:00 a.m. - 3:30 p.m. 3:00 p.m. - 11:30 p.m. 11:00 p.m. - 7:30 a.m. The starting salary for a nurse is $700 a month, with increases per annum.

A two weeks vacation is paid after one year of work in the hospital. After five years of work, the vacation length is increased to three weeks. One sick day is allowed per month.

There is no difference in salary between the baccalureate-degree nurse and the associate-degree nurse. The only difference is that the baccalaureate nurse has more opportunity for rising to a higher position of responsibility.

For more information regarding nursing or paramedical professions, contact Mrs. Doris Payne, Mrs. Christine Shultz, or Dr. Henry Kuhlman, and plan to attend the luncheon Tuesday in the main dining room of the cafeteria.

Office Administration

The demand for competent cretaries is great across the nation, with demands increasing yearly. At the present time, the secretary is at the top of the list as far as employment opportunities are concerned recent study showed that ample employment for secretaries was avail-able for the next decade.

The church needs secretaries. Many of the medical institutions are forced to hire from outside the denomination pecause of a lack of qualified Seventhday Adventist applicants.

Educational institutions, conferences, and publishing houses are always in search for qualified secretaries.

Last year the National Secretary Association voted to let Seventhday Adventist secretaries take the Certified Public Secretary exam on a week-day rather than on Saturday. Now, Adventist secretaries have the opportunity of attaining the highest level in their profession.

Business

The denomination is in the need of competent businessmen. The many facets of the organizational structure of the church require many well-trained people to work in the denominational work as businessmen.

The church operates scores of hospitals that require the knowledge and foresight of a dedicated Christian businessman. Administration, accounting, personnel directing, and many other such areas are in need of competent men and women experienced in business knowledge.

Seventh-day Adventists have always believed in the education of youth, no matter what the costs. As result, numerous educational institutions have sprung up all over the world. These institutions need competent businessmen to oversee the financial and business operations of the various organizations. The local conferences also need the guidance of dedicated accountants and business managers.

The publishing work, one of the most dynamic ways of spreading the Adventist message, also needs workers to assure that the best and most economical ways are being employed in the work.

The Southern Union has opportunities for an auditing internship. Under this program, the intern works with the Union auditor and has the opportunity to visit the various denominational institutions. This allows a student to see what area of the work he prefers and also to become acquainted with prospective employers.

For more information concerning opportunities available in business contact Dr. Wayne VandeVere, chairman of the business admin stration department. Plan to attend the luncheon Tuesday in the Student Senate Committee Room.

A progressive and growing church was established in Hixson early this last summer after many months of searching for a place to hold the church services. The congregation is presently renting facilities from the Ashland Terrace Christian Church, but it has already begun making plans for building a sanctuary of its own. A plot of land has been purchased on Hixson Pike, three miles west of the Northgate Mall. They are hoping to worship in their own sanctuary by the fall of next year. When the Hixson congregation organized into a branch Sabbath-

When the Hixson congregation organized into a branch Sabbath-School in January, no one realized how fast it would grow. By late April it became a company. The next step of organization is becoming a full-ledged church. The original date for the organization into a full church was September 15, but due to some unforseen circumstances, it is now unforseen circumstances, it is now set for this coming Sabbath, September 29

September 29.

This summer the members of the Hixson church forged ahead in their program of community witnessing. Several members are giving Bible studies, and others have gone house-to-house and signed up many people for the Voice of Prophecy correspondence-Voice of rropnecy contestionated courses. A very successful Vacation Bible School was conducted under the leadership of Brenda Luster. The average daily attendance was 35 children-most non-Adventists.

Another factor that helped the church grow, was the student pastor program. Under the direction of the pastor, Eld. Jerry Gladson, four students learned through experience the ways to be an effective spiritual leader in the church. The students who participated in this program were Ken Wilson, Bill Broome, Del Johnson, and John Davis.

As a result of their work this summer, several Bible studies were started.

The student pastor program will continue through this school year under the leadership of two students-John Garner and Bill

One of the biggest projects started in the Hixson area this summer was the Abundant Life Center, formerly known as the Salt Mine.

Youth outreach in the community was the main emphasis at first. On Saturday nights, topics of interest were discussed with the Recently, the Center opened a new phase of its work, and it is now a health food store. The director, Chuck Luster, is asking for volunteers to help run the store for a few hours each week. Anyone interested is advised to call Luster at 396-3276.

As the work expands in Hisson, more people are needed to help witness to the residents of this community. It is the aim of the Hisson Seventh-day Adventist church to let every home in the area know about the church and its beliefs.

Student Center ribbon to be cut Sunday

Southern Missionary College will open its new Student Center on Oct. 1 at an informal Open House between the hours of 2 and 5 p.m.

Participating in the ribbon cutting will be Elder H. H. Schmidt, chairman of the SMC Board of Trustees, President Frank Knittel, Leclare Litchfield, SA president, Connie Clayburn, Student Association secretary. Also on hand for the ceremonies will be the architect, Jack Tyler and Mrs. Tyler, Francis Costerisan, builder and engineer, and Ellen Zollinger and Marji Costerisan, interior decorators.

Honored guests at the event will be the Board of Trustees and the Committee of 100.

Hostess for the even will be Mrs. Helen Knittel, and cookies and punch will be served throughout the Open House.

The public is invited to participate along with the students and faculty of Southern Missionary College.

The Student Center is on the upper level of the administrative complex opening on to the promenade. It is composed of one large informal lounge, a formal lounge, a large game room, a snack room, and a television room.

Also, the SA offices are located in the north wing. These consist of the SA president, vice-president and the secretary along with the Southern Accent, the Southern Memories, the college yearbook, and the office of the college chaplain, Elder Des Cummings, Jr. A prayer room and a formal auditorium for student meetings are included in the new facility. The decor is contemporary with large areas of white and bright colors such as orange, red, and purple.

Faculty Senate approves pantsuits for Student Cente

The Faculty Senate meeting, in its second regular session of the 1973-74 academic year, acted on several recommendations, including one of particular interest to students.

Acting on the recommendation of the Student Affairs Committee, the Senate has approved the wearing of slacks by women in the Student Center after 7 p.m.

Even though the Senate has passed this matter, it will not be enacted for a period of four weeks. This time period is to allow other faculty members to petition the action to the Faculty Assembly for repeal, if they so wish. According to reliable sources, there is a distinct possibility of this happening.

Students Kay Waller and Bob
Zima were in attendance at this meeting of the Senate as members, having been temporarily appointed to these posts by SA President Leclare Litchfield. Also in attendance was John Smith, SA executive vice-president.

The Senate is currently engaged in the revision of the Faculty Handbook. They approved the following revisions.

Grievance Procedures

If any faculty member(s) feel he has cause for grievance in any matter not involving dismissal, and he has failed in his attempts to resolve the issue on a personal basis, he may petition the Faculty Affoirs Committee for redress. The petition shall set forth in detail the nature of the grievance and shall state against whom the grievance is directed. It shall contain any factual petition will

If the committee decides the facts merit arbitrotion on its part, it will seekd to bring about a settlement satisfactory to all parties concerned. The committee will report its findings and recommendations to the parties involved. Items of a personal nature will be held in confidence by the committee.

Faculty Dismissal

Each member of the faculty is expected, by his attitude, behavior, beliefs, and interpersonal relationships, to enhance the intellectual, spiritual,
and social atmosphere of the compus.
Failure in one or more of these ospects may ultimately result in dismissal.

Formal dismissal proceedings against o member of the foculty are initiated by a letter from the president to the faculty member notifying him of the president's intention to recommend his dismissol to the board and the reason for this action. Such notification shall be given at least sixty days in advance of the board meeting at which the dismissol recommendation will be made. Ordinarily, first-year faculty members should receive notice of dismissol proceedings no later than March 1 and all others no later than January 1. However, if gross and inexcusable inefficiency, neglect of duty, personal misconduct, or repudiation, defiance or subversion of the standards and teachings of the Seventh-day Adventist Church as set forth in the statement of the beliefs in the Seventh-day Adventist Yearbook is involved, notification of dismissal proceedings may be made at any time.

A faculty member who has received written notification of dismissal proceedings may, within twenty-one days of such notification, petition the faculty affairs committee for a hearing of his case. Upon receipt of such petition the faculty offairs committee shall appoint a hearing committee of five members of the faculty assembly-a chairman, two from a list of four names submitted by the president and two from a list of four names submitted by the faculty member, but not later than thirty days from the time the petition was received. The faculty member may bring a counsel of his choice to the hearing. The parties involved shall make every effort to present the most reliable evidence ovailable and the committee shall conduct the hearing in a monner which is just and equitable to both the administration and the faculty member. Within seven doys of the close of the hearing, the committee shall forward its report to the president and to the faculty member. The president will, at the request of the faculty member, read the report of the hearing committee along with his recommendation for dismissal at the board meeting. The faculty member may oppear with his counsel, who shall also have the privilege of speaking, before the board at this time. This appearance constitutes his appeal to the board. While the hearing is pending, if the president deems it necessary, the faculty member may be suspended, but his salary will continue at least until the board takes an action on the case.

Scheduling and Coordination of Curricular and Extraccuricular Activities as related to the Academic Program

1. That unless opproved by the faculty senate, no college wide activities which interfere with classes be added to the activities calendar after it is printed.

2. That field trips include no more than one day of regularly schedul classes, and no class may have more than one field trip a semest which causes students to miss oth regularly scheduled classes.

Exceptions to this policy may be made only by the Academic Africantitee.

3. That a copy of the proposed activities colendar be sent to each teacher by the end of the first full week of classes of the second semester and that the proposed activities calendar be reviewed by the faculty senate prior to the annual college board meeting.

One aspect of the above revision recommendation was tabled for ful consideration. It was that Bible Conferences, S.A. and M.V. Worksh Band trips, etc., be placed in the category as field trips.

In other business, the Senate approved:

l. The resignation of Mrs. Doris Payne, Chairman of the B.S. Nin ing Department, from the Senate and the appointment of Dr. Mel Campbell (highest runner up in spring Senate election) to take he place.

2. The appointment of Dr. Wallanzen to the Academic Affairs Committee to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Mr. Floyd Greenleaf.

3. The nomination of Mr. Jim Walters, Director of Development for WSMC, for membership in the Faculty Assembly.

The next regularly scheduled ming of the Faculty Senate will be October 22, at 3:00 p.m.

MV booth exhibited at fair

The Abundant Life Center, a project of the Off-Campus Ministry of the MV, was represented by a booth at the Chattanooga-Hamilton County Interstate Fair last week.

The booth was set up to show fair visitors that there is a better way of life, according to Chuck Luster, director of the Center. Literature, film strips, and personal contacts by those running the booth dealth with "anything conducive to a rich, abundant life."

The booth, located in the Exhibits Tent, was centered around God's natural remedies for an abundant life. The eight remedies, as outlined by Mrs. Ellen G. White, were lighted by blinking lights. The remedies are: rest, fresh air, sushine, trust in God, temperance, proper diet, exercise, and water

The film strips and projector were purchased from Eld. Richard Barron, director of the Health and Temperance Department of the Lake Union Conference, during his recent visit to the SMC campus for a week of temperant-living emphasis.

The films were continuous-running, three-minute 8mm movies depicting the four dimensions of abundant living-physical, social, mental, and spirit-

The booth at the fair has been the largest advertising and promotional thrust of the Center. The financing of it came from the Hixson church, and from the On-Campus department of the MV.

The booth took over two months to build. It is completely transportable, and can be used at other such fairs at other times.

Luster estimates that the Center gave away over 2,000 magazines, such as Life and Health and Listen.

Several hundred people were also signed up for the "Wayout" program offered by the Voice of Prophecy.

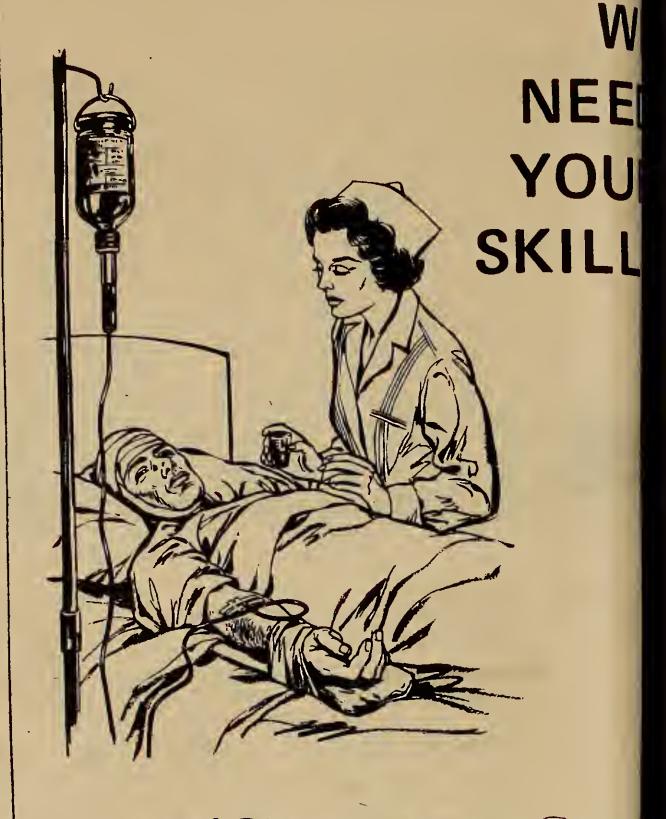

A mobile clinic was also used by the Center. The van was run by student nurses giving blood pressures. The fair officials expressed their surprise that someone would be willing to donate such a medical service to people for no charge.

The fair was held from Monday through Saturday night.

The Abundant Life Center is located on the Hixson Pike in Hixson, Tennessee. The outreach program is designed to reach every age level and every type of personal preference, says Luster. The Center conducts seminars in drug use, mountain climbing, and many other aspects of living abundantly.

The Center invited the well-known radio personality Chickamauga Charlie to visit the health food store in Hixson. He came, planning to spend only five minutes looking around the store. He ended up staying for about two hours, discussing the various aspects of healthful, Chrisitan living.

The student who arrived at SMC to begin the 1971-72 school year found the tuition at $780 per semester; a head of lettuce at $.18 a head; gas at $.29 per gallon; and the campus wage at $1.60 per hour. For the 72-73 sehool year the tuition rose tu $848 per semester; a head of lettuce rose to $.20; gas had risen to $.34 per gallon; the campus wage was still $1.60 per hour. This year, tuition has risen to $888. Added to this is the $40 minimum per month eafeteria bill, multiplied by 7 months of school, which equals $280 + $888. This year we also have the $75 General Fee which comes out of the $300 the student pays in advance. The $75 General Fee is a relatively new animal, but is listed in the catalog as paying for the Southern Memories, Student Association fees, etc. So the student is conceivably paying $75 + $280 + $888 which equals $1243. A head of lettuce costs $.40 and you can usually find a gallon of gas for $.40 if you look long enough. The campus wage is still $1.60.

Last February 26, 1973, Mr. Charles Fleming appeared before the Student Senate and discussed the $40 minimum rate for the cafeteria. It was mentioned during his visit that the cost of education at SMC was continually rising as the campus wage was remaining constant, which in effect puts the student between "the rock and the hard place." His counsel was to not worry, Congress would pass the minimum wage next year. One senator noted a raise in the minimum wage would never pass. Mr. Fleming disagreed and history has proved him correct. Congress raised the minimum wage last month, but our President vetoed it a week later.

Where does all this leave the student? He is making the same $1.60 per hour to pay for: the tuition, which has risen from $780 to at least $963, not counting the $40 minimum eafeteria fee; a head of lettuce (and other foods) which was risen from $.18 a head to $.40 a head; a gallon of gas which has risen from $.30 a gallon to $.40.

Not a great deal of commentary is needed to get the point across.--by "Mnose" Smith

Road condition

Ed. note--Last Wednesday we published a letter from David Taylor regarding the condition of a stretch of road between Four Corners and Summit. Thursday we received the following news release from the Tennessee House of Representatives:

"Our rural road system is the most important and most neglected part of the state transportation system," said Representative C.E. DePriest (D-Pulaski), chairman of the Special Rural Ruad Study Committee of the House of Representatives.

"Our committee is going to try to find out what has happened to the rural roads system over the last several years. It does no good for our farmers to raise the best cotton and soybeans in the South if they can't get them to market," the mid-state Democrat continued.

The committee is studying the entire problem of rural roads from funding to the best available techniques and materials for construction and surfacing. The committee report will also include a time schedule of recommended improvements with cost estimates and recommendations for financing.

DePriest stated, "We're going to bring Tennessee's roads out of the hourse bring Tennessec's road out of the horse and buggy days into the twentieth century.

It's an economic fact of life that a community's economic growth depends on the quality of its roads. We'll pay for our roads one way or another. If we won't put out the money for construction, we'll pay as the economic growth of the state slows, bringing hardship to many of our citizens."

Letters

Dear Editor:

I would like to compliment Mr. Grange and the staff on the many improvements over last year's cafeteria services. I'm sure many are result of the better facilities of the new kitchen. But it dues appear that the staff is trying harder.

I do however, have a couple of complaints. One Sunday afternoon on my way to a ballgame, I was not permitted to enter the dining room because of my clean, plain, but white T-shirt. The gentleman behind me was wearing a dirty, faded and torn, blue one and he was not asked to leave. I don't see the logic behind this petty rule and wish something could be done.

My other complaint, more imperative than the first, concerns the amount of food served that is deep-fat fried.

I have heard many people, dorm students, village students, and faculty comment on this. I always thought that one of the main reasons for not serving meat in our institutions was because of the excess of fats in the meats. If we merely replace animal fat for vegetable fat we have accumplished little. I hope maybe some small changes could take place to prepare the same foods other ways.

Sincerely, Jim Donaldson

"No matter how insistent or urgent your message is, don't be discouraged when only a few people listen to you." Elder Richard Fearing, president of the Mountain View Conference in West Virginia, during Tuesday's chapel.

"The battle is not tomorrow; it is today." Richard Fearing during Tuesday evening's worship.

"This planet is in captivity. The people on it are crying out for one thing-Release!" Richard Fearing during Thursday's chapel.

Collegedale police force -'not a Gestapo'

Before last June, when Douglas E Keller packed his family, bags, and 18 years of police experience to move here from Florida to become Collegedale's new city manager and police chief, the community's police department may fairly have been described as less than a moving force

Back then, the four policemen provided the city with one patrolman on duty each shift, issued six or seven traffic citations monthly, and were not burdened with much complaint work in the peaceful religious hamlet.

Keller brought a shakeup, or crack-down as some residents apparently think. Today, Collegedale's police force is at least moving, if nothing else But there appears to be something

A detective bureau; an identification department; a bureau of public safety; and relations; a bomb demolition team; two additional full-time policemen, plus Keller; numerous training courses for policemen and participatory programs for citizens from school age through adulthood; a volunteer "reserve" police force which worked 800 hours in August--all arc among the things Keller has initiated.

With the 20-member reserve, Collegedale fields four men in two patrol cruisers around the clock. Concentrating on traffic violations and attempting to reduce accidents-the city's worst problems, police wrote 80 traffic citations in August.

During holidays, six patrolmen in three cruisers prowl the town's 23 square miles on each shift.

And, says Keller, town residents who before did not call the police about problems are now calling. "We're here to persuade the people we wanted to serve and convince them we are

Keller, apparently torn between enthusiasm and training for police work and trying to moderate his approach to an acceptable pace for the town's citizens, indicates some have been bewildered, perhaps disgruntled with his methods.

"Some people have called to complain and seem to think we're running a Gestapo," he says, "but that's not true We simply are trying to do our job and serve the city, to earn our pay

Referring to the rise in the number of traffic citations, Keller says the force's seven officers who have been certified in radar proceedures have been instructed to give violators a generouspeeding margin before issuing a ticket

"We're not nit-picking and when someone gets a ticket, they really deserve it," he says. "We aim to give the citizens the benefit of the doubt and a warning rather than a citation if it appears that would help in gaining public confidence and respect.

Furthermore, reports Keller, primary emphasis in the department is on police profession rather than enforce, and service to citizens and courtesy are the hallmarks of professionalism

"If there are any complaints about an officer being discourteous," says Keller, "I check it our personally it's true, I'm going to fire that officer."

Keller's experience spans almost all phases of operation in Fort Lauderdale's metropolitan police force--from patrol and detective work to public relations, safety training, supervisory and academy instructor work. He has attended and taught seminars, gone through several FBI schools and is a certified instructor for the National Safety Council's driving programs.

Training in these areas is being incorporated into Collegedale's police department-mandatory defensive driving courses for policemen and city employees; radar, identification, weapons, detective and patrol work arrest procedures, public relations and safety, and other courses are being required not for fulltime but for reserve police academies, Keller wants to enroll his men. If the courses are not offered, he gives them himself

The 20 reserve officers who worked 800 hours in August also took 205 course hours in these areas, reports

"We aren't just putting men in uniforms," he emphasizes. "We're training them before they get their uniforms and while they're wearing

For students, elementary school youngsters can get a membership card in the Junior Safety League after completing an instruction course and can have their bicycles registered and inspected three times yearly.

Police Safety League membership for teen-agers follows a 16-hour traffic safety course. Other courses are, or soon will be available for college students and adults.

Keller says Collegedale has seven or eight prowler calls monthly, and he worries because "prowlers turn into burglars or pecping toms." His patrol-men keep a "door-shaking" check on businesses from dark to dawn, but otherwise, the occasional fight or larceny constitues the city's crime.

Perhaps these too will diminish with Collegedale's new efforts. If Keller has his way, they will.

"Collegedale is the finest city in the finest state in America," says Keller, "and we're going to work to make it even better. That's the whole theory behind the reorganized force, to prevent crime and accidents."-by

Southern Union holds English seminar at SMC

Sunday through Tuesday of this week a seminar was held at SMC for all Southern Union secondary English teachers, according to Dr. Wilma McClarty, professor of English at SMC.

Sunday night, at 7:30, the keynote address was delivered in the main banquet room of the cafeteria by Dr. Andrew Leonie, professor of education at Western Illinois University, Macomb, Ill. Dr. Leonie spoke on communications.

Another off-campus guest, Dr. Doug Kingdon, a reading specialist from the University of Tennessee at Chattanooga, spoke on secundary methods and materials for reading.

Participating were Mrs. Sue Baker, Mrs. Ann Clark, Mr. Bruce Gerhart, Mrs. Minon Hamm, Dr. McClarty, and Mrs. Barbara Ruf, all from SMC's English Department and three English teachers from the academies, Mrs. Mary Childs from Georgia-Cumberland, Mr. Clinton Anderson from Forest Lake, and Mr. David Knecht from Collegedale. The seminar was coordinated by Dr. McClarty and Elder Vernon Becker, educational superintendent of the Southern Union.

The purpose of the seminar was to provide an opportunity for the college and academy English staffs to discuss and analyze teaching techniques. Context was presented in three sections: reading on the secondary level, behavioral objectives, and curricula.

'Nature Nook' to be used as outside classroom On the south side of the Home Economics Building, also known as Summerour Hall, there is an outdoor classroom in the making. The project was optimistically slated to be finished by the beginning of this school year, but the completion date has been moved forward, and work is continuing.

The "Nature Nook," as coined by Mr. Charles Lacey, superintendent of the Grounds Department, has advanced beyond the blue-print stage, but has recently been stalled. With a skeleton summer work-crew and the flooding of Sept. 13 which completely washed away three lawns that Grounds was working on, Mr. Lacey has not had time to finish the project.

To date the ground has been cleared, the hill terraced, and shrubbery planted. The split logs for benches, the poles for floodlights, and the gravel for the terrances are all ready for installment.

Plans began last year for this outside classroom when Mr. Lacey wanted to make "the ugliest place on the SMC campus" into something useful. In addition to what has been done already, he plans to install electrical outlets for a projector and a loudspeaker system; there will also be a blackboard, a podium, and the planting of an evergreen "screen" for privacy.

Once the classroom is completed, it can be used by "the Pathfinders, any Sabbath School class, any class teacher. at any time of day or night," says Mr. Lacey. -by Everett Wilhelmsen

Each senator was requested to vote for 23 students from a list of eligible candidates for Who's Who among students in American Universities and Colleges.

Senate President John Smith asked the senators for approval of a group of informal flour rules. They were unanimuusly approved and are as follows:

1. There are certain issues in which it is necessary for Senators to present without address by the Dean or other administrative officers. In these cases affirmative and negative teams will he assigned, or elected. The affirmative will uphold the subject, the negative will uphold the status quo. For instance, in the subject-"Should girls be allowed to wear slacks in the Student Center?", the pro would hold-'Yes, girls should be allowed to wear slacks in the Student Center.' The con would hold 'No they should not.'

Senators should be allowed to volunteer for the particular side they wish, regarding any particular issue. If no one volunteers, then sides should be assigned by the Chair in consultation with the parliamentarian. This can be done by alphabetical order, precinct number, or any systematic way the Senate chooses.

Assignment of presentation will be done two weeks ahead of time. For instance, assignment for the meeting of October 15, would be done on October 1. It is most desirable Senators will volunteer for subjects which interest them. However, it is also necessary we view each issue as open minded as possible. There will be times when an unattractive subject comes for discussion. It is foreseeable at these times, sides could be assigned rather than elected. As stated before though assignment would be done in a systematic manner, and all would eventually have active part in presentations.

2. The pro would have the first presentation. This would involve four to to seven minutes. The con would follow with the same time limit imposed. After this, the floor is open for questions from the Senators for up to ten minutes. If needed, this time limit may be extended ed by a majority vote of the Senators to such time as they shall deem appropriate.

After the Senators questions, there will follow an additional seven minutes of questions from the non-Senate visitors present if desired. This time can be extended once for five minutes by a majority vote of the Senators. After all discussion the negative will close with a three to five minute summary. Afterwards the pro summaries will come to a vote.

While the Senator is presenting his case he may not be interrupted except by the Chair or Parliamentarian.

During discussion it is to be kept in mind we are discussing topics and not individuals. Personalities should be avoided at all cost, and all questions or comments are to be toward the subject at hand.

3. The agenda as mentioned above shall be published 24 hours after the last previous Senate meeting.

One reason for this is to give those presenting the sides of the issue ample time to prepare their case. If other Senators have input on the issue, they should relate it to those responsible for presentation. Another reason is to give the Senators ample time to speak to their constituents & measure their interests on the subject.

These items placed on the agenda would desirably be specifically stated by the Senators. If there is no suggestian from the Senate, the Chairman in consultation with the Parliamentarian will be left to decide.

Subjects not on the agenda will not be discussed except when deemed vital, and then only in a limited manner at the end of the Senate meeting.

Any visitor who wishes to address the Senate and is not on the agenda will be allowed time at the close of the business on the agenda. If this is past the hour designated for close of the meeting, Senators will not be required to stay. The reason for this stipulation is to discourage unplanned items arising in which the Senate has done little preparation or spoken little to their constituents. Visitors are allowed time to question relative to the issue under paragraph 2.

4. Some topics will not relate themselves to the pro/con approach. These would be instances when the Senate is addressed by various members of the administration on topics such as, "What should the school do with the available secular chapel time?" etc. In these cases Senators will sometimes be expected to take polls of their constituents, engage in rap sessions, etc., and then present their findings and questions after address by the speaker.

Under these new rules, two of the five issues will be considered at the next Senate meeting. They will be 1) Whether the yearbook in it's present form should be abulished, (on the proside of this issue will be Senators Zima and Landess, and on the con side, Senators Marsh and Palmer); and 2) should the residents of the women's residence halls be penalized for late minutes. On the con side of this issue will be Senators Fillman, Lyles and Zima, and on the pro side, Senators Holland and Maretich.

SA treasurer Don Bogar presented to the Senate, the final financial statement for last school year. The statement was unanimously approved.

The meeting was adjourned at 9:30. All senators were present. The next regularly scheduled meeting of the Senate is at 7:30 p.m., Octuber 15-by Mike Doherty

On October 6, 1973, at 8:00 p.m., the Student Association will present "To Tell the Truth," a talent show featuring new students and transfer students. It will be held in the gymnasium. Admission is free!

SA Vice President disappointed with voter turnout for Senate elections

f.d. Note-The following article is Accent interview with with John " Smith regarding the recent tions and the Student Senate ne Accent's questions are set lics. Moose's answers are set he regular body type.

your opinion as Chairman of Student Senate, how did the elections

'm disappointed actually, but as h at myself as anyone else. low many people voted? don't have the exact figures with now. It was roughly 570, I think but the figure is misleading.

Vell, there are approximately 1135 nitury students and 400 village dents. Of course, all my figures are , but it ends up with a 30% turn counting village students, and a 50% out not counting village students. hat do you attribute the small put in the village to? don't know. I'm a village student elf, and I guess I am typical. Most lents who live in the village are jobs which occupy a great deal of obably the furthest thing from their nds is to go out of their way to vote a Senate which really can't do ried and older. Most have children

h for them Anuther problem is what I said a ute ago, having the polls located at unvenient places. I could kick myfor having the voting in Lynn Wood That was my mistake. I guess it a goud place a few years ago when ybody had classes there. We had ere last year too, and so I just wed suit and decided to have it

In the future, I'm going to try aething different. We'll have ing for six meals in the cafeteria ming at breakfast one day and ding at supper the next: we'll have uth nights in the dorm, and the last it at room check; the last day, we'll to set up a booth outside the Post ice for village students; and have more lie relations

Of course, these are tentative plans will have to approved by the Senate. Even though there was a 50% turnin the dorms. Were you disap-

Yes, I guess I was. I think we should able to get a 70% turnout or even higher. And we probably will when we make it less of a hassle to vote

Now that the elections are over and we have a Scnate, what do vou want to do with it?

Once again, I think we have to be practical. It's important to me that the Senate meetings go smooth. The parliamentarian, Steve Jones, and I have drawn up some procedures which I think would help. They have to be approved by Senate so I won't go into them. Of course, if the Senate doesn't want to use them, they wouldn't work anyway. But first things should be taken care of first

What are your goals for Senate? I do have definite goals, things I would like to see happen. But I'm one. What do the students want? That's what is important, and that's the beauty of the Senate. There are many things coming up. Already this year we've had the change in football, the mixed swimming issue, girls slacks in the Student Center, & other matters in which the Senate could have had a large contribution to make. One big thing this year is the "annual" issue There are quite a few Senators interested in doing away with it. That'll be coming up soon. Then there's late minutes, and TV censorship. I imagine there will be some discussion on both of those in the first couple of meetings.

Do you have particular goals of your

Yes I do. I want to make it a very

A very good year? Can you narrow it down to any specifics?

I could, but I prefer not to. If my goals and directions are out of line with the majority of the student body, then I'm wrong. I'd rather lead the way they want to go than the way they don't. I will say this, I'd still like to get a train signal up, before one of us gets killed. You know some kids from Chattanooga did get killed last December. I would also like to get a scholarship fund, and a tutoring program started.

I would also like to do something for the village students, and I think if we can help them, then they will be mor interested. If they're more interested then they'll take part. And if everyone takes part, we can make SMC a better place to get an education. And that

Collegedale receives new Postmaster

John Heath was appointed post-master of the city of Collegedale Aug. 25. Mr. Heath, who was formerly officer-in-charge, succeeded Mrs.

West, who resigned last November. Mr. Heath comes to Collegedale with 13 years' service in the postal service in the Chattanooga area. He assumed his office last Oct. 30 at a ceremony at the post office, when he received his certificate from Frank C. Moore, the Sectional Center Manager of the U.S. Postal Service.

Also present at the ceremony were dale Mayor Fred Fuller, R.C. College Mills, SMC business manager, Dr DeWitt Bowen, commissioner of roads, and relatives of Mr. Heath. The appointment was announced by Carl C. Ulsaker, Regional Postmaster General for the Southern Center.

Heath is presently conducting a survey into the possibiliy of installing a curb delivery service for the College dale area, a move necessitated by inadequate boxes in the Collegedale post office. The service is now provided by the Ooltewah postal service

The survey is to decide if the service would be a city delivery or a rural delivery. A city delivery involves a uniformed postman who drives a postal vehicle; a rural delivery, instead, involves a postman without a uniform who drives his own car and is able to sell stamps and money orders. The survey is designed to determine the number of families that would be benefit from the

Sailing lyceum scheduled for Oct. 13

On October 13, John Biddle, acclaimed as "the world's foremost yachting cinematographer," will present a 90 minute lecture-film entitled "A Sail for All Seasons."

This program will take the place of the originally scheduled program on the college calendar, Irv Wermont's "The Man With the Computer Mind."

According to Mr. Jan Rushing, coordinator of the 1973-1974 Artist/Adventure Series, the film will cover all kinds of sailing, from pleasure to racing. It will be an all around film for sailing during all four seasons of the year, and at all places in the world.

Through all of his experiences, it was the lure of the sea that eventually predominated in Biddle's life. Years of ocean and bay sail racing, from 1946 to 1956, also made his job of "road" salesman seem painfully uninspiring. His avocations of photography and sailing were combined.

He filmed a yacht race to Bermuda in 1956 while a crew member on one of the entries. From this material came his first show length film on sailing and his eareer as a sailing-filin-lecturer on sailing, plus numerous short films for associations, manufacturers, and television.

Tickets for the John Biddle show, as well as the William Wendom program for the following Saturday night, went on sale in the Student Center on October 1. On October 4, the tickets will go on sale in the Campus Shop.

Holders of 1.D. cards will not be charged for the Biddle program. Prices for those not having I.D. eards will range anywhere from $1.00 to $2.00, depending upon where the seats are located.

Spanish students progress at own rate

Spanish students this year are learning with a new programmed approach developed by Mr. Helmutt Ott, assistant professor of modern languages. Instead of being tied down by the slower students or struggling to keep up, a student can now work at his own pace.

Says Mr. Ott, "The student is the constant factor. The time and the material are the variables."

To provide more individual attention, Mr. Ott has divided each class into small study groups of five to seven students who are working at about the same pace. He says, "We need real situations in which real people talk."

When a student begins a lesson, he goes to the language lab for three class periods for individual study and practice. He meets with his group the fourth class period for additional practice and discussion of any problems. During the fifth class period, the group meets with the teacher for more drilling and some final explanations. Then, if they feel ready, they can take the

In order for a student to go on to the next lesson, he must get an A or 95% on the test. If he does not, he may re-take the test with no reflection on his grade. The test includes both written and oral questions.

Every two weeks, the entire class meets with the teacher, at which time Spanish culture is studied. Faculty members and other individuals in the community are invited to speak and show slides or movies.

The final grade will be based on the number of lessons completed by the student. If, at the end of the year, the student hasn't finished enough lessons to get the grade he desires, arrangements can be made for him to continue until he has finished, Mr. Ott explains.

A.S. nursing expands four new teachers hired

The Nursing Department has four new teachers in its Associate degree program this year. They are Mrs. Janet Meyers, Mrs. Virginia Martin, Mrs. Mary Lou Cummings and Mrs. Marie Krall.

Mrs. Meyers teaches maternal and child care. She comes to SMC from Illinois Wesleyan University, Normal, Ill., where she was a nursing teacher. She holds B.S. and Masters degrees from Loma Linda University.

Loma Linda University.

Mrs. Martin is a graduate of Union College. Her husband, Roger, graduated from SMC in May of this year. She spent the last three years teaching nursing courses at Cleveland Community College, Cleveland, Tenn.

Mrs. Cummings is the wife of Eld. Des Cummings, Jr., the SMC chaplain. She is a graduate of SMC and holds a B.S. degree in nursing.

Mrs. Krall graduated from Columbia Union College with a B.S. in nursing. She has been teaching at Dalton Junior College; Dalton, Ga., and was previously with the state vocational nursing program. Her husband is an architectural designer at McKee's bakery.

Mrs. Martin, Mrs. Cummings, and Mrs. Krall will all be teaching in the area of medical-surgical nursing.

The Associate degree nursing program at SMC now has 20% full-time equivalent teachers. This is an eight per cent increase over last year's 19 teachers. The number of students, how ever, has risen almost 20%, from 158 last year to 189 this year. This year's sophomore class is four students larger than the freshman class of last year, despite a high freshman/sophomore dropout rate in other programs.

Softball season nears completion

With softball season coming to a close Chrispens remains undefeated in fast pitch play with a 9-0 record. Chrispens eliminated the other fast pitch teams last week as they clinched the fast pitch title by knocking off Corbett 9-6 and Cockrell 4-2. This leaves Chrispens with three remaining games and the other teams with at least fuur losses, thereby giving Chrispens the fast pitch title. In uther action un the fast pitch circuit last week Spears ripped Hale 7-3, Cockrell whipped Spears 7-3, Hale shutout Cockrell 4-0, Curbett downed Spears 7-4, and Cockrell outslugged Corbett 11-6.

Wichn lost his bid fur an undefeated season as Okimi downed him 10-6. Wiehn did rack up two more wins, though, by romping Davis 19-5 and shelling White 14-2. In other slow pitch action Zollinger nipped Okimi 25-22, Okimi coasted by White 29-8, Davis beat Okimi 14-5, Zollinger took two games frum Davis 12-11 and 22-11, and Zollinger won his fourth game last week by taking a 7-0 forfeit from White.

Only one game was played in the women's softball league last week as Watkins defeated Ledford 11-10. Watkins started the scoring in the bottom of the first inning with three runs on four hits. Ledford came right back in the top of the second inning to pull ahead with four runs on two hits. Watkins came to bat swinging in the bottom of second, collecting six more runs on five hits to lead after two innings 9-4.

In the third inning Ledford cut that lead by two with a home run by Lou Ledford and some facy base stealing by Nelda Denton. Watkins went scoreless in the third inning. Ledford put the pressure on Watkins by scoring four more runs in the top of the fourth and last inning, leaving Watkins one run behind. Watkins tied the game at 10-10 in the bottom of the fourth, and with no outs and one on base Meludy Skuretz. brought in the winning run with a single to left center.

Tennis anyone

Resulting from the recent fervol of the Billie Jean King upset of Bo Riggs, a reliable source has leaked Southern Accent news of a "Battle the Sexes" shaping up at SMC.

It is rumored that in the named masculine honor Elder R.E. "Bob Francis, better known as "a perfec specimen of what one should look like at 57 years of age," has challed any female student to a one set, " take-all tennis tournament.

Elder "Bobby" Francis has allegedly promised roses to the before the match, with the loser the winner to dinner at one of the finest-restaurants.

$17,000 goal missed by $1,568.42; Taylor blames lack of student participation

As the money poured in, it became clear that the $17,000 goal was not going to be reached

$25,000 gain expected in SMC budget this year

Last year there was much talk of slashed budgets in almost every department of the college. Effort toward economy and reduc-tion of expenses was taken, wherever posstion to expenses was taken, wherever possible. And despite all these efforts, the overall operation of the college suffered a loss last year of approximately $222,000.

In the area of instructional supplies alone, there was a $27,000 overrun of a projected budget of $60,000.

To a certain degree, the loss was predictable, i.e., the temporary cafeteria operation. However, a significant amount of it can be directly attributed to a somewhat nt can be directly attributed to a somewhat impredictable factor - enrollment. The enrollment last year remained at a level roughly equivalent to the enrollment of the previous year. But the budget and expenses, despite certain cutbacks, incre-ased, thereby creating the aforementioned loss.

In retrospect, it is interesting to note that the last year in which the operation of the college posted a gain was 1970-71. It amounted to 558,000. During the 1971-72 year, the college suffered a loss of $148,000.

Adios to the Yearbook?

Over the past few years, much criticism has been leveled at the budget of the Student Association, specifically at the money involved in the publishing of the Southern Memories, SMC's year-One-third of the SA budget is eaten up in this yearly publication. Along with the passing away of the yearbook at Andrews University, has come many rumblings on this campus to have a similar funeral for the Memories. Slated for the SA Senate meeting of October 15 is the issue of putting the yearbook to rest.

Before any rash actions be taken by the Senate, the Accent strongly recommends that an in-depth study be given into the publications of both the Memories and the Joker to see what alternatives are feasible. With a total elimination of the yearbook may come many regrets.

The Accent recommends a solution to the problem which would be a compromise between leaving the yearbook as it now is, and completely throwing it out. The solution would entail a total revamping of the Memories and Joker into one united publication which would come out in a hard-bound, two-volume set.

With the increasing enrolment, there is evident need for a hardbound version of the Joker that would not be rendered lifeless (as recent Jokers have been) by mid-year from over-use.

According to Memories Editor Harry Haugen, a hard-bound volume of the Joker could be in the hands of the students by the first week of October. This first volume, with a creative editor, could be more than just a Super Joker. Rather, it could be chronicle of the events of the latter portion of the year, which was not covered in the previous yearbook.

The second volume of the yearbook would be much the same as the present Memories, and would be published at the end of the second semester. Along with the second volume would also be issued a cover to keep volumes I and II as a set.

The notable differences between the existing situation, and the new concept of publication would be a unity of content, coverage of the full year cycle of events, and an end to the duplication of the "mug shots."

All this could be done for the same (or even less than) the present cost of both publications.

No matter what course of action the Senate decides to take, the Accent strongly suggests that the editors of both the Joker and the Memories be assigned the duty of receiving competetive bids for the printing costs.

The Senate should also set deadlines on these publications from which the editors salaries would be docked proportionately to the lateness of the delivery (similar to the system used to encourage the Accent editor to publish a full number of issues.)

This is by oo means the only possible solution, but is is ao alternative to making a decision which might be regreted in the decades to come.

'A New Song'

The majority of SMC students have been brought up in a religious atmosphere, many becoming inured to the Christian message because of the ritualistic format of a religious service.

A sermon in music was presented Sabbath in the Collegedale Church that was a refreshing change from the traditional order of formalism. Elder Gary Patterson, pastor, and Elder C.L. Brooks, Sabbath School secretary for the Southern Union, along with the help of the College Chorale, conducted the worship.

Those who missed the worship service in Collegedale missed a fine example of the advice given in Isaiah 42:10 - "Sing unto the Lord a new song."

Letters

Dear Editor,

The men of Talge are sure glad the Jokers were published this year. We had almost lost hope. As you know, the Jok is the most widley read magazine in Tales Hall.

When the publication finally appeared there was no secret in the circulation proceedures, as one could follow the trail of empty boxes and trash left behind, R as we poured over our much needed refer ence manuals, some strange things appear We found that several names had been changed to protect the innocent. Also when I opened my copy the two middle pages fell out. And, I hoped phone number would have been included.

I'm not trying to run down this year's edition of the Joker, these things can be expected when they are issued so shortly after registration. After. all, any kind of Joker is better than no Joker at all.

Sincerely, Bill Taylor Talge Hall

Natural childbirth taught at Orlando campus

A program iniated by Mrs. Kathy Hinson, associate chairman of the B.S. nursing program on the Orlando campus, has now been adopted for use by the Florida Hospital in Orlando.

Five years ago Mrs. Hinson felt that a class in natural childbirth was needed.

She also felt that fathers should be included in the delivery room at the time of the births of their children.

time of the births of their children.

Arrangements were made with the Florida Hospital to use the facilities to teach the class. Mrs. Hinson directed the program, but the actual teaching was done by the junior nursing students.
At first many of the doctors were unaure of the merits of such a program, but most of their fears were soon allevisted.

The parents who attended the classes were pleased, and told their friends about the program. The enrolment increased until the class had reached its present size of 250.

The hospital, seeing the wide public acceptance and popularity of classes Parent Education decided to take charge of the program and establish it on a permanent basis. Although the nursing students are still assisting with the classes, two hospital staff members are managing them.

The classes are six weeks long, and start every two months. Both the husband and wife attend, and the instructors teach them what to expect during the delivery. Some of doctors are now coming and giving lectures on such topics as anesthesia and planned parenthood.

Mrs. Hinson's latest innovation, based on the concept of the family as a whole unit, is to allow children to visit their mother in the hospital shortly after delivery and see their new brothers and sisters. This is still on an experimental basis, and only the families participating in the program are allowed to take advant-age of these benefits.

Seven faculty members acheive degrees

Seven faculty members of Southern Missionary College completed various degree this summer.

Mrs. Ellen Gilbert, instructor of nursing, received her master of science degree in education with a major in nursing from State College of Arkansas in Conway this August. She graduated from Loma Linda University in 1959 and came to SMC in 1967 following her position as director of nurses at the Shenandoah County Hospital, Woodstock, VA.

Mrs. Gilbert is a member of the Adventist Nurse's Association and the wife of Orlo Gilbert, assistant professor of music at SMC. They have two children, Mary and Phillip.

Kenneth Spears, dean of student affairs, graduated from SMC in 1966 and completed a master of arts in business administration at Middle Tennessee State University, Murfreesboro, Tenn., this summer. Before his present position he was the assistant business manager at SMC. He and his wife, Mildred, have three children, Susan Steve, and Karen.

Dr. Kenneth Burke, assistant professor of food science, graduated from SMC in 1959 with a B.S. in chemistry. He received a master in education degree from Clemson University, Clemson, S.C., and took a traineership in biochemistry from Vanderbilt University, Nashville, in 1968. Dr. Burke came to SMC in 1972 after his position as a chemist in the Florida Department of Agriculture. On June 9, 1973, he received his doctor of philosophy degree in foods and nutrition from Florida State University in Tallahassee. His dissertation is on "Site and Effect of Protein Nutriture on Absorption of Aflatoxin B1 in Rats." Aflatoxin is a cancer-forming toxin produced by a prevalent mold.

Dr. Burke's wife is the former Theresa Ann Curningham. They have two daughters, Susan Marie and Sabrina Kay, and one son, Thomas Gerald.

Miss Barbara Platt, instructor of nursing, graduated from SMC in 1972 with a major in B.S. nursing. She received her master of science degree in nursing from the University of Alabama in Birmingham on Aug. 26, 1973. Miss Platt claims Columbia, S.C., as her

Dr. Delmar Lovejoy, associate professor of physical education, graduated from Emmanuel Missionary College, Berrien Springs, Mich., in 1953 with a B.A. in history. He completed his master of arts degree in health, physical education, and recreation in 1961 and his doctor of education degree in June of this year, both from Michigan State University in Lansing. His dissertation is a study on remedial English progress for academically disturbed young adults, conducted at Western Christian College. Through the statistics gathered he concluded that a basic grammar class is not needed for the remdial student before he takes freshman composition.

MV sponsored film 'Time and Eternity' for Friday vespers

The film "Time and Eternity," on the subject of forgiveness, will be shown at the MV vespers service Friday evening in the church.

The program, built on the theme "Lost Past," will also include a mini-concert by the SMC Orchestra, under the direction of Orlo Gilbert, beginning at 7:45 p.m. The MV vespers series this year will tie together some of the more important spiritual concepts revealed through Christ, under the general theme, "The Mysteries of God."

The series is taking on a new, more flexible format according to Renae Schultz, chairman of the SA Religious Activities Programs Committee, who "We are striving for variety. Our endeavor is to make the kids want to come to the Friday night meetings." The topics will be presented through films, speakers, skits and a multimedia production.

Upcoming speakers include Rene

Two SMC music majors head for Forest Lake

Two senior music majors, Dennis Hunt of Berrien Springs, Mich., and Cheryl Berkeley of Collegedale, have been assigned to Forest Lake Academy as student teachers this semester, according to Dr. Stuart Berkeley, chairman of the Education Department.

They are participants in a pilot program which would send students as resident student teachers to Adventist boarding academics throughout the Southern Union.

The two students will leave Collegedale immediately following mid-term examinations and will reside in the dormitories on the FLA campus until the Christmas holidays. Hunt will be assisting Mrs. Patricia Silvers, the academy band director; Cheryl will assist J.D. Bledsoe, keyboard instructor. Both students will serve as counselors in their dormitories and will totally involve themselves in the boarding school program.

Dr. La Veta Payne, professor of education and psychology, and an unspecified faculty member of the Music Department will be SMC's supervising teachers and will visit FLA periodically to advise the two students.

"This arrangement represents a departure from the traditional practice of SMC whereby the student teachers have been assigned to area schools," says Dr. Berkeley. "If this pilot project is successful the Education Department hopes to assign from five to ten elementary and secondary teachers to an Adventist campus which will serve as a student teaching center for a particular semester. This plan is being followed in other Adventist colleges and is common in public colleges and universities. Encouragement for this new arrangement has come from students and educational administrators in the Southern Union who have long desired that student teachers could receive directed experience in boarding academies and Adventist multi-grade schools.

Final action on the plan has not yet been taken.

New Sabbath School system gets under wa

A new Sabbath School program, designed to involve more students in a more personal way, was begun last Sabbath on the SMC campus. The one large Sabbath School formerly held in the physical education center was replaced by three smaller ones held in Daniells Hall 111, Thatcher hall worship room, and the Student Center auditorium.

Each Sabbath School has four student superintendents who are individually responsible for one program per month. Though all Sabbath Schools have the common theme "God's Promises and How He Honors Them," the weekly program may follow a more specific theme chosen by the superintendent.

About 70 people attended Daniells Hall Sabbath School where Superintendent Sandy Davis, a freshman from Phoenix, Arizona, began with song service accompanied by the piano. The program followed the usual format with Scripture and prayer, a mission story, and special music, and ended by dividing into three groups for the lesson study.

The main thrust if my Sabbath School is to have short preliminaries so we can get down to the important part-the lesson study," says Sandy. "We will follow the lesson quarterly temporarily, but as each teacher gets to know his class they may decide what to study." All teachers are students.

Meanwhile in the Student Center, Superintendent Jerry Mobley, a sophomore from Goldsboro, N. C., opened Sabbath School with the lesson study. The cube room overflowed its capacity forcing some Sabbath School members to take and adopted, as presented by Dr. Frank Knittel, from the College, and Ellsworth McKee, president of the McKee Baking Company. The new lease provided for the sale of the small plot of ground on which part of the facilities of Plant No. 2 now stand, and also called for a continuation of the lease which the McKee Baking Company now has in relation to the building and grounds occupied by Plant No. 1. The new lease calls for an annual lease fee of $110,000, which will be used to defray the cost of new buildings recently constructed on the campus.

2. The Board approved an initial affirmative action statement, which is required by federal law. The affirmative action statement declares that Souther Missionary College will employ people without regard to sex or ethnic origin. The law does permit a parochial college to select its employees from the membership of the specific church thich supports the college. 3. The Board voted that within the guidelines as established by the General Conference, Southern Missionary College would accept of its operating budget from any government agencies annually. This currently would restrict SMC to no more than $150, 000 a year for operating income from any government agencies, including state and federal governments. This amount is considerably more than SMC has accepted in the past.

4. A Personnell Committee was appointed by the Board, and the work of this committee will be to study in depth the total campus program and bring recomendations to the Board relating to various feautres of the college program and the personnell involved. It will be the task of this committee to study the entire economic picture of the college and to report to the Board any recomendations whereby costs can be cut without injury to the college program. This committee will make a cost analysis of all the academic offerings on the campus and will be reporting its findings to the college senate, but will be making its recomendations directly to the Board. The committee is comprised of the following: Dr. Wayne VandeVere, Dr. Mitchell Thiel,

1. The McKee Bakery lease was considered | the equivalent of no more than five per cent | Dr. Lawrence Hanson, Dr. Tom Zwemer, Dr. Ben Wygal, Dr. Frank Knittel, Dr. Cyril Futcher, Elder Vernon Becker, Elder Robert C. Anderson summer workshop, a program designed primarily for pastors of larger churches and those who are beginning their careers in conference treasurer offices. The workshop will feature instrucion in basic management skills, church finance, and general fiscal accountability and responsibility for church leaders. 6. Dr. Ray Hefferlin was granted a summer service leave for 1974 for research and

7. The 1973-74 school budget was approved by the Board. A budget for the current school year is always presented to the Board early in the school year after the actual enrollment statistics are available.

Today marks the end of the softball season, with the ALL-STAR games to be played tomorrow evening. The final statistics will be in next week's Accent.

Chrispens won two more games last week to make his record 11-0. Corbett and Hale fell to the bats of Chrispens, both by the score of 7-3. In other games last week, Spears whipped Cockrell 7-2, Corbett ran by Cockrell 4-2, and Cockrell took a 7-0 forfeit from Hale.

Wiehn ended his season last week with an 11-l record giving him the slow pitch title this year. Wiehn won all three games he played last week as he out-slugged Zollinger 12-7, shut out Davis 9-0, and eased by Okimi 14-7. In other games, White bombarded Okimi 23-9 and Okimi took Davis by the score of 13-8.

In women's softball last week, Casil defeated Watkins 10-7 and the Academy team just slipped by Ledford 12-ll. The game between Casil and the Academy will most likely determine which team wins the women's league title.

Hawaiian football begins Sunday with both men's and women's teams. Volleyball will also start on Sunday with teams being represented by dorm sections plus a faculty team and an off-campus team. Football will be played from 5:30-6:45 p.m. and volley ball will be played from 7:30-8:30 p.m.

Eld. 'Bobby' FI GIICIS tennis challeng accepted

The challenge by Eld. "Bobby" Francis to play any female student in a one-set tennis match has been accepted by Patty Jo "PJ" Ward, a freshman nursing student from Orlando, Fla.

No date has been set for the Accentsponsored "Battle of the Sexes," but Patty and Francis will be meeting within a week to determine a time for the event.

Patty's coach and brother, Rodney Ward, a junior biology major, took first place last year in the tennis tournament sponsored by the Upsilon Delta Phi (Men's Club). This year he is one of the top contenders in the same competition.

Francis has promised to give Patty a dozen roses before the match begins.

Nursing Center next new building on campus

The next building to be constructed at SMC will likely be a nursing center, according to Charles Fleming, Jr., general manager of finance and development.

SMC has about 400 nursing students

SMC has about 400 nursing students this year, is operating the largest nursing school in Tennessee and is one of the few in the United States to offer both the A.S. and B.A. degrees in nursing. To accomodate the large number of nursing students and faculty, this building will include offices for 25 instructors. lecture rooms, seminar rooms and laboratories. The most probable site nurder consideration for a building of this magnitude is just south of the parking lot of McKee Library. The basic hold-up presently in the planning and construction of this nursing center is that it is not yet adequately financed. Mr. Fleming stated that SMC is within $1,000 of having enough funds to finance the building without having to borrow.

New plus and minus grading system initiated

Mid-semester grades should appear in dormitory mailboxes on Oct. 24, according to Dr. Arno Kutzner, director of admissions and records.

Teachers are being issued computer costers of their classes, which they sust return with grades marked in by 5:00 p.m. Monday. The computer will sort the grades into reports to students and parents, and print them inside envelopes for distribution.

The envelopes will then be separated and taken to the dorms and post office. Dormitory students will receive grades will wheir dormitory mailboxes, and village students' grades will be mailed to them. Teachers are being issued computer mailed to them.

The grades are expected to be processed without any probems, since Dr. Kutzner's office is using the same

Dr. Nutzner's office is using the same system used for the last grade report. Next time, however, there will be a small change in the procedure. Teachers will mark grades on an optical scanning form similar to those used in recording chapel attendence, thus saving one more step in the process and hopefully decreasing both time and errors.

The grades themselves will look different this time. For the first time in the history of Southern Missionary College, letter grades will include "+"

and "."
Calculating one's GPA (grade point average) is much the same under the new system. To help figure GPA (or rather, what it would have been with a B in chemistry instead of a C, since the computer does it automatically) the following table indicates how many grade points each letter grade is worth.

Late minutes abolished by Women's Dorm Council

Last Thursday the Women's Dormitory Council voted unanimously to abolish late minutes. Under the late minute policy, women dormitory residents receiving over 30 late minutes per semester were deprived of late leave privileges. Effective last Monday night, the women receive no cumulative total as such, but instead, are asked to sign in at the door in order to save time for the resident assistants and the women. Closing time is still 10:30 p.m. and women who habitually misuse the privilege will be dealt with individually. Following is the announcement made to the Thatcher and Jones residents from Mrs. Florence Stuckey, dean of women:

Minute by minute bookeeping of your late entry will no longer be at-tempted. However, you are still expected to be in your residence hall by closing time each evening unless you have made previous arrangements to be out later. Any late entry will be noticed. You will be notified when the matter needs to be brought to your attention. You will then receive a warning. The next time you create a necessity for an interview concerning your late entry you will forfeit your late leaves for two weeks. Continued delinquency in this area will result in further disciplinary action. There will be times when a late entry is unavoidable. If you feel that you have a good reason be times when a tate entry is translutant if you feel that you have a good reason for not being in your residence hall at closing time please talk to Dean Stuckey, Jones Hall residents will talk to Dean Eldred. by Sandy Liles

TV Censorship

Many questions have been raised within the past few weeks concerning the matter of the monitoring of the viewing of television on campus. There seems to be reason, therefore, for some explanation of this action.

Many comments concerning the relative maturity and judgment of college students have been made in support of leaving students to their own judgment as to what they should watch on the campus televisions. I would be the first to agree that, as individuals, college students should have as much latitude as possible in making personal decisions. I also would be quick to add that the personal habits of students that have been formed prior to their coming to college are basically the ones which will prevail during the time they are a student. Thus, the student who has been an indiscriminate television viewer prior to his arrival on campus is probably the one who cannot see the point in having someone else determine what programs he should now watch.

Television, properly used, can be rewarding. As a medium of communication it has no equal. But, improperly used, there is no doubt that it can be, and perhaps is, the most effective tool that Satan has to absorb people's time and Obviously there is no way of knowing what Mrs.

White's evaluation of television viewing per se would be.
However, since the majority of the programs that are viewed on television are of an entertaining nature, perhaps it would be well to look at some counsel given in this area.

Probably no one would question the fact that television programming is centered around excitement and amusement. Yet we find such statements as: "The desire for excitement and pleasing entertainment is a temptation and a snare to God's people, and especially to the young." "It is Satan's policy to fill the mind with a desire for worldly amusement that there may be no time for the question, how is it with my soul?" (CT-325)

To say that we should have no television on campus is an attempt to take the easy way out. (This thought passed through my mind many times.) This would be, to some extent, "throwing the baby out with the bath water." There is much produced on television that is good, educational and rewarding. There is that which, we would all agree, is not proper for Christians to watch. There are also a host of programs that are between two categories. It is in this area that subjective decisions must be made as some of these would be permissable to watch while others would be offensive.

Obviously, when judgmental decisions are made, everyone does not agree that they are right and proper. Nevertheless, it is imperative that they be made. They should be made with proper consideration, prayer and as much knowledge of the subject as possible. When such decisions are made, those who wish to disagree have a perfect right to do so. Hopefully, these protests would be made in the right way and in the spirit of constructive criticism.

We're Sorry

Last week an Accent reporter wrote that the minimum campus wage would be raised to $1.90 per hour next semester. This information was incorrect. The campus wage probably will not be changed unless Congress raises the minimum wage to something other than $1.60 per hour. The Accent apologizes for this error.

All things are possible

In class last week, discussion was centering on a particular problem. Indeed the problem was impressive, but I was surprised when a colleague said, "Nobody could ever do that." Since then, I have been pondering what it is that limits our ability and our vision as mortal students at SMC. First of all I consider we are granted our abilities and time by the Almighty. But, He has left these responsibilities with us, so to speak. President Kennedy said, "Here on this earth, God's work must truly be our own." As SMC students we can surely buy that.

Virgil said "They are able because they think they are able." Virgil, as others when speaking on the subject, failed to put a limit on age. Neither did they put a limit on numbers.

Martin Luther, a single young monk, began the Protestant Reformation. A young general in his late twenties, Alexander the Great, extended his empire to the limits of almost the world. A young woman in her early twenties, Joan of Arc, reclaimed all of France. Thirty-two year old Thomas Jefferson declared that all men are created equal. And need we forget that Jesus Christ, in his early thirties, changed the world. All I have mentioned were young, all leaders. All began alone. Is there any limit to what one can do? Yes, but some of the world's greatest movements were begun by one person, one young person.

Each of us has feared failure. Jesus feared it too. And risk is involved in any venture. The Apostle Paul spoke a great deal of love, but never did he guarantee it would not hurt. I tend to believe, though, that the glory is not in never falling, but in rising every time we fall. And we will fall, because we are fallible humans. However, will we let fear stop progress? Confucious said "It is better to light one small candle than to curse the darkness."

Robert Kennedy believed, "the work of our own hands, matched to reason and principle, will determine destiny." Are we not determining it now?

So, I doubt the veracity of a statement "nobody could ever do that."
Martin Luther did it. Joan of Arc did it. Thomas Jefferson did it.
We can do it, too, in our life time.

History of SMC - 'The School of His Planning'

Where does one begin to tell the story of the growth of an educational institution which has grown over the past eight decades from 23 students to vell over 1500? Certainly the emphasis cannot be placed upon the quantity of students graduated, because the school students graduated, because the school has primarily strived for the quality of character in its students. Let's start at the chronological beginning, back in 1892. In this year a church school was started in Graysville, Tennesee. A small classroom was rented above the general store. Twenty-three students were enrolled, with tuition set at a mere four dollars per month.

Ere two years the school was held rour dollars per month.

For two years the school was held in the room above the store. Then, when it was moved into a new building, it became known as Graysville Academy. The enrollment was 65, and for $100 eash and working 1 ½ hours per day, a student could bay his way though?

eash and working 1 ½ hours per day, a student could pay his way through a school year in Graysville.

In 1896, the name was changed to Southern Industrial School. Then, five years later it was changed again to Southern Training School.

Southern Training School.
The school continued growing, and by 1916, the plant facilities had almost outgrown the limited acreage available in Graysville. It was decided to relocate the school, and after much deliberation, a suitable location was found at what was then known as Thatcher's Switch (referring to the switch on the nearby railroad). The land was on a farm owned reterring to the switch on the fleatby railroad). The land was on a farm owned by Jim Thatcher, and the name Collegedale was given to the community that was anticipated to grow in the valley. With the relocating to the new location, the name Southern Junior College was given the school.

Could buildings began to appear on Crude buildings began to appear on the school grounds. The first permanent building to be built on the grounds after the opening of school was the store. The living conditions for the students were unsuitable, but more and more students were asking for admission.

Things back in 1916 were quite different than today. For instance, the first New Year's Eve at Southern Junior College was celebrated by six girls quietly sneaking out of bed. They ate a small snack in one of the girl's rooms, and then just as quietly returned to bed. Some time later the faculty heard of the celebration, and the girls were suspended from school.

One cold winter night a young damsel slipped in the snow as she was walking to her night work shift at the print shop. For this misdemeanor the girl was campus bound.

And incidentally, back in 1916, no

faculty member owned a car.
In 1917, Maude Jones Hall was built. It still stands today as one of the women's dormitories. Originally, it was built to be used as a men's dormitory but women were the first to occupy it. but women were the first to occupy it. Later, however, it did become a men's dormitory, but several years later it was given back to the women. When it was built, the porch of Jones Hall had loose boards which would fly up when a person stepped on them.

Only crude, dirt roads led into Collegedale. Students who wanted to do any shopping in Chattanooga had to catch a train at Thatcher's Switch at 9:00 a.m. They would return from town at 6:00 p.m.

at 6:00 p.m. The college has suffered severe financial pressures. In 1922, the budget for the coming year was $4,000 more than the funds available. The Board of Trustees felt that the school could only be shut down, but just before the chairman of the board called for a vote, President Lynn H. Wood asked to meet with the faculty. At the faculty meeting, the faculty donated the S4,000 out of their salaries. The business manager offered to work for nothing if only gasoline would be supplied in order for him to get to and from Chattanooga to carry on the college's business. Teachers without families volunteered to work for

The application for accredation was preceded by seven years of planning and building at the college. During these years of preparation, several faculty members earned doctorate degrees, and the library, science building, and music hall were erected. It was during this period that the college progressed at a more rapid tempo than at any other period in its history. Southern Missionary College was accredited in 1950 upon its first

During 1961 and 1962, Southern During 1961 and 1962, Southern Missionary College conducted a self-study program in co-operation with the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, the accrediting agency of which SMC is a member. Dr. K.M. Kennedy

Weigand hopes to place in top ten

Heinz Wiegand, a '70 graduate of SMC, likes to run 10 to 15 miles a day. Wiegand first became interested in track after he was drafted in March of 1971 and was stationed at Walter Reed Army Hospital in the Washington D.C.

While on active duty at Walter Reed, Wiegand joined the D.C. Roadrunner Track Club, which is set up to bring about competition amonst the 450 members of the club. In April of 1972 Wiegand took part in the well-known Boston Marathon, a 26.2 mile race in which more than 1,200 athletes took part, and placed 117.

While stationed at Fort Detrick in the fall of '72 Wiegand won four first places at the First Army Track and Field Competition at Fort Ritchie. Wiegand ran times of 15:35 in the three mile run, 9:56 in the two mile run, 4:35 in the one mile run, and 33:11 in the six mile run.

In February of 1973 Wiegand placed third among 237 entries in the Washington's Birthday Marathon at Beltsville, Maryland. There were 170 finishers. The 24-year-old Wiegand posted a time of 2 hours 28 minutes and 51 seconds for the 26 mile 385 yard course, which makes three loops through farmlands and rolling hills of the National Agricultural Research Center.

Today Heinz Wiegand lives in Collegedale, Tennessee. Wiegand averages 70-100 miles a week every 12 weeks, then rests a week and then returns to

Wiegand hopes to place within the top 10 finishes during the News-Free Press Cross-Country Run to be held on the SMC campus this Sunday, October 21. Next year Wiegand plans to run the National 50 mile championship race in New York City. The top three go to London, England to get the dubious pleasure of running the European double marathon championship (52 miles). Wiegand also plans on running in the 1976 Olympic Trails Marathon

"Irun for health, daily challenge, enjoyment, gain a hearing to witness for, Christ, and the serenity running gives me (especially the good shower afterwards)." Wiegand says gives me (especially the good shower afterwards)," Wiegand says.

Phil Castleberg, a former SMC student and friend of Wiegand, is being sponsored by the American Heart Association on a 2,900 mile jog across the U.S.A. (from Seattle, Washington, to Delaware Bay) next summer to help raise funds for the March of Dimes, promote health, and be a positive witness for Christ.

This First Annual News-Free Press
Cross Country Run starts at 2 p.m.,
October 21st, at the gym of SMC.
There will be a six mile run, a one mile run, and two two mile runs. The six mile race will be two miles long and will be run three times. The six mile race will be run in the following classes: 23-under, 24-29, 30-34, 35-39, 40-49, 50-years and older, and women.

One of the two mile races will be open to all high school students. The other two mile race will be just for TSSAA members. The one mile race will be run for 12-under runners, junior high boys, junior high girls, men, and women. Showers and restrooms will be available before and after the race in the college gym.

Entry fees are $1 for all open races and $.50 for the TSSAA race. Over 150 T-shirts will be awarded to all those participating with trophies awarded for first through thir place finishers in each division. Runners may apply through Dr. Lovejoy in the gymnasium, or on Sunday when they come.

Softball put to rest

Softball season came to an end last week with Chrispens losing his last game of the season to Spears by the score of 2-1. Chrispens came back the next night, however, to whip the All-Stars by the score of 9-1. In other regular season play last week Corbett knocked off Cockrell 4-1, Spears battled to a 3-3 tie with Hale, and Hale took a 7-0 forfeit from Corbett.

Only one game was played last week in men's slow pitch as Davis slipped by Zollinger 8-7.

There were no games played in the women's softball league last week. A game between Casil and the Academy may be played soon to determine the winner of the league.

Hawaiian football starts today instead of sunday, as earlier scheduled. According to the last report there will not be a women's football league, due to lack of interest. The women's volleyball league hopes to start its season this week. Men's volleyball has not materialized yet, since the Hawaiian football season is taking a slow start. Further details on football and volleyball will appear in next week's issue of the Accent

Plans are still under way for a crosscountry run on Sunday, to be sponsored by the Chattanooga News free Press and Chattanooga Track Club Inc. Details on this event are printed in another part of this issue.

National Politics felt at SMC

In the last two weeks Americans have observed momentous events at the highest levels of government. These events have a great deal of relevance and will be monumental in determining the course of our lives. Buy why should anyone be interested in what has happened? Why should anyone be more concerned with the resignation of Spiro Agnew than the National League Playoffs? There are probably those who still think Archibald Cox is a name brand of clothes; Elliot Richardson is Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare; and William Ruckelhaus is a building in Manhattan. Does it matter who these people are? If you've ever read political novels, you will agree this entire sordid affair resembles one. Let us consider why these events and people are important to students at SMC.

The Nixon administration has had much to say, and

The Nixon administration has had much to say, and much to do in regard to education. Loans have grown harder to come by; grants are more scarce; the minimum wage raise was vetoed by the President. Therefore, we are earning less money to pay for the rising costs of college and the rising costs of food. I discovered this summer cases where students were being forced to drop out of school because their educational grants were being discontinued. So as students, especially, we who depend on our own income to pay for the costs of college, we are being directly affected by the shake-up in the Nixon administration.

There has been a higher turn-over rate in the Nixon staff and cabinet than that of Franklin Roosevelt. FDR was in office for over twelve years. Daniel Schur of CBS News mentioned Saturday night that there have been five Attorney Generals in the last eighteen months. Never in the history of our nation has a Vice-President resigned under threat of criminal indictment. Nivon's former teeff members have criminal indictment. Nixon's former staff members have been indicted for many different crimes – perjury, burglary, extortion, bribery, etc. If nothing else this comment on the President's ability to judge character or else his taste in character. So we're faced with a food shortage, a rising cost of living, an empty Vice-President's office, and possible impeachment procedures. In fact, the call for impeachment has been sounded by demonstrate and republican. All these variables have, and will affect the President's ability to govern. He cannot possibly meet his domestic responsibility when administrative problems are occupying his time and interest. Domestic affairs are those such as education, economic problems etc. The president does not have time to deal with these problems and congreee would not co-operate if he did. The country is then caught in the middle, with the student at the short end of the middle.

We have looked briefly how we are affected as students.
Let us now look at how we are affected as Seventh-day
Adventists. As adventists we are very reliant on civil liberties. When speaking of civil liberties most people are referring to freedom of religion assembly, the press etc.
There has been enough comment on Watergate and all the implications involved. But how could it affect religious liberty? One major side effect is the American public can become so complacent they could care less about religious discrimination. If there is no concern about the ethics or our highest national office and it's conduct, who could seriously care about an obscure group of Seventh-day Adventist? People have ceased being surprised at 'earth shattering developments' in the field of consitutional law.
We are more interested in the soap operas than the Watergate Hearings. We are more interested in the National League play-offs than the resignation of Vice-President Agnew. But the hope for our future lies not in the soap opera, Ellen White comments in Fundamentals of Christian Education (p. 475) "... (we) partake with them in the sins which they commit while in office." It is my understanding as an admitted layman, she referred to those for whom we vote. In Collegedale the count stood approximately 770 for Nixon and 44 for McGovern. It is a sobering thought to consider we are partially responsible for the state of affairs we face today. Whether this is due to the lack of interest or ignorance changes matters little.

rather in the constitution.

We have heard some people say they don't believe in heaven or hell. Their belief, however, changes little the existance of both. We have heard ourselves say we don't however, believe in, or aren't interested in politics. Our beliefs, however, changes little the existance and effect of politics in our academic, social, and religious lives.

No Contact Sport

Ed. note-The following article was written by Dr. Melvin Campbell in the defense of Hawaiian flagball,

We invite your reactions to this article in the form of a letter to the

The "no contact sport" rule could have some far-reaching effects on the intramural programs at SMC. Although primarily aimed at six-man flag football, it could well be applied to basketball as it is played. It must be stated that nowhere is it proper or legal to push, shove, hit, or knock down in basketball (yet at times it is used as a strategy) as it is in football.

It is very difficult under these contact conditions to maintain, let alone develop, a Christian spirit. Quarterbacks with clean jerseys and basketball guards, who never receive an elbow conceibably can be great christian athletes. But, those on the line and under the boards...well, that is another story. Hopefully the "no contact rule" will omit the pugilistic nature of the intramural program. Yet it will not remove the fierce competition. (The latter is a subject that needs study.)

Both basketball and football have become spectacular sports avidly played by the men and watched by the women to the delight of the men. Which brings up another point intramural activities for the women (and equal coverage in the Accent's

It would seem that in the vast numof sports, many of which have carry-on value, encouragement could be given to the less pugilistic sports. Specifically tennis, track and field, golf, badmitton, volleyball, canoeing, swimming, sking, ping pong, archery, sailing, bowling, softball, handball. Yet none of these at the major intramural activities.

It is true that one cannot identify himself with the Sunday television superstars playing the above sports, but it is hoped that one can find physiexercise, mental release, fellowship, fun, and hopefully, a better Christian spirit as a result.

Batiking originated in India, then spread throughout the Far East, concentrating on the island of Java in Indonesia. To batik, one applies wax to cloth where the original color is to be retained, then dips the cloth in dye. For more intricate patterns a tjanting tool, which resembles a pipe with a spout on one end, is filled with hot wax and drawn across the cloth in the pattern desired.

To repeat a pattern consistently over a large area, dye is applied to one end of a tjap, a wooden or plastic stamp with the desired pattern carved into one end, then pressed onto the cloth while wet.

Direct application involves painting characters directly onto cloth with dye.

The finished cloth may be used for anything the artist wishes, such as clothes, pillows, panels, screens, lampshades, or quilts.

Report of 1973 Fall Council

At the 1973 Fall Council, the following items specifically relating to SMC were voted by the general session. Full minutes of the entire proceedings will be coming to the president's office from the General Conference within a short time, but those items directly affecting the SMC program can be noted here.

1. The Fall Council must approve all formal tours organized by any unit of the church. Among those approved were two tours affecting Southern Missionary College. The first of these is a tour to Europe sponsored by the German Department of the college and Collegedale Academy, which will take place in May 1974. The second tour approved is one sponsored primarily by the Georgia-Cumberland Conference under the auspices of the college. This is in harmony with a General Conference action that all tours must come under the ultimate sponsorship of one of the church colleges in North

The General Conference session for 1975 was confirmed for Vienna, Austria. Pre-session meetings will be held July 7-10, 1975, and the regular General Conference session itself will be July 10-19, 1975. The 1974 Fall Council will be held October 9-17 at

Loma Linda University.
3. The General Conference in the past has had a Department of Radiu and TV, and other departments of the General Conference have handled various area of communication. At the Fall Council these were pulled together under a general department now called the Department of Communication.

4. A financial assistance plan for medical, dental, and nurse appointees overseas for mission service was approved This plan calls for the establishment of a fund upon which medical, dental, and nurse appointees may draw to complete their training. The amount granted the appointees will then be amortized according to the length of service that each person has in an overseas mission appointment.

5. The roster of attendance and financial support plan for the 1974 Council of Higher Education at Andrews University was voted. This council convenes every five years, and the representatives from each Seventhday Adventist college are as follows: chairman of the board, president of the college, academic dean, business manager, dean of students, direcorr of admissions, librarian, chaplian, dean of men, dean of women, director of public relations, director of developmen and membership from each academic department. Each academic department is authorized to send one representative for each three-full-time teachers, or a major fraction thereof. The purpose of the Council of Higher Education is to give study to all aspects of higher education withint the Seventh-day Adventist Church.

6. For two years the General Conference Board of Higher Education has been developing a philosophy of higher education, and this philosophy was adopted at the 1973 Fall Council. A few minor changes were recommended for this policy, and the policy was re-examined and re-voted this fall.

Flagball Rules

Hawaiian Flagball is new to the SMC amural program this year, and many ers and spectators are in doubt about of the rules of this version of flag-Following is a list of the official that are played here on the campus:

Tems

Six players will constitute a team.
There is no limit to the number of offensive or defensive men on the line of strimmage. However, there may be no more than three men in the offensive backfield (one or more yards behind the L.O.S.)

2. A team may begein a game with five

Time
1. All games will be 25 minutes halves with teams exchanging ends only at the half.

Five minutes between halves or as pecified by the officials.

The clock will keep running at times except:
a. For team time outs and for official time outs; for injury.
b. Only in the last two minutes of the game will the cbck be stopped for out of bounds or other dead ball situations.

A team is allowed two time outs per half consisting of one minute. If these time outs are not used in the half, they are lost.

5. The offense has 25 seconds to put the ball in play after the officials's

First Downs

1. A team makes a first down when it crosses one of the twenty yard lines in four downs or less.

2. Once a team crosses a first down line, that team may not make another first down by crossing that same line during the series of downs.

Scoring

1. A touchdown shall count 6 points, a safety 2

2. A point after touchdown may be sored by a pass(es) from the five yard line. The point after touchdown shall sore one point in all circumstances.

mes will remember t be played out.

During playoffs or championships, sudden death will be used to determine a winner. The first team to score will be declared the winner.

F. Kicking

1. Rules for punts are as follows:
a. Option number 1 - The offensive has a play option of announcing their intent to punt. If they announce the punt then the defensive team may not rush; and the offensive team may not enter the neutral zone until the ball has been kicked.
b. The officials will notify both teams when a team has announced the intent to punt.

2. In the event of a kick-off going out-of bounds, the receiving team may put the ball in play at the point of out-of-bounds or the 40 yard line, which ever the receiving team feel is more advantageous. Touch back is to 20.

G. Passing
1. There may be three passes (forward or backward), laterals, or handoffs from any spot on the field during a team's possession.

3. The ball cannot be carried across the goal line, it must be passed.

4. An incomplete pass thrown from a spot beyond the L.O.S. is dead from the spot it was thrown. Furnities

I. A furnities is dead at the point the ball touches the ground if furnities backward, or at the spot there the furnitie occurred if furnitied forward. The ball goes to the team who furnities or down.

2. All other rules applying to a "free ball" shall apply as in regular football

Touching the ball, whether held or not, with the ball hitting the grour shall be interpreted as a fumble.
 This pertains to balls snapped by the center, kick-offs, and punted balls, not forward passed.

When fumbled, ball belongs to the team which controlled it last before the ball touched the ground.

A ball in carrier's possession cannot be stolen. The flag must be pulled to down the ball carrier.

No cleated shoes are allowed except soccer style football shoes with soft rubber cleats.

4. Each player must weer "flags", supplied by the H.P.E.B. department. They cannot be pinned, fastened or tied in. (Penalty - 15 yards). Players must have 2 flags at the start of a play. Removal of flags by offense or defense or prevent normal procedure of play is unsportsmanlike conduct. (Penalty - 15 yards).

J. Playing Rules
1. All players are eligible to receive a

2. The center cannot carry the ball from scrimmage, but can receive a

4. The ball carriers must run to avoid "tacklers". Deliberate charging of an opponent is a 15 yard penalty. (Officials will use the same judgement on charging and blocking by offensive and defensive players as in basketball. "Brushing contact" and unavoidable contact is not willful "charging".

Ball carrier cannot use a "stiff-arm" or ward off the defender. (Penalty 15 yards).

No charging, blocking or body contact by the defense is permitted. (Penalty 15 yards).

7. If a defensive player tackles an opponent, where the runner was in the clear, and in the opinion of the referee would have soored except for being tackled, a touchdown shall be allowed. If a defessive player reaches across the body of the ball cerrier to pull the flag and contact is made, the responsibility of the contact lies with the defensive player. Penalty i 15 yards unless in the officials opini the tackle was flagrant.

On the 80 yard field:
 a. A touchback will be put into play on the 20 yard line.

b. The halves are to start with a free kick from the 20 yard line, the receiving team must have two men on the 40 yard line.

Offensive players must operate under the same blocking and no charging rules. (Penalty - 15 yeards). An offensive player in front of the ball carrier must stop his run when a defender is in his proximity.

10. The ball carrier is down at the spot where the "tackher" pulled out one of the flags. (Unnecessary roughness by the tackler or elbowing by the runner is a 15 yord penalty.) In the event of a flag dropping without being pulled by a tackler, the runner is now down until a defender touches him.

11. On kick-off and punt returns the 3 Pass rule is not in effect. The kick receiver must carry the ball or backward pass or lateral (For the '73 season the ball may not be carried over the goal; therefore, the kick receiver cannot

12. The defensive team must be 5 or more yards behind the line of scrimmage until the ball is snapped, except that when the ball is inside the 10 yard line, they shall be half the distance to the goal line from the scrimmage line. (Offside penalty - 5 yards).

14. "Sleeper" play-if all offensive players come from the huddle, it is defensive team's responsibility. Offensive players can line up anywhere. If there is no huddle, offensive team must line up within 15 yards of the ball.

'Pineapple Flagball' kicked off

Some corrections need to be made from last week's sports section. In men's slow pitch play Zollinger beat Davis 8-7 instead of the other way around as was printed in last week's issue. This would make Zollinger 7-5 and Davis 2-9 in the final won-loss standings. Wiehn ended the men's slow pitch season last week as they defeated the All-Stars.

The women's softball season ended last week as Casil defeated the Academy team by the score of 16-11 to give Casil the title. Casil will now play the women's All-Star team to end the season.

The teams for Hawaiian football were chosen last week. There are two leagues (National and American), with six teams in each league. The teams will only play in their respective leagues. The first game of the season found two National League teams, Hellgren and Peden, battle to a 34-26 victory in favor of Hellgren. This game was played on October 18th. In the game Morgan Hellgren scored 18 points and Brooks Burnsed scored 13 points and Blooks Ballised solved repoints for the winners while Wes Holland and John Nafie were the leading scorers for the losers with 12 and 8 points respectively.

On Oct. 21 the National League game between Burnham and Reilly ended up in a decisive victory for Burnham's team. John Maretich (Burnham's co-captain and quarterback) connected on six touchdown passes to five different receivers in the 39-19 routing of Reilly. High scorer for the game was Tom (Tweeter) Davidson with 13 points for the winning team. In the American League Hayes defeated Landess by the score of 34-12. The line score was not turned in so the results of this game will be run in next week's

On Oct. 22 in the National League Peden dumped Reilly with a score of 32-18. Wes Holland led the scoring with 12 points with John Nafie pulling in 8 points, both for Peden's team.

In other campus sports action the women's volley ball league has started with only practice games having been played as of this writing.

Men's club sponsors four tourname simultaneous

"It's just plain organization that keeps it going," says Jesse Landess, recreation chairman of Upsilon Della Phi (Men's Club).

The recreation program has four tournaments going at the present time These are: tennis singles, which will be completed in about two weeks; tennis doubles, to be completed this week: table tennis, to be continued Christmas; and two man basketball teams, which will run until about I giving time.

On November 4, a road rally is being planned. Some of the course been mapped out, but final details not yet been released.

Landess has many more tourn planned for the spring. He would like to see a doubles table-tennis to ment, as well as competition in volball, free-throw shooting, and a character match, and maybe a horseshoe pitt

The tournaments can be followed on the charts posted in the lobby of Talge Hall. These show the winner each match.

Landess has expressed interest in ideas from anyone concerning new ideas for other tournaments. When asked if girls could enter these tournaments, he thought a moment and replied, "Sure, if they want to join the Men's Club and pay their dues."

Residue of an Alumni Weekend

ACCENT by an alumnus of SMC. Last year the author was executive vice president of the SA. He is now employed as assistant manager of the Adventist Book Center in Orlando, Florida.

At the invitation of the editorial staff, I share some impressions of my first Alumni Weekend.

As dawn filled the Georgia hills on my saga north, the trees and rolling terrain so foreign to Florida assured me that I would be happy to see the same old place again. I wasn't disappointed. Don't kid yourself; SMC is a good place to be and a great place to come back to. To be a student is to be a member of a privileged segment of society, but many appreciate it too late.

I decided Friday was to be a day of exploring the changes in people and places. I found Hallock busy for once, but editors have always been that way. Litch is not the ball of fire he once was, but SA presidents are always a little more reserved. Persons have changed, but people are the same.

There are many new faces, but that's not anything new, either. And the whispered query, "Is she dating anyone in particular?" still seems as American as strawberry milk-shakes in the C.K.

Buildings are new, but there are always new buildings at SMC. The students center is a boon to student comfort and unity. It is a much needed addition. Long live the Student Center, even with its seemingly omniscient, omnipotent, and omnipresent monitors. A new building, but the same system.

Friday night proved to be a genuine revelation. "Whosit's" theory was once and forever proved wrong. The seats are just as hard now during the prolonged meeting as they, were when it was "their alumni weekend." I guess I do have more patience, for training has had its effects. Was that Pavlov's idea? Skinner's? Probably Knittel's. Ask Mr. Lamb.

My first Alumni Association meeting was a nearly traumatic experience. As a student I had always regarded the alumni as a "they " group. Then, as if to put me down, reality came around, and I was forced to admit that I am hopelessly trapped on the one-way time train-downhill since birth. Death begins to set in with the first breath. The alumni have not changed, but I am now painfully aware of our common disease. I'm not about to give up, for I am still young, but time is inevitable.

It was not all depressing, though. It was rejuvenated by the challenge of point and counter point I remember so well from one short year ago. A college campus is always vibrating with the song of thought, even if no action is forthcoming. I heard new songs being sung, with the same old vigor, and the old songs have been re-leased with a persistence known only to students. (And lemmings, 1 give 100 per cent moral support to the seemingly lost cause of "education" versus "students"-even though both sides are losing!)

One old melody heard once again in the Senate is to steer the annual in new directions. Though the annual has been dormant or ages, each year a call is sounded for its phoenix to come forth reincarnated. Why not ask Marsh McCluen to join the revision committee? A work of art would be a refreshing change.

Distilling the impressions upon my first return leaves a residue of paradox and enlightenment. It seems as if everything is new, but it's still the same institution. Change is status quo. Faces and facilities are always changing; but the purposes of the institution and roles of individuals are constant. SMC is a function through which people are processed. Students pick their course, but only a precious few pioneer their own paths.

The institution is producing the same play, but it's just the next act on stage as I return from intermission. The casting has had quite a turnover and the costumes are revised, but it seems that I have changed more than SMC. It must be that I am an actor, too, and by sitting in the box office seats with the alumni, I see my former role played by others. Is Alumni Weekend a season ticket to view your lost youth? Nostalgia is fun, but it is fattening. What will it take to show that "alumni" is but another role. Are we anything more than roles? Who's watching us play our parts?

And by the way, does God judge the actor or the act, you or your function? And what is the difference.

Men's Club tournaments

Dear Editor,

There is a situation on our campus that has become a grievance to a few of us. In the past, the SA Recreation Com-mittee has been responsible for the organization and sponsorship of many sports tournaments throughout the school year. It has been generally recognized each of us was permitted to enter any or all of these tournaments.

During the past two years, there has been a trend for the Recreation Committee to slack off in the tournament activities and concentrate on the intramural program. This slack has been taken up by the dormitory men's club each year until this year all the tournaments that have been run so far have been under the men's club jurisdiction. Now, there is nothing inherently wrong with the men's club sponsoring as many tournaments as they wish. The problem begins when the SA gives over all tournaments to the men's club, as has apparently happened. This means that anyone who lives in the village and is married is excluded from these tournaments unless he has paid men's club dues. Believe me, Mr. Editor, there are some good athletes who reside in the village who could and would add to the quality of competition in the tournaments if they were allowed to partici-

There is a principle involved here, Mr. Editor, in that since we married village students have paid our SA dues as well and as much as anyone clse, and since this is a recognized function of since this is a recognized function of the Recreation Committee, we are being cheated. A rip-off in disguise if you please. I'm sure it is very please for the Recreation Committee to not have to worry about these tournament but is this really fair to everyone? We have paid dues once. Must we do so again for the same thing?

I have two possible solutions to

I have two possible solutions to suggest. One is an easy was out, and the other would put the bee in the righ

1. Have the SA pay men's club duy for all married village students wishing to all married vinage students wishing to participate in these tournaments, thus making them eligible.

2. Let those in the SA responsible get on the ball, (pun intended), take the initiative once more, and start sponsoring, or at least co-sponsoring tournament activities once again.

In closing, let me state that I am be the spokesman for a group of concern-village students, and that we are concerned that this situation be corrected and the above mentioned principle be upheld.

Thank you,

Ed Loney

No contact impossible

Dear Editor:

I agree with Dr. Campbell that the "no-contact sport" rule (SOUTHERN ACCENT 10-24-73) could have some farreaching affects on the intramural program at SMC. It could cause the program to whither and die, or may be to change a few other rules due to existing contact. Would this mean no more jump balls or screening in basketball? No sliding or barreling into a catcher blocking the plate in softball? Or no blocking a spike in volleyball (due to possible contact through the net)?

There is no way you can possibly omit all contact in foot-ball, flagball, keepaway or whichever other term you prefer. The same is true of basketball. Whether leaping for a pass, battling for a rebound, diving for a flag or scrambling for a loose ball, contact will occur. At times, it is difficult to maintain a christian spirit, but no more difficult than when confronted with an unsympathetic dean, or a two-faced teacher.

Don't misunderstand me. 1 am not condemming Hawaiian flagball. I think its an excellent ADDITION to the intramural program. I don't think it should have SUBSTITUTED for traditional flagball, however.

It is not difficult to see the "pugilistic nature" of a few individuals who fancy themselves as an amateur Ray Nitschke or Dick Butkis, but to condemn the entire intramural program as "street brawl" in nature is too much. As is quite obvious, this issue of the Southern Accent is half the Flagball can be rugged at times, and is not an activity for those with weak-stomachs to pursue, but then neither is nursing!

I feel compeition is necessary in sports of all kinds, and can prove very beneficial if properly controlled. But then, isn't competition in the classroom fierce to get the top grades, or perhaps between departments for any available funds?

I would be more than happy to see equal coverage of women's activites in the SOUTHERN ACCENT, provided the intramural interest was provided the intramural interest was equal. The men's club has done an outstanding job of providing a variety of activities to suit one's particular taste. Currently four activities are running simultan-eoulsy. Not that the ladies of Thatcher and Jones aren't providing suitable activities for themselves, but how many of our women here want to be known as a campus 'super-jock?'

True, some sports offer more "carry-over value" than others. Of all 14 listed, I noticed 12 were primarily individual activities. Is this significant? How may one develope teamwork through individual activities. And there is certainly more physical exercise developed through flagball or basketball than through ping-pong, archery, and bowling? I feel it should be pointed out that the "rough, contact" sports such as basketball and flagball are run for maybe 6-8 weeks, for only 4-5 nights a week, while the majority of the "value" sports may be pursued almost all year at all most anytime

Sabbath School

Dear Editor,

I, for one, am pleased with the new Sabbath School arrangement on our campus. The smaller groups allow for greater variety, a more personal approach, and more paricipation. I feel more involved. My only regret is that more students don't take advantage of the Sabbath School programs. There's no tuition charge for this class, and it offers a blessing that will really help make Sabbath a special day. Try it. You'll like it!

Sincerely, Shirley Voss

SMC couple killed

Faye Grove Bartlett

Brant Lewis Bartlett

Brant Lewis Bartlett and his wife, Faye Grove Bartlett, were killed early Friday morning in a one-car crash on I-75 at Shallowford Road. The 1961 Volkswagen they were driving left the road shortly after midnight and smashed head on into a concrete bridge support.

Both were students at SMC. Brant was a junior religion major, and Faye was an associate degree senior in office was an associate degree schot in ortice administration. The couple was married last summer, and had been living in the Alabama Apartments on Camp Road in Collegedale.

Chattanooga patrolman Charles Buck who investigated the accident, said both wno myestigated the accident, said both were apparently killed instantly. The Hamilton County Rescue Squad worked for 10 minutes before freeing the couple from the twisted wreekage. Both were pronounced dead on arrival at Erlanger Hospital. The impact of the crash mashed the front of the car back to the windshield and crumpled the top.

Brant was born in Indonesia, where his parents are now serving as missionaries. He is survived by both parents, the bothers and a site.

Faye was a native of Jefferson County,

The bodies were taken to Martinsburg, W.V., where they will be buried later

A special memorial service for Brant and Faye Bartlett will be conducted Thursday morning at 11:00 a.m. in the church sanctuary. This service, which will take the place of chapel, will be presented by Elder Des Cummings, Jr.

Why things don't get done

Approximately 175 students convened in the Student Center Wednesday night for a Halloween party. Now, that's a pretty good turnout for a party that didn't happen. Many students were disappointed that their entertainment had fallen through.

On the surface, it appears that the mentioning of this social event sparked much interest from the students. But behind the scenes, things take on a different hue.

A couple of weeks before the time scheduled for the party, plans were being formulated for the evening. But the final plans were to be made by a planning committee of students.

Only one student showed up for the committee meeting. So, due to a seeming lack of interest, the party was cancelled. (Unfortunately, the Accent published the story without a knowledge of this cancellation.)

In analyzing the situation, there is obviously an imbalance of a healthful equilibrium, which seems to have permeated most student activities or campus.

It appears that the majority of students want things done for them, but they are reluctant to do them. One hundred seventy-five students showed up to enjoy a party. One student showed up to plan the party.

Perhaps the cited case is not the best exemplification of the point at hand because everyone was invited to the party, and not everyone was invited to the committee meeting. However, the fact still remains that it is difficult to find students willing to accept the authority and responsibility necessary to get things done.

Let's focus in on the Student Association itself. The sole purpose of the SA is to improve student life on campus. The college could function without a SA, but students are better off because there is an association of the students.

The SA is not merely the officers elected by the student body last spring. The SA is made up of the students, and the elected officers are merely those chosen to represent the students in various prescribed capacities.

Don't expect things to be done unless enough people are interested in helping get them done. The real fulfillment comes, not in having things done for you, but in participating in helping get the things done. Don't complain about not having things done for you unless you have honestly attempted to involve yourself with the various forms of getting things done.

Once upon a time, a long time ago, a certain feudal estate existed in a peaceful, little valley.

The center of this estate was commonly referred to as Thgirw Castle. One couldn't miss the structure, for it was well illuminated at night.

Humble serfs existed in their small abodes on either side of the castle. The serfs were allowed to wander around on the estate grounds during the day, but at precisely 10:30 every night, they were locked into their dungeons to protect them from barbarian enemies on the opposite sides of the stone walls.

Each night the serfs were required to file into a small cubicle and listen to designated nobility tell them how great it was to live in a feudal system, and conform to the rules of their small society.

These pep-talks echoed off the walls for fifteen minutes or so, and then the serfs were allowed to go back to their respective cells to ponder the system.

The serfs, for the most part, did not give much thought to attending these required nightly meetings. But as long as the estate had been under this type of rule, there had always been heretics who resented the coercion of the nobility to attend these sessions.

Some of the nobility, however, considered it a very serious offense to miss more than a certain number of these lectures. A "lecture-skipper" was considered a criminal. The letters "LS" were even branded upon his chest, to follow him through his life and remind others that he was someone to keep on eye on.

Those who failed to bodily attend a certain quota of these nightly talks were severely dealt with. The dukes who patrolled the serfs's residences were very well versed in the letter of the law as recorded in the Scrolls of Conduct. The more serious offenders were issued Parchment of Warning, which meant that they were suspected of not confirming to the system. With the Parchments also came threats of being ostracized from the peaceful valley.

It even seemed that those who were so concerned about the attendance of these meetings tended to neglect the other facets of the lives of the serfs. The important thing to them was whether they were present each evening.

One era of the history of the estate will be remembered in infany. This was a time of defiance on the part of the serfs. Due to no adequate reasons, they began absenting themselves from the nightly sessions. And, in this notorious era of time, many more than the usual Parchments were sent out. Now, this began to worry some of the nobility. You see, the supply of sheep in the fold began to dwindle. (Sheep skin, as everyone knows, is what parchment is made of.)

The situation worsened, and it was evident that a real crisis was on hand.

But it looks like this story will have to be cut short--worship is over, and the R.A. is waiting to collect the computer attendance cards.

Distinctive. new uniforms ordered for nursing students

A.D. Nursing students will soon be wearing "a distinctive and coording properly new uniform," according to Mrs. Lenna Lee Davidson, instructor in nursing at SMC.

From the present green uniform, the change will be to a differently styled blue uniform. The medium styled blue uniform the medium blue and white feather-stripe dresses for the women will be line-styled or the women will be line-styled with navy blue collars and will have a detachable white panel, bordered a detachable white panel, bordered a detachable white panel, bordered in navy blue on the front. The hats for the students will remain the same. The first-year students have white hats and second-year students have white hats with a black velvet stripe on the left side.

The men's uniforms consist of white slacks and medium blue and white feather-stripe tunics with navy blue collars. Second year male students have a black stripe under the insignia on the left sleeve of the tunic Until arrival of the new uniforms.

the first-year A.D. students will continue to wear white uniforms to laboratory periods, while the second-year students will wear their green uniforms for the rest of the tour, open to anyone, to Germany and the immediately surrounding area next spring. Tentative plans are for the group to depart from New York City on May 15, 1974, and return the first week of June.

Next year all A.D. Nursing students will wear the blue and white uniforms. The change is necessary because the green material is no longer available for new uniforms.

The price of last year's trip to Germany was $651 per person. However, due to inflation, an increase of approximately fifteen per cent is expected. The fee includes the flight to and from the control of the contr to and from Germany, transportation, hotel, entrance fees, and one meal a notel, entrance fees, and one meal a day. In addition, the return flight ticket is good for 45 days which makes it possible for the individual to spend a few extra weeks overseas on his own if he wishes to.

A common complaint of students this year is that they are frequently inconvenienced by the inability to buy enough food with annoying C.K. books or their limited cash supply in order to cut down on cafeteria charges above the $40.00 minimum.

Last year, during the second semester, the Village Market received $3,753 per week in student sales revenue on an average weekly basis. During the first part of this semester, student sales have averaged approximately $1,100 per week. This is a considerable reduction of almost 70%.

When Mr. Cliff Myers, manager of the Village Market, was questioned about this situation, he replied, "Working here at the store, I approve of the system used last year, where students were allowed to buy more merchandise from the market. But working as part of the college, I understand their viewpoint, and am willing to cooperate with them.

"Being the manager of the store, I naturally am concerned with increasing sales, but I must back up and see the goal for which we are both striving, that of providing a Christian education for any students who want it." by Frank Potts

Closser and Bacheller place first in road rally

"5...4...3....2....I" was the sound being heard as each car took it's place in the road rally held last Sunday, in which Bruce Closser and Bruce Bacheller were first-place winners. Ken Fuller and Greg Martin placed second Eight cars participated in the rally with each car containing a driver and a navigator.

The rally, which started in back of the gymnasium, consisted of a total of eighty-seven miles to be traveled, which the contestants weren't aware of before starting the

The rally encompassed territory as far north as Cleveland, Tenn., and as far south as Ringold, Ga., with the average speed of 37 mph the traveling time would have taken 2 hours and 21 minutes.

The rally this year was different from the previous ones in the fact that there were no manned check-points, and the drivers used their own instructions. Each car was given a sheet of questions that had to be answered by going to the specified points.

If the questions were answered wrong points were added. Also, points were added if late or early and if the mileage was short or long. The car with the fewest points was the final winner.

Greg Keeney, Gary Keeney, and Steve Snowder were responsible for charting the route. The road rally was sponsored by Men's Club, Southern Missionary College, McKee Bakery, Computer Spectrum, and Central Camera Repair.

Trophies will be given to the first, second, place for navigators and drivers. by Michelle Shimel

THE COMMENT OF THE CO

Home economics dept. onducts nursery school for preschoolers

The Home Economics Department is onducting a nursery school for children free and four years of age from 9:00 to 2:00 Monday and Thursday mornings in summerour Hall.

Inflough the nursery serves as a laybutery where the "Understanding Young judiern" class may observe pre-schoolers first hand, students do not actually work with the children; rather, the nursery is upervised by Mrs. Norman Peek and ter assistant, Antia Norrell, a freshman fom Pell City, Ala.

This year's nursery involves 15 shildren of varying backgrounds who we in the Collegedale community. though the nursery is not advertised scept by word of mouth, there is a sating list for entrance, partly because the nursery is operated only during the fall semester. Parents are charged a aken fee of $15.00 for 60 hours of saturction.

The nursery was begun 16 years ago y Mrs. Thelma Cushman, associate wofessor of home economics, for the 'Child Development'' class. Previous to hat, students were required to visit with the children in their homes.

Now students may observe the children tem an observation booth disguised betind a one-way glass and equipped with a newway intercom to monitor sound from the marsery. The nursery itself is a large com, modernly styled, including a sinchenette. All furniture and facilities re scaled down to child size. Furniture is molded plastic rather than wood or metal, in an attempt to eliminate the danger of pinched fingers or splintered hands.

Outdoors, adjacent to the nursery, is a walled-off area with a cement floor for tricycling and a large triangular sandbox. Beyond the low wall in a grassy area are swings and monkey bars.

Indoors, children have access to a large variety of toys, but they prefer finger painting, paper cutting, pasting, and playing with clay. "The children enjoy simple things most," says Mrs. Cushman. "Their favorite game is playing house in some cardboard boxes that freezers were shipped in."

The nursery program is one of spontaneous play. Directed group activities such as "Drop the Handkerchief" are kept to a minimum.

The nursery is not a baby-sitting agency, but it strives to aid the children in their development. The children help clean the room by putting away their own toys. They help prepare their own lunch, such as scrubbing the potatoes to be baked and cutting out and decorating cookies. The nursery tries to especially accommodate "only children" or foreign children who need to master English.

"Most of the mothers who bring their children are not working mothers," states Mrs. Cushman, "but bring their children for the good done the child. Most stay and observe from the observation booth."

SA to bring Tom Duro to Nov. 13 chapel

On Tuesday the Student Association will present Mr. Tom Duro, who will he speaking on "Seduction, Education, and Paper Heroes" during the 11:00 chapel.

Mr. Duro is a rare combination lecturer, philosopher, story-teller, humorist, and educator whose versitality seemingly knows no bounds. As a fellow whose adult life got off to a very slow start, his agonizing search for career fulfillment and peace of mind led him through a series of diverse career efforts ranging from the professional to the unskilled challenges of man.

His evolution to significance saw him gain recognition as a photographic model, produces and actor in TV commercials, and host of his own TV talk show. As a human relations and sales consultant, he works with several of the largest companies in the country.

The State Department taped his voice for a Voice of America broadcast behind the Iron Curtain.

Today Tom Duro is one of the greatest natural speakers on the American scene and he is sought after for his vintage philosophy and creative conglomerate of common sense by which students and faculty alike can grow.

As he tells his story, which has been deemed a serio-comic drama of classic proportions, he shares his self-evaluation with his listerners and challenges them to look in the mirros of their own lives. And when it's over, many find that Tom Duro has led them inescapably to the conclusion that if he can make it, anybody can.

Credit Union offers many student service

The Collegedale Credit Union offers a wide variety of services to students of SMC, including systematic savings plans, loans, and insurance plans.

Upon payment of a 25¢ membership fee, and a minimum deposit of $5.00 in savings (shares), the student becomes eligible for the following benefits:

1. Dividends. Six per cent interest is compounded semi-annually on all shares in multiples of five. Shares must be in the account on June 30 and December 31 in order to earn dividends.

2. Share Insurance. Cuna Mutual Insurance Society will double total shares up to $2,000 for the beneficiary in case of death. This insurance is provided at no extra cost to the credit union member.

3. Loans at one per cent per month interest on unpaid balance or an annual rate of 12 per cent. A minimum of three month membership is necessary before any loans will be granted. Single students over 18 years of age may be granted loans if their parents sign as co-makers. Married students are required only to furnish collateral on the loan.

4. Share Insurance Loans. This is a plan whereby the student can establish a credit rating and at the same time save money. The member may borrow $200 and deposit it as shares. Then he makes monthly payments against the loan. In a few months the student will have saved

$200, plus 6 per cent interest, and all same time have the benefits of share loan insurance and life insurance.

5. Loan Insurance. Insurance on up to $5,000 is automatically provide for each member so that in case of hi death the loan will be paid.

6. Inexpensive Life Insurance. Fo family the husband can receive benefit of $2,500 and the wife and children each for a cost of $6.25 per quarter. single student can receive benefits of $2,500 at a cost of $3.15 per quarter.

7. Group Auto Insurance. Car in surance, bought through the credit w is available at cheaper rates than can obtained normally.

8. Travelers Checks. American E Travelers Checks are sold at a cost of only one third of one per cent form The usual cost at the bank is one per

9. Notary Public. This service is vided free to all members.

V.I.P.'s may visit campus this school year

Increased speculation over the possibility of Governor Winfield Dunn, Senator Howard Baker, and singer Johnny Cash appearing at the college for secular chapels in the upcoming months has arisen over the past few weeks.

The SA, along with the International Relations Club, an organization of the history majors, has been negotiating on the possibilities of these visits.

Consideration has been given to inviting students and faculty from other colleges in Hamilton and Bradley Counties to come to SMC in order to enhance relations with other institutions.

"Moose" Smith, executive vice president of the SA, when asked about the chances of these men coming, replied, "No definite confirmations have been attained yet, but correspondence has been exchanged with these individuals. "Come on, and take a free ride," goes a popular song. To the chagrin of many unwilling SMC gudents, increased costs and food shortages are forcing them to go along for the ride. And the future looks expensive indeed.

hose that pick up the tab for their cating have noticed that it's a pay-or-starve situation. For mixtance, a dinner consisting of Croquettes, a vegetable, an eight ounce carton of whole milk, cake and a tossed salad which cost $1.24 last year now costs $1.50-a "heapin" helpin" of a 21 per cent increase. Some food prices have not risen drastically, such as cereal $.12-$.15; orange times, $2.0-$.20, and toast, $.06-$.06. But entree tens have increased anywhere from $.05-$.10; for example, Croquettes, $.30-$.40, pizza, $.35-$.40, and hot sandwiches from $.30-$.40.

How will this affect the typical SMC student?

For one thing, if one were to eat less than the $40 minimum, he would have to limit himself to less than $1.33 a day-a crash diet! In reality students an expect a 15-20 per cent increase in their board fill. That means that last year's $70 feed bill will increase to a hard-to-swallow $90-$100. On student was shocked when he received his Sept. 30 latement-with a $105 cafetreit atb.

The can be blamed for this wallet-thinning development? Probably no single individual. Rather it's effections of the economic and agricultural situation.

gaculturally, poor crops and poor weather conditions are decimated some crops by 40 per cent, according a Robert M. Raffel, purchaser for Chartanooga Food suffixulors, Inc. Other crops are unpredictable and 1e. "I feel, at this time, that it will take approximely 3-5 years to bring the crop situation back of the promat," stated Raffel.

conomically, according to Grange and Raffel, lices will not be coming down. "The farmer has und a way to get the price he wants," is their necurrent opinion. Costs for these foods are the maines for increased prices-wages have remained stable. at R.C. Mills, college manager stated that, "We're Ying to keep the wages down, but you can't explused may be a supplied to the proper that are arking for us have to go out and pay these higher lices."

ow has the cafeteria been affected?

cording to Ron Grange, food service director for the college cafeteria, "Food costs, to us, have gone p 18-22 per cent, that's just the average."

Where are You Going?

We are now on the last lap of the first semester. Midterm exams are over and mid-term grades have been assigned. Now is the last chance for some of us to cram in that work we've been putting off till the very last minute in a final, gallant attempt to raise our standing as college students. It is a time when gallons of the figurative midnight oil will be burned, and a time when puffy, red-rimmed eyes will appear on many faces. At a time like this we often ask, "Is that all there is to education?" "Is it really worth all that?"

Can we be considered educated just because we have crammed a certain amount of "Knowledge" into our heads or because we have turned out a specific number of assignments? Is it right or even intelligent to abuse health and other principles just to accomplish an objective which may even by a questionable one at best? I realize that these questions have been raised hundreds of times before. But why, if we know the consequences of "knowing everything," do we consider this obtaining of facts the supreme objective of our education?

I think that as the new semester approaches, both students and teachers should again reevaluate their aims. What is the value of the knowledge we are seeking? What kind of truth or knowledge should be presented?

As a Christian school, we have admitted that our search for knowledge is governed by specific principles that were set down by our Lord.

Yet we often tackle so much material in so short a time that little if any serious thought is given to any one point. We emphasize memory work instead of encouraging the development of critical thinking skills.

There are some things that the student can do to make his education more meaningful to himself, and more relevant to his goals.

Students should seriously consider what they want out of school and look at their goals in terms of what must be accomplished here and now.

I feel that we as students can and should make our own education worthwhile.

Let's all work together to make next semester more meaningful to ourselves. Keep your eyes on the goals and keep your fingers crossed!

Remember Me

It must be an inherent quality of every one to make a name for himself during his short span of life here on earth. And it is very interesting to observe the various methods people use to accomplish this goal.

Some attempt to gain their prestige with a 4.0 grade point average, while others make a name for themselves by their athletic skills. Others attempt to establish a reputation by becoming involved in student activities. A very few are content to avoid the limelight in the effort to simply make the world a better place to live.

This past week several endeavored to immortalize their names here on the SMC campus. They wrote their names in the wet cement of the newly constructed section of steps on Jacob's ladder. Apparently they didn't realize that by placing their names where they did, they will be trodden on for years to come.

those weren't the days

I could scarcely contain my delight at finding that in its Nov. 7 issue the Southern Accent had finally moved away from its preoccupation with petty provincial affairs, publishing some serious history. In the interest of quality scholarship, however, I must point out a few errors which probably resulted from the poor manuscript used by the researcher as his primary source.

Fist of all the serfs at the CMS manor, unlike the usual farmer serfs, were volunteers training for the army of a distant Lord who had, at least in part, designed their program.

The majority of the lectures in the cubicle were not concerned with manoral society but pertained to the military, most of the meetings, in fact, consisting of commentaries on quotes from the lord-general.

It is interesting to note that though the serf whose manuscript was apparently used as the basis for "Those Were the Days" hated the premilitary program, he considered expulsion much more dreadful than living in the peaceful valley in misery. His dread was unwarranted. In an adjacent valley a minor vasal, Winfield, maintained an ordinary agricultural manor, called CTU, for those unfit for or afraid of the military.

As for the revolt against the training sessions in the cubicle: It never happened on the CMS manor because, inspite of a few noticible flaws in the nobility and program, most of the serfs were so anxious to join the war they refused to interrupt their training for such trivia.

I want to commend the writer of "Those Were the Days" for his splendid efforts in medieval history. I do hope, though, that he is a freshman, giving him another three years in which to learn proper research method. He must have been very brave to let you plublish his work anonymously.

Moose Smith resigns--New V.P. to be appointed

Ed. note-The following is a letter sent to Elder K. R. Davis, student association advisor, by John Q. Smith SA Executive Vice-President.

Dear Elder Davis: I am writing you in your capacity as Student Association Advisor. I regret to inform you that due to personal academic circumstances, personal academic circumstances, lam forced to resign my position as Executive Vice President of the Student Assoication effective preferably immediately. This action has been determined by a consistent drop in my grades since the first of this school year when I took office. The drop has been most evident since

It has been suggested to me, by you among others, that I lighten my work load and concentrate on studies. I have done this and although my grades have been helped the doundered. I am convinced for me to continue in this manner would be an injustice to the Student Association and my personal conscience. It is hard for me to continue as a mediocre student and mediocre student officer.

My decision is not impulsive. I have pondered for several weeks what to do. I have spoken to you earlier and discussed the situation with my wife, my academic advisor, and several close friends. I see no other alternative. ds. I see no other alternative inends. I see no other afternative. My grades are extremely important, as you know, for I plan on applying to Law School. At mid-term my gpa was not terrible, but neither was it adequate. Since then, it has become worse

I am sure it would be easier for the SA if I waited until the end of the semester to resign. However, the problem is my grades and the end of the semester would be too late. It is this semesters grades with which I am-concerned

If necessary, I will continue my duties until Sunday, Nov. 25, two weeks from today. It is my wish, though, someone can be found to fill my position earlier. Again, l applogize for the certain inconvenience caused, but hope you understand I am a student first, and priorities dictate I meet that responsibility.

Abolishment of late leaves studied by Senate

The fourth session of the Student Association Senate was called to order, at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, November 12, 1973. After the call to order, SA Secretary, Connie Clayburn, called the roll and then the business began.

Ric Carey, one of the student representatives on the Student Affairs Committee, advised the senators that they should go over the handbook and submit suggested changes to the committee rep-resentatives or to the Student Affiars Committee via Senate reso-lutions. Mr. Carey informed the Senate that the Student Affairs Committee was now in the proof reviewing the Student Handbook or reviewing the student Handdook and recommending changes to the Faculty Senate. Mr. Carey felt that the student representatives do carry some influence on the committee, but stated that resolutions from the Senate with the proper stimule. out stated that resolutions from the Senate, with the proper rationale behind them, would have influence on the committee, but stated that in helping to present the general student viewpoint. The Senate then agreed that the individual Senators would enthat he than Senators would study the Handbook, talk with their constituents, and bring back recommendations at the next Senate meeting.

The first item of new business was a proposal of whether or not the late leave-in its present form-should be abolished. Senators Liles and Wade took the position that they should be. Senators Coliver and Eldred presented the opposing side. In speaking for a change Senators Liles and Wade pointed out that the thes and wade pointed out that the main objection against late leaves seems to be that having to have a late leave turned in by Friday noon, often forced the ladies of Thatcher to have to fill out erron-

Thatcher to have to fair out erron-eous information.
The reasoning behind this was that since on many Saturday nights the activities of the individuals tend to be spontaneous. They recommended that the women should have easier methods of obtaining a late leave on Saturday night.

Senator Coliver and Eldred pointed out that late leaves were a method of accounting legally for students, especially young ladies under 18. The school is legally responsible for minor students. Another point for keepign late leaves was that an emergency might come up in which the student would need to be contacted.

need to be contacted.

Senator Eldred pointed out that a trend in secular colleges was an increase in drop-outs after these colleges abolished late leaves.

The Senate woted that a letter be sent to all Dormitory Deans and to the Student Affairs Committee, eiting the Student Handbook, and recommeding that residents of all dormitories be allowed to make late leaves on Saturday night.

The SA Project Committee did not have a report because many of the members have resigned, Senator Williams stated that the purpose of

Williams stated that the purpose of the committee will be to study various possibilities for SA projects and to offer the Senate several alternatives. Senator Smith then suggested the possibility of the Senate starting the passage of resolutions and working policies on a continuing basis. This round bind the future Senates to Follow such resolutions, which could would bind the future Senates to follow such resolutions, which could then be repealed only by specific percentage vote. This would help give direction and continuity to SA policy. The disadvantages would be that the Senate might not be able to act as swiftly as it had in the past. Another would be that if a substantial minority chose to do so, they could utilize previously passed they could utilize previously passed decisions to block the passage of items which they might be against. The decisions to block the passage of items which they might be against. The Senate voted to appoint a committee to be chaired by the Parlimentarian to investigate the feasibility and desirability of such a policy and to see what, if any Consitutional changes might be necessary. Senator Burnside reported on the possibility of changing the Chapel attendance policies, and stated that he was not given any specific reasons for the present policy. The Senate was voted to table discussion on this issue until the Senators had had time to poll their constituents and to further study the matter.

Dr. Bond to speak on educational implications of integration

Dr. Claude Bond, associate superintendent of the Chattanooga school system, will speak to the Education Club (SNEA) on Thursday at 6:45 p.m. in Daniells Hall 111.

A well-known thesis of Dr. Bond's is that integration of schools has hindered development of black educational leadership. He also proposes that teachers in general find it difficult to work effectively in integrated classrooms because of personal biases or beliefs that poor or minority students have inferior abilities.

Dr. Bond, who is considered one of the most able speakers in the South on the above issues, will present the other side of the educational scene, as opposed to that normally viewed by SMC students on a predominantly white, middle-class campus. He is not afraid of questions but deals with them judiciously, compassionately, and effectively.

Accompanied by Mr. George W. James, personnel director of the Chattanooga school system, Dr. Bond will attempt to duplicate his thought-provoking presentation made last year, which was considered the highlight of the meetings sponsored by the Education Club.

Dr. Bond is a member of the executive committee of the Central Mid-Western Regional Education Laboratory and is on the administrative council of the Tennessee Educational Association. He is a board member of the Chattanooga chapter of the National Council of Christians and Jews and is a member of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, as well as holding other positions in local civic affairs.

All are invited to attend the special meeting. by Barbara Palmer

Faculty consider methods of student evaluation

The faculty affairs committee has been given the responsibility of planning the next faculty meeting which is to be held this Sunday. The committee was chosen to have an open discussion of methods and techniques of evaluating a student's academic performance.

Dr. Donald Dick, professor of speech and chairman of the Communications Department, will chair the discussion. Five students have been selected by the faculty affairs committee to introduce the topic by stating thier impressions topic by stating their impressions of and reactions to evaluation procedures currently practiced at SMC. These students were chosen because they were known by faculty to be willing to speak out on weak or discriminatory points in present evaluation methods.

The main purpose of this discussion is to disseminate to the faculty-atlarge techniques being successfully used by faculty members in particular.
Consideration will be given such questions as "How are grades derived?" "What type of tests and/or experiences are used as criteria for evaluation?" To what size classes may the bell curve be applied successfully?" and so on.

Another purpose of this discussion is to learn how to deal fairly with the student in all situations. "Students are the ones hurt if we don't maintain a justifiable system of grading," said Stuart Berkeley, professor of education and chairman of the Education Department. "It is our hope that through this discussion will come an in depth study, both private and collective, that will lead to better evaluation practices and instruction."

After their presentation the faculty members are to respond by debating the validity and reliability of methods being practiced. by Barbara Palmer

Hallock vacations in California

Duane Hallock, Southern Accent editor, aditor, and Dr. Melvin Campbell, Accent faculty advisor, left Collegedale Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of the Adventist Student Press Association, being held this year on the campus of Pacific Union College.

The ASPA convention is a seminar workshop for the editors and faculty advisors of all newspapers published by Adventist colleges in North American. The convention which is held at a different college every year, was held last year at Southern Missionary College. The president of ASPA is Norma Jean Seal, editor of the Sligonian last year at Columbia Union College.

The purpose of the ASPA convention is to provide an opportunity for the different journalism personel to assemble and pool their ideas concerning the different problems they are having and what they are doing to solve them. Professional journalists also attend the convention to give lectures and assist in the workshops.

Some of the topics to be discussed at this year's convention are: layout, financing a school newspaper, writing top quality news stories, gathering the news, and the relationship the advisor should take with the paper.

Seniors to take Undergraduate Record Exams

The Undergraduate Record Examination will be administered this Sunday and Monday to all four-year seniors completing classwork in December.

All four-year seniors are required to take the examination by their final semester before graduating from SMC. The examination includes area, aptitude, and field tests.

The area tests measure general knowledge in the three broad areas of the liberal arts: humanitites, natural science, and social studies. Basically, they evaluate the student's ability to grasp and apply concepts and therefore do not stress details of specific courses.

The humanities test provides a means of measuring undergraduate familiarity with philosophy, literature, and other major arts. It covers historical periods and styles from the classical through the contemporary, emphasizing the kind of information and ability that students with nonspecialized interests in the humanities are likely to have acquired during college.

The natural science test includes questions on the bilogical and physical sciences, measuring the knowledge acquired in nonspecialized science acquired in nonspecialized acquired acquired acquired in nonspecialized acquired acquired acquired in nonspecialized science courses. The questions in the social science test sample the fields of history, geography, economics, sociology, political science, anthropology, and social psychology. It is designed to measure the student's understanding of fundamental concepts, his knowledge of historical trends, and his ability to evaluate material on the basis of given standards.

The aptitude test measures verbal and quantitative abilities.

The verbal section tests the student's knowledge of words and their relationships to one another and his ability to comprehend reading materials.

The quantitative section measures understanding of, and ability to reason with, mathematical symbols in the solution of problems.

The examination offers field tests in 31 areas. These are comprehensive tests designed to measure the student's achievement and ability in his major field.

The tests cover basic principles within the field as well as questions that require application of these principles, thus evaluating the student's analytical ability while measuring his factual knowledge.

The purpose of these examinations is to measure general student progress in the college. They also provide useful information for students planning further study and for faculty who must consider curriculum changes.

All seniors are required to take the area and aptitude sections of the test, while those who take the field test include only the students whose major field is covered in the 31 filed tests

The chapels are what we've been working on, such as the Bob Evans program. We'd like to have more interesting events as these. We have the hours posted on the bulletin board in the Student Center when each one of the officers will be in. If someone needs to see a particular person, he can call and make an appointment for a specific time.

What has the student involvement been in the SA programs?

The main thing for involvement programs we've had like the "rained out" pasture party and the unit has been through the different social pasture party and the welcoming party, but as for a SA project per se,

Things are alot different when you are looking at a position than when you are in that place. As a student voice on an Adventist campus, there isn't much you can do except ask questions and make suggestions.

That is, by no means, the ideal way of having things, though. I wish we did have a stronger voice, but that's just the way it's run.

SMC orchestra goes on tour

The SMC Orchestra under the direction of Orlo Gilbert will present a special Secular concert Saturday evening at 8:00 pm in the Physical Education Center.

Christmas tree lights up the 27th

The annual Christmas tree lighting at Southern Missionary College will be held Nov. 27 at 7:00 p.m. on the grounds in front of Wright Hall.

The Christmas tree will be brought onto campus before Thanksgiving vacation, installed, and decorated in advance of the event.

Band music, choral numbers, and special pieces will be presented during the tree lighting ceremony. Rumors frum reliable sources indicate that Santa Claus will arrive to light the tree and pass out goodies to those attending the event.

"The Christmas tree will glow into the night from then on, spreading cheer and gladness across the campus," declared Edgar O. Grundset, associate professor uf biology.

The multi-colored lights will illuminate automatically each night when the campus lights come on. In view of the current nation-wide energy crisis the lights may not be left on all night.

Recorded Christmas music will be played from the loud speakers atop Lynn Wood Hall, starting that evening. This music, a courtesy of WSMC-FM, will be heard every evening for about an hour, until the start of Christmas vacation.

The Olde English Cottage

The SMC Orchestra, on its first tour of the schoul year, performed in Memphis last weekend under the direction of conductor Orlo Gilbert. Performing with the orchestra was world renowned violin-cello virtuoso Ruger Drinkall.

The two concerts, Sacred and Secular were scheduled at 7:30 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights respectively.

Roger Drinkall went to the Curtis Institute of Music at age 16 to work with Leonard Rose. While attending the school he won the National Federation of Music Club's National Contest, and was also a member of the concert artists of Pittsburgh under whose support he played over 150 recitals in the U.S.

Mr. Drinkall has appeared as soloist with numerous orchestras as well as recitalist in 22 countries on four different continents including the US, Europe, and Asia. He has also recorded extensively over the facilities of numerous European networks and has recently recorded Gorden Binker's "Sonata for Cello and Piano" for CRI Records.

The Orchestra, comprising 56 members, has a balanced repertoire of works from various classical schools with emphasis on the baroque and romantic. The Friday evening concert was performed with works of Saint-Saens, Bizet, Weber and other romantic composers.

(3) Color, Sound, and Force in Interior Design, and (4) Technology and Science in Society. Each class wdl consist of two 1½ hour class periods per week for one third of one semester.

The Senate also heard a report frum the General Education Committee which includes suggestion of a number of changes in the general education requirements for graduation.

These include the addition of a qualified person to oversee the students's programs, individual programs develuped by the student and his/her advisor within broad guidlines, reduction of required hours for a B.A. or B.S. degree from 128 to 124, and reorganization and addition of courses and development of new teaching methods to implement these changes.

Other suggested revisions include elimination of upper and lower division class designation, addition of a general A.S. degree, and elimination of the requirement to have a minor. The General Education Committee report will be studied in depth at an extra Senate meeting scheduled for Dec. 3.

Positive way-a peaceful revolution

There is something happening on the campus of Southern Missionary College that is peaceful, pressureless, and full of love. It is the silent reformation, more commonly known as Positive Way. So silent is it that a visitor casually perusing the campus and community wouldn't even know it was going on. Its goal is simply to experience God to the fullest.

The people involved haven't made the goal yet since there is an infinite amount of God to experience for an eternity. This perspective allows for continual growth which takes the possibility away fo anyone realizing the ultimate goal, i.e., once an experience is realized the need for another one is brought to light, and then spoiling it for the others who haven't made it yet by ribbing them, i.e., judging your brother.

"Peaceful" is how some describe this silent reformation, because there is no group raising a fuss setting everything outwardkly astir. There are not even any sermons on a reform movement being preached as is customary in reformations. It is a pressureless reformation because believe it or not, there wasn't one cent spent on PR trying to get people out to some happening. The word spread by mouth from neighbor to neighbor.

It is a loving reformation because it reaches out in sincerity and humility to fellow students and faculty. It does not approach someone and sa "In the name of the Lord get it together in this or that." Nor does say, "You have got to get an expe with God or burn in hell." Quite contrary, the people involved privately approach fellow students faculty and say, "I need a deeper perience with God; will you experience with God; will you experience with me?"

In just one year there have been three baptisms and about two hun college and community touched directly by the silent reformation. Indirect results are impossible to count. This year has started with enough trained people to deal with the interest.

When man is put in contact with his God, he opens the channel for the Holy Spirit to work with him. Positive Way supplies the situation whereby serious searchers may establish contact with their heavent Father. In the words of Ellen. White, "Not only were the student aught the duty of prayer, but the were taught how to pray, how to approach their Creator, how to exercise faith in Him, and how to understand and obey the teaching of His Spirit." It is a slow proces. Time and effort must be spent wipeople. It can't be done in a well Still the results are solid. One is likely to forget a sound, intelliget Biblical experience with his or he Creator.

Collegedale prepares for energy crisis

The cold reality of a petroleum ortage keeps growing colder as the fects worsen. Directly tied to this the shortage of energy itself.
ecipitated by an Arab oil boycott, his shortage is causing every nation ms shortage is causing every nation to their energy appetite. But more important is what happened, what the current situation is, and how Collegedale, TN, and the United ates will be driven to make changes as formerly "luxurious" life.

The Arabians who control about 60 er cent of the world's oil reserves, a desperate move to gain allies the Mid East war of Oct. 6, the Mid East war of Oct. 6, sported to an oil boycott. By Oct. 8 they had reduced production by 0 per cent-4 million barrels a day-nd warned they would cut by five er cent each month until they were were the problem of the problem stisfied with Israeli-Arab agreements. was increased by a breath taking

Unfortunately, there seems to be no changing of the Arabian purpose. It's a "we get what we want or else" proposition, with the United States feeling the main brunt of the situation. The Cairo newspaper, "Al Ahram," is quoted as saying that the oil cutoff, coupled with embargoes, will be directed against the U.S. economy cause Washington continues to support Israel.

The continuing Arab embargo of oil shipments to the U.S. which is expected to cut U.S. consumption by expected to cut U.S. consumption by 18 per cent, or about 3 million barrels of oil per day, is not the only problem. It seems that all nations connected with supplying Arab oil to the United States have been issued ultimatums to stop supplying the U.S. or lose their own Arab oil shipments.

The Netherlands, prime supplier of heating oil, is dependent on Arab oil to process for the U.S.; Canada is affected, too. In addition to this, Venezuela, Nigeria, and Indonesia, all suppliers for the U.S., have increased an suppliers for the U.S., nave increased their oil prices. What is the situation in Collegedale? On the campus of Southern Missionary College awareness of the problem has already affected some changes. According to William Taylor, director of college relations, the college will cut back on long, involved promotional trips, as well as trying to plan vacations so gasoline won't be used as much, and there will be a cut-back in field trips by bus for the various departments.

Francis Costerisan, superintendent of the plant maintenance and construction department, states that at struction department, states that at present the college has a stable energy situation. With a campus that is heated by 50 per cent steam and 50 per cent electricity, and not expecting TVA to cut back electrical output, the only difficulty that may could be a variable to the contract of the could be a variable to the contract of the could be a variable to the contract of the arise is the availability of gas to heat the steam. Yet even here the problem isn't a crisis: the college has 10,000 gallons of reserve heating oil.

Also, SMC is on an uninterrupted gas service which means that before it would lose gas allocations, the industries and businesses in the area would lose their gas service. Those who live in the dorms can take heart!

Talge Hall and Thatcher Hall are both supplied entirely by electricity.

The city of Collegedale is in a Ine city of Collegeate is in a relatively good position, so far. According to Beecher Smith, operator of the DX service station, the 95 per cent cutback in gasoline has still left him with plenty of fuel for the next 90 days. But heating oil is definitely

Also, there has been a price jump for heating oil in the Collegedale residential area of $.18 to $.26 in 50-gallon orders. And it's hard to get. Suppliers of the heating fuel are hesitant to sell to those who aren't hesitant to sell to those who aren't their regular customers. Faculty Senate reconsiders present grading system

The Faculty Senatevoted Monday that no course in which a grade of less than C- is received may count toward a student's major or minor.

The previous policy was that no grade lower than a C could count toward a major or minor. However, with the institution of + and - grades, it was felt that this change should be made. A student must still have an overall 2.25 GPA in his major field to qualify

In other business, the Senate voted to approve a recommendation which was drawn up in answer to the pending General Conference wage policy adopted at the Autumn Council in October.

In essence, this recommendation states that the wage scale for salaried denominational employees should be determined without regard to race, religion, sex, national origin, color, marital status, or spouse's earning

The faculty feels that the pending policy calling for ascertainment of carning status of an employee's spouse does not meet the spirit of national law, allows de facto discrimination, and is thus ethically suspect even if it does not make denomincational organizations liable for legal suits

The statements also calls for change of the policy that Loma Linda University, publishing houses, and other organizations are exempt from this pending policy.

The Senate also voted to form a study committee to be responsible for giving direction in the planning of a fine arts center, and voted that the following people be members of this committee: Mr. Charles Fleming, (chairman), Dr. Bruce Ashton, Dr. Don Dick, Mr. Bob Garren, Dr. Marvin Robertson, Miss Ellen Zollinger, Dr. Frank Knittel, and Dr. Cyril

There was lengthy discussion of the Academic Affairs Committee report which recommends that study be given to making interior design an interdepartmental major, after inquiry is made as to the success of this plan at Atlantic Union College.

This item was tabled, and will be considered again at the next Senate meeting on Dec. 10.

Something's burning, and there is a shortage of what whatever it is

The mentioning of the terms "energy crisis" and "fuel shortage" have become almost as common as rain here in Collegedale. And it appears that there is nothing that can be done about any of these situations. Or does

As far as the weather goes, an umbrella will usually solve the problem of the rain. But what about the energy crisis?

Last week the administration voted to take several actions to conserve on the college's consumption of fuel and energy. Recommendations were made for the faculty, students, and employees of SMC to follow.

College-owned vehicles are being driven at the suggested 50 miles per hour speed limit for cars, and 55 for trucks and buses.

Temperatures are being lowered in the college's commercial industries, enterprises, and academic departments. As President Frank Knittel puts it, "the college also uses a substantial amount of natural gas for steam heat for certain sections of the campus, and, therefore, all such areas will be turning back thermostats to conserve fuel."

The college requested that the ornamental Christmas decorations in the College Plaza be turned on for only two hours each evening, as are the lights on the Christmas tree in the mall. All decorative lighting will be turned off the day after Christmas.

The promotional trips of the college will be limited. This will restrict such groups as the orchestra, band, and the Collegiate Chorale from travelling to concerts, except for appointments which have already been made.

The energy crisis is a nationwide problem. It is not as severe here in Collegedale as in other parts of the country. The administration, however, is to be commended for taking these actions to help reduce the college's consumption

It will take unified effort across the nation to solve the energy problem, and those of us here at SMC must start doing our part here in Collegedale. The work from here on, for the most part, must be on an individual basis. This is the only way the problem will be alleviated. It is evident that the only was we can help meet the energy crisis is by starting to conserve our own unecessary consumptions of energy.

Christmas tree lighting. Students, faculty, and visitors ignore the lights of the Christmas tree in an effort to get their quota of two donuts and a cup of

The arrival of Saint Knicklaus was delayed a day because of the rain. The lighting of the tree ushered the Yuletide season into Southern Missionary College.

'Brand-spanking-new' jeep donated to Nicaraguan mission

The Nicaragua mission station under the sponsorship of Rudolf Aussner, associate professor of modern languages, has been the recipient of several valuable gifts.

The first item received was a 1972 jeep donated by Dr. Richard Chandler, a dentist practicing in Orlando, Fla. While attending a family retreat at Camp Kulaqua early in September, Dr. Chandler was stirred by a mission appeal given by Mr. Aussner concerning the mission. Four weeks later Mr. Aussner received a phone call from Dr. Chandler saying he had purchased a "brand-spanking-new" jeep with only 2100 miles on it.

On his way home from a youth congress he attended in Miami this congress he attended in Miami this month, Mr. Aussner aquired the jeep from Dr. Chandler and brought it to SMC. It will be driven to Nicaragua by one of the student missionaries, Leslie Smart, who plans to visit Collegedale Dec. 13.
The students at the mission were excited when they heard about the jeep. "With the new jeep the students jeep. "With the new jeep the stu-will be able to conduct a mobile clinic without fighting the whole clinic without lighting the whole jungle," said Mr. Aussner. Another much needed item, given by Ellsworth McKee, president of the McKee Baking Company of Collegedale, was a diesel-powered generator which enable the mission to produce electricity to operate the clinic and its equipment.

The dental equipment provided by the father of one of the student missionaries, Bobbie Sue Wohlers, missionaries, Bobbie Sue Wohlers, and through contacts made by Bill lles of Orlando, has made possible the practice of dentistry in a limited fashion. The mission's resident dentist, Lealie Smart, graduated from SMC last spring with a B.A. degree in religion, but has since proved to be talented in other fields. William Seare, the administrator.

William Sager, the administrator of Highland Hospital, Portland, TN., donated a trailer to transport the new generator from place to place and a "Tote-Goat" motor scooter to a "Tote-Goat" motor scooler to aid the missionaries in their travel between villages. Mr. Sager has also offered the mission a 21-foot inboard motorboat which is to be sold with all the proceeds going to the mission.

With the continuing interest and support of students and friends he:e at home, Mr. Aussner anticipates a bright future for the mission project so optimistically begun.

Students form new physics class

Six students in introduction to physics class are structuring their own physics course, according to Dr. Ray Hefferlin, professor of physics. When Terry Carmichael, Bill James, Del Johnson, Dave Riesen, Tim Snow, and Jack Waggen registered for the class, they understood it to be a general education course stressing the concepts of physics as applied to human society.

After joining the class, however, these students discovered that the emphasis of the course was placed upon the application of physics to nursing and education.

Rather than drop the class, they got together with Dr. Hefferlin and decided to form a section of the class devoted to studying physics in society. The fellows attend classes and labs along with the other class members and take the same tests, since the tests with the context of the class of the class disputation.

Homework assignments are made by the students themselves, their only requirement being that they complete and turn in 109 problems for the semester. Each week five students do the problems and the problems are the homework white. and one grades the homework which is then turned in to Dr. Hefferlin.

Do the fellows like the arrangement?
According to Dave Riesen they do.
It gives them a chance to learn more

It gives them a chance to learn indee what they want to learn rather than what the teacher says they should learn. As for Dr. Hefferdin's opinion he says, "I like it. It's great to have students with that kind of initiative."

Rafael Mendez, perhaps the world's greatest trumpeter, will join the SMC Concert Band, the Collegedale Band, and Vocalist Russell Davis in a Christmas Concert Saturday at 8:00 p.m. in the physical education center.

He will play "Carmen," "Clavelitos," "Fascination," and "The Bull Fighter's Prayer" with the SMC Conert Band under the direction of Dr. Jack McClarty.

Mendez was born in Mexico to a family of musicians. His father recognized his talent when he was very young and began teaching him to play the trumpet. He achieved fame at the age of six, traveling throughout Mexico with his family.

He later came to America where he studied received further instruction under many well-known teachers.

Missionary Volunteer Societ active in many off-campus activities

The Missionary Volunteer Society has been rapidly expanding into off-campus activites in the past year, according to Bill Shelley, SA religious vice-president. Several new projects, in addition to the Abundant Life Center, are the children's homes, Bonny Oaks and Backman's Home, and the New Testament Witnessing program.

The activities for the girls at Bonny Oaks are sponsored by the women's club under President Marti Baum.

Andrews Univ offers Civil War tour

A Civil War History Tour, designed for students and Civil War buffs, is being offered by the Andrews University history department from June 17 through July 14, 1974. Members of the tour will visit the Members of the tour will visit the major battlefields and places of interest connected with the Civil War including Washington, D.C. and vicinity, Gettysburg, Harpers Ferry, Memphis, Chattanooga and vicinity, Savannah, Atlanta and vicinity, Wilmington, and Appomattox.

The tour will be conducted by Dr. Gerald Herdman, associate professor of history at AU. Dr. Herdman has taught Civil War history at AU since 1960 and has visited most of the places associated with that period.

The total cost of the tour is $595 and includes all expenses except food and souvenirs. An air-conditioned bus with lecture facilities will be provided for the tour.

"The tour is not specifically geared to students," said Dr. Herdman. "It would be useful for everyone who is interested in early American Civil War, or Southern history.

"Students find Civil War history much more meaningful when they can visit the actual battlefields and places of interest connected with certain events," he continued. "We read about, talk about, and write about these events, but being there makes them that much more real and understandable."

Persons who wish more information or application blanks may write to Dr. Gerald Herdman, Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan 49104. About 50 SMC students are participating with the 40 girls at the home, making the ratio greater than one-to-one. The children there are not orphans, but have been deserted by their parents.

Linda Firpi and Ernie Underwood are in charge of the older black girls, age 13-18, with Darlene Elkins and Judy Wright in charge of the older white girls. Already they have taken the girls to town in small groups to shop. And recently, they visited SMC for a swim party and supper.

The younger girls, age 6-12, are under Frances Weigand and Arlene Webb. Their activities include baseball and horseback riding and a trip to the planetarium on Lookout Mountain. In December the girls will spend a weekend at SMC in Thatcher Hall. A movie and Christmas party are included among other plans for their visit.

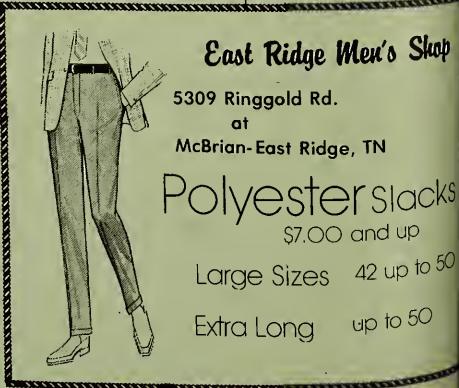

Dominic Orsini is in charge of the boys at Bonny Oaks. A basketball game is scheduled for Dec. 12 in the SMC gymnaisum between the guys from Bonny Oaks and SMC. (Just for the record, the last time this game was played, SMC was badly beaten.)

A tutoring program, under Jeannie Denski, is being started at Backman's Home, which is located 12 miles north on Lee Highway. They are currently in the process of interviewing the 40 boys and 10 girls there to determine their needs and abilities.

The New Testament Witnessing program is mainly under Chuck Brannaka, the six other strong leader under him and a nucleus of 15 members. They meet in the Student Center for half an hour every Wednesday night to study, then break up to visit the dormitory residents in their rooms. Off-campus witnessing is done on Sabbath afternoons. Second semester the class will begin study in the New Testament witnessing book to learn how to give the gospel presentation.

Chuck Luster, who is in charge of the Abundant Life Center, is very optimistic about plans for its' future. Beginning in February, a Five Day Plat will be held, followed by a Right attitude clinic, which is designed to help people learn how to cope with everyday problems. In March, health classes will be held, including instructions in natural remedies. Positive Way classes will begin in April.

Automotive fundamentals class clicking on all cylinders

"I've learned a lot about cars. 1 used to think that I was a pretty good mechanic, but this automotive class has shown me how much I didn't know." Thus stated Lew Juhl, a student taking the automotive fundamentals class.

The requirements for the class are as follows: two tune-ups; rebuilding one engine, one carburetor, and one alternator or generator; a brake job on all four wheels; working on an airconditioner; and one optional project.

The students have to round up their own cars to work on, but according to Juhl it isn't any trouble. "The only thing I've had a hard time finding is the alternator job, but I put up a notice on the bulletin board and eventially someone showed up."

Dr. Wayne Janzen, associate professor of industrial arts, has arranged to get automotive parts for wholesale. This has facilitated the students greatly, because besides being cheaper, the parts are now readily available. "It's a real blessing," said Dr. Janzen. "Last year we spent $20,000 for parts just for the class, and this is at a savings of anywhere from 30 to 50 per cent on the regular cost.

The class doesn't charge any labor on the repairs they make, so this makes it very economical for "customers" to let the students work on their cars,

Student paintings exhibited in McKee Library

The Art Exhibit Series being displayed on the first floor of McKee Library for December is a student exhibit of paintings done by the Painting I class and plaster sculpture pieces done by students of Robert Garren assistant professor of art. The second floor exhibit is a display of drawing by the students in Drawing III. Usually works shown have been done by graduate students, but since George Walker, instructor of Painting I will be leaving after the close of the first semester, paintings by his students will be displayed.

Besides teaching in the Art Department, Mr. Walker does architectural illustration for architects in this area Both students and instructors have expressed their desire for Mr. Walker move his studio from California to the Chattanooga area. Malcolm Childers, who will join the SMC staff second semester to succeed Mr. Walker is now in California finishing his Master of Fine Arts degree

In January, etchings and drawings done by Mr. Childers will be on exhibit in McKee Library.

Over $1,000 came in last month in the area's response to WSMC's mass mailing promotion

Last month 30 or 40 students. along with WSMC's full-time staff, pitched in and stuffed 11,000 direct mail pieces. "The response to our WSMC Stuff-in was great! And we surely want to thank all those kids who took time to help," said Jim Walters, WSMC's Development Director.

The mailing promotion was for two purposes. Approximately 7,000 mail pieces were sent to Chattanooga's Civic Leaders and culturally interested individuals. These people were invited to look over the enclosed Program Guide and return a self-addressed postcard if they wanted to become a regular receiver of the monthly guide.

Another 4,000 mail pieces were sent to WSMC's current Program Guide mailing list and to area Adventists. A letter along with a Program Guide, was sent inviting these folk to become charter members of WSMC's Month Club--a group of individuals who believe in the station to the tune of $5.00 a month

"So far," says Walters, "we have received just over 100 members. But if we are to continue our present plans for improving our listening service, we need 200 members.

One WSMC enthusiast put his thoughts on supporting WSMC with $5.00 a mon this way: "That's about the cost of one stereo album. And I'd rather pay WSMC that $5.00 a month and let them do the work of playing the albums."

Three hundred people have requested to be placed on the Program Guide mailing list so far. More are being received every day, according to WSMC officials. The Program Guide mailing list now has approximately 2,500 names, and hopes are for an eventual

The WSMC Stuff-in was held on Tuesday, November 13. The cafeteria's main baquet room was filled with envelope boxes, Program Guide boxes, and 60 mail bags. Students would come and work for an hour or so and then leave. But more students would then appear to take the places of departing students.

Sunday - Bicentennial of the Boston Tea Party

Dec. 16 dawned bright and fair n Boston. Shopkeepers, merchants, alors, colonists, and loyal Englishmen bronged the streets-nothing unusual. The topic of three ships moored nietly in the harbor awaiting un-ading came up frequently, "I wonder hat the radicals will do about that tea?" Samuel Adams was wondering, too! could remember the act passed 1761 that gave the customs fficers of the East India Company e right to "invade" private homes ods, and the Sugar Act of 1764 e Stamp Act of 1765, then the caratory Acts which gave England e power to tax the colonists on ything they bought from the other country (they couldn't by from any other nations). Only ree years ago there had been a onfrontation of Redcoats and Boston colonists over the quartering of troops the colonist's homes-that was the eston Massacre. For an activist like un Adams, a Tea Act and those lee ships in the harbor were some isons for asserting his rights fter all these other insufferable laws.

There was a deadline on those ships

y had to be unloaded by Dec. 17th

The man of action, Sam Adams, had led the patriots in agreeing to resist the authorities, but every thing came to a standstill. Nobody knew what was coming next.

And then it was Dec. 16. One more day till the customs officials would act. Eight thousand Bostonian activists gathered at the Old South Church that evening as the ships' owners pleaded with the governor to let the ships return to England-to no avila. The shipowner reported to the gathering that Gov. Hutchinson wouldn't back down and Sam Adams rose and declared, "This meeting can do no more for the country.

What followed is anybody's guess. Some authors claim that these colonists rushed out in great excitement sweeping down to Griffin's Wharf and acting like the savages they had disguised themselves to be. Other authors hold that these patriots, with orderly, methodical and tremendously conservative determination, moved down to the wharf. Whatever the case, every patriotic American knows that these "Mohawks," some 150 of them, strode on board the three ships while other colonists kept authorities from interfering. Three hundred and forty-two tea chests where hacked open and thrown into the harbor waters-$90,000 worth. And those shipowevers and the East India Company could hardly contain

The initial resistance of Americans to the "oppression" of English bureacrats had begun.

Hardly had the tea sunk to the ean floor when England had already taken action on this unruly group of colonists. The "Intolerable Acts were passed., such as the Boston Port Bill which prohibited any ship to enter the Boston harbor-starving the dependent colonists was their aim. Along with this, but not directly the result of the Intolerable Acts, came the increased quartering of troops Of course these independent colonists resented the further boarding of troops in their homes for many of these individuals soldiers were rather "nasty and ill-tempered," making outrageous demands upon the family.

Now, Boston and the state of Massachusetts no longer stood alone in their defiance of the treatment England was giving them-the twelve other colonies rallied in support. They elected delegates to the first CONTINENTAL CONGRESS on Sept. 5, 1774, almost a year after the "Tea Party" escapade, and because of the Boston Port Bill which was still in effect.

After the first armed conflict on April 18, 1775, in which Paul Revere took his famous ride to arouse the Minutemen, the thirteen states were committed to a course of action that brought them face-to-face with an all-out battle to preserve their rights as free English citizens. The Declaration of Independence was drawn up by the Continental Congress and adopted on America was now on the road to freedom and indepence-all because of a man named Sam Adams, three of a man named Sain Adding to the ships carrying tea, a Tea Tax, and the Boston Tea Party.

A vacancy has existed in that department since last February when Dr.

continued to teach while the college looked for a replacement.

Earlier this fall Dr. Winston Craig of Austrialia was hired, but he was unable to obtain a working visa.

Beginning with the 1974 fall term, Dr. Gebert will be teaching organic chemistry and biochemistry here at SMC. A 1966 graduate of SMC, had received his doctorate degree in organic chemistry from the University of Florida. Presently he is teaching at the Santa Fe Community College in Gainsville.

College in Gainsville.
"We had Dr. Gebert on campus not long ago," Dr. Campbell said. "He is a quick thinker, and I believe he will move with the students." He is married but has no children. In spare time he enjoys sailing and motorcycling.

Hello, Good-bye

Earlier this semester I read a statement by the late Harry S. Truman, in which he was describing some of his feelings as President of the United States. He said, "No one who has not had the responsibility can really understand what it is like to be President, not even his closest friend or members of his family. There is no end to the chain of responsibility that binds him, and he is never allowed to forget that he is President." I wish I had said that in regard to being the Southern Accent editor.

Without going into any of the details of the circumstances which have forced me into this situation, it will suffice to say that I am resigning from the position of editor.

To fill the vacancy created, two Accent staff members will be going into a co-editorship for second semester. Ric Carey and Steve Grimsley are now responsible for the publication of this newspaper. They are both competent in the skills necessary to edit a student newspaper. I have no questions as to their success in their new positions.

It is never easy to "change horses in the middle of the stream," but when it is necessary, the best must be made of the situation.

One thing is essential to the success of this change. The new editors must have the full confidence and trust of those they work with. It is imperative that they not be looked upon as substitutes, but rather they must be acknowledged as the full-fledged editors of this paper.

I am deeply indebted for the respect and consideration that has been shown me during this past semester. I only request that my successors be shown the same respect.

And so, with this issue, I have terminated my responsibilities as editor. Ric and Steve have only begun theirs. Join with me in giving them the full support they need to publish a student newspaper of the highest journalistic quality by Duane Hallock

Thanks

LETTERS

To the Editors,

Re, the singing of "Side by Side" this last Friday night at Vespers.

I feel that the nearly compulsory holding of hands during the singing of this song has lost the connotation of fraternity and unification which overwhelmed me the first time I stood with two sweaty hands clasped in mine, as I lustily sang along with the Heritage Singers.

But after six or seven singing groups had all exhorted the audience to stand and join hands and "sing along," I began to get a ritualistic feeling similar to the one experienced in church as a worshiper stands, sits, kneels, stands, sings, sits, all in a carefully ordered way that can be predicted months in advance because of its unvarying sequence.

As I watched the congregation all standing hand in hand Friday night, it was reminiscent of kindergarten, where, to a child, it is wrong to sing "Onward Christian Soldiers" without marching around the room, or to repeat "Here is the church. . ." without going throught the motions.

Again, I was reminded of a roomfull of some carefully programmed robots all raising and lowering their arms in response to the push of a button, the button being the phrase "We'll join hands together."

I personally feel some innovation and spontaneity in religious convocations would be in order.

Sincerely, Geoff Owens

What is greatness?

Today would be the last time the beloved old professor would meet with his philosophy class. As usual the students rose to their feet when he came in. As usual he began with the question "what is on your minds today?." and as usual the topic was suggested.

"GREATNESS; you ask greatness!!" Greatness is to leave in the furrow of life the abundant seen of a generous heart; to walk through the dusty valley where the poor and disinherited of the earth are forced to travel, exchanging their bitterness and displeasure for real joys and satisfactions...To wear the sandals of humility to traverse the roads of life removing the reefs and stones in which the helpfless and the forgotten ones stumble

Greatness is to mitigate the bitter mourning of the widow with actions and words of kindness and sympathy; to silence the weeping of a child with a kiss impregnated with love; to fill the emptiness of an orphan's heart with paternal understanding and affection. To extract affliction from the hearts that wither under their load of sorrow and fill them with the delight of a meaningful life

Greatness is to show the pilgrim the way he must travel; to share the light of truth with the souls that struggle in the darkness of error to give spiritual warmth to the lonley earts that shiver in the coldness of human indifference. . . to offer the water of heaven to a brother that faints in his thirst of justice, for love and for truth

Greatness is to love. To love much and to love everyone; to gather throns and sow flowers; to give to life more than what one gets out of it

Therefore, if your heart beats greatness, if your chest requires the air of the summit, don't let the artifical glory of the false heroe seduce you. Today they exhibit their "greatness" up on high, tomorrow only a trail of ashes will remain in their uminous wake, and a shapeless shadow where their lives faded away. .

You..., you be humble and be brave. Step out of the crowd to ecome what God wants you to be Don't mind walking in the silence of the anonymous. Only try to live so that shoever follows in your footpath, may find a flower in every footprint, and a pearl of truth and beauty wherever your heart lost one more drop of life

And if later, looking back from the end of the journey, you see that the world was beautified by your brief stay, you may close your eyes with a departing smile; you will have conquered true GREATNESS

The professor said no more. And after a half-smile and a gentle movement of his hand he left the room and went his way

The room was crowded, and yet, for some reason, there was silence. The only sound that crossed the air was the fading echo of two worn-out shoes and a white old cane moving slowly along the wooden hallway.

Centrex adequate for Collegedale

We are living in an instant age. We have come to expect instant service. When we turn the lights on we expect them to come on and when we turn on our heaters or the air conditioners, or plug in our refrigerators, or the ctric rollers or our radio, we EXPECT them to work, NOW But all of a sudden one day we pick up a phone and there isn't that instant service. There is a strange clicking noise. But with waiting (that word that we are not at all used to, except for that long awaited date, or the check from mom,) the line clears and we can make our call. All is well except for the nerve endings calming down after that shock of not getting the instant service that we expect.

There is an answer. The phone system can't really be blamed this time. It is we that are the ones at fault. We are the ones tying up the lines. The College is on its own independent system the Centrex. It connects all the college phones within 800 lines so that it is complete in itself without the whole community being involved. Collegedale, Apison and Ooltewah are all in the Chickamauga system and Chattanooga is separate too. So this sometimes is the reason why we have trouble getting out of the SMC system. The Collegedale or Chattanooga systems may be having trouble.

The problem boils down in essence to the fact that Collegedale and Chattanooga and the surrounding areas are having growing pains. They aren't able to keep up with the demands because they can't always get the equipment, nor do they have the man-power it takes to get it all installed the moment that it is requested. It isn't that the systems are inadequate within themselves. They are doing the best they can.

As far as the college Centrex system goes, there is the capacity for 800 phones which is more than all the dorms and the adminstration combined. It is close but we don't run over. But there aren't that many circuts. The main problem has been after 10:30 p.m. when the dorms are doing the calling. Say 40 guys call, that is 40 circuts tied up and then say that 10 people take the receiver off the phone, they are tying up another 10 lines for no reason at all. It is going to take consideration on the part of us all to get this worked out and have a system that is the way that is ought to be. Here are a few

1. Try to understand that if you have a problem it may be the fault of another system other than the college's Be patient they are having growing pains too.

2. Don't leave the phone off the hook. If you don't want the call don't answer. If the noise bothers you, move the phone and put something over it to muffle the sound. Or if it is on the wall stuff something between the bells. (1 didn't say to distruct the phone, be careful.)

3. If you have someone calling you and you can't get them to quit, hang up as soon as you know it is them. If you gasp turn red and die on the floor, they will love it and be back for another reaction as soon as you have recovered enough for another.

4. Remember to dial correctly. You use the 3 digit extension if calling within the system. If calling out dial 9 and if calling Chattanooga dial 9 then 7 and your number

Hang the phone up firmly and you won't get the ring-back.

6. Love your neighbor, be patient and considerate, Remember they can trace the phones that are just leaving the receiver off the hook. And if they continue to have complaints they are going to start disconnecting those phones. You will have to pay to have them reconnected. So leave your receiver on unless you don't really want the service.

Just think some people don't have phones in their rooms, or even their houses. Let's appreciate what we have, even with its little quirks.

highways and in our homes through ncern for others helps build quality and character in people, and this can vastly improve our world.

If you could conjure up the Ghost of Christmas Past, he'd tell you the sad, true story of the thousands of families whose Christmas season was destroyed by a holiday traffic accident. And the real pity is that most of these "accidents" are preventable. With this in mind, we must all work together to make Christmas and the new year a more enjoyable time for everyone.

Colporteur Club to recruit for project

The SMC Student Colporteur Club is seeking 100 members "interested in serving God and their neighbors" in order to help the club achieve ambitious goals set

At a breakfast on Dec. 2 the club mem hership voted unanimously to recruit at least "one out of every 15 students on campus" for a special project called "Operation Tyner."

Student colporteurs and their associates have set plans for the Tyner area, with an eye toward an anti-drug and personal evangelism thrust in that locale.

"Operation Tyner" is the result of a contact by a student colporteur with a parent in that area, which is relatively near to the SMC campus. Some parents in the Tyner area feel that they have faced more drug-related problems than most locations of their size and type, and have expressed a desire for help from students who have a faith and a will to share it.

"We have the answer to these person's problems," said Student Colporteur Presdent Dave Green. "We have the drug ournals and related magazines to distribute as a tangible link in the chain that will lead them to their answer- - Jesus Christ!"

"We sincerely intend to present the citizens in the Tyner area with working evangelists, students who care what happens to each of the persons in that area and who can introduce them to Christ," Green said.

The pen of prophecy has noted,"If there is one work more important than another, it is that of getting our publications before the public, thus leading them to search the Scriptures. Missionary work -- introducing our publications into families, conversing, and praying with and for them-- is a good work, and one which will educate men and women to do pastoral labor."

That same author of inspiration wrote that "when church members realize the importance of the circulation of our literature, they will devote more time to this work. The church must give her attention to the canvassing work. This is one way in which she is to shine in the world."

The colporteur club pleads for those people who are anxious to "let their light so shine before men, that their good works might glorify their Father in hea-

"We hope every teacher and student will respond with a hearty 'here am I, send me," said Green.

Anyone interested in more information should contact the club faculty sponsor, Jan Rushing, or student colporteurs, Dave Green, Dave Weigley, Lyle Anderson, Dennis Grau, Denver Cavins, Charlotte James, or Gloria "Cookie" Webb.

Dr. Douglas Bennett, Religion Department chairman, will be guest speaker at the SMC Student Colporteur Club meeting this Thursday in the new student

Public Health Clinic operated by B.S. nursing department

The B.S. Nursing Department is providing for its own needs and those of others as well by operating a public health clinic in Chattanooga.

Begun early last year by B.S. nursing students, the clinic is operated by seniors under the direction of the Chattanooga Public Health Department to fulfill the requirements of 'Community Health Nursing", a course in public health and psychiatric

In previous years, students taking this course were assigned three or four families from various communities to visit and treat as necessary. However, health trends turned to clinics, so during first semester of last year five students laid the ground work for developing a clinic, and second semester the project was put into

The Public Health Department has divided Chattanooga into tracts. SMC was given a predominantly black, low socio-economic tract in East Chattanooga. The clinic is held in the community center of a large housing project within this tract.

"The clinic is within walking distance of the residents of our tract," explains Mrs. Judy Winters, assistant professor of nursing. "We're trying to meet the needs of the people and this includes making ourselves available at their convenience."

The students work four days a week at the clinic. The first three days are spent making house calls to the three families assigned to each student. During these visits students instruct the household in proper health care; they keep records of their observations and make out a care plan for their patients.

On Thursday the students work at the clinic from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The students do everything a graduate nurse would do, such as child examinations, immunizations, screening tests for specific problems such as visionary or hearing problems, and dispense vitamins and over-the-counter drugs, such as aspirin. If work is needed health care," said Mrs. Winters with a beyond the students' capabilities, the patient is referred to a doctor.

Because the clinic is part of a governmental agency, the government supports it. All medicines and equipment is provided for their use. .

The Community Health Nursing class is offered both semesters, with special arrangements made for the operation of the clinic through the summer months. The class is divided, into a number of equal groups, and each group spends four weeks at the clinic. Students provide their own transportation.

Because of the governmental affiliations of the clinic, students may not give religious instruction during their home visits. But "through friendships gained as a result of our work, we hope to acquaint the people with our church," said Mrs. Winters. "It's an excellent opportunity to Readers are invited to stop by the clinic on Thursday afternoons and observe the students in action.

Next, when you get home, somehow persuade your family or some of your friends to gather in your house (or anywhere) to read together some of the life of Christ. You could even invite one or two neighbors. Use the gospels in whatever version you most enjoy-Desire of Ages by Ellen White, Isaiah, parts of the Psalms, poetry by some of the masters or yourself, or any other source you can find which will capture for you some of the glory and shame of our Lord's birth. (You might check your local library.)

Have a light supper, e.g. apples and popcorn. You'll sleep better and won't suf-fer as greatly from the next days feast. Sing carols or listen to carols or Handel's Messiah on records. Finally, end the evening singing "What wondrous love is this, O my soul?" l

Christmas morning: Get up early and spend a long time with the Lord. Spend an hour before the rest of the family rises thinking about what Jesus' appearance here here around 4 B.C. has to do with the energy crisis, the Mideast war, and your pre-occupation with GPA. What does Jesus' birth tell you about God and yourself? Think a long time; you will need a lot of grace this day and an unshakable picture in your mind of God's condescension and self-denial

Enjoy Christmas dinner. Eat slowly You'll feel satisfied with less food. Talk a lot so you won't have time to eat too much before everyone else is stuffed. Go heavy on the salad and easy on the turkey or vega-whatever. Save dessert for supper. After lunch, pack up some of lunch and some of what you were reading Christmas eve and go visit a shut-in church member or some one in a nursing home. If you don't know who to visit, ask your pastor. Finally, put off the dessert you saved for supper until tomorrow and get a good nights sleep.

Georgia Cumberland Conf. offers European tour

"The Georgia-Cumberland tour during the early spring of 1974. The 15 day tour will take students to Portugal, Spain, Italy, France, and Switzerland." Dr. Frank Knittel continues, "In order to maintain General Conference certification, elementary school teachers must participate in educational and professional activites periodically during the summer months. The educational thrust will be denominational history on those countries. Study of the educational system in Europe, and a cultrual introduction to their art and literature. The leader will be Elder Don Aalburg, educational secretary for the Geo. Cumb. Conf. Actual dates for the tour will be late May and early June.'

Teachers are required to participate in something of this order every three years., Dr. Knittel also mentioned, whether it is classwork or tours like this. This will apply toward certification but not toward school credit.

Cost for the tour will be between $900-$1000.

The tour will fly from Atlanta to New York, Lisbon, Spain, Italy, France and Switzerland

Mr. Kohoutek discovered comet

Early this year a Czech astronomer working at a German observatory noticed an unfamiliar spot on a photograhic plate he had made March 7. Within a few days it was clear that the object was a dramatic new comet-Kohoutek, named for its discoverer. It has steadily been drawing closer, heading in the general direction of the sun around which it will whip on Dec. 28. At its closest approach it will be within 15 solar diameters of the sun and the sun's rays will be 16 times as hot as they are on earth.

If all goes as predicted, this will be the most spectacular heavenly body that any living person has seen. It will probably become about as bright as Venus but possibly much brighter; its tail will appear four times as long as the distance between the pointers of the Great Dipper. According to the best present observations and calculations, the orbit is a parabola. If this is so, the comet has come from outer regions to which it will return. Created in galactic space, it has never before entered the solar system. In such case it may differ in composition from the planets, asteriods, comets, and dust of our system.

If all goes well, the best views will come after the comet has looped past the sun. The nearly straight tail will then have been activated by solar wind (particles flying out of the sun) and by radiation. After sunset, in the western sky, from the fifth to the fifteenth of Jan. there will be a favorably combination of darkness and high brightness of the comet. There are other times when one should look. From about the twentieth of Dec. until the day after Christmas the comet will rise in the eastern sky shortly before the sun comes up. It will then get too close to the sun for safe looking. After it passes the sun on the twenty-eighth it will not set in the west until the sun has gone down. Then it will be brightest but the skies will be light.

The evening sky may prevent observation. It may be clouded all the time-probably will be on any particular day. The orbit may not be exactly as predicted. The comet may break up as it passes around the sun. So the best recommendation would be not to take chances. If clear nights are predicted between Dec. 15 and Christmas, one can get up in the morning by six and look in the east where the sun will rise. There one will see the very bright comet.

New mall planned for Plaza

According to Charles Fleming, general manager of finance and development for Southern Missionary College, plans are being made to open a new mall in the College Plaza in the corner between the Campus Shop and the Mercantile. This space is presently being used by College Distributors, but in January they will be moving to their new warehouse.

This will open up 12,000 square feet; enough room for 9 or 10 shops, depending on their size. Although the Board will not be voting on the mall until their February 13 meeting, many businesses have already shown interest in leasing space.

The Campus Shop is crowded and needs some additional space. They are considering taking out a wall and expanding into some of the available area. If they do this, they will probably have a separate section for clothing.

Collegedale Interiors is planing on moving into the mall as soon as possible. Among the businesses that have shown interest are a shoe store, electronics shop, and an interior decorator.

If everything goes as planned the mall will develop gradually until it reaches completion sometime in the late summer of early fall.

"Vera forgot which train you were on," John Smithers said. "Sorry." He got up and went to the door.

Through the cellophane window, he ould see Paul Wilson and his wife Alice. Paul was wearing a soft metal suit, the kind that was all the fashion rage in 1973. His wife was wearing a plastic soil-covered dress which had pretty patina of extra-thin roses and peonies growing out of it.

John pressed a rubberized button inside the plastic door and a hidden one-tube suction device opened it. As soon as Paul and his wife were inside, the suction device, sensing an increase in air pressure inside the house, closed the door automatically.

Vera came over to greet the guests. All sat down on the superbly comfort-able, helium-filled plastic couch that hovered a few feet off the floor in the living room. As they were seating themselves, the couch sank a little lower

"Before I forget," Paul Wilson said, "you were going to lend me your automatic pen, until I get a chance to change a tube in mine."

PEN: CLOSET 6' SECTOR 7A John went over to closet 6, took out the automatic pen and because, having walked across the room, he was now closer to the all-plastic auto-matic stairway, took it downstairs.

"Quite a device, this automatic pen," Paul Wilson said. "Truly a marvel of 1973!" "Yes," John Smithers readily agreed. "This plastic, automatic pen is truly amazing. Through a cellophance window, one can see the inrepnance window, one can see the in-terior, where a lifetime supply of a special kind of liquefiable plastic is kept. The special, liquefiable plastic is heated to its melting point by a small internal filament; this filament is turned on by an internal miniature one-tube reful receiver responding to is turned on by an internal miniature one-tube radio receiver responding to signals sent out by an internal, miniature, one-tube radio transmitter, this transmitter, placed beside the point, is energized only when pressure is actually placed on the point. Since the plastic is so lidified when not in use, eliminated forever is the danger of the pen leaking in , say, a shirt or suit pocket."
"Why, I can remember way, way back," Paul said,"when pens used to leak all the time!"

'Things sure are different now in 1973!" John Smithers said, grinning. "Yes," John Smithers remarked

"Yes," John Smitters remarked philosophically. "I'm afraid to say it, but we are getting on in years."
"That reminds us," Alice Wilson said proudly. "Today is our anniversary! Paul and I were married just forty-seven years ago this evening—and how the world has changed since then!"

"Alice wore one of the first cello-phane wedding dresses," Paul Wilson said, beaming proudly.

The conversation continued amiably for a few minutes. Then, sud-denly, Alice Wilson broke into it by saying to her husband, "Can we tell them now?"

"I suppose now is as good a time as any!" Paul Wilson said, smiling at his wife.

"Tell us what?" Vera inquired.
"Well," Paul said, "Alice and I were thinking. At 97, we are starting to get along in years and we thought, if we're ever going to have that family we talked about, we'd better start now!"
"What have you decided on?"
"Well," Paul continued, "Alice wanted a girl and I wanted a boy, so we let the all-plastic, two-tube heads-or-tailed generator decide. Alice won."

"I told him we'll have a boy next

"Alice said, smiling.

"And, anyway," Paul added,

"Alice let me have my choice of eye color and hair color. I picked blue hair and orange eyes-my favorite color combination."

"And what about skin color?"

John asked. "Well," Alice said, "I preferred Oriental, but my husband wanted black. So it was back to the all-plastic, two-tube heads-or-tails generator!"

"And?" "Paul won this time," Alice said.
"Black it is!"

"At least I won something!" Paul good-naturedly. "Do you remember," John inter-jected, "when, long ago, some people actually thought it was inferior to be black? "Yes," Paul said. "Thank goodness that, in 1973, we enjoy an enlightened world of eternal peace and brotherhood

"Do you remember," Vera said, "in the old days, when women had to car-ry their children for nine months in-

"In 1973." Paul Wilson pointed out, "we don't need luck. Tha, et to modern science, there hasn't been a birth defect in decades!"

"Of course," he hastened to add,

"Speaking of the colonized planets," Alice said, "I think they're the most amazing thing about 1973. The way we've been able to send families to Mars and Venus and have them live long, happy lives up there in all-plastic communities!"

"I understand they're even mining raw cellophane on Venus now," Paul said. "It should help bring prices down even further—although, of course, in 1973 every human being can easily afford anything and every-thing he wants!"

True, John said. "Poverty, want, crime, and class differences have been wiped out for years. And, thanks to the advanced state of 1973 psychology, even the most menial jobs are made to seem fascinating!"

"Say, Vera," John said at length.
"I just realized something."
"What's that, my darling?" Vera

"You never answered your own question. You never told us what you question. You never told us what you consider to be the most amazing thing about living in 1973!"

"You're right," Vera admitted. She paused a moment, looking at the thin pinpricks of starlight peeping through the cellophane ceiling. The refreshing Canadian air felt good against her skin. "Well?" John asked. "I think," Vera said, "I's the Met-ford-Jorgenson equation." "Why yes!" Alice said. I should have thought of that myself! You mean equation number three, of course-the one which proves mathematically that there is a God!" "It was discovered only two years

"It was discovered only two years ago," Vera said, "in 1971. It's mean a great deal of comfort to me and to all our fellow human beings."
"Yes," John said, "and when the proper factors are substituted, the equation even yields the fact that this God is all-powerful and all-loving and that there is a purpose and meaning to the universe."

"To think," Paul said, "philosophers

"To think," Paul said, "philosophers and theologians have pondered this question for ages. But only in 1973 do we have a mathematics advanced enough to provide the answer!"
"I wonder," Vera said thoughtfully, "what the world will be like for our skildner?"

"I read that, by 1979, they expect the first all-cellophane spaceship," John interjected.
"And, "Alice added, "one scientist

150 new students descend upon SMC campus

The ranks of SMC have swelled on more this semester with an increase f150 more students and more are arrange sch day. As of late Tuesday, the molliment stood at 1446 including 31 udents on the Orlando campus according to Amo Kutzner, Director of Admissions of Records. This marks the greatest like of new students to SMC between meters in the colleges history.

The 1446 students does not inbe an additional 43 academy seniors to are expected to take a course for edge credit through the SMC extention august offered at Forest Lake Academy, edgia-Cumberland Academy and methrook School.

Dr. Kutzner stated that he exstate enrollment to level off in the eighborhood of 1500 students. There are about 200 first semester students had did not return for second semester, said that this was the normal drop tween semesters of this group. Kutzner ought that only about 25% transferred swhere.

826 students now reside in the three famitories. Thatcher and Jones Hall house 164 women and there are 362 men living

The efficient and organized manner which registration took place this semure ontrasted markedly from those specienced by SMC students in the past. Kutzner attributes the smoother operation to the students being more familiar with the system and more staff and dyment at registration. He hopes to specify the system of the system of the students of the system and more this coming all by reducing the registration time to a syand as half. Dr. Kutzner said that he also not want to make registration to hasty scause each student needs sufficient time that is schedule with his advisor.

When questioned about the possibility pre-registration in the future, he thought at early registration presents more problem the students and administration than above. Dr. Kutzner said that one of the quest problems that the admissions office prenences is dealing with the 400 to 500 heddle changes that occur in student forms in the first ten days of classes. It is open to any successful of the dealing with the sign of the

Southern Accent sponsors SKETCHING

The Accent is proud to sponsor its first contest of '74. The contest theme of Valentine and young lovers is the Accents effort to have more students display their creative abilities. The contest is open to SMC students with a SIO winner take all cash prize for first place. All entries must be done in black on white and be submitted to the Accent no later than February I. Contest judging will be done by Malcolm Childers, instructor of art and Janice Wuerstlin, Accent stifficeror.

Dr. Futcher, Academic Dean, counsels Darlene Griffith during a smoothly operated second semester registration.

Chapel splits into eight separate meetings the twenty second of Jan.

Those seeking more interesting chapel programs may be attracted by a pilot program which will feature eight different topics by the various departments and will be initiated at chapel-time next Tuesday.

Bob Zima, SA vice-president, said that this new chapel system has a two-fold aim; 1) To provide an opportunity for a greater exchange of ideas and activities through the aid of groups, organizations, and individuals; 2) To provide a system where the SA can possibly meet more of the individual's interests than can be done with the present system.

If interest is shown in this type of chapel, and if it serves the needs of the student body, the program will be continued-possibly once a month.

Attendance will be taken, just like a regular chapel-maybe even stricter than chapel, Zima warns, because the SA wishes to impress the importance of being there even if the situation is different.

To those who may be apathetic Zima issues a special message, "Your Si is undertaking this experiment hoping to serve you better. If no interest or support is shown in this, don't expect it to happen again."

A sample of the eight subjects which will be presented runs like this:

1) Mr. Delmar Lovejoy, physical education professor, will be leading a group in the physical education center. Students should come prepared to do excercises and other things.

 2) Dr. Frank Knittel and Kenneth Spears, dean of student affairs, will be holding a forum to field questions from the students.

The Home Economics Department will have a panel of individuals representing various ethnic groups to discuss and compare their cultural life styles.

4) And last, but certainly not least, Dr. Melvin Campbell, chairman of the Chemistry Department, will be posing as an Indian guru as he fills in his group on the philosophy of Hinduism which he finds very similar to our Adventist philosophy.

The locations, topics, and more for each of these "mini-chapels" will be posted conspicuously prior to the chapels.

Three SA offices up for grabs

On January 29-30, a special Student Association election will be held to all various vacantcies that have arisen in the organizational structure of the S.A. The vacant offices consist of S.A. Vice-President, Secretary of the Student Association, and Editor of the Southern Accent, as well as several Senate positions. These geographic Senatorial precints are as follows: Precint 4, Thatcher. Hall rooms 252-298, Precint 5, Thatcher Hall rooms 300-348, Precint 18, from Orlando Campus, Precint 11, Talge Hall rooms 141-182, Precint 12, Talge Hall rooms 201-236; Precint 14, Talge Hall rooms 302-336; and two village representatives.

Anyone wishing to seek election to these positions should submit a petition at the S.A. office with a minumum number of signatures totaling 20% of the constituents in a given senatorial district. To be eligible for election, the student must have been enrolled on a college campus for at least rine weeks, and have a cumulative G.P.A. of 2. 50. The filing period will be from Januay 16, until noon, January 22.

In shaping a Collegiate newspaper, one of the most important functions is to provide a sounding-board for student expressions. It is our hope that the Accent can be a stimulus for thought and a place for exchange of opinion and ideas through letters and essays. Criticisms are needed because editors need food for thought and if criticisms are not heard the editors either become over confident or apathitic about their publication.

The Southern Accent is dedicated to the constant improvement and building up of Southern Missionary College or it strives to uphold Seventh-day Aventist principles.

As editors those are some of the journalites practices we subscribe to as the basis of our newspaper.

-A responsible newspaper does not merely stick to reporting the obvious news, but also investigates the not-so-obvious problems of the community.

-A newspaper betrays its responsibility to its readers when it becomes a blend, public relations organ, publishing only that which will reflect well upon the community.

-The newspaper which arbitrarily refuses to publish opinions not held by the majority becomes one less responsible voice in the community's free market place of ideas.

We at the Accent plan to print interpritive articles of various events. We hope to provide you with the "why" and how it applies to you. We will deal with issues not directly related to life on this campus in order to extend your vision beyond the boundaries of Southern Missionary College.

Some things remain unchanged. We will follow the principles of objective reporting and we plan to keep the paper relevant to students and student life here at SMC. This is how we will attempt to provide you turkeys out there in newspaper land with our best.

The Silent Coup

It was hideous yet it was not visible. It was malodorous yet it was not traceable by smell. It gurgled and bubbled its way through mankind in a quiet, unobtrusive way. It laid waste a multitude of blessings and talents that would have obliterated the inconsistencies of life.

It sought to repress any form of striving or doing or aiding or caring. It never sought its victim, it was merely there if a person wished to imbibe. And, as it made itself more available its popularity grew among men.

People began to breathe and wallow in its refuge and found it secure. It seeped through each empty pore and inhabited each cubicle of potential in each individual allowing for its admission. And, as it entered into man, it siezed his inner organs and made them cold and numb, voiding him of feeling.

It lowered the clenched fist formally raised against gross injustices. It relaxed the thought of sincerely complimenting another's accomplishments or earnest efforts. It dissolved the glowing smile into a meaningless line on a forgotten face.

The walking corpses grew in number and multiplied and in a New York City alley a lonesome junkie scrawls out his epitaph on a filthy wall-APATHY KILLS.

Runnin' Scared

"You have to get me out of here," he said, trembling like a scared rabbit.

"Why?" I asked him.
"She's after me," he said. "You have to walk me to the dorm."

"Okay," I said, and proceeded to escort my six-foot-three-inch buddy past the girl that was waiting outside the door. Then he told me how he had been trapped.

A girl had come in and told him she was working on the yearbook and that she needed to know how to spell his name. Wanting to be helpful, he gave her his full name. She thanked him and promptly left the room. Standing right outside the door, she met another girl and said a little too loudly, "Here's his name, you go and

Another fellow, Bill, had a terrible feeling that a girl in calculus class was on his trail. His suspicions were soon justified when he found her in the library studying at the table where he usually studied. In disgust he went back to the dorm to avoid the trap that had been set for him. The next day Bill found it very convenient to have one-day flu and stayed in his room all day, with hopes that his pursuer would look for easier game.

As a safety precaution, Bill made it a point to be at least ten minutes late for his calculus class the following day to avoid any fatal contacts before class. The first one to notice him slip into the class, of course, was Judy, his admirer.

When it did ring, Bill was out of the door and down the hall to the men's rest room as if it were really something urgent. He waited there for a full ten minutes. Cautiously, he stepped into the hall and made his way back to the dorm.

Bill studied in his room again that afternoon, and except for mealtime, was safe until the next calculus class. Again he managed to come late to class and find a seat near the door. This time, however, Bill was not so lucky. About halfway through the period, the fellow next to him handed him a folded sheet of paper. Bill, thinking it was something he had dropped, unfolded it. "Please wait for me after class, okay? - Judy," it

Knowing now that he could note the bathroom trick again, Bill was frantic. Then the bell rang. As a last resort, Bill asked a couple of buddies to stick close to him while he waited. She came out of the classroom. With a smile of victory already spreading across her face, she approached Bill and his buddies. "Hi," she said. Then with a flash of crimson across her face and fire in her eyes, she blurted out, "Bill, would you take me to the banquet?"

"Yes," he said.

Spoon River Anthology? Yes and No

Poetry and folk song created an trening of dramatic moments when the lpha-Omega Players of Dallas, Texas, esented the stage adaptation of Edgar the Masters' Spoon River Anthology Saturday night in the physical ed-

Adapted by actor-playwright barles Aidman, Spoon River came to llegedale by way of Broadway, where was produced to glowing reviews in But this production, directed by nexel H. Riley, founder of the Alphamega Repertory Company, lacked the arkle and dramatic unity that the padway company must have impard to the unwieldy script to sustain it rits brief 14-week run

Any theatre group would be chlenged by the considerable task of reating a unified play out of Masters' merican folk poem involving, in its ramatized version, 70 inhabitants of lional Spoon River, Ill. lying sepately in the hill-top cemetary and eaking their separate epitaphs

Though the gossip and confessions these small-town characters unites em in some ways, the dramatization their stories tends more to be an ning of individual two-minute readthan an evening of theatre.

The Alpha-Omega troupe's per-ance emphasized that lack of cohon fosters lack of coherence. The ur actors were unable to overcome disunity of the script through their mwork in production. And indivally, each merely had his or her mo-tats of believability, stage presence, d dramatic intensity.

They proved perhaps a dozen es, in portraying the 70 characters, at they could be quite convincing and ismatic. But their marked inconsisy prevented the production from g drawn together, and the audience

m being drawn fully into it.
Aided little by props, lighting, costumes, and not at all by set, actors were literally left to their in resources: vocal inflection, tial expression, stance, gesture, and ime. Obviously, versatility is

Yet, only one of the four, Ken neck, only one of the four, Ken inck, was able to unlock the audience's nagination, so that they could see the distinct personalities of gambler Tom Beatty, Negro Shack Dye, attorney and crook John Church, the village idiot, a Jewish clothier, a local dandy, a Rebel soldier, the village atheist, and hen-pecked Roscoe Purkapile.

Other memorable moments wer provided by Rhonda Wallace, com promised German kitchen maid and portrayal of Anne Rutledge, Abraham Lincoln's first love. Also notable were Allyn Winslow's inspired oculist, and Allyn Whistow's Inspired codings, and Alex Bond's cockeyed poetess Minerva Jones, and young Chinese girl Yee Bow. Mr. Aidman obviously hoped to unify his adaptation through the use of folk music as background and "bridge." Tunes like "Times Are Gettin' Hard "Who Knows Where I'm Going, Boys," "Who Knows Where I'm Going," and "Jimmy Crack Corn," along with new folk songs composed by Aidman and Naomi Hirshhorn, did add interest, though not unity, to the production. But the audience could listen with unflinching pleasure only to those songs rendered by Alex Bond.

The enthusiasm of all four players was commendable. Though their characterizations suffered by and large, it is to their credit that they managed to project (when they could be heard distinctly) the emotional atmosphere of small-town life and death.

When Spoon River appeared on Broadway, Time magazine observed, "There are three fixed ideas that Americans like to are three fixed ideas that Americans like to entertain about small towns: 1) they are bucolically idyllic; 2) they stunt, thwart and twist people's lives; 3) they harbor an incredible amount of hanky-panky behind their neighbor dearms entering." their primly drawn curtains.

For those who have not spent their lives in small-town America, this production provided moments of insight. For those of ns who have, the performance provided moments of catharsis. Despite occasional forced theatricality, the Alpha-Omega Players had, at least, a sense of the reality

Everything you always wanted to know about discipline

★ but were afraid to ask ★

"Discipline." That word conjures up different images in different student's minds? To some, it is a tear-faced voungster bending over touching his toes while a stern, gray-haired principal paddles the unfortunate's up-ended rear.
The Southern Missionary College administration is trying to change that

In separate interviews with the dean of student affairs, Mr. Kenneth Spears, and the chairman of the Judiciary Committee Dr. Melvin Campbell, many important facts and philosophies came into view

"We (those on the Judiciary Committee are interested in being inconsistent," said Dr. Campbell. "Now I really don't believe that that's the case--l don't believe that students really want us to be consistent What they really want is to be considered

Dr. Campbell went on to explain that family background, the student's program, and what he could be in the context of the situation are all considered before some of the "corrective measures" are used to help him fit into an Adventist lifestyle. In support of this statement, the committee has come up with some alternatives to suspension or expulsion.

"In previous years it's been either 'Go home' or 'Citizenship probation,' " said Dr. Campbell. "Now everyone knows that citizenship probation is nothing. So there's too big a gap. You either do nothing or send them home—that's not fair. So we've been trying to fill the gap sometimes with 'delayed suspension'allowing the student to finish the semester and then say, 'Hey, look, your lifestyle and our lifestyle are just incompatibleleave. You can maybe apply again later after this semester or next year-stay out for a semester.' Then there are other ideas," Dr. Campbell adds.

These other ideas are "counseling programs" and guidelines that the committee feels especially useful. For instance, if someone has been misbehaving and it seems that his car has been a contributing factor, then he may have to park his car, give his keys to the dean, and let the car sit awhile. Or, he may be told to take the car home and leave it there. Then maybe a student will be campus-bound for a specified length of

Apart from SMC's Student Handbook for the '73-'74 school year, which explains in great detail what one is disciplined for, how is it determined what a student needs, expulsion or "corrective measures?

Dean Spears believes it depends on the problem: "A lot of judgment is involved here." Some considerations are the student's influence on his ac quaintances or other students, the magnitude of the problem (whether it's a pattern or just an isolated incident), and if the student has been honest.

Dr. Campbell stated, "I know this can raise some hard feelings, treating one differently than another, because we have to be very subjective. We (the Committee) have to perform value judgments.
"I'd like to add that these proceedings are very, very much of an emotional strain. I just don't think people realize what you're going through when you're very close to the student. You see, what makes it doubly hard is when it's kids you know, you've had in your class-you like them.

Beware, though, fellow students,

Dean Spears and Dr. Campbell want no one to think that the disciplining bodies of this campus are all "heart and no brains." Dean Spears notes that, "You're not going to make everyone happy" and Dr. Campbell said, "When they (students) come to us they're potentially ont-they could just as well be asked to leave as not. The Judiciary Committee is the last stage for the students, when the crisis has built up, such as drinking, falsification of leaves and so on-when something drastic must Dean Spears, in reply to the question, "Are kids disciplined on hearsay?" stated that when he's given a report, he will call the student in for a personal, private counsel, but he doesn't discipline on hearsay He waits till he gets facts, or the truth from the erring student himself.

Why do students have to be discip-

In the course of their conversation, Dean Spears and Dr. Campbell consis-tently mentioned "Christian principals," 'policy," "lifestyle," "guidelines," ar 'influence." The Student Handbook states that SMC contains "unique features which characterize the college," and that the college has "distinct objectives." Each "distinct objective" is listed in the SMC "'73-'74 Bulletin."

On page one is outlined the 'Seventh-day Adventist "Statement of Objectives." These two statements outline the "unique features" of the

The major consideration is that this is a Seventh-day Adventist college dedicated to the advancement of God's work, thereby necessitating a genuine Christian atmosphere on campus. The knowledge that this college is unique should explain the "why" for the existing rules and regulations

Sometimes these rules are found to be "dated"-that is they may not be relevant to the existing situation. When asked if the student has a right to request change, Dean Spears stated that the student should go through "proper channels," such as the Student Associa-tion Senate. He added that, "If a person disagrees with policy which is based on principles and standards, he has the right to disagree, but not to violate."

Although a number of cases of misbehaving students have come before the Judiciary Committee, this year, Dr. Campbell can only remember of one that was asked to withdraw immediately (there are others on "delayed suspension").

It should be remembered that "discipline" is relative, it's subjective Discipline deals with emotions, abstract entities such as, "good," "evil," "love," and others; Christian philosophies; the reputations of both the student and the college; and the responsibility of training and educating young people.

As long as time goes on and this college exists, there will be students leaving here sometimes bitter, some-times thankful, sometimes indifferent Perhaps someday you may find yourself on the opposite side of the big desk awaiting the verdict. There won't be any bending over touching your toes and getting paddled-so you can go away thankful!!

Dr. Ashton to perform with Chatt. Sym.

Dr. Bruce Ashton, associate professor of music at SMC, is slated to appear in a concert with the Chattanooga Symphony of Dr. Richard Cormier, next Tuesday evening.

Dr. Ashton, who is the only pianist for the Symphony this season, will perform in the Conductor's Concert, and his renditions will include the Concerto Grosso by Bloch; Les Djinns, by Franck; Schubert's Unfinished Symphony; and

Dr. Ashton's invitation to play for the Chattanooga Symphony is the result of a joint concert by the Chattanooga Youth Symphony and the SMC Orchestra at SMC last year.

The Symphony Association does not frequently pick musicians from this area, as local artists are generally not box office material.

Dr. Ashton, on the SMC faculty since 1968, is serving his second term as president of the Chattanooga Music Teachers Association. His career has encompassed soloist performances with the CCM Orchestra and the Congress of Strings Orchestra and recitals in various parts of the United States.

He holds the Master of Music degree from American Conservatory and Doctor of Musical Arts from the University of Cincinnati.

Tickets for the concert may be purchased at the Symphony office, 730 Cherry St. (267-8583), or through any member of the Symphony Guild.

$1000 donated to WSMC

Just before Christmas, James Hannum, get more participation," says Jim Walters, Director of WSMC Broadcasting, received a phone call from a Chattanooga resident. "I recently moved in the area from Florida, and find your programming more enjoyable than anything else in the area. I would like to help the station in a substantial way and will be sending you $1,000 worth of Dupont stock."

Hannum, of course, was exuberant. The gentleman had previously joined WSMC's Month Club (a group of people who give at least $5.00 a month to WSMC), but being interested in the cultural programming of WSMC he decided to give a special Christmas: gift to the station.

"As people of our area hear more and port to keep WSMC on the air, I believe we'll ...

Director of Development. Walters summed his belief about

WSMC money-raising in this manner, "I believe people expect to be able to pay for what they enjoy and we're just giving them an opportunity."

Senate abolishes two SA offices

Proposals by Senator Marsh to change the social vice president's structural relationship to the SA sparked considerable debate in Monday night's meeting of the Student Senate.

The action followed the abolishing of the positions of Social Committee chairman and Programs Committee chairman after those two officers resigned. This leaves the social vice president currently in direct control of both committees.

The Senate also decided that the present Recreation Committee chairman has been unable to adequately cover the job for the women and village students. That office was therefore abolished, and in its place two new positions were create men's sports coordinator and women's sports coordinator.

Officers to fill these posts are to be elected in the dormitories. Village students will be eligible to run and vote for these offices.

The Senate also voted upon appointees to fill vacancies left by Senator Bradley, Oswald, McClarty, and Firpi. The new Senators are Frank Potts, Melanie Thompson, John Huskins, and Joni Mill.

Leclare Litchfield, SA president, made known the offices available for the coming elections.

Drug deprived gunmen robs Battle home

An unidentified gunmen broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Battle, located on Apison Pike in Summit, early last Wednesday morning with threats of murder and demands for $500.

Mrs. Battle revealed that she and her husband were awakened at 5:00 a.m. by a young white man standing at the foot of their bed saying, "Don't make a move or I'll blow your brains out."

He went on to say that he needed the money for a "fix" and continually repeated, "I'm not kidding, I'll kill you," constantly using profane language. He also threatened to kill their young daughter if they would not comply with his demands.

After holding his victims for an hour he departed with $20, leaving the Battle family unharmed, but threatening several more times that he would kill Detective John Lawson said the gunman broke through the kitchen window to gain entry. No trace was found upon search immediately followill the gunman's escape.

Petition filed against re-zoning action

Last summer numerous tracts of land in Collegedale were re-zoned, because buildings had been erected contrary to existing zoning regulations, and to facilitate further progress of construction in Collegedale.

Included in the re-zoning was a 200 by 500 foot lot to be re-zoned to commercial, at the southwest corner of Moore Road and Camp Road, adjacent to a proposed housing development by Kim-De construction company of Collegedale. However, several local citizens have charged that the fact that this one plot would be zoned commercial in a residential area was not stressed to the public.

Notices of the zoning hearing were posted and the required three meetings, two weeks apart, were held in the Collegedale courtroom. After the last meeting, a vote was taken and the tracts were re-zoned.

Later, after it was discovered that a 7-11 type convenience food store was proposed for the site at the corner of Moore Road and Camp Road, a public furor ensued. Numerous reasons were given against the commercial use of this tract: increased traffic, devaluation of adjacent property, danger to school children due to the increased traffic, etc. Petitions for a re-hearing were circulated and many people signed them.

Legally, these petitions had no grounds for action. According to the Hamilton County laws regarding zoning re-hearings, any petition for a re-hearing must be instigated by property owners living within 300 feet of the property in question.

Kim-De, who would build the store

Kim-De, who would build the store and then leased it to a franchise, already had their building permit and could legally proceed with construction. However, they agreed to another public hearing which was held on Nov. 26 in the Collegedale courtroom.

During the hearing, many local residents' objections to the proposed store were refuted. For instance, a new city ordinance requires any company, person, etc. which would tend to create a potential traffic hazard by erecting any commercial interest, to install proper traffic signals at their own expense, thus, a solution to the traffic problem.

At the end of the meeting a straw vote was taken and the outcome was about three to one against the proposed store.

The matter has been given over to the planning commission. It not appears that the interested parties decided not to go against public opinion, and the store's construction is now being planned.

Since as of yet no definite plans have been formulated, all that can be said at the present time is that the tract will probably be developed into multifamily dwellings, according to Fred Fuller, mayor of Collegedale.

Holland tops Reading in season opener

Departmental basketball ended last semester with the Businass team winning the tournament after defeating Chemistry 1 44-42 in their final game. Chemistry I came back after losing one game earlier to capture the loser's brackett and go on to challenge undefeated Business.

Chemistry I had a tough task in their attempt to defeat Business twice for the title, which they almost pulled off. In the first game, Chemistry I worked collectively to defeat Business 58-51, but couldn't do the same in the final game, with Bruce Baird and John Bohme representing 32 of the teams 42 points.

Steve White had the highest average in the tournament, with a 32 point oer game average. He also had the game high with 53 points.

Dormitory expense—an inside look

Are you one of the individuals that ak monthly dormitory rent is a brasteep? Talge, as well as $45.50 for all the residents of Jones Hall, it would be easily seen that a sizeable sum is brought in each month. The question is, what happens to this?

Mr. Robert Mills, business manager of SMC, said, "We look at the dormitory from two directions. One part of the dormitory operation we think of as a hotel, the physical quarters where the students reside, and the expense of running the hotel part is the electricity, desk clerk, janitorial care, etc. The other section is the dean section; that is the employment of the deans, assistant deans, resident assistants, and the others that work with them. The dean section is quite costly because we have to have qualified, educated, and experienced the proper counseling and guidance fac-ilities."

Mr. Mills went on to say, "We must recognize that in an institution of any type, all of the various departments ought to be able to make their was financially. A few years back when it was decided to build a new women's residence hall and to allow the men to use Talge Hall where the women then resided, it was also decided that dorm charges should be ad-justed to not only pay for the expenses of operation encountered, but also for the cost of the buildings themselves. For in-stance, when someone builds and rents a house, he charges not only for what it costs him to keep it in repair, but the cost of building the house in addition. This theory was advanced and approved by the Board.

"This answers the question of what happens to any money the college gets above the cost of operating the dormitory in a given year, because it goes towards the liquidation of the enormous dept encountered in building Thateher Hall.

Let us now consider what actually Let us now consider what actually happened during the fiscal year from July 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973. The total dorm expense for the men's dormitory was $133,000. For both women's dormitory's the expense figure was $240,000.

A Recipe

No? that the year 1974 is in full swing and all those innumerable New Year's resolutions have long since been forgotten. The time has arrived for many of us to take a moment, sit back, and honestly ask ourselves, "what do I need to do to make my stay at SMC a sucess?"

Contrary to popular notion, the mark of a success in college is not attaining an unsurpassed grade point average or making the Dean's List. Though these very worthwhile pursuits should never be discounted. Much of your success or failure at SMC can't be measured by a test or determined by a standard deviation curve; rather it will depend on how well you can relate to and how tolerant you are of others. Long before now you have discovered that SMC is by no means perfect. How you relate to these imperfections will determine to a great degree how happy your existence here will be.

Take into consideration that the people responsible for making things run smoothly are, after all, people subject to the same imperfections, that you and all other human beings are subject to. With this realization in mind, your dealings with others will be greatly enhanced.

If you make suggestions with a spirit of help-fulness and the warmth of Christian Love, your views will not only be appreciated, but will welcomed and valued.

SMC, with all its degrees and study programs, is in the final analysis, people trying torelate is in the final analysis, people trying to relate to other people. If we all do our best to show friendship and consideration for others, this year will be one of success never to be matched.

Huntin' Scared

"Oh, come on. Ask somebody. Everybody's doing it.'

The petite, shapely little Judy was sitting on the floor, thumbing disgustedly through her JOKER.

". Good grief-you're not proposing, Judy. It's just a banquet." Sandy's cam-paign for school spirit and crucified apathy was underway. "Well, it can't be anyone l'd want to date. They never speak after banquets anyway, you know.'

"How about that Bill guy in your calculus class? He seems pretty decent.

"Oh, all right, if you insist. I have to go to the library tonight and if he happens to be there, I'll ask. If not, well, I'm sure I'll survive."

(Several hours later. . .)

Sandy nearly dropped her bowl of 40% Bran Flakes and apple sauce as Judy threw open the door and bounded triumphantly into the room.

"He accepted?" Sandy questioned, sitting anxiously and trying to salvage what was left of her meal. "Nope--he wasn't there! Well, actually he was there for a little while, but before l could flag him down, the fire alarm went off and he ran out. . . I didn't know he was on the fire department. Well, that's that.

He had his chance.' "Oh, Judy, you've just got to ask him. Come on-one more try. It can't hurt."

"All right, but I want you to know I wouldn't be doing this if you weren't my best friend. Let's see. . . I'll write him a note in calculus tomorrow, if he's there. He's got the flu, you know,'

Calculus class finally came and Judy sat thoroughly involved in her usual activity, writing letters to that darling ski instructor she met over Christmas. Gazing into space, she noticed Bill entering the room, his usual ten minutes late.

"Oh, great, now I'll have to ask him.
Why did I promise Sandy." Ripping out an extra sheet of paper she scribbled...

"Bill - please wait for me after class. Judy" Class was finally ending, and Judy was trying to think of a clever way to ask Bill to the banquet. Walking reluctantly out the door, Judy saw Bill standing there, obviously still a little pale from the flu, trying to be his usual self joking with the boys. "Great. . Well, I don't want to embarrass him in front of his buddies. I'll just call him tonight. So long clever request."

"Bill, did you get the calculus assignment for Friday? I wasn't paying attention during class.

"(Sigh) Yeah, um. . .lesson 33, problem 1-75 odd; and look over the next lesson for a quiz.'

"Thanks alot. Be talking to you." Sandy walked in late that night. "Did you ask him yet?"

"Sure did!"

"Well?"

"He said he'd call back in 15 minutes; that was two hours ago. I think he's running scared."

Dear Editor,

like to make a comment on the Campus Kitchen. I placed my order and sat down to wait. After about 30 minutes, two other groups of people, who had been there long before me had to get up and go ask for their orders, which were ready and getting cold. One family came in and waited so long at the ordering desk, they finally decided it was closed. They all got a salad and some potato chips and sat down. After waiting an additional

I waited another tea minutes, asked again, and got my order "to go" without a bag, with the explanation they didn't have any. This was during Christmas vacation, and I would hate to be a student and have to be subjected to such treatment.

Talent Show travels down memory lane

"The Crossroads of Talent," a variety-talent show sponsored by the Student Association, will be presented February 16 at 8:00 p.m

The setting will be a crossroad where Talent Road and Memory Lane meet.
Small shops, within which participants will perform, will line the streets. Rather than opening and closing curtains to set off an act, a spotlight will be focused upon the shop where a particular act is taking place. Emcees will present between-act entertainment along Memory

Those wishing to participate in the talent show are asked to suggest a building which could be used as a backdrop for their act. For example, a musical number could be done in a music store, a gymnastic routine in a health spa, a quartet number in a barber shop and so on. An apartment building, a restaurant, or a doctor's office are other nossibilities

Potential participants are asked to strive for variety and creativity in their acts. Only ten acts can be accepted for the show, so the better the act, the better the chances of acceptance.

The talent-screening committee states that though some vocals are desired, there are usually an overabundance of vocal entrants, and because of this, acceptance will be harder to obtain. Participants are asked to consider readings, skits, comedienne routines, gymnastics, instrumentals, comedy vocals-anything light-hearted and wholesome

Some teachers have expressed willingness to give extra credit to their students for acts elate to their class, such as oral interpretation class. Participants should consult their teachers about this possibility.

Cash awards will be given to winners as well as $10 to all acts accepted. The grand prize-winning act will receive a cash award as well as having its name engraved on a trophy to be placed in the student center.

Potential entrants may tryout before a new student screening committee from 7:30-8:30 p.m. on January 28, 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. on January 29, and 7:30-9:30 p.m. on January 30 in the music building auditorium. Tryouts before the faculty screening committee and a final dress rehearsal will be held during the first week of February with exact times to be posted.

A Tribute to Edna

Sitting here reading journals from my students I am prodded by entries telling of success and disaster in the biennial trauma of securing a reception escort. 1 hear from those under siege and those in the net and those on the prowl and those locked in their rooms, weeping in frustration-and plotting afresh. I might have sat here in quiet admiration, noting the riches of invention, character, fortitude, and charity that emerge from these pages, and shared not a scrap. But the journal I just read reminded me of Edna Babcock.

Through fall and winter I had been ushered by the hostess to almost every table in the cafeteria, a table toward which Edna would come gliding with the regularity of Chinese famine. She moved with a solid, close-to-the-ground sure-footedness, like a Porsche. Once seated, she monitored my every bite and movement through inch-thick lenses that effectively hid her but exposed me down to my laundry labels. 1 felt like a pearl oyster must, eyed by one of the goggled diving women of Hokkaido. No, not so consciously uneasy. But somewhere back of my unroped and unbranded assurance and my uncompromised masculine instincts for space and freedom stirred the awareness that Edna was becoming a familiar, comfortable presence who could any day begin stringing wire on my range. And I couldn't see how to do anything about it--l couldn't quit eating.

One evening the Men's Club president dropped in to my peon quarters with a long list in his hand and said, "I notice you've not asked a lady to the Reception.'

Since I had no idea what a reception was and was not feeling disconsolate at my ignorance and knew I had not any lady towell, whatever---"No, I haven't.

"Would you be available as a chosen escort for the Reception?" I can't remember what I thought that meant, but it sounded harmless. He gave me some further, upper-classman rhetoric about timeless heritage, manly duty, and Club tradition. I felt called to some high destiny, singularly honored, a bestower of courtly favors. I took two steps forward-or whatever the appropriate gesture was. He whipped out a tape, measured shoulders, neck, arm and leg before I could utter "What the . . ." and left, writing as he went.

Sunday evening a week later my worldly-wise roommate assembled me in a bat-wing collar, tie, and tux with the deft movements of a short-order chef; he laid my last vestige of individuality to rest with a dab of Brylcreme, approved my shoe shine, and eased me out the door with a portentious wink. A waiting Club officer checked my name off a list, stapled a carnation to my lapel, wrapped my hand around a tiny carnation bouquet, and said, "Go to the Girls' Entrance and wait in line." I walked out into the night and moved like a moth toward the light and Old Spice beckoning me from the far end of the sidewalk.

First there was a long line, then there was me. A voice called my name, an announcement carried up, up by successive voices, ever fainter yet distinct. into the forbidden stellar regions beyond my most daring thought. Then from those heights came first a gentle murmur, then an approaching hum of feminine approv. al and consent, until the "Mmm" and "Ooh" of nearby visions drew my eyes to the fragrant splendor that touched my hand and its clenched carnations.

"For me? They're lovely. Thank you. May I take your arm?" said a soft voice. A magic motion transferred the bouquet from here to there and a firm hand anchored itself to my elbow, guiding me with calm assurance to a candle-lit table and my hand to a chair, which miraculously moved to receive her velvet and lace so smoothly I must have seemed a seasoned maitre d'. Around me at fifty tiny tables were double pairs of familiar, friendly faces, transformed by fifty wavering wisps of candlelight. Around me was the muted ring and busy click of glass and silver ware. Beside me, at a tiny table bathed in its own candlelight a gentle lady led the easy flow of conversation, of main course and dessert. She took the stiffness out of starchy collar and unfamiliar courtesies for her chosen escort. I learned that night how high the priceless compliment of being chosen lies. In the dim li hush of many a banquet hour since, l cat again with Edna. -- Bruce Gerhart

March of Dimes to campaign throughout Collegedale

The annual March of Dimes campaign will take place in a one evening sweep of Collegedale this coming Monday. The drive is being coordinated by many of the mothers of Collegedale and will include visits to all three of the college's residence halls.

Last year almost $1000 was raised in Collegedale and fundraisers anticipate an even larger amount this year.

The National Foundation for the March of Dimes was founded by Franklin D. Roosevelt. Its goal is to do everything possible to alleviate birth

The March of Dimes pursues the problems of birth defects through a three-phase program of research, education, and medical services. Their researchers have made many a forward stride in their attack against birth defects, yet they believe they have only touched the surface. Only through continued support in this year's campaign will the March of Dimes be able to continue in their fight against birth

Civil Air Patrol takes off

The city of Collegedale has organized the Collegedale Cadet Squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, an auxiliary of the United States Air Force.

Commanded by Douglas Keller, Collegedale city manager and member of CAP since 1942, the squadron now has 33 adult members, 45 cadets, and 5 aircraft. Ten members are certified pilots, including three flight instructors and two ground school instructors.

CA a Congressionally-chartered program instigated in 1941 to foster the interest of American citizens in the development of aviation and the maintenance of aerospace supremacy.

Air/sea rescue procedures and local emergency service are primary functions of CAP. Squadron members are instructed from manuals compiled by CAP headquarter and the USAF on such subjects as first aid and rescue procedures, naviagtion, piloting, air safety, radio communications, courtesy and customs, and leadership. They learn the fundamentals of flying through grounce school and pre-flight training.

Some time ago, I received a call na colleague who asked if I would he referee on the grading of an exration question. He was about to a student a zero for his answer to wsics question, while the student ned he should receive a perfect and would if the system were not in against the student. The ineler and the student agreed to it this to an impartial arbiter, and s elected. I went to my coll-e's office and read the examina-question; 'Show how it is posto determine the height of a tall ng, with the aid of a barometer."

The student had answered. the barometer to the top of the ng, attach a long rope to it, the barometer to the street, and bring it up, measuring the length of ope. The length of the rope is the height of the building.

I pointed out that the student really had a strong case for full credit, since he had answered the question com pletely and correctly. On the other hand, if full credit was given, it would well con-tribute to a high grade for the student in his physics course. A high grade is supposed to show competence in physics but the answer did not confirm this. I suggested that the student have another ary at answering the question. I was not surprised that my colleague agreed, but I was surprised that the student did. I gave the student 6 minutes to answer the question, with the warning that his answer should show knowledge of physics. At the end of 5 minutes he had not written anything. I asked if he wished to give up, but he said no. He had many answers to this problem; he was just thinking of the best one. I excused myself for interrupting him and asked him to please go on. In the next minute he dashed off his answer which read:

Take the barometer to the top of the building and lean over the edge of the roof. Drop the barometer, timing its fall with a stopwatch. Then, using the formula S=1/2at2, calculate the height of the building.

At this point, I asked my colleague if he would give up. He conceded, and I gave the student almost full credit.

In leaving my colleague's office, I recalled that the student had said he had other answers to the problem, so I asked him what they were. "Oh, yes," said the student. "There are many ways of getting the height of a tall building with the aid of a barometer. For exam ple, you could take the barometer out on a sunny day and measure the height of the barometer, the length of its sh-adow, and the length of the shadow of the building, and by the use of a simple proportion, determine the height of the building."

"Fine," I said. "And the others?" 'Yes,' said the student. 'There is a very basic measurement method that you will like. In this method, you take the barometer and begin to walk up the stairs. As you climb the stairs, you mark off the length of the barometer along the wall. You then count the number of marks, and this will give you the height of the building in barometer units. A very direct method."

Of course, if you want a more sophisticated method, you can tie the bar-ometer to the end of a string, swing it as a pendulum, and determine the value of 'g' at the street level and at the top of the building. From the difference be-tween the two values of 'g', the height of the building can, in principle, be cal-

Finally,"he concluded, "there are many other ways of solving the problem.

Probably the best, he said, is to take the barometer to the basement and knock on the superintendent's door. When the superintendent answers, you speak to him as follows: 'Mr. Superintendent, here I have a fine barometer. If you will tell me the height of this building, I will give you this barometer."

At this point I asked the student if he really did not know the conventional answer to this question. He admitted that he did, but said that he was fed up with high school and college instructors try-ing to teach him how to think, to use 'scientific method, and to explore the deep inner logic of the subject in a pedantic was as is often done in the new mathematics, rather than teaching him the structure of the subject. With this in mind, he decided to revive scholasticism as an academic lark to challenge the Sputnik-panicked classrooms of America.

Filmsound Productionsnew era

A new film production company has recently been incorporated. Filmsound, Incorporated of Collegedale. Mr. Curtis K. Carlson as president and Mr. John W. Robinson as vice-president are co-owners of the newly-incorporated industry with no additional stockholders. The firm had been in a business known as WSMC Production Services and later as Film/Sound Productions since 1969 as a division of SMC with Mr. Carlson and Mr. Robinson as its managers. Filmsound moved to its present location of the Collegedale Bindery building on Industrial Drive after the bindery business was dissolved last summer. The 7000 square foot structure presently houses all Filmsound production and admin-istrative offices, film editing, still photography, 16mm animation and filmstrip mastering facility, a large area for motion picture and TV commercial set design, construction and production, highspeed reel to reel and cassette tape duplication, film processing room, and storage areas.

A complete four channel sound recording and mixing facility is housed in Lynn Wood Hall next to WSMC-FM. Plans for the near future include construction of a complete soundproof sound stage and music recording studio, conference and screening rooms, and the transfer of the four channel mixing facility to the Filmsound building-Filmsound produces a variety of audio-visual materials including indus-trial motion pictures, television commercials, sound filmstrips, multi-media convention shows, record albums, and soundtracks. Recent productions include TV commercials for Northgate Mall and the Village Market.

Mr. Carlson and Mr. Robinson and their staff bring a rich background of creative production experience to the Chattanuoga area. Mr. Carlson received a Masters degree in television and film from Memphis State University. He formerly worked for WKNO-TV of Memphis as cameraman, writer, and director. He received his undergraduate training at Columbia Union College in Washington, D. C. and later graduated with a B. S. in communications from SMC.

Mr. Robinson has attended graduate school at San Francisco State University in the area of Speech. Be-fore that he was chief audio technician and cameraman at the United States Army's film production center in Fort Ord, California. Robinson also holds a first class FCC Broadcast License and is a former instructor of speech at SMC.

Filmsound won last year's 'Best of Show' award from the Chattanooga Advertising Federation's "CHAD" awards competition. The award was given for the production of a series of television commercials for the Village Market in Collegedale. Two gold awards and one silver award were also given for entries in other advertising categories.

Mayor Fuller chairs recent meeting of the Collegedale Commission.

Should Cable TV come to Collegedale?

Monday night Dr. Don Dick, chairman of the Communications Department of SMC, presented a report on the subject of Cable TV to the Collegedale City Commission, discussing some of the pros and cons of having Cable TV in Collegedale. For example: Cable TV would be a tremendous boon to the Communications Department here at SMC and would be open to anyone interested in using it.

However, this recent development. of having Cable TV available to everyone, also has its bad implications. It would mean that anyone knocking on the door of WSMC-FM would be allowed to broadcast from the station, and in some extreme cases would prove unwise in the best interests of the school.

Attorney McColpin pointed out that Collegedale might be too small to get its own franchise; it wouldn't pay for itself. And if Collegedale were to incorporate into a larger franchise, like Chattanooga, it would lose its identity.

Dr. Dick then gave the following list of recommendations to the Commission

1) They should continue to look in franchise possibilities because Cable TV holds great promise as a future commu ication medium.

2) The Communication Department of SMC would be willing to pay a $40 subscription fee, to receive periodic reports about developments in Cable TV from the CATV Information Centr Any material received would be kepta the Communications Department, and shared with the City of Collegedale as

3) The Commission should corres pond regularly with the CATV Inform tion Center, to inform them of our progress and to see how they can best help our community. The appointed commission of Attorney McColpin, Commissioner Hammond, and Dr. Dick have set Jun 17, 1974, as their target date, and whether or not Collegedale will have Cable TV won't be decided until mor research has been done. Also discussed at the meeting was the likelihood of installing four mon street lights around the grounds of SMC, Collegedale Academy, and the elementary school. Principal Kenned of Spalding Elementary School talks with Chief Keller about the possibility of the school paying for a light at Pierson Drive and College Drive. Be cause of daylight savings time being effect, it is still dark when the childh come to school and more light is con siderably needed for safety.

The three other locations for street lights that were discussed are a) Camp Road and College Drive E. b) Camp Road and White Oaks Dri and c) at the crosswalk between Thatcher Hall and the gymnasium.

The Commission voted unanim to install these four lights by July L Keller is presently working on a st showing where else Collegedale no street lights, and Mayor Fuller State that he would eventually like one intersection.

Sunnyside up, please

"Lookie, mommy! Look at Baby's rosy red cheeks. See Baby's little dimples? Ooh, mommy, Baby likes to giggle. Mommy, isn't Baby sweeter than gumdrops?" Little Baby Sunnyside cooed and crooned as he lolly-gagged around on his strengher. gagged around on his strawberry scented sheets in his crib constructed of 12,238,476 M&M's. In fact, the whole Sunnyside family was as sweet as little Baby Sunnyside-just-like rock candy-um-um-good. Mommy Sunnyside was always in the cozy little kitchen where gigantic posters of Sara Lee, Jane Parker, Russel Stover, and Little Debbie wallpapered the room, top to bottom. She prided herself on her merangue, chiffon chocolatecovered pineapple upside-down cake covered with whip cream, nuts, and butterscotch pudding. Mommy Sunnyside also played house quite well and was tremendously proud of her interior decorating abilities. Why, one time she went all out and taxed her artistic ability to the utmost when she put Michaelangelo to shame right in her own living room by forming an exquisite cherry-flavored jello sculp-ture of Lawrence Welk. And if you closed the graham cracker front door real hard he'd do a jiggly version of the Bulgarian Polka. But, sometimes little Baby Sunnyside would take between-meal snacks from Lawrence's feet, therefore, his gumdrop allowance was revoked for a week.

Daddy Sunnyside was the gingerbreadwinner of the family. Naturally, he worked in a candy factory that specialized in a detergent that made our clothes smell like cho Daddy Sunnyside also built little hard candy figurines (little hard candy houses and little secluded introverted sugary communities were optional). It was during the construction of the aformentioned articles that Daddy Sunnyside created little "Fudgie Wudgie," the little chocolate puppet that performed perfectly because that was the way all little "Fudgie Wudgies" performed. Right?

Junior Sunnyside, nicknamed "Fudgie Wudgie" at birth but dropped completely by the time Junior reached 15 years of age, was often a bad little boy and in order to avoid bad public relations for the Sunnyside family he will be overlooked in this story, hopefully.

"I think I see Daddy coming up the pie crust sidewalk now, Baby," declared Mommy Sunnyside delightfully.

Daddy walked glibly through the front porch candy cane pillars and was greeted warmly by Baby and Mommy

Sunnyside.
"How was worky worky, Honey, Honey?" inquired Mommy-ommy.
"Finey winey, spousy wousy," answered Daddy-addy. Without any further ado, the family broke into ---

"Sugar in the morning Sugar in the inorming
Sugar in the evening
Sugar at Suppertime
Be my little sugar
And I'll love you all the time

Suddenly the marshmellow phone rang and severed the joyous chorus, but Daddy refused to clip the mood and la la'd his way to the phone.

"Hello"

"Hello"
"Mr. Sunnyside?"
"Yes, may I help you, la la la,"
Daddy Sunnyside sang.
"Mr. Sunnyside, uh - your son has been picked up by the police for pushing dope," answered the monotone police officer.

"Surely you must have the wrong home, and besides what's wrong with pushing stupid people, maybe they got in the way or something."
"Mr. Sunnyside, this is not the wrong home, because you're the only Sunnyside in the phone book, and dope pushing isn't shoving retards, it's selling an illegal substance."

"This isn't real," Daddy Sunnyside squirmed. "I mean this just doesn't happen to Sunnyside people. Well, we're happy here, don't rock the boat!
This kind of thing just isn't talked about,
we avoid this kind of topic. We're happy, please don't rock the boat. Surely you

"Mr. Sunnyside, it did happen, the issue needs to be realized not avoided. We must grab the bull by the horns and swing him around until he is dead. Sometimes, it's necessary to endure a little pain, sometimes a lot of pain to obtain a secure happiness, not a fantasized.

a secure happiness, not a fantasized happiness, Mr. Sunnyside."

Mr. Sunnyside hung up the phone and told the other members of the family what had happened. The family stood silent for a brief moment, then mommy began to sing very slowly and softly, "Sugar in the morning, Sugar in the evening." Baby and Daddy joined in with the same mood. But their voices then gradually crescended and the tempo hartened. And Laurence and the tempo hastened. And Lawrence jiggled the meanest version ever of the Bulgarian Polka. "La la la la la la la la la."

Bird all alone on top

Basketball season started last week with much excitement as three games were played with a total winning point spread of six points. The first game was played between the teams of Reading and Holland with Holland coming out on top by the score of 74-71. Both teams shot 42% from the field with Reading dumping in one more basket than Holland, but Holland faced up to the challenge as they dumped in five more free throws than Reading to cap their victory. Keith Peden was high scorer for the game with 31 points for the victors while Ron Reading led his team with 19.

The second game of the season ended in a 58-56 victory for Bird after having battled from behind to tie Hale in the final seconds of the game 54-54, sending the game into overtime. Not one, not two, but three overtimes had to be played in order to end the game. Each overtime lasted three minutes and each team would try to stall the ball when they had possession until the end of the overtime when they would then shoot hoping the ball would find its way through the net. In the first overtime Roger Bird sunk a basket for his team and Rick Hale came right back with a basket for his team to tie it back up again. In the second overtime both teams were very cautious not to foul or make any un necessary mistakes as the period ended with neither team scoring. In the third overtime Bird had the ball and stalled in order to run the clock down and take a last shot. With 9 seconds left Bird started to work the ball in for a shot and with 4 seconds left Ken Defoor jumped and shot, the ball struck the back of the rim and rebounded straight to the hands of Rick Jacques who immediately shot the ball as the buzzer was going off. The ball went up and through the hoop for two points and victory for Bird.

The third game ended in one overtime on a last second shot by John Maretich to give Reading an 80-79 victory over Halversen. Mike Schultz and Warren Halversen totaled for 56 of their team's total of 79. Ron Reading led his team in their win with

In two games Sunday, Hale demol-ished Reading 79-59 and Bird defeated Halversen 66-62. In the Reading-Hale game Rick Hale led all scorers with 22 points while Ron Reading led his team with 19. Halversen lost their game with Bird by only making 27% of their shest from the free throw line.

This season looks like any team could win over any other, so come on out and watch the excitement of college basketball.

In B League action Chrispens tore out in front with two victories, sound defeating Brown 56-46 and Jimenez 71-50. Fowler and Hayes started their season right also by defeating their first opponents. Davis played two gam last week, pounding Weigley 62-35 and ing defeated by Fowler 57-47. Weigley is at the bottom of the pile after losing their first two games.

In C League action Voorheis captured the first game of the season with a forfeit over White. In other gam Martin dumped Carmichael 39-32; Garibaldi crushed Fisher 73-62, and Landess Defeated White 35-30.

Rees series to get underway Thursday

The fourth annual Rees Basketball Series gets underway Thursday night as the Talge Hall resident Allstar players residing in the village. Game time is 8 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Sponsored by the Upsilon Delta Phi (Men's Club), the three-game sries is being co-ordinated by Jesse Landess, recreation vice president of the dub. Games will be played Thursday, Santaday, and if necessary, Sanday nights at the same time.

Guest speaker for the weekend is
Mr. Chuck Knorr, a student in the Andrews University seminary at Berfien Springs, Michigan. Knorr is a larce-time winner of the Men's National Diving Championship for the springsboard and platform at 10 meters.
In 1968, he was the first alternate for the United States Olympic diving team.
He is a graduate of Ohio State.

kann will speak at the 8 p.m. Friday wespers meeting in the church, at skell as a both morning workin services in the church, at 8:10 and 11 am., Sunday at 8:30 a.m., Kann will demonstrate his diving state of the church of the college's olympic-size swimming pool.

The Saturday night halftime show will be presented by outstanding gymnasts from the Southern Union academies. They will be at the college for a special gymnastic workshop, under the direction of Lovejoy.

The Rees Trophy is now on display in the front lobby of Talge Hall. The village team won the trophy last year. The previous two series were divided evenly with the village team winning the first year, and the Talge Hall team winning the second year.

> Due to a lack of interest on the part of Men's Club, no sweetheart queen will be given the traditional bouquet of roses, as has been done during the series in previous years.

The series is named in honor of Dr. C. N. Rees, president of SMC from 1958 to 1968. He now lives in Thatcher Hall, where his wife is one of the deans of women

Rees has been a lifelong athlete and lover of sports. A plaque presented to him at the first Rees Series four years ago reads: "President of SMC, 1958-68; Once a High School basketball coach; He taught youth how to play the game; A sportsman in the game of life."

The sportsmanship and philosophy of the series was described by last year's Upsilon Delta Phi President, Wayne Liljeros, when he said, "I personally feel that the Rees Series has helped to add to the overall Christian sportsmanship on the campus of SMC, as well as make a bigger distinction between the goals of the earthly games that some of up sparticipate in, and the game that we are all involved in-the game of teternal life."

More Than A Feeling

On today, January 30, many of you are still feeling the repercussions of the Women's Reception. Perhaps, that certain someone plucked a few of your heart strings and allowed a trickle of "love" to enter your atrias and ventricles. Perhaps, your soul is being pushed upwards by this powerful force we sometimes call "love." And your inner-mind places a large piece of trust in the words "yours forever.me."

People seem quite enthralled with the subject of love,

People seem quite enthralled with the subject of love, nowadays. They are starved for it; they watch many movies, read many books, listen to many trashy songs about love-yet hardly anyone thinks there is anything to be learned about love. Most people see the problem of love primarily as that of being loved, how to be loveable. Many of the ways to make oneself loveable are the same as those used to make oneself successful, "to win friends and influence people." As a matter of fact, what most people in our culture mean by being loveable is essentially a mixture between being popular and having sex appeal.

Erich Fromm, a world famous psychoanalyst, defines mature love as "the active concern for the life and growth of that which we love" of that which we love."

He further explains that mature love manifests itself by exposing four basic elements, common in all forms of love. These are care, responsibility, respect, and knowledge.

Where active care or concern is lacking, there is no love. This element of love has been beautifully described of Jonah. Presuming that most of you know this story, we'll take up near the end of this mini-drama. Jonah goes to Ninevah after a futile escape attempt — preaches — the people repent — Jonah (a man of law and order, but without love) is angry because his prophecy did not come true. He pouts and sits under a shade tree that God grew just for him. But, when God makes the tree wilt, Jonah complains bitterly. God answers: "And should I not snare Nineveh, that great city, wherein are six score thousand people that can not discern between their right hand and their left hand." God's answer to Jonah is to be under stood symbolically. God explains to Jonah that the essence of love and labor are inseparable. One loves that for which one labors, and one labors for that which one

Care and concern imply another aspect of love; that of responsibility. Today responsibility is often meant to denote duty, something imposed upon one from the outside. But, responsibility, in its true sense, is an entirely voluntary act; it is a response to the needs, expressed or unexpressed, of another human being. To be "responsible" means to be able and ready to "respond." Jonah did not feel responsible to the inhabitants of Nineveh. He, like Cain, could ask: "Am I my brother's keeper?" The loving person responds. The life of his brother is not his brother's business alone, but his own. He feels responsible for fellow men as he feels responsible for himself.

Responsibility could easily deteriorate into domination and possessiveness, were it not for a third component of love, respect. Respect is not fear and awe; it denotes, in accordance with the root of the word (respicere - to look at), the ability to see a person as he is, to be aware of unique individuality. Respect means the concern that the other person should grow and unfold as he is. Respect, thus, implies the absence of exploitation. One wants the loved person to grow and unfold for his own sake, and in his own ways, and not for the purpose of serving one.

To respect a person is not possible without knowing him; care and responsibility would be blind if they were not guided by knowledge. Knowledge would be empty if it were not motivated by concern. One may know, for instance, that a person is angry, even if he does not show it overtly; but one may know him more deeply than that; then one knows that he is anxious and worried; that he feels lonely, that he feels guilty. Then one knows that his anger is only the manifestation of something deeper, and one sees him as anxious and embarrassed, as the suffering person, rather than the angry one.

Hopefully, after reading these conclusions, you will see that love is not a simple emotion that leaves you floating through space, but a craft or an art that must be meticulously worked with, constantly striving for perfection. So think twice before you flippantly remark, "I'm in love, roommate."

Moel Forever?

Dear Editor,

It has come to my attention in the last month that the beauty of Christmas is still with us.

I was very glad that amid the energy crisis that we have all heard of, we were still able to have a Christmas tree. Even though it was lit only for a couple of hours each night.

I would like to say that I appreciate this indication that someone is still thinking about the beauty of our campus, but I would also like to ask one question of whomever it may concern. What is the reason if any for the Christmas tree still being up?

Thank you for answering my question about this matter.

Sunday morning a screening committee (of one person) arbitrarily decided that

Chuck Luster forms meteorology class

"Good evening, groovy guys and girls, Chuck Luster here with the tatest in weather understanding

Chuck Luster, a junior theology student, is both teacher and student in a 3 hour class known as "Weather and Man." This course is an original Luster conception; he outlines the course, selects his own textbooks, orders his own films, and makes his own assignments.

"Weather really freaks me out. I figured that understanding it would quiet my superstitions and fears of certain dangerous weather types. I'm interested in weather extremes, like why does the wind blow over cars and trees in Chattanooga while it's relatively quiet in Collegedale," says

Of course, Luster did not decide all of a sudden to just have his own class. He was formulating his second semester schedule knowing he needed a science course. Being not particular ly excited with what was offered, he noticed a section in the Biology de-partment known as "Selected Topics" in which students made up their course. Luster then outlined his "Weather and Man" course, presented his pro-posal to Dr. H. H. Kuhlman who, incidentally, approved and is now

Luster's advisor and will ultimately bestow his final grade bestow his man grade.

As far as classwork is concerned

Luster plans to do research studies which will total anywhere between 50 and 60 typewritten pages by the end of the semester.

The origin of weather can even be found in the Bible. Because of the water vapor above the firmament at the time of creation in the upper atmosphere, we had a uniform tem-perature around the world. We lost that water canope when it rained for the first time at the flood. Then basically, because of the uneven temperatures, the world began to experince a physical phenomena we now call weather.

Luster will visit the National Weather Service in Crossville, TN to better understand weather patterns.
He will also teach several class periods on weather formations to elementary students in Rossville.

educated tolerance toward my people-the Jewish people.

According to the SMC catalog,

"... it is the purpose of this college to send forth men and women who po-ssess breadth of mind..."

Obviously, knowledge is the key to openmindness. Those here at SMC who purpor to be knowledgeable, ed-ucated, or at least educable, must surely base learned in studying history that the neated, or at least educable, must surely have learned in studying history that the Jowish people were tusiers in the ghetics of Europe because they were farmers by heritage who were forced to adopt a different lifestyle in their new homelands. The image fostered of the Jow from that time forth has been one of miser-liness and nigardiniess. Those who perpetrate this image today are the ignorant few who apparently believe that every Jewish person is a "penny-pincher" by birth.

The SMC Student Handbook specific-The SMC Student Handbook specifically forbids the use of profanity in this community. To call someone (whether or not he is Jewish) "A Jew" as an indictment of his frugality is to use profane language. Dear Editors,

Granted, a letter to the editor is not usually the place to discuss a date to Sunday night's reception, but I feel that in light of an incident that took place Sunday morning, something should be said to bring it to the attention of the mublish public.

The girl who asked me for the occasion was also asked by those with authority to sing at the program following the banquer meal. Ste, along with two accompaniests, practiced many hours attempting to perfect two songs for her performance. One was originally done by the Carpenters, and the other was from Dianna Ross. For weeks she continued practing the songs, even occasionally taking time from the valuable academic facet of her nursing curriculm. academic facet of her nursing curriculm.

this girl's voice was too sexy, and she sounded like she was trying to seduce something or someone. And so, hours before the banquet, she was told that she would not be allowed to sing that evenwould not be allowed to sign that evening at the program. Her name was alrady printed on the programs which were to be passed out at the banquet that night, and it was obviously too late to alter the ink that had already dried on those pages.

Now, my purpose here is not argue the sex appeal of this girl. The banquet was rated "C" for general admission, and no

My point is simply this: Why was the Blatant ignorance in a community dedicated to higher learning is at best embarrassing for the community, and at worst, deplorable. Ignorance breeds fear, which in turn breeds prejudice.

A Survey of Religious and Moral attitudes at SMC

A recent survey was taken to which statements such as, "God can be known through or in the church," of which 52% disagreed, and 37% agreed, while the other ll% either had no responses or were undecided. Why do the students of SMC feel contrariwise, or at best ambivilant about the church? (only 3% of those questioned were non-SDA's) some suggest that its roots lie in mandatory chapel attendence instituted throughout the year.

But, before we speculate further on causes, many folk are having indignant feelings about the validity of the results, so following is a brief, and accurate account of the survey's conception and its presentation to the subjects who took it.

A serious behavorial science student had two projects for his behavior classes for first semester of this present school year. The initial plan was to use the religious attitudes inventory, the same as used by the department itself, on subjects of Southern Missionary College and subjects of Columbia Union College, in hopes of ascertaining whether the traditionally held belief of SMC being the most conservative religious school really existed. Upon request for permission to carry out the inventory at CUC, the dean of students gave a negative. So the results obtained reflect only the attitudes of students of SMC.

Because of the sensitive nature of the questions satisfactory preface remarks were needed to insure complete confidentially to an individual's responses. This was absolutely essential to the survey's accuracy.

The subjects were informed that the information that they supplied would be fed back to them in statistical form and that their individual responses would remain anonymous. This was accomplished by an extensive shuffling process of their computerized answer sheets. No names were called for by the questionnaire They were also encouraged to respond reflecting their own attitudes and feelings, not what they thought was expected of them. To each testing group these instructions were meticulously given and were presented verbatim to all groups. The groups Pizza and Vegetarian Items Available: Ithat were used were largely general education classes. This was done so as to obtain a broad spectrum of a major study of students. In order to reflect the attitudes of the school as a whole about one in seven students were subjected to the questionere. Gallup and Harris polls subject about 1 in 33 individuals to determine the feeling of the United States as a whole. So this added to the validity of the test.

The subjects included about a 50, 50 breakdown of males and females. Ages 17-20 represented 65%; ages 21-24 represented 25%; and ages 25 and up represented 10%. 29% were freshmen; 35% were sophomores; 21% were juniors; and 12% were

Another surprising revelation came from the statement: God is active, to which a majority, of almost 1/2 disagree, and 2/5 agree. More specifically on that same issue 48% disagree to the belief that God's activities include keeping believers out of trouble, whereas 43% believe that He does.

There are attitudes which show not so great a reactionary feeling toward religion such as: God can be influenced by prayer, to which a 2% majority of 46% agreeing, overriding a 44% disagreeing minority. Students have shown in this survey that their religious experience comes mostly through their own personal prayers and devotional lives. To the statement God reveals himself through our prayers or in our devotional lives, 78% agree; 10% disagree.

On the other hand of religiousness, being associated with church, a disparity is evident in that 61% disagree that being religious is primarily associated with church activities, whereas 25% agree. The same holds true to the belief that religion requires us to be and for do good.

Is this attitude about the church really so wrong? Perhaps not, for Ellen White wrote in Happiness Home-made page 18, "One well-ordered welldisciplined family tells more in behalf of Christianity then all the sermons that can be preached." Is it preaching then, that brings influences to a person to be close to God, or could it be an observation of human were questions dealing with moral behavior. Here again, the subjects were urged by both the teacher and the student administering the inventory that the questionnaire was a serious thing, and to please respond accurate. ly. The survey revealed that of those who are not married 20% said they had engaged in premarital intercourse, and 65% had not, leaving 15% who had no response.

Also included on the questionnaire

The question to married students was stated: Before you were married did you engage in premartial intercourse with the person to whom you are now married to? To which a majority of 29% said yes, overriding a negative 24% minority, leaving 47% who had no response. When asked if this impaired the success of their marriage in any way, 7% said yes it had, 24% said no it had not.

Of those students who were not brought up as SDA's 11% revealed that they had engaged in premartial intercourse; and 56% had not; and 33% had no response. Of those students who were brought up as SDA's 28% revealed that they had engaged in premarital intercourse; and 54% had not; and 18% had no response.

The survey revealed that increasing age was directly proportional to an increasing incidence in premarital intercourse.

Of Theology and Religion majors 26% had premarital intercourse; 44% had not; and 30% had no response. And of the students with any major other then Theology or Religion 22% had premarital intercourse, and 58% had not; and 20% had no response.

Now what do all these statistics prove? Why include them in a student newspaper? Why should anyone find out what his brother believes of how he behaves? Why should we be concerned with the religious attitudes of individuals at a religious institution? Are we our brother's keeper?

Editors Note: In a subsequent edition the Accent will explore statistics of other conservative colleges, and state universities.

Some have asked, "How safe is sky diving?" the answer is, "How high is up?" Sky diving is as safe as the participant makes it. Statistically, jumping out of an airplane with a parachute is safer than driving down an American hishway.

Bill Bolton, who has been jumping for ten years and has accumulated some 2,280 sport parachute jumps, will give professional advice and training to the club members. He has also offered to lend the use of his Cessna 182 and all of his parachute equipment.

There are enough chutes to go around so that a plane load can be in the air, ready to jump and another load on the ground packing and getting ready to go as soon as the plane lands.

The question most frequently asked is, "What if the chute doesn't open?" There is no reason for the chute not to open if it is good equipment and packed right. The club has the best and safest equipment available, and the instructors carefully teach everyone how to pack their chutes

As an added safety measure, every emergency chute has an atmospheric pressure sensing device which automatically opens the chute if the jumper falls below 1,000 feet above ground at a critical rate of descent.

Although sky diving in some cases can be a rich man's sport, it doesn't have to be. The estimated cost in the club is $25 for training and the first jump. If the club acquires enough members, the plane can be rented by the hour thus costing only around $1 to $3 a jump.

Bird loses -- but on top

Monday, January 21, was a good day for Halversen as they dumped Holland 7549 for their first victory in three attempts on the A League circus. Mike Schultz pumped in 25 points to lead all scorers. Holland came on strong in the fourth quarter of play but to no avail as Halversen had already built up a 26 point lead at the end of the third quarter. Holland hit a cool 29% from the field while Halversen scored on 40% of their shots.

On Wednesday Bird captured their victory as they demolished Reading 88-68. Bird shot 46% from the field while Reading could only connect on 36% of their shots. Bruce Baird was high scorer for the game with 25.

Thursday night netted one more victory for Hale as they crushed Holland 70-58. Hale balanced their points among all five starters with Randy Cockrell scoring 20 points to lead all scorers.

The Monday game between Bird and Holland ended Bird's winning streak and left no undefeated A League team as Holland fought back from a 10 point deficit at half time to defeat Bird 79-68. Keith Peden scored 24 points in the second half, after only scoring three in the first, to spark the victory for Holland. Ken Defoor was high scorer for Bird's team with 23 points. In B League action Fowler won two games and Chrispens won one to put them in a tie for first place with a 3-0 record. Fowler crushed Brown 54-43 and slipped by Jimenez 51-50. Insight magazine runs into financial dilemma

Insight magazine has recently been facing some stormy weather regarding their current financial problems. The fact is that Insight is now loosing money. This is largely due to dwindling numbers of subscribers which has now dipped to the point where Insight has lost money for both of the past two Insight is currently exploring ways to alleviate its financial problems in the near future. One proposed solution would be a merger of Insight with the General Conference Youth Dethe General Conterence Youth De-partment. Insight's editor, Mike Jones, says that this is one possible way to remedy the magazine's money problems. The merger proposal has not progressed past the discussion stages as of yet. He said no definite action can be taken until the next General Conference section which is next well 1075. session which is not until 1975. At Conference.

"This magazine will not survive

"This magazine will not survive in its present form if we don't get some support," Jones said recently. Subscriptions have dropped from over 50,000 at one time to a low of 39,900 at present. Insight's circulation has stabilized between 43 and 45,000 subscribers.

There are several reasons for the Inere are several reasons for the loss of subscribers that Insight has undergone. When the magazine first appeared in May of 1970, a number of Conferences and Institutions helped Insight to get on its feet by guaranteeing to underwrite large subscriptions. subscriptions.

As many of these charter subscriptions ran out they just did not resubscribe.

Another significant factor is that Insight lost some support among conservatives in Sabbath School and boarding school positions. Some academies, such as Monterey Bay Academy in California, terminated their subscriptions completely until recently when a number have once again renewed their subscriptions. This is a rather serious problem since 60-65 percent of the circulation is

00-05 percent of the circulation is bulk subscriptions. Insight recom-mends one copy per room in SDA bording schools in North America. Talge Hall receives 140 copies for its 362 residents. According to those responsible for its distribution in the dorm the demand there far outweighs the supply.

Jones reports that Insight has lost much support among Adven-tist in other English speaking coun-tries. The circulation has decreased by as many as 5,000 outside of the United States since publication be-gan. He says that leaders from these countries were told when Insight began publication that the magazine was primarly for Americans. Jones disagrees with this philosphy and is now making efforts to woo these Adventist countries back. As part of this effort Insight is attempting to include more international articles by young writers like 23 year old Jane Allen who is a correspondent

Jane Allen who is a correspondent in the Middle East.

Jones stated that there are several appealing aspects of the proposed link-up with the General Conference Youth Department. As he now sees it, the magazine's staff would become employees of the Youth Department, with the editor possibly becoming an associate secretary. This could provide rationale for paying one editor from General Conference funds, leaving one less salary to be paid from money brought in by subscriptions.

Jones said probably the most appealing aspect of all is that it would give Insight a departmental base for promotion of the magazine such as I.bberty has in the Religious Liberty Department. He said that at this time they are just not being given the promotional support that they need by the men in the field.

Volume 29 Number 18 Wednesday, February 6, 1974

Take a look around you.

Last week in my history class another chapter in the year-long controversy between SMC "liberals" and "conservatives" was written.

A student suggested to his teacher that one of the textbooks being used was pornographic because there were within its pages prints of certain classical paintings depicting persons in various stages of love-making-whatever that phrase meant to the speaker. He went further to suggest that we should discard this book because it included a chapter on "The Sexual Revolution." Adventists do not need to learn of such historical events, he stated. This statement led to a rather heated discussion of Adventists and their involvement in the world, resulting in both sides drawing their opinions closer about them and ignoring the opposition the rest of the period.

Unfortunately, incidents like this are all too common. Blindness to issues of importance in to-day's world will not make us any better citizens or students, Christians or friends. Naivete is not a quality the world admires in Christians. And sex is an issue of universal interest, especially in a coll-

Last Friday morning an 18-year-old girl was abducted from the streets of Collegedale and narrowly escaped being raped. This incident occured in front of the college apartments, within the hub of our secure, Adventist community, our "rose-amongthorns" city, as one of my classmates so aptly described it. And this is not the first of such incidents to occur receotly.

Not long ago I was discussing SMC's karate class with a girl on my dorm wing. "Oh, I don't need to know about that," she stated. "Even if I should be caught in a bad situation, the Lord would get me out OK."

It is not my purpose in this editorial to question the power of God or the hand of Providence, but the ignorance of some of His followers in their role as guardians of His law, including No. 7.

We Adventists are part of a larger community than just our church; we owe our fellowman more than impassive observation as we shake the dust from our feet. The church as a body is doing a great deal of good-physical as well as spiritual-for those ootside our ranks. But the narrow views and exclusive attitudes of many individuals undermine much of the good others have done.

Wheo Christ prayed for His followers He said, "I pray not that thou shouldst take them out of the world, but that thou shouldst keep them from the evil." (John 17:15). Ellen White says in Patriarchs and Prophets, "They (God's people) must keep themselves free from its (the world's) spirit, because it is opposed to truth and righteousness. But God did not intend that His people, in self-righteous exclusiveness, should shut themselves away from the world, so that they could have no influence upon it."

I will be the first to admit that too much exposure to the world and its corrupting influences can callous individuals. But with all its evils and imperfections, it is our world and until Christ comes and removes us we have to live in it.

Ignorance and exclusiveness do not breed improvement. It is our duty to face the world field as it is and react accordingly. Burying your head in the sand is turning your back on reality.

On Second Thought

Dear Editors:

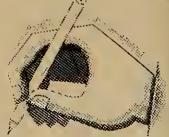

Who needs it?

Surveys of premarital sexual behavior of students undoubtedly attract interest. Beyond that, the reasons for publishing the results of such surveys in the Southern Accent are less obvious. In questioning the wisdom of publishing these results I find myself defending a position which I am more often prone to attack—the withholding of information. In general, I think far too much of this goes on within our church (probably all churches) and our government (the problems surrounding Watergate being a case in Perhaps withholding information could be justified 1) if it is not being withheld for the purpose of deception, 2) if its publication may very likely lead to erroneous conclusions on the part of readers, and 3) if its publication leads to no really useful purpose.

I don't think anyone could seriously charge you with deception had you not published the results of this survey. If the results were highly reliable, if you had reason to believe that most readers of the Southern Accent were of the opinion that the incidence of premarital sex among students is far below (or above) that indicated by the survey, and if the decision was made to withhold the results in order to keep (for some reason or other) the readers misinformed, then deception would be involved. These are three big "ifs." It would be difficult to establish the truth of any one of them to say nothing of all three.

I am of the opinion that the publication of the results of the survey will lead to erroneous conclusions on the part of many readers. Some will assign more reliability to the figures than they warrant. What conclusions can you draw concerning the behavior of a population when 15% to 47% of the sample refused to answer a given question? How much faith can you put in aswers to questions which deal with such a personal matter as sexual behavior? Does asking the subjects to take the questionnaire senionsly assure us that they will? I can't think of a better way to get information on this subject, but are all readers aware of the potentially large margin of error

in a study of this nature?

When you publish similar statistics from other colleges will you be able to assure us that their sorveys and statistical techniques are comparable to ours (the same or very similar questions asked, the same method of sampling used, the percentage of no responses to each question given, etc.)? Is it possible that a significant number of readers will make serious judgments of the College, the Seventh-day Adventist Church, or religion in general on the basis of incomparable or just plain inaccurate statistics?

Let's assume the statistics you published are pretty accurate. Most of us find comfort in the fact that many others make the same mistakes we make. This is probably all right so long as we recognize our actions as mistakes and resolve, with God's help, to overcome the problem. If, however, we use the knowledge that many yield to various temptations to justify (in advance of the act) our own yielding or to induce others to yield, then the possession of such knowledge becomes detrimental to the possessor and the community as a whote. I may be wrong, but t suspect that the published survey results will be put to such use by a small number of immature readers.

If, according to your (assumed accurate) statistics, SMC has a lower (or higher) incidence of premarital sex than some other college, what does that prove? I think that in many readers' minds it will reflect on the religious dimension of the College. Perhaps the College is doing a rather good (or poor) job of educating the students to the serious social and personal consequences of this sin. Then again, the results may reflect more upon the population from which we draw our students. Undoubtedly there are many other conclusions which could be drawn. It is hazardous to throw out raw statistics and let the reader draw his own conclusions-especially in such a sensitive area as sexual behavior.

t have attempted to show that it would not have been deceitful for you not to have published the results of the survey, and that its publication could very well lead to incorrect or harmful conclusions. I place the burden of showing such information to be useful general knowledge in your hands.

Just sitting here calculating, I found out that the combined total G.P.A.'s for the Accent staff is 1.56. I'm exaggerating, but I'm not to far off.

Three Angels Message but rather a profane, watered-down version of current rock groups seen on TV, night clubs, concert halls, or drug

I do not condemn or condone the current groups, I only raise the ques-tion as to the justification of this approach to spreading the gospel.

Personally, I feel the "sensuous" use of the microphones, the chord progressions based on the rock idlom, and the beat whose foundation is "rock" only serve to cheapen rather than elevate the soul.

The questions that keep poking at my cerebrum are these. If what we are doing is right (iN groups) and the source is pure, why don't we go all the way and put sacred themes to "Acid Rock." Wouldn't this even reach more of the masses if that is the justification for use? Where do we go from here? Would not the congregation understand the music better if the organist would play to the accompaniment of a "ballroom piano," string bass, and drum in our church service?

As a youth and as a student in Adventist schools, I have been taught that God demands the very best. We are to present to Him only the purest and noblest works of art in a manner that will glorify God and not man

There are sources, Adventist and Non-Adventist, from which I could have quoted, but this is an opinion column and I appreciate the oppor tunity to be able to exercise mine.

There has been a change the last few There has open a change the last revyears in the type of music our youth are singing. These new songs with their refreshing new melodies and deep thought-out words are reaching the hearts of thousands who have the privilege of listening to them.

By the messages in song from these 12 teams, many have their thoughts uplifted from the trials and difficulties of the way, the restless, turbulent spirit is soothed and calmed, the principles of truth are implanted in the memory, and faith is strength end. "The melody of praise is the atmosphere of heaven; and when heaven comes in touch with the earth there is music. It is my conviction that the change in most of the religious music among our youth has been directed of God-music youth has been directed of God-music that they enjoy singing and that is also beneficial to those who listen. "Our youth are set as lightbearers on the way to heaven. are set as night observes on the way to hear They are to reflect to the world the light shining upon them from Christ. Their life and character should be such that through them others will get a right that through them others will get a right conception of Christ and of His services. Christians who gather up gloom and senses to their souls and murmar and complain are guving to others a false representation of God and the Christian life. They give the impression that God is not pleased to have His children happy, and in this they bear talse witness against our heavenly Father." Steps to Christ, pp. 115, 116.

The fact that thousands have been inrite fact that thousands have been in-spired during this past year and that hun-dreds gave their hearts to God, gives me reason for great rejoicing to see how God is using these dedicated youth in this spec-ial type of witnessing to hasten the soon-coming of Christ.

The 1-1/2 million dollars free TV time, the hundreds of appointments made in shopping malls, prisons, churches, parks, etc., convinces me that this type of witness has done more to break down prejudice than anything we have done in the past

I overheard a baptist minister say, after istening and fellowshiping with one of our teams, "It is nice to know that Seventh-day Adventists love Christ too." We are getting this kind of response, and I say we getting this kind of response, and 1 say we have lost 130 years of prime time. I am convinced that these singing teams, as well as all other youth engaged in soul-winning, have the privilege of taking part in the very beginning of the latter rain.

Mayor Fuller chairs Monday evening meeting of the Collegedale Commission.

New trash system proposed to Collegedale Comm.

Tired of the inefficient program of trash pick-up currently in use? The City Commission made its main business Monday night, a new trash

Mr. Braught, national sales manager for USS Chemicals, Division of United States Steel, presented a film-strip of the "Roll-a-Waste" system now in use in various communities throughout the eastern United States.

The filmstrip endeavored to show how it was more efficient in a number of ways:

1) Because the 82-gallon container is on a frame with wheels, anyone can handle it-from kids to grand-

2) Having trash stored in a big container with a lid will help to discourage the dogs that habitually tip over garbage cans.

3) With the increased capacity of these barrels, the city will be able to pick up trash once a week.

4) The system employs a hydraulic lifter which will help to cut down on injuries involved with lifting.

Great claims were made about this new high-density, polyethylene container. It seems that it's virtually indestructible. The can has survived the brutal treatment of being towed behind a speeding car and let loose to go crazily down the road until it hit something (the fun of some pranksters).

Garbage acid, extreme cold, 200 pounds of trash, and a full load of water have all been met by the superb qualities of this container.

The price for one of these "supercans" is $35. If bought in a quantity of 500 or more, Mr. Braught quoted the now "going price" as $29.50.

Perhaps students of Southern Missionary College will be here long enough to see this plan implemented, but it's doubtful. The only action taken on the new sanitation system was to recommend that Mr. Walter Herrell, Public works commissioner, go ahead and look into this matter more fully and see if the plan is feasible for Collegedale.

The controversial re-zoning of the real estate at the junction of Moore and Camp Roads also sur-

Due to various complaints of Collegedale citizens, the Commission referred the zoning bill back to the Chattanooga and Hamilton County Regional Planning Commission, whereupon said real estate has been re-zoned from business to town-house apartment zone. The first reading and first hearing were given tonight and it was adopted by a unanimous vote. A second hearing will be given at the next meeting of the Collegedale City Commission. Other business included the further working out of a long-range plan that includes a community center for the

The center would have a gymnasium; basketball, tennis, and soft-ball courts; and possibly a swimming pool.

Trails for horseback-riding and minibikes are also planned.

Then came the budget--it didn't look too good to Mr. "Buddy" Blair, city auditor, who pointed out many deficits which need paying-up.

One major outlay that had not appeared in the budget, but still was undertaken, was the purchase of the American gas station adjacent to the City Hall. That set them back $25,000.

A $70,000 loan to the Fire Department still needs $69,000 repaid.

Mr. Wayne VandeVere, financ commissioner, expressed concern over the failure to stick to the budget. He asked that everyone pay closer attention to the budget in the future.

The Commission adjourned on this Insight

Jones believes that under the proposed arrangement much more promotion of the magazine would take place. It would also give Insight a closer rapport with the other departments of the General Conference -one such case would be the Sabbath School Department which controls 55 percent of Insights circulation.

According to an article by Chuck Scriven in the October 25 Collegian, (the Walla Walla College student newspaper), a committee at Annual Council last October discussed the merger of Insight with the General Conference Youth Department, but could reach no consensus. The same article states that a source in Washington, other than the Insight editor, reported that the question of control is clearly an issue. Jones reports, however, that the Youth Department doesn't want control, and he has been assured that in the event of a merger he could continue as he has editorially. But Jones did point out as in any other marriage, there would be some sacrifice of independence. Jones went on to say that even if Insight did increase their circulation to 55,000 (the numher needed to break even) there would be no reason why they would not want to go ahead with the merger.

Insight is working plans to offer subscriptions to college students at a reduced rate for nine months. Jones said that he hopes that they will be able to offer these for either $5.95 or $6.95. He said that they would be able to reduce all of the subscription rates, if they can, to get more advertising. Insight is also going ahead with plans of having three monthly 48-page issues during this coming

Jones said that if something is not done to alleviate the current financial dilemma, Insight might be forced into bi-weekly publication. There is strong feelings among many of the readers against such a move according to Jones.

The Accent asked Jones if the financial problems have put pressure upon him to take a more moderate editoral stand in order to increase their circulation. He replied by saying that they are trying to stay close to the Lord. This is how he sees the role of the editor. He stated that Insight is attempting to be "more Christ-centered than issue centered, but dealing with the important issues." He sighted the abortion issue which Insight will be dealing with. Jones went on to say that if due to pressure he was unable to deal with the important issues as he felt best he would just step out and move on to other pursuits. -Ric Carey

800 New Testaments distributed here by Gideonites

Last Tuesday, the SMC campus was visited by 10 men from the Chattanooga Gideonite camp. According to one of the men, Mr. Preson Phillips, Sr., SMC was their last step on a tour of all Chattanooga area colleges

The Gideonites are an inter-denominational group whose purpose is to put a Bible into the hands of every person they possibly can. While at SMC, approximately 800 New Testaments were distributed to the students. When computed at $.60 appiece, the total cost comes to $480.00. The funds for supporting such activities as this are solicited from different churches annually by the individual Gideonites.

annually by the molitonial Gideonites.

In the past, the Gideonites have concentrated mainly on elementary grades, 1-5, hospitals, jails, and motels, giving away about 20 million Bibles. But this year, as Mr. Phillips said, they figured it "was about time they started working on the colleges."

CABL brings Dr. Thrash Tues chapel

Collegiate Adventists for Better Living (CABL) will sponsor Dr. Agatha Thrash, (CABL) will sponsor Dr. A gatha Thrash, well-known health lecturer, on this early speak of the special series on the eight remedies, she will speak on "Trust in Divine Power—the Ultimate Remedy," at Tuesday chapel in the gym, and at a joint worship - payer meeting Wednesday evening at 7:00 in the Collegedale church. Students in the latter meeting will be dismissed at 7:30, but Dr. Thrash will continue her presentation during the regular prayer meeting hour.

An instructor from Yuchi Pines Instithe Seale, Ala., Dr. Thrash devotes much time to lecturing. She was guest speaker at the College Bible Conference in October. This is the first time she has been invited to this campus.

Dr. Thrash will be available to health oriented classes Tuesday and Wednesday, and teachers are invited to use her as a guest speaker. Warren Ruf may be contacted for more information.

Village bows to Talge in 1974 Rees Series

The fourth annual Rees Series came to an end last Sunday night as Talge took the Series two games to one. The series was all tied up at one game apiece at the start of Sundays game.

The Village captured the first game 71-62 through the great shooting ability of Nelson Thomas and Randy Cockrell, but Talge came right back Saturday night with a 87-82 win, sparked by superstars Warren Halverson and Rick Hale.

The third game was so close that the two teams were tied sixteen times throughout the game. The first half was real tight with both teams scoring 44 points. In the second half the village came out popping and scored eight unanswered points to lead Talge by eight with 18 minutes 39 seconds left in the game. The Village held this lead up until 12 minutes 10 seconds to the end of the game. The game was tied for the last time with 5 minutes 16 seconds left at 78. Talge then opened up to a 4 point lead on baskets by Roger Bird and Rick Hale. Randy Cockrell brought the Village within two. With 4 minutes 10 seconds left, Talge jumped ahead by 4 more points on baskets from Mike Schultz and Rick Hale. Ron Reading cut the Talge lead to a 4 point gain with a basket, leaving 2 minutes 30 seconds remaining in the game. The scoring eased off for awhile until with 49 seconds left in the game when Mike Schultz was fouled and went to the line for a chance to make two points on a one and one attempt. Schultz hit both free throws to put Talge ahead by six points again. With time running out the Village scored their last 2 points on a basket by Randy Cockrell. Rick Hale was fouled with 25 seconds left in the game and went to the line to score the games last two points on free-throws, giving Talge the victory and the series. Each team won two times with the Village winning the first and third series, and Talge the second and fourth.

Rick Hale opened the third game this year with two points and ended it with two points, but Rick also scored 28 more points in the game for a total of 32 points. When the going got tough Rick Hale got tougher as he dazzled the fans with his aerial bombardments. Last year the Village keyed on Rick in the third game and thus kept his scoring down. This year the Village stuck on him fairly well but Rick stood the test and sunk baskets from twenty feet just the same. Of course, it helps to have a scoring threat in the person of Warren Halversen on your team to help ease off some of the pressure. In the third game Rick scored on 13 out of 17 shots from the field for a sizzling 76.5% and sunk 6 for 7 free throws for 85.7%. In the three game series Rick scored 27 for 39 from the field for about 69.2% and dumped 6 out of 9 from the free-throw line for 67%. Rick Hale is an all around athlete and a fine gentleman, giving Talge the punch they needed to bring them through to victory, thus it is with great admiration and pleasure to name Rick Hale the "Most Valuable Player of the Fourth Annual Rees Series" by the Accent Sports Editor, players and fans.

A special thanks goes out to Roger Wiehn, Jim Semeniuk, Gary Keeney, and Ted King for helping with the stats in the game. If you graduate his year plan on a trip to SMC next year for the Fifth Annual Rees Series. It's a classic.

League games continue

"A" league was kind of quiet last week because of the Rees Series, but there was one game played Monday night between Bird and Halversen. Bird's team shot better percentages from the field and the line, and still lost the game in double overtime 75-73. Bird balanced their scoring out with Ken Defoor, Rick Jacques, Ed Jackson, and Roger Bird all in double figures while Halversen's main attack was from Mike Schultz with 19 points and Warren Halversen with 32. One of the scoring feats besides the 32 points by Warren Halversen was Roger Bird (8 for 8) and Rick Jacques (4 for 4) hitting 100% from the line.

In "B" league Chrispens and Fowler are still tied at 4 wins and no losses. Fowler won easily over Weigley last week, dumping them 66-40. Chrispens had a little harder time in winning against Davis. The big scorer for Chrispens, Randy Northington, was injured during the game and had to leave with 19 points. This gave Davis a chance to catch up. They not only caught up but passed Chrispens at 64-62 with about 6 seconds left in the game. Steve Welch saved the g for Chrispens with a 15 foot shot from the right side to tie the game 64-64 with I second left. They went into one overtime and Chrispens came out on top 70-66. In other "B" league games, Jimenez defeated Davis 72-65 and Hayes dumped Brown 75-69.

In "C" league action last week, Garibaldi extended his winning streak to 5 as they trounched White 73-58. In the only other game played Landess whipped Martin 41-29.

Beards voted down as Faculty Senate dead end issue in 12-12 tie A move to abolish the no-beards policy for SMC students was killed Monday afternoon in a split vote of the of recent proposals to climinate it in favor of a longer Christmas break to

Faculty Senate. A secret ballot, taken after considerable discussion of the issue showed 12 for and 12 against the meas-ure and one abstaining. A majority approval is required for passage, so the status quo will remain and beards will not be permitted at SMC next

Senators who were in favor of the beards generally agreed that it is no longer a detriment for a man to be seen wearing a beard. However, Senators who opposed the beards did so on the grounds that the conservative South is still generally opposed to this type of dress on men. They contended that it would not be advantageous for SMC to allow such, because SMC's ability to influence the public toward Christian objectives would be impaired.

In other action, the Senate heard a report from the Student Affairs Committee dealing with the calendar

Discussion was given to the elimination of exam week as such. Final exams could still be given by teachers individually, but they would be given at a regular class meeting. This only means that teachers would no longer means that teachers would no longer be required to give final semester exams. No vote was taken on the issue. In a discussion of the faculty hand-

The old version of the section in question read: "Petitions delivered to the President later than four school vecks fol-lowing the date of the Senate action will not be considered." The new version reads: "The intention to circulate a peti-tion must be signified in writing to the President within two weeks of the date of the Senate action and the signed peti-tion must be delivered to the President within four weeks of this date."

The new Library Clock, istalled this past week, was designed by Mrs. Bettie Flemming, constructed by Mr. Borton of the engineering dept., and electically wired by the Nolan electrical company. This clock has been in planning slave the library opened in July, 1970. The clock is wired to the central time system that controls most of the major time pieces on campus. According to Charles Flemming, the approximate cost of the clock was $500.

Survey on sexual relations on other college campuses

To supplement the recent investi-10 supplement the recent investi-gative survey of religious and moral behavior, a review and appraisal of research is herein presented focusing upon premarital sexual intercourse, more specifically that behavior of conservative and liberal campuses arrogs thereaften.

conservative and liberal campuses across the nation.

Behavioral scientists seek to assess the behavior of people over a continum. The question is often asked: Has sexual behavior changed during the past 20 or 21 years? The evidence from all the available major studies show that it has not, except for the liberal Danish students who were polled. These statements and statistics reflect studies done by numerous professional survey's, as presented in Journal of Marriage and the Family Chrom studies by Christensen and Gregg, 1970, it was shown that of Intermountain college students (those thought to be most conservative) 39.4% and 9.5% males and females respectively, had engaged in premartial intercourse. Of Danish college students (those course. Of Danish college students (those considered to be the more liberal) 63.7% and 99.8% male and female respectively had engaged in premartial intercourse in 1958. In 1968, 94.7% and 96.6% male and female respectively had engaged in premartial intercourse in 1958. In 1968, 94.7% and 96.6% male and female respectively had engaged in premartial intercourse in 1958. In 1968, 94.7% and 96.6% male and female respectively had engaged in premartial intercourse in premartial intercourse.

As religiosity is related to morality, Heltsley and Broderick (1969) found that for white students high religiosity tended to be negatively related to sex-ual permissiveness but not with Negro students. Ehrmann (1964) found that religious efficiency are released to students. Ehrmann (1964) found that religious affiliation was not related to sexual permissiveness, but religiosity was. For whites, Reiss (1967) found low church attendance tended to be associated with high sexual permissiveness for both men and women. In a separate study, Schofield corborated these findings. From Iria Reiss 1967 study of college students a chart is presented on the level of intimaev in the different

	mate	Terriare
When engaged In love Strong affection No affection	52.2 47.6 36.9 20.8	44.0 38.7 27.2 10.6

From the conclusion of this study the question is asked: How does SMC compare? Quite well compared to other conservative college students. Amargin of 12.4% to 16.5% is evident, but this is statistical data from 1968, however. All the major studies of this topic have shown that no appreciable gain has taken place over the years.

One More Time

A proposal to change the existing dress code regulation requiring men to keep their whiskers subcutaneous was turned down Monday by the Faculty Senate with at 12 to 12 tie (and one abstention).

Since a majority of the Senators did not disapprove of beards, and since 22% of the senate was absent we suggest that this issue be brought once again before the Faculty Senate. We feel that with the vote tied as it was, it would be wise to reconsider the issue and then re-vote on the matter of beards.

If the Faculty Senate refuses to reconsider this item of its agenda, we beseech the faculty to petition the

Along with the proposal, which was sent to the Senate by the Student Affairs Committee, specific guidelines were also suggested for the proper grooming of one's whiskers. In a recent poll of student opinion, it was discovered that students by a ratio of four to one favored leaving the choice of beards to individual preference. It makes one wonder if the faculty have overlooked student opinion in their quest to appease the const-

In the context of the present circumstances we request the faculty to open mindedly reconsider this issue in a more conclusive manner.

I ask the question: How many of you have ever heard a sermon on sex? I have never, and having been in regular SDA church attendance all my life, I believe this to have caused irrepairable damage to the constituents of the church with the truth. How many individuals during their lifetime incorporate sexual activity into their day to day life style? We preach about such human behavior as love, compassion, hate, war, and man's inhumanity to man in efforts of making man a better person. Then why do we hide sex in a closet like we hide our sins, leaving millions afflicted with sexual hang-ups, and why do we respond to revelations of promiscuity with indignation and abhorance, in further efforts of stifling complex human emotions? Can man deal with his psychological and physiological self repeating the five words: "Thou shalt not commit adultry?" Do our criticisms stem from ignorance or a lack of understanding? It should be our goal to understand and deal with all of man's behavior rather than remaining fixated at a present level of inadaquate dealings with our God given sexual natures.

How to be rational bout Valentine's Do

-Dr. Gerald Colvin

Granted, ti is never easy for us men to be rational, but if ever we needed to avoid rationing reason, certainly it is on Valentine Day. Chas. Darwin has a small thing going in his favor: the female gender of the human species is truly making evolutionary

N.O.W. Just consider the femaleperson (1) She demands equal pay for equal work. (2) She demands equal opportunity for employment. (3) She demands the discontinuance of male chauvinisms like "girl," "chick," "hen-party," "cat-ty," etc. (4) She even demands the right to pay alimony. In the wake of this burning (!) zeal for logic, we other human persons have been caught clinging to our outworn chivalry like sub-mental Neanderthals clutching at their hare-hair loin cloths.

A Call From Attach. What the world needs now is not love but reason, not affection but cognition, not romance but rumination. Therefore, to foil whatever ms. guided heart attacks that are doomed (past participle of dam, a female parent) to occur on this Valentine Day, let us declare an immediate moratorium on all cupidity. Let there be no errant arrows inflicting cardiac arrest in the opposite human-gender. And to this end I recommend the following four steps as a sure cure for Valentinitus, a highly communicable social disease thriving on soft winter light, long winter nights, and heavy winter sighs.

Prescription: 1) Merely think of Feb. 14 as you would any other day. Encourage your teachers to give tests on that day if at all possible. If that fails, try to turn your mind to mathematics, working such engrossing formulas as SIQR= Q3 - Q1 ÷ 2 or Med. = L + N/2 - F = fm.

2) Since Valentinitus tends to progress rapidly on well-groomed bodies, let your hair go for once. Wear yesterday's socks.

Leave off shaving for a day. The more daring among you could even act as if you've ms. placed your toothbrush, y might even win some plaque for it!

3) For added protection move about only in crowds, particularly noisy ones Get severalguys (oops!) malepersons the group to point occasionally at seve ms.es and keel over laughing. Never, I repeat, NEVER let yourself be cut from the herd by some skirt-wearing cowner son darting about with a pinto or mus After all, an aspiring maverick like you should shun horseplay on this day about all others. And if you do get caught, d go blaming it on some fanciful America gremlin. It's not April Fuel's Day yet you know!

4) Last and least, go directly to yo dorm at sunset, do not pass goils, don collect 200 trading stamps. When inv room, prepare promptly for a cold s Afterward, spend the rest of the ever watching your male guppies turn red.

Advice from a Liberated Valentine

No longer toil on land and sea For candied sweets that fatten, But circumvent so logically The ring you've thrown no hat in.

When hearts entwine along the vine, When fingers clasp each other, Leave off your sighs of latent spring And race for home and mother!

Let not Love's arrows flay your hear Let not his wiles delay you, For if you linger at her side Her perfume shall waylay you.

O Scatter ye thistles while ye may, Though Time would have you tan For prickles spring from thistles small And springing prickles marry!

(Please note the key words "well groomed" which should always be the goal of the Christian.) Because of this, I think the men vs. faculty impass should be resolved by placing confidence and responsibility in the confidence and responsibility in the men, thus relieving a long standing tension on this campus.

 Because of my recent visits to several campuses, I believe that once the initial freedom wears off, beards will probably be worn by fewer than five per nt of the men on campus. Certain natural limiting factors are in operation such as: inability to grow a good looking beard opinions of sweethearts and wives.

3) Further, I believe that our men

Although the beard, per se, is amoral, there are other considerations which may warrant declaring a beard genocide among our male students capable of raising enough fuzz to be labeled a beard.

By-passing the unsightliness of the first two to seven days of planting and cultivating the embryonic beard, I come to what in my estimation is the main con-sideration for refusing to give it welcome sideration for refusing to give it welcome acceptance at our school; namely, the difficulty of controlling those who are unwilling to cooperate with the regulation "clean and neatly trimmed." Allowing for the fact that many will cooperate, there will always be those who "given an inch will take a mile." This statement may appear to sound like an unfair, ungrounded, negative value judgment; becomer it is founded unon empirical

It appears to me that this school has the right, within reasonable limits, to control the appearance of its students by handbook regulation, even as some businesses and other organizations place limitations upon the personnel associated with them, and still not be labeled legalistic. This institution has the right to prevent its students from casting a shabby image before one another and others who might frequent this campus.

Until the previous regulations are adhered to believe it would be uncreasonable to capitulate in another area. Such a procedure is neither sound parental practice nor good pedagogy. To suggest that this problem can be handled by a student governing committee is to fail to face up to the facts. First, students, no more than faculty, will be standing in line applying for the job; and secondly, student infractors will probably not listen to their peers any more than they listen to their faculty. Why should they? A secondary reason for being less than enthusiastic toward the advent of the beard is due to the attitude still Village Senator Haskell Williams ponders items on Monday night's Senate Agenda.

The senators were informed by Senate Chairman Bob Zima that the allowing of beards was voted down automatically by a 12-12 tie in the Faculty Senate. The results of the poll taken in the last S. A. chapel were given as follows:

1) With the understanding that only a few are likely to have beards, do you approve of allowing men to have the option whether or not to wear beards stipulating that they be neatly groomed?

476-yes 104-no

2) Do you approve of women wearing pantsuits (not jeans) to classes and other school-sponsored activities, excluding religious events?

468-yes 114-no

3) Do you approve of establishing a student governing committee to enforce the dress policy?

436-yes 128-no

In view of the fact that pantsuits are due to come up in the next Faculty

Senate meeting, it was moved by Julie Lamson and voted in unanimously that each of the senators be assigned a faculty Senate member to talk with concerning this and any future issues con up that the students are extremely in-

Judy Wade presented her findings relating to the games in the Student Center. Chess and checkers will not be provided but students who wish to bring their own will be allowed to do so. Rook cards will not be permitted and any such cards found willbe removed from the premises. The request for a pool table was denied but the aquisition of an air hockey table is being looked into. Ms. Wade read several quotes from Ellen G. White's books on which Dean Spears and his constituents based their decision.

The movie Fiddler on the Roof was discussed as a possibility for a SA benefit next year but will not be decided on until later. Finally, the senators voted to extend to Renae Shultz whatever additional funds she needed for the upcoming Talent Show due to expansion of the program. The meeting was then adjourned at 8:55.

For you male faculty members who will be voting whether or not to allow pantsuits in classes, I'd like you to remember that the comfort and modesty of the woman might be just a little more important than your personal preferences in feminine attire. You might like to ask your wife if she's more comfortable in pants or a dress, or if it would be easier to be modest when wearing pants.

Dear Editors:

I have been noticing how the entire last page of our (girls' and fellows') paper, The Southern Accent, is devoted to the fellows' intramurals. I am interested in the progress of the fellows' games. But I am also interested in the progress of the girls' games. (You do know the girls are having intramurals, don't you?)

Some wonder why girls lack enthusiasm to get involved in sports. Could this be a reason? How about devoting us females a bit of the sports page too?

Turn to Scripture

Dear Editors:

I would like to venture to add a footnote to the issue raised in last week's editorial concerning Year-long controversy between SMC liberals and conservatives" as Miss Palmer, a personal friend of mine, so aptly put it.

First of all, there is a question which has troubled me intermittantly for quite some time now, and I believe it demands an answer. It is this: Why, when discussing issues even remotely related to religion, do we not first and foremost turn to the book which we claim to be the authority? Rather than one text to every ten opinions, I am inclined to believe it would be better the other way around (of course, that is merely an opinion). There is really very little the Bible does not talk about (not to mention certain other writings, some 37 times the volume of the Bible, which are believed to have originated from the same Source).

The primary issue is this: Is Christian ignorance concerning evil ever justified? The Bible does give a very definite and specific answer to this question. Paul states in Romans 16:19b that he wished Christ's followers to be "wise unto that which is good, and simple concerning evil." David said "I will set no worthless thing before my eyes. . . I will know no evil." (Ps. 101:3-4, NASB) and "Turn away my eyes from beholding vanity." (Ps. 119:37). Perhaps the must unsetiling text on this subject is Isa. 33:15b & 16a: "He . . that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil; he shall dwell on high." Mrs. White adds: Those who have that wisdom which is from God must become fools in the sinful knowledge of this age. They should shut their eyes, that they may see and learn no evil. They should close their ears, lest they hear that which is evil, and obtain a knowledge which would stain their purity of thoughts and acts.'

Adventist Home, p. 404.

Now why is this so? It is because of the "by beholding" principle, the potency of which is hardly appreciated among Adventists in General. We inevitably become assimilated, some more, some less, to the likeness of that to which we expose ourselves. This is not a probability, it is a law. Mrs. White explains:

By beholding we become changed. By the indulgence of impure thoughts, man can so educate his mind that the sin which he once loathed will become pleasant to him." Testimonies, v. 2, p. 459.

"We hear and read so much of debasing crime and viteness that the once-tender conscience which would have recoited with horror becomes so blunted that it can dwell upon the low and vile sayings and actions of men with greedy pleasure." Testimonies, v. 3, p. 472.

Perhaps this is why the deans feel it is their duty to exercise some control over the TV sets in

Now the Bible was employed in last week's discussion of the problem, which was refreshing. There were just one or two statements, perhaps, which might be a bit misleading in the editorial.

Med Tech enlarges at Loma Linda

Loma Linda University has enlarged

Loma Linda University has enlarged its medical technology program to meet the increasing demand for qualified Adventist medical technologists in Seventh-draw Adventist institutions.

This expansion has resulted in providing space for students interested in medical technology training as a stepping stone to advanced degrees, announces Dr. Richard W. Hubbard, chairman of the Department of Medical Technology, School of Allied Health Professions.

Medical technology students can now receive a Bachelor of Science degree after two years lower division at any accredited college.

Collegedale police announce special services dept.

Chief Douglas E. Keller announces the formation of the Special Services Division of the Collegedale Police Department. The Division will comprise the Police Community Relations Bureau, commanded by Sgt. Bill Sue, with officers Ken Fuller, Stan Owens, and Ron Ennis.

The duties of this division will be the responsibility of the above four men now assigned to work with the people of the community by informing the citizens as to what the Police Department and its personnel are doing.

They will give lectures to the elementary schools, high schools, and college students on various subjects which will include bicycle safety, traffic control, drug abuse, juvenile delinquency, and related subjects in crime and accident prevention.

These men were carefully considered for this assignment by their past performance, and concern for our citizens and teen-agers of our city, as well as their individual training in the Police Service prior to being appointed by Chief Keller. They will also serve, in certain cases, as counselors through the "Youth Services Bureau," for both the parents and the juvenile, by stressing crime prevention, accident prevention, and drug abuse.

The primary objective of this division is to assist young adults and parents whenever needed. They will give programs to churches, civic groups, and any interested organizations upon request.

Chief Keller has been informed that the Special Services Division is one of the first to be serving in this district. The insignia for this division was designed by the Division Commander, Sgt. Bill Sue, and adopted by the city commission on February 4, 1974.

Hixson church plans field school

The spark that got the fire going was the New Testament Witnessing Program begun on September 28, 1972. This initial evangelistic thrust, now a part of the Hixson Outreach program, culminated in the formation of a branch, Sabbath School which met for the first time on Jan. 20, 1973, at the Ashland Terrace Christian Church.

As the fire began to grow, the group was organized as a company on Feh. 24, 1973, the next step in becoming a church. Sept. 29, 1973, saw the company organized as a church with a membership of 82. Seven baptisms have been realized since that time.

The future holds an even brighter picture. The church has purchased a three acre tract of land located about three miles west of Northgate mall in the Valleybrook area of Hixson. Plans are presently being developed to build a church at this location.

This summer, June 8-29, SMC and the Hixson Church will have a Field School of Evangelism. So far, 12 students are to be involved in the field school, which consists of classes held in conjunction with the regular evangelistic crusade. Pastoral and evangelistic courses are to be offered with a possible five hours credit.

Those participating will be involved in a rigorous schedule. The students will go to class in the morning, visit prospects in the afternoon, and attent the meetings at night. The crusade will be held in the Hixson High Schwith Elder Jerry Gladson speaking.

On Feb. 2 Voice of Prophecy

On Feb. 2 Voice of Prophecy "Focus on Living" literature was give out in preparation for the upcoming series. Approximately 400 people in the Collegedale and Hixson areas participated, giving out about 18,00 pamphlets.

The uniqueness of the church is that the pastoral work has been don largely by students, under the direct of Elder Gladson, who now represen the Religion Department there, and Elder Gary Patterson, pastor of the Collegedale Seventh-day Adventist Church.

Dr. Ray Hefferlin represents SMC at American Physical Society meeting

Dr. Ray Hefferlin, head of SMC's Physics Department, recently returned from a four day meeting of the American Physical Society in Chicago. From Feb. 4-7 four or five thousand physicists from all over the United States met in the Palmer House Hotel to present the results of their research and to deliver review papers on various topics.

Dr. Hefferlin spent most of his time with the American Association of Physics teachers, one of the four or five sections that were forced to meet simultaneously because of the enormous amount of material to be presented. New physics and science education films were shown most of Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, and an area about the size of one floor in the Student Center housed displays of equipment and books from manufacturers and publishers.

The energy crisis was an area of prime importance. One review paper, for instance, showed that the National Science Foundation has a planned expenditure of $50 million on solar energy next year compared with a $200,000 output only two years ago. "But it will be many years," says Dr. Hefferlin, "before these various alternatives become financially and practically useful."

The physics teachers from Adventist colleges--three from Andrews University, two from Loma Linda University's La Sierra campus, two from Pacific Union College, Dr. Hefferlin, and one from Walla Walla College--had lunch together daily and discussed topics of mutual interest, such as improvement of the inter-collegiate newsletter among physics teachers and education of pre-engineering students.

Dr. Donald Hull, a former physics teacher of Walla Walla College, demonstrated a way of presenting musical scales mathmatically by writing various signatures on the surface of an intertube.

Several participants brought computer terminals and connected them to their computers back home via long distance telephone lines. This was done so the teachers could operate the programs available to their students at schools as far away as Irving, California.

as far away as Irving, California.

The highly organized placement service at the meetings, reports Dr.

Hefferlin, shows a significant decline from last year in the number of people looking for jobs.

Daniell's Hall terminals linked to computor center by new ditch

The tell-tale trail of a gigantic mole? An underground escape tunnel from slavery in the classrooms? If not these things, then exactly what is the purpose for the ditch between Daniells Hall and the men's cafeteria entrance?

Actually, the ditch was dug for the purpose of laying direct hardwiring from the computer science center to computer terminals in Daniells Hall, which is to inevitably result in reduced costs for the Computer Science Department and greater convenience for students using computer terminals in Daniells Hall.

In order to understand the reason for this, one must basically understand the operative procedures for SMC's computer system. For communication away from the computer located in the basement of the student center, computer terminals are used. Connection with the computer from the terminal can be established by direct wiring or by telephone, the system presently employed.

This latter connection is accomplished by an acoustic coupler, hooked directly to the terminal, which changes information into acoustical tones. These are picked up by a standard telephone receiver and transmitted to a data which then reconverts the tones whe information can be read, processed, and returned by the computer.

In order to establish initial conta one must dial the computer's numb and be answered by the automatic answering device.

It can be easily seen where costs arise in this process. Acoustic courrental, telephone usage, answering device and data set costs run approxily $40-$45 per month. The direct hook-up system eliminates these costs as well as technical problems that a encountered, such as the limited out of lines available to the computer.

Also, as Robert McCurdy of the Computer Science Department explaif for some reason the power went a student would lose all previous in and have to re-establish contact with the computer when using the teleph connection, whereas there would be effect from the temporary loss of power using direct hardwiring.

It is estimated that the total installation cost of the hardwiring will be approximately $1,000 and that the change will pay for itself by cost elimination in less than a year.

If the college needs the teacher for the summer program, the college will employ the teacher on an individual basis and pay an extra stipend to the teacher which will bring his 12-month salary above 100% of his annual wage. Thus, some teachers will occasionally earn more money during 12 months than their annual salary calls for while at other times if they aren't needed, they will be paid 95% of their 12-month salary for only ten months of work. The advantage to the teacher is that if he wants to work during the summer months at other gainful employment, he will still receive 95% of his full year's salary from the school and will be able to realize a net incoming the summer that will push his earnings beyond his normal salary package for the year. Number 20 Volume 29 Wednesday, February 20, 1974

Tuesday, a week ago, five secret police muscled their way into Russian author Alexander Solzhenitsyn's (Sol-zhah-neetzen) Moscow apartment and dragged the dissident writer away by force. Twenty-six hours later, he was escorted off a Soviet jetliner by eight men that brought him involuntarily to West Germany.

Our first reaction to this type of banishment is one of disgust. Communism once again suffocates a voice crying for freedom. Can there ever be freedom of expression in the U.S.S.R.? Will the Soviet people always be in constant fear of subtle or direct forms of punishment or of being labled a subversive for offering alternative points of view?

According to Morris E. Salisbury, a pulitzer prize winner for international reporting from Moscow in 1955, "the problem of the country as Solzhenitsyn sees it, is not that the body of her laws are bad. In fact, he feels they are generally as good as those in most European countries. But, he feels the government acts with complete eccentricity. The criteris is not the code of the law or any tradition of law. The criteria is simply the self-interest of individual officials or the presumed interest of the state."

The question arises did Solzhenitsyn wish to leave his native land because of his intolerance for the U.S.S.R. governmental machine? It's doubtful. According to Associated Press reports, "Solzhenitsyn, a veteran of many years in Stalin's labor camps always vowed he would never leave Russia voluntarily because he loved his native soil and his fellow kinsmen. It is considered unlikely that he cringed at the threat of being tried for high treason."

On occasions when attempts are made to question or change the status quo, a recurring defense is broughf up. It is the same defense heard when blacks were working for equality in the mid sixties; it is the same defense heard against Japanese-Americans in World War II; and it is the same defense the Russians put into effect when they booted Solzhenitsyn out of the U.S.S.R.; "if he (they) doesn't like the way things are here, let him or have him go somewhere closer to bis liking."

When I hear this attitude expressed I feel sad. Here is an individual(s) who feels his thoughts, his wants, his attitudes are far superior to other thoughts, attitudes, and wants differing from his. So, without trying to understand or be openminded he flippantly states that these "subversive elements" should not be within his perception. In disrobing this attitude, we find a basic substance; selfishness, a characteristic that most of us find rather distasteful. "What I say, What I want, What I do is most important. If you disagree with me, you must change your mind or risk my vengence as I exercise my power over you."

The reason for this editorial is because in recent weeks I've heard the aforementioned attitude being expressed by certain administrative officials, faculty members and students alike, directing their remarks to those who hope to change the current rules to allow for the wearing of beards and pantsuits. Ideally, we are all equal on this campus, I have the weapons you do in fighting for or against a certain issue in the proper manner. But, to simply dismiss my judgments and opinions as worthless and wish that I were somewhere else has the markings of a narrow-minded, uneducated il-

If I condone the wearing of beards and pantsuits, and if I work vigorously through the correct channels to change the existing rules on these two items, do I risk the chance of being alienated by my professors and administrators and/or branded as a "subversive" If I overtly disagree with forced worship attendance do I risk the chance of seeing derogatory remarks concerning my future recommendation papers? The hopeful answer is no."

At the expense of becoming over-sentimental, let me say that I love SMC, I love its buildings, I love its people. I'll always remember the rich fulfilling experiences and relationships that I currently am having. Just like Alexander Solzhenitsyn, I have no desire to leave this place, but I refuse to let it remain in a lackadaisical state of affairs. New ideas and attitudes will always pour in; some will be rejected and rightly so; but others will inevitably be incorporated. I'll never regret coming to SMC and I don't think my children -grimsley

Dear Editors:

The letter to the editor "Gospel a' go-go" caught my eye and in response to, and support of Larry Wineland, I submit the enclosed article.

Did you know that collegiate minded young people do not really care for all of the jam sespeople.

sion, sing in, sing out, way up, way out outreaches currently savored to satisfy the groovy spiritual diet? That's true! And what is more, young people who are spiritually converted find even less catification in the quasi-thythmic sleepy. less satisfaction in the quasi-rhythmic, sleepyeyed singers who reflect superficial religions re-lationships. More yet! The religious, street parade fails to satisfy the spiritual needs of the participants! Treason? Maybe! But, not to the real issue! What do I suggest better? This! Get busy and try to understand those heavy collegiate things in literature, doctrines and fine art. Study to the depths. If you sing, try something a little too difficult to understand. If you stick to the challenge you'll be on dangerous premises! You may begin to find life and creation meaningful and that means death to your superficial, religious securities! You may be persecuted but rejoice and be exceeding glad, "for so persecuted they the prophets who were before you!"

A reply to Agatha

Dear Editors:

The lifestyle which the writings of Ellen G. White set forth is in sharp contrast to that of the majority of Adventists today. I should know because I am an Adventist and mine is painfully removed from that ideal. In the different areas which form a composite lifestyle (recreation, diet, social relations, etc.) we collectively as a church have not lived that light which the Lord h. in His love given us. In the Lord h. 'in His love given us.

The Review and Herald of December 6, 1973, printed a very important article, "An Earnest Appeal from the Annual Council." It in part, had this to say: "We believe that the re-turn of Jesus has been long delayed, that the reasons for the delay are not wrapped in mysteries, and that the primary consideration before the Seventh-day Adventist Church is to reorder

its priorities is individually and corporately that our Lord's return may be hastened. So realizing that as a body the church is still in Laodicean condition, this group of our leade listed three factors which has made it "latter day time" for 130 years. The second factor has relevance for everyone. Factor 2, "Lead-ers and people are in some ways disobedient to divine directives (the Bible and Spirit of Prophecy), both in personal experience and the conduct of the church's commission." Despite the negative tone of that statement, we know that there is a way out. If we are m deep earnestness about knowing and living the will of God in our lives (the Spirit of Prophecy included), until everything else becomes relatively unimportant, our hungering and thirsting after righteousness shall be fills All the while, a world filled with a multitude of injustices and alternatives attempt to drag us away from this goal. The Christian life is definately a "battle and a march," as a favon author of mine put it.

I'd like to amplify the question asked by Tim Crosby in last week's Accent. Why is it that whenever a group gets together, discuss a matter very much related to Christian standards and principles, there is either a great sith. a choked uneasiness, or an out and out "I do care!" type of attitude when someone suggest that just possibly we could turn to the Spirit of Prophecy as seen in Ellen G. White? This should make us face the question: "Do we be lieve all of the light, or don't we?" If you an in the affirmative, the question then is, "Can we be afraid of knowing too much truth?"

Dr. Agatha Trash visited our campus this past week. I have not always been a member of what some might call "her fan club," and got rather upset when people came back from Bible conference and glowingly spoke of some Dr. Thrash saying this and that. My feelings were this: "Who is this lady and what makes her such a big authority?"

This past week I found out. She spoke from the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy and

As of last year, a new branch as added and the S.A. now elects representatives to the various faculty committees, and as time goes on I believe that the S.A. will continue to branch of student interest nue to branch out covering new areas

INDEPENDANT BRANCHES

One of the main arguments against the S.A. is that many of these branches such S.A. Is that many of these branches such as the Accent, the annual, and the M.V. and the Student Representatives, seem to be operating so autonomously and independent of the S.A. that, for all practical purposes, their only the appears to be that of a learned an appropriation sharefrom the contraction. poses, their only the appears to be that of a financial appropriation, therefore why not abolish the S.A. and make provisions for these branches to live on. To me, this line of thought is very analogous to expecting the branch of a tree to bloom and ting the tranch of a tree to bloom and grow after wacking off the trunk, or better yet, pulling out the roots of the tree. The fact that some of these branches do work independently of the Administrative body of the S.A., I feel is good, and any less independence i believe would only serve as an infringement on their own creativity. But this is not to say that because they exercise this degree of independence they are or should be any less an integral part of the S.A. structure or that we should abolish the body to which they owe their

LEADERSHIP OPPORTUNITY

Recently the Senate abolished the office of Recreations Committee Chairman To me this action was not indicative of a failure on the part of the S.A. structure to provide adequate recreation programs, but rather an elimination of a duplication of duties that was also being performed by the Boy's and Girl's clubs. This action to me illustrates the S.A.'s ability to adjust to a new situation, rather than any incompetence on its part or the part of the Recreation Director.

The S.A. provides a wider array of op-portunities for student leadership than does any other institution on this campus. And not only is this to be an opportunity for the student to excercise leadership, but also serves as an educational oppobut also serves as an educational oppor-tunity affording him a learning experi-ence that is to be had nowhere else on campus, except through the S.A. And, of course, anywhere that a learning pro-cess is going on mistakes and bad decis-ions will be made. (Ni inferring that the S.A. officers are doing a bad job-just that the possibility exists.) I think that all too often when things under the S.A. Stimic. often when things under the S.A.'s jurisdiction don't meet with our approval, we tend to point to the S.A. structure as the tend to point to the S.A. structure as the guilty source that failed, rather than to the most likely source of fadure, we the students (S.A. officers or not), who have lailed to utilize to the full extent the potentialities offered by the S.A.

THE STUDENT VOICE

After the recent unfortunate decision on the part of the faculty senate regard-ing beards at SMC, there were many who voiced disillusionment with the S.A. stating that it had failed in its efforts to initiate beards. But did the S.A. fail? In the Preamble the S.A. is "to serve as a voice of the students to the College Admini-tration. In so doing the Accent printed articles, the student representatives voiced their convictions, the Senate sent its recom-mendations, and the Student Body par-ticipated in an overwhelming poll. All the facits of the SA. did their job-they voiced the opinion of the students to the College uf the students to the College Adminis-Administration which is all they were constitutionally expected to do. Considering this, I doubt that anyone can conclude that certain portions of the S.A. failed or are worthless and in need of abolishment.

After all the faculty never promised to heed the voice of the student, as is most apparent in this case.

STUDENT UNION?

It is true that the S.A. derives its authority from the faculty and hence is some-what subservient to it. This brings up the what succeive to it. This strings up the point of the liberationists who would like to see the S.A. break away from faculty domination and independently organize into some form of Student Union capable of collecting its own dues, bargain for the student, and even throwing a strike or two. Rather than working as a "voice" under the premise of "the power of suggestion," they would be able to use the Student Union, if need be, more like a 'fist' or "club" with which to "smote the faculty betwix the eyes" in getting the faculty betwix the circumstance they would be able to use their their wishes. Under some circumstances an organization of this nature may have its merits, but I feel that rather than working together for a smoothly operating program, this kind of an organization would tend to alienate faculty and student. And under this constant feeling of antag-unism I feel less would be accomplished in the best interests of the students.

NEW SYSTEM

Recently the Student Senate, in my estimation, placed a milestone by voting to establish a system whereby each senator is assigned a faculty Scnate member, and as issues come up they will explain the student views to these faculty members in hopes that a better communication and understanding will promote the stu-dents interests. This will also serve as a medium through which the views of these faculty members can be transmitted back to the S.A. If this sounds suspiciously like a lobying organization, that's because it is. I think that it has a place, though, and will be a welcome addition.

There is still much to be said for "the power of suggestion," and coupled with the power of student opinion, there emthe power of student opinion, there em-erges a potent force that is going to have to be dealt with by the Administration. As the student body at SMC now stands, it has no better replacement that could he substituted as a "voice" to the Ad-ministration than the S.A. program that it now has. And any major alterations would only serve to restrict the students in one area or another

CONCLUSION

In my opinion, the S.A. still serves the student in each of the four catagories as set forth in the Preamble, and is striv-ing to broaden and improve on its ser-vices to the student. From this I would maintain that if the S.A. is still able to allow students to function effectively in meeting the objectives of the Preamble, and I think that it does, then it is worth the time and expense to carry out an effective S.A. program for the Students.

be very feasible that students would still plan their share of the programs and chapels which are now under the auspices of the SA. Perhaps the social activities could be incorporated into the dormitory and married couples clubs, as was the recreational branch of the SA.

Where does the money come from to operate the SA? Over $35,000 of the SA budget comes directly from student dues. Any student taking eight or more hours of classwork automatically pays $26 in dues to the SA. Is he getting his

SA PUBLICATIONS "only worthwhile production"

"only worthwhile production"
As I see things, the only worthwhile productions of the SA are the publications - the Southern Memories, the Southern Accent, the Joker, and the Campus Accent. These publications consume about half of the SA budget, This money is well spent. But what about the other half of the budget?
The weekly Southern Accent is prodsubly the most recognizable production of the SA. The paper is the only medium which presents student (and even faculty) opinion to the general public for their consideration. It is an essential part of SMC. But does it need the mothering of the SA? No, it doesn't. It could very well be under the supervision of the Communications Department.

The other publications are also components of college life. The Joker provides the indispensable service of indexing the student and faculty pictures into a landy, reference book. The Memories the student and tecutry pictures into a handy reference book. The Memories will, in a couple of decades, bring back just what its title implies - precious Southern memories. And the Campus Accent is necessary for carrying announcements of events, lost and found items,

But none of these publications need the mothering of the Student Association, The publications could all technically be overseen by the Communications, English,

Art, or other such department. Perhaps it would be in order, however, to set up a Publications Board within the student body to oversee the production of the publications, and to maintain student representation in them. The publications representation in them. The publications do not need the SA.

With the exception of the publications, the present SA is operating in name only. The era of time has passed when the SA was the major voice of student opinion. The time has come when the SA has ceased to serve a useful function, just as once did the organization of classes. Class careanization was finally done away as once the the organization of classes. Class organization was finally done away with. How long will it be before the realization comes that the SA, too, has hecome outmoded?

A TRUE VOICE?

A TRUE VOICE?

What is the purpose of the Student Association? According to the preamble of the Constitution of the SA, one of its major purposes is to "serve as a voice of the students to the college administration." Does the SA really fuffill this purpose? Before attempting to answer that, let us take a look at the philosophy and the history of the development and changes in student associations.
Student associations have traditionally been a formal lobbying structure for students to petition their desires and needs to the college's faculty and adminstration.

However, within the past decade, college campuses seem to have changed very dramatically. When I was in high very dramatically. When I was in high school, college campuses were centers of revolution and rioting. Today things are somewhat different; students now attempt to achieve their goals by more subtle methods

TRIVIAL TASKS

During the era of campus revolts, a student association was something entirely different than it is today. A student association was once the prime medium through which the student voice was heard on campus. Now SA's have settled down to a much more run-of-the-mill type of routine work, doing little jobs here and there that could be done with-out a student association.

This is not to say that now students do not have grievances to present to the faculty. Indeed they do. But the student association has ceased to be the forum of student opinion. Now, students are fullfledged and voting members of the various faculty committees and the Faculty various factily committees, along with the Southern Accent, provide the real media through which student opinions are effectively expressed. No longer do the students need a student association to voice their feelings or express their opinions

A PACIFIER

In my way of thinking, a student association is to the student body what a pacifier is to an infant. A certain feeling of false security comes from being associated with it.

iated with it.

Not many years ago, SMC organized each class, fron freshmen to seniors, by electing class officers. Why does it not now? Obviously, it would be foolish to do so, because that form of organization from a by-gone era has been outmoded. Electing class officers for any class other than the seniors ceased to serve a useful function. Has the time come when the SA has reached the same level of usefulness?

SA SENATE-"A FARCE"

The SA Senate is basically a farce. A lot of what the Senate does is essentially of no value to anyone. The only real function of the Senate is the holding of the purse strings for all the departments of the entire SA. The Senate must give its stamp of approval to all budgets, appropriations, and special monetary expenditures. A side from it being a jury of treasurers, the Senate is functionally of no value. The SA Senate is basically a farce.

Rip-off Van Winkle or a modern day Moses?

Who was the gentleman with whitish tooks falling gently to his collar and a full beard of curls visiting the campus this past weekend?

Arthur Bakke is rather nomadic and spends a lot of his time visiting Adventist institutions and is quite grateful when offered free food and lodgings. He believes he has been led by God to work a reformation in the Seventh-day Adventist church and is a self-appointed, though not self-pronounced, prophet.

His untrimmed beard makes him look much older than his 54 years, but he does seem to be in very good health. "Everything I've got." – his unobtrusive cuffed pants. shirt, and coat, his well marked Bible, and even the postage stamps in his small suitcase-"was given to me," he says. "The Lord provides."

Last week he stayed with a certain Strickland family in Dayton, Tennessee. "They spend most of their time listening to gospel music while they drink booze and smoke" he said. "You don't suppose if I sent them a record by Del Delker they would be pointed to the Bible doctrines do you?" He then took a look in the Book & Bible House. A few records were rejected because they pictured Del with a pin on her dress or with what he considered to be a low neckline. Finally one was decided upon and a benevolent SMC student took it to the cash register since he "didn't always have enough money to do what the Lord wanted me to do.'

When asked where his home was, he said "I'd have to say it's heaven." It is hard to trace his past but be did mention several things. "I used to be an atheist. I had a crewcut and I would beat my wife, curse all the time, and drink. My wife and I are divorced and she is married to another man. But that all happened before I accepted the Bible doctrines," he stated matter-of-factly. "If she wants to come back to me that is her perogative, but she is so stubborn I don't think she will."

He commented on several different subjects:

Reading-"I feast on the word every day (he holds up his Bible) and not on those newspapers you see down there in the lobby of the men's dormitory."

Dress-"God wants women properly clothed, not running around half naked. You know what I mean. And you see girls wearing pants. Deuteronomy 22:5 says that it is an abomination when a woman looks like a man. They are just trying to become equal. God never intended that."

SDA Church Leadership-"It took me a long time to realize that the church leaders are corrupt. They don't preach the truths of the Bible like they should. They even print out-right lies in the Review and Herald. I can prove it."

view and Herald. I can prove it."

Southern Missionary College Administration-(angrily) "I've had dealings with that bunch of -----------'s before!"

Hair-"The woman should never cut her hair. Paul says it is for a covering of her body. The man should have long hair and a beard. It is part of the Antichrist movement for men not to have them (beards). Christ had long hair and a beard-Ellen G. White says so in Testimonies volumes 1 and 2-and if He has one, isn't he to be our example?" Mr. Bakke uses Leviticus 19:27 to emphasize the importance: "Ye shall not round the corners of your heads ('your hair', he says) neither shalt thou mar the corners of thy beard." He concludes, "This is a command of God. We can't be half-way committed. If you can't stand the small tests you will surely fail the big ones."

Arthur Bakke's lifestyle and beliefs are not tolerated by most forms of religion, but in Adventism he finds patience among the church members. Yet he still puts himself at odds with those inside the church.

Sunday he left, apparently because of a misunderstanding with the dormitory administration over his stay in Talge Hall. He left in a flurry of swear words which would make one wonder if it was time for him to have a change of heart.

Romero Family to bring SMC guitar experience

The Romeros, a family of guitarists, will perform in the physical education center this Saturday at 8:00 p.m. Celedonio Romero and his three sons - Celin, Pepe, and Angel - came to the United States from Spain in 1958. They now live in southern California with their families.

In 12 seasons the quartet has averaged more than 100 concerts each season, appearing with the symphony orchestras of Philadelphia, Los Angeles, Boston and many other cities.

Celedonio Romero, founder of the group, studied at the Conservatory of Madrid and has performed with major orchestras as a guest soloist as well as with the quartet.

Celin Romero, his oldest son, began practicing scales at the age of three. At age ten he made his concert debut at Seville's Theatre lope de Vega.

Pepe Romero performed in his first concert at Seville when he was seven. His interest in flamenco music led him many times to visit the gypsy camps in Spain to the sounds of the guitars.

Angel Romero made his professional debut in the United States after the farm moved here. He was also the first guital ist to perform in the Hollywood Bowl,

The Romeros annually tour colleges and universities all over the country. Their work has taken them to every state in the Union and to several count in Europe. In addition, television appearances include guest performance on the Ed Sullivan Show and the Tonight Show

Forgerer aprehended by collegedale police

An investigation carried on by the detective division of the Collegedale Police Department last week resulted in the arrest of a Rock Hill, SC man on three counts of forgery

Roger Melvin Ball, 28, was arrested last Thursday for the felonious passing of a forged instrument. The incident occurred on Feb. 1 but was not reported to the police until Feb. 11. Det. Lt. Dave Goodman and Det. Sgt. Eddy Robmson were assigned to the case Feb. 12, and an arrest was made two days later.

The complaintant, Mrs. Tommie Caudill of Apison Pike, reported the theft of several personal checks to Collegedale's American National Bank. The checks had been taken from her checkbook when an unknown person had entered her home and had stolen some jewelry and small appliances. The bank teller notified Collegedale police of the theft.

In a police line-up, Ball was positively identified by Charles Davis, owner of Magnolia Pharmacy, who received one of the false checks.

Collegedale police set bail for Ball at $1000. Last Friday Ball went before City Judge Ray Dodson for a preliminary hearing, after which the case was referred to the Hamilton County Grand Jury

Police Chief Doug Keller urges all residents and business operators to report immediately any illegal entries, thefts, or suspicious activities within Collegedale. The detective division will thus be enabled to commence investigation at the earliest possible time.

Church investments in stocks Are they Kosher?

"Religion and business are not two separate things, they are one. Bible religion is to be interworen with all we do or say." "The sanctifying power of truth is to abide in the soul and be carried with us to our business, there to apply its continual gests to every transaction of life, especially to our dealings with our fellow men."2

These quotations remind us that what we do with our funds for investment is not merely a with our runds for investment is not merely a business decision. In our society, money carries power, for good or for evil. What we believe must influence our investment policies. What we do with our money must be related to the human and social needs to which the gospel of Jesus Christ gives priority. What the church does with its investment money is a part of its overall program.

Recognizing this fact, the Adventist church has refused to invest in companies whose products and services are contrary to our beliefs. We will not hold stock in liquor or tobacco companies.³ It is our way of saying that we will not support these enemies of personal health. We cannot stop people from making or using such products, but we can refuse to profit from them, and bear a clear witness before the world as to our position.

But the church is also aware of other responsibilities. In a world that is increasingly torn by strife, dissension and sin, the church is to demonstrate God's way. Against injustice and oppression it must stand for justice and loving concern; amid racism, it must stand for the brotherhood of all; while men make war, it must stand for peace.

These issues are not irrelevant "social" issues: they lie at the heart of the gospel. For they focus and the recurrence of the gospet. For they focus on the crucial point: do our lives exemplify the luths to which we give lip service? Are we indeed examples of Christ, healers in a sick world?

These questions apply also to our business deal-

Consequently, if the church is to invest large sums of money, it must bear additional burdens. We must be faithful. Since we receive the dividends from corporations, we have a moral responsibility for the manner in which these profits are made.

Also, we are called to witness. Part of our task is see that those who hold economic power—the drectors of corporations—are continually made aware of the demands of the gospel in their sphere. We cannot be content to be simply "another" investor, or even "another church" investor; we are called to be Adventist investors, bearing testimony by our words, our lives, and our practices to God's true way of wholeness in a broken world.

It is at once obvious that this is no easy task. The questions are complicated, and to get involved with times that we live only by grace.

As Seventh-day Adventists, we look-forward to As Seventin-day Adventists, we look-torward to the future with hope. For a solution to man's problems, we seek not human remedies in this world, but a world in which God has promised to make all things new. At the same time, we live in this world, and are called to be Christians in our relationship to it and to our fellow men. What we do now deter-mines whether we shall be fit citizens for heaven.

mines whether we shall be fit citizens for heaven.

And so the challenge faces us. As yet, we have not given much thought to how this relates to investments. In the current General Conference Working Policy there is no mention of any non-economic criteria for investing. It is no doubt assumed that those responsible will invest in harmony with church standards, since the first item water ability the other than the property of the control makes plain that the "employment of honest, sincer Christian men and women is the best security that can be obtained in the safeguarding of funds." But even this places stress only on the

Given the complex nature of the problem, and its implications for us all, it seems that another look at some issues might be in order. Let us focus briefly on some crucial areas of Christian concern in investing.

The Christian recognizes that wars will grow worse and worse, and will continue until the end of time. (Matthew 24:6, 7; Luke 21:9, 10). As much as time. (Matthew 24:6, 7; world peace, it is false we may pray and work for world peace, it is false eschatology to believe that it will be achieved. At the same time, we believe that the gospel of Jesus Christ is a gospel of peace, that stands in opposition to war.

In America today we see an increasing swing toward militarism. More and more money is being spent on weapons and defense. The Pentagon budget for 1971 was larger than the entire federal budget was in 1957. "America has become a militaristic and aggressive nation. Militarism in America is in full blood. How should a Christian investor respond?

Christian investor respond?
We cannot stop war, and it is futile to believe that we can. And as citizens of America, participating in its life, we cannot avoid contributing to war. But with investments, it goes beyond that. A look at the General Conference Investment Fund shows holdings in 13 of the top 60 Department of Defense contractors for fiscal 1971. We do not invest in contractors for fiscal 1971. We do not livest in liquor, because we oppose its use, and because we do not believe that profiting at the expense of another is in harmony with the gospel. We cannot escape all responsibility for war, but we can refuse to profit from it. Some of our tax money may support war, but none of our investment money need support it. We can refuse to execute further than the profit of the contraction of the profit of the contraction of the cont invest funds in companies which are profiting from the manufacture of products which destroy both human life and natural resources.

But so far the church has not seriously con-sidered this question. With our investments in these weapons manufacturers, the church has placed itself in a position of complicity with their acts. We have a special obligation to question that complicity. It is a special congation to question that complicity. It is important, too, for us to consider our influence: "the moral aura of legitimacy that investments in the military field are given by religious involvement."

Several options are possible for the church which wants to reduce its influence. In March 1972, at a General Board Meeting in Elgin, III., the Church of the Brethren voted to divest itself of all investments in corporations producing defense or weapons-related products. In addition, the church decided not to purchase any new government securities that may channel funds into military appropriations. The church then sold stocks and bonds worth nearly two million dollars in compliance with the decision.

Other churches have taken different approache In October 1970, the Committee on Financial Investments for the United Church of Christ issued lovestments for the United Church of Christ issued a report entitled Investing Church Funds for Maximum Social Impact.⁹ They recommended that "a church investor should through appropriate means make known to those corporations, which make armaments, and in which it holds stock, the desire that production of armaments be reduced and that the priorities of national productivity be changed. "16 They particularly recommended action in the case "Christ They are in the case "Christ They particularly recommended action in the case "Christ They are in the case "Chris in the case of

1. those corporations whose primary business (50 percent or more) is armament; 2. those corporations which actively seek government policies which maintain a high level of defense spending;

ment poices when hamman and the production defense spending;

3. those corporations involved in the production of the specific weapons systems and war material criticized by the General Synod. 11 But merely considering the percentage of business a company does with the military may be misleading. For example, although AT&T does less than six percent of its business with the military, that represents over 4931 million on contracts. Compare that with the United Aircraft Corporation, which does over thirty-seven percent of its business with the military, yet holds contracts worth sixty million dollars less than AT&T. And while Department of Defense contracts represent only two percent of General Motors' business, GM makes cent of General Motors' business, GM makes Sheridan Tanks, M-16 rifles, and M-109 howitzers.

Although there may not be any clean stocks, a relative choice can be made. The January-February issue of the Economic Priorities Report^{1,2} pointed out that of Fortune magazine's list of the 500 top U.S. corporations, 110 had few or no military contracts ($100,000 or less)

Public sentiment on the question is worth noting. Public sentiment on the question is worth noting. The Phladelphia Enquirer, in its regular "People Speak" feature, asked: "Is it proper for churches to invest money in military contracts?" Out of 2,400 callers, 63.9 percent said no. Of those who said yes, one asked: "Why not? Churches have a history of being hypocritical."

"Hean affender" confronted

l recently paid a visit to the VM, wearing clean blue jeans and a shirt neatly tucked in. On my way, I was confronted by a faculty member who informed me in no uncertain terms that I was the worst "jeans offender" on the WHOLE campus. I find this hard to accept, in light of my conservative estimate that over 50% of the male students of this institution wear faded, frayed blue jeans to class every day. As a female, I am not allowed to wear even nice slacks to classes. not allowed to wear even nice slacks to classes, much less jeans to the grocery store!

Also along these lines falls the matter of gym wear. While the men wear silky little short shorts for their intramural games, the women are required to wear bermudas passed by the PE in-structor. Cutoffs and unhemmed shorts are strictly out. Is it just me, or are there some gross inconsistencies taking place?

I feel mightily moved to reply to Ms. Buckner's letter which appeared in the Feb. 13 issue of this publication.
I confess to be at a loss as to how her comment that the wife"is" responsible for 55% of the average American famiy's expenditure's helped her argument in any way. To the contrary it seemed to me. In the average American family it is the husband who is the bread-winner and so naturally while he is busy earning money his wife should make use of her time and be responsible enough to at least go to the store and buy some groceries. It's possible, though, that Ms. Buckner was trying to earn some credit for females by noting that they spend

Just incidentally, in passing, let me mention that one or two successful commercials have been male produced. To my knowledge no one has serious-ly accused females of being totally devoid of creativity

How many of the firefighters, police officers, telephone repair person-nel, and a host of other vital personalities who walk city streets at night are women? (Note: that's city STREETS where it is definitely dangerous, not locked safely away inside some secure office building. Of course there is a certain contingent of women out on the streets at pinkt, but we won't the streets at night, but we won't take up a discussion of their reasons for being there in this correspondence.)

Ms. Buckner states: "The weaker sex must endure the traumatic and painful experience of childbirth." Must?
Without choice? Come now. Furtherwithout enoise? Come now. Furthermore, if males were to "endure" such a rewarding and fulfilling pain as l understand childbirth to be, I really don't think very many would complain too terribly bitterly. And are there no males who might take some of the responsibility of birth restal are ponsibility of birth control, or are we all a pack of brutes with no self control?

As for "raging hormones", would Ms. Buckner be so kind as to make available the source of that information, or is it a male trait attribution of her own? I've never heard a male say he expected

I've never heard a male say he expected females to "always function efficiently and calmly", indeed, many have thought such an event a pleasant surprise.

Although Ms. Buckner didn't say it in so many words, she implied female biological superiority. The statistics proving female's greater life expectancy are, of course, undeniable. But is this biological? Science has quite will established the cal? Science has quite will established the reality of psychosomaticism. Could the brain, Then, have anything to do with life span? Since females live "an average of three years longer than the 'stronger sex" does this imply that the male psych sex" does this imply that the male psych sex" does this imply that the male psych is somehow inferior to the female? Let's consider "a fact of life," shall we?

Women cry, men don't. Robert Hooke's Law states more or less that stress equals strain, and with all the stress modern living puts on an individual it follows that the brain is as strained as the life around it is tressful. A strained mind cannot keep so delicate a structure as the human body in op condition, so we males, lacking the fenale method of releasing excess strain from the mind, pay the consequences physically it's really quite amazing we die only three ears earlier, and I think we deserve a good bit of credit for lasting as long as we do leach us to cry and we'll probably live just as ong as our dear helpmates.

For those interested in the biologies of the subject, I suggest the August, 1971 issue of SCIENCE DIGEST, available in our libtary. Two eminent authors present the ease of SCIENCE DIGEST, available in our lib-tary. Two eminent authors present the ease of each sex, attempting to prove biological superiority. After reading it I'm sure you will agree with me that, ALL things considered, pros and cons of both sexes canceling each other out, the sexes turn out to be pretty muc equal biologically.

All this reasoning leaves us with the basic issue still at hand. Society over the past 6,000 or so years has structured us until we have become endowed with an unpragmaticism which has resulted in the "battle of the sexes," as yet unresolved. I cannot say I blame female for wanting to resolve it. I believe most of us males would like it resolved as well. We are getting tired of ceaselessly being inundated with various media decrying the low position women seem to feel themselves relegated to. What can be done to resolve the conflict? How about some truly open-minded thought and about some truly open-minded thought and discussion, both parties taking into weight AL considerations, not merely those advantagion one particular position. How about letters to the editor that are perhaps just a teeny, weeny bit more thought out and congruous than we's seen. Probably most important, how about raising the female image, not lowering it.

Not all males (or females either for that matter) agree that the sexes can be equal, but the sexes we have a sexes and the sexes will be the sexes to be equal, but the sexes we have a sexes will be sexes as the sexes will be sexes will be sexes to be equal, but the sexes will be sexes matter) agree that the sexes can be equal, but typical Women's Lib type activities only antagonize instead of accomplish. "Come now, let us reason together" is an excellent rule to follow (I take it Ms. Buckner was attempting to reason). But please, let's have rational reason and furthermore, rational proponents.

As for me, I say: "Come on sister, let's be brothers!" Or isn't that the kind of equality you want?

Sex-a serman labor

Dear Editors:

In one of last week's editorials this quesion was posed: Why don't we hear more ermons about sex, and deal with this topic onore openly?

Granted there are times when this topic should be discussed. I think there is a good reason why illicit sex is not generally considered a suitable topic for open social discussion. The reason is found in Ephesians five.

Verse three states "But fornication, and all unlearness or conventurences let it not be all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be all uncleanness, or covetousness, let it not be once named among you, as becometh saints." Now the phrase "Let it not be once named among you" does not, as I had always thought, mean "Let it not be once found among you." Rather, it means "Don't even talk about such things." (Phillips).

Fornication is the Biblical term for any kind of illicit sex, pre- or extramarital. Paulis saying these things are too shameful to talk about—"They were not even fit for discussion among saints." (SDA Comm.) In verse 12 Paul re-emphasizes this: "For it is a shame even to speak of those things which are done of the in secret."

The modern trend of throwing off social of ventions and inhibitions and disposing of euph emisms in quest of frankness is good to a point but such good things are usually carried too fat Good taste is still the standard. There are ST certain topics which, to use Paul's expression, "shameful" to talk about. I don't think this would exclude a sermon on, say, the place of sex in marriage, which is a topic I have seen advertised, although I didn't attend, in a local DA characteristics.

Nat Lindsey trys in vain to block a Danny Serns shot as Brown crushed Hayes 79-52.

Halversen challenges Hale for number one spot

Hale nearly lost first place in A league standings last week after barely defeating Holland 68-66 and losing to Halversen 70-67. Halversen and Reading both came up in the standings after last weeks games in which both teams won two games each. Halversen took their games off Holland (80-73) and Hale (70-67) while Reading defeated Bird twice (78-76 in overtime and 72-67). Holland had a chance to take A over first place if they would have held on to the lead they had against Hale. With little more than a minute left in the game Holland was left with three men on the court and just couldn't keep the ball away from Hale's defense. Bird lost three more games last week to drop them into last place in the standings. Bird has lost their last six games after having won their first three. This doesn't make too much sense with Bird having four players averaging thirteen or better points per game and shooting better than 40% from the field. Bird also has the second best shooting percentage as a team and has the second best average in game points.

Brown was the surprise of B league last week as they won three games after having lost their first six games earlier in the season. Brown defeated all three teams by better than points; pounding Weigley 63-52, crushing Davis 77-61, and bombarding Hayes 79-52. Hayes had just the opposite results, losing three games last week and dampening their hopes for a chance at the title. Chrispens and Fowler still are deadlocked in first place after both teams won their only scheduled game last week.

Garibaldi wins two games in C league to hold on to their lead in the standings. Fisher defeated Carmichael 59-38 to stay in contention for the title with a 6-1 record. In one other game Martin defeated Voorheis 55-46 to move into a tie for third place with Carmichael.

The men's club has four tournaments going on at the same time during this hasketball season. The tournaments are in paddleball, table tennis, free throw, and a one-on-one tournament.

Keith White shoots for Hale. Halversen stood the test to sneak by Hale 70-67.

Anderson threatens to take lead in women's basketball

In women's basketball last week, Anderson's team took a strong lead over Wagner's and held it to win the game 45-6. High scorer for Anderson was Marlene Pumphrey who racked up 18 points.

The Howard vs Academy game showed keen competition and lots of cooperation between team members. Howard shot forward to take the lead. In the last 5 minutes the academy began to close the gap between the scores, but Howard hung on

New General education program proposed

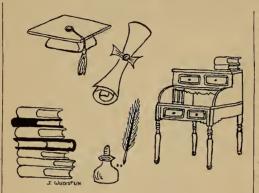

The long-standing and well-known of SMC that every student must te Humanities sometime after his nagain it may not. It all depends how the new proposed guidelines fired by the faculty. the General Education Committee for the leadership of Dr. Wayne devere, has been busy since 1972 thing on an acceptable plan for the aging of the general education re-ments of SMC.

The most recent proposal will be sold before the Faculty Senate in near future, and if it's approved then go before the entire faculty. mpared to the standing require-major requirements. (The two sides of this question have not yet been brought the before the faculty.)

If this program was adopted, it would include the selection of a qualified person to be in charge of the total general edu-cation program on the campus. Also, each student would have to develop his in-dividualized program with the help of a culty advisor, and submit his proposed plans to his major department for ap-proval by the end of the first semester of his sophomore year. The faculty, so far, has shown signs of being quite divided over the issue of flex-ible general education as suggested by the committee, as opposed to structured gen-eral education as throw signs. eral education as it now exists. Those eral education as it now exists. Those advocating a flexible program point out that we can't require a large number of general courses and expect every student to fit that mold. They question the progressiveness of our present system in that many students are forced to take courses that will be of no value to them in their chosen fields. chosen fields

On the other hand, those faculty members in favor of a structured program insist that there is a "unit of knowledge basic to all students" "certain courses we ALL need, and that to individualize orun programs will leave nothing more than "an educational cafeteria line." They "an educational cafeteria line." They also mention that to decide on a general education program during the freshman or early sophomore year will be a waste of time for that large percentage of students that change their major.

Dr. Vande Vere feels that perhaps a compromise will be reached where the flexible program is adopted with only three or four courses required of every.

At any rate, if the proposed program IS accepted, it wouldn't go into effect until the 1975-76.school year, so those who were hoping to evade Humanities had better face the hard, cold fact that it's going to be around for quite some time.

CARTA is here to stay

The Chattanooga Area Regional Transportation Authority (CARTA) is here to stay, at least for awhile, inspite of rumost to the contrary. That's the message from a CARTA spokesman in Chattanooga, Mr. Blalock, who said that for the time being, the plan is to continue the eight runs per day on the Collegedale line.

Mr. Blalock quoted a survey, taken three or four weeks ago, saying the use from the end of the Brainerd run to Collegedale wasn't substantial. But this lack of interest in to say the line will be scrapped or that attempts aren't being made to interest more prospective riders.

attempts aren't being made to interperson more prospective riders.

Glen McColpin, Collegedale city attorney is working to institute a "park and ride" facility at the Collegedale church parking tot. It is hoped this will stimulate more use of the bus, especially by those who would normally drive their cars to town. The bus cost is 5.50 one way-probably cheaper than buying gas.

"Contact made with the church has shown that the church board is interested, but more definitive action awaits further discussion," Mr. McColpin said.

The lack of use shown in the line causes the share that Collegedale pays to CARTA to remain high to cover costs. With more riders this share would lessen. Mr. McColpin went on to say that if there is anything lacking in service or if there is a problem somewhere, passengers snould contact him about it. He is concerned with provid-In a south the second of the present energy crisis.

Mr. Blalock stated that at least one

Running a bus line costs about $12 an hour.
He said that another survey would be taken in a month or two to determine how much use the line had and then further decisions might be made at that time. He prade references, this require to further decisions might be made at that time. He made reference at this point to cutting down the amount of runs made daily do Collegedale.

CARTA is a publicly owned corporation, and its interest is more on service to the people than on a large return. CARTA operates 28 lines in the Chattanooga area, several of which take up some of the slack of the longer runs such as the Collegedal line. CARTA receives local and federal funds, with attempts now under way to obtain some state support.

Spring Vacation-March 6 through 12, students' imaginations blossom as they anticipate fun-filled activities.

Where war is concerned, we might restate the above question like this: Most of us on this Christian campus would be shocked and angered if one student killed another student over a small quarrel. Without a doubt, we would agree that the killer was wrong.

Yet shouldn't we also be shocked and angered that the corporations we, as a church, invest in help make weapons that are used in war?

The question reaches back hundreds of years into history. For men proclaimed the gospel of Christ for hundreds of years in Europe and America, and also proclaimed all along that French Christians ought to kill English Christians in time of war.

And we must not forget that in our own century the two major wars have been fought among nations that professed some regard or respect for the Christian religion (with the notable exceptions of the U.S.S.R. and Japan).

But the question of two different standards of conduct does not stop at wars between Christians. It applies also to wars between Christians and declared non-Christians.

In this respect, the Middle Ages were much like our present day. Then, Christian faced Moslem; now as some see it, Christian faces Communist. Yet the modern church can learn much from what Roger Bacon, a Franciscan scholar, said to the medieval church:

"... where Christians are victorious, no one remains to defend the conquest. Nor are unbelievers converted in this way, but killed and sent to hell. The survivors of the wars together with their children are embittered more and more against the Christian faith because of those wars and are indefinitely alienated from the faith of Christ and stirred up to do Christians all the harm possible. . . Besides, the faith did not enter into this world by force of arms but by simple preaching."

Thus, we must look again at the question of war and our financial involvements with the corporations that help arm our country for it. We must now turn to the matter of oppression.

Where South Africa is concerned, we might restate the original question like this: Most of us on this campus would be shocked and angered if a student were denied admission because he was black.

Yet, shouldn't we also be shocked and angered that the corporations we as a church invest in help sustain a country that denies blacks the above rights?

Our answer to this question may have important consequences for the Adventist message. We as Adventists believe in a literal creation, and that God created Adam, from whom all men came. If follows, then, that all men are brothers on the basis of their common father. (This is not to deny the even greater source of brotherhood in Christ. Rom. 5:12-17, Gal. 3:26-28.)

But as long as our church money helps to support-even indirectly-the oppression of our black brothers in South Africa, we cannot expect informed people to take seriously our message of a common father in Adam and a common creator in God.

In a world where many people question the theological and ethical purity of Christian churches, the Adventist church has a wonderful opportunity for showing that a church which follows its Lord can-and indeed should-be pure. We hope and pray that the church will wait no longer to seize this op-

On Second Thought

Rip-Off sounds off

Dear Editors:

It grieves our hearts to see an Anti-Christ rule in our schools forcing men, the ones that want to be like me, to shave when the Master, whom the SDA church encourages us to look to, is a bearded man (Desire of Ages, page 734, Testimonies, vol. 2, page 202). He also had hair to his shoulders (Testimonies, vol. 1, page 60). About every other SDA college has wised up to this and has quit trying to be Satanic tyrants on this issue. Of course, the people of SMC are backward.

It grieves us to see the upside down structure of the average SDA home now, too. "But, I would have you know that the head of every man is Christ; the head of every woman is man; and the head of Christ is God," 1 Corinthians 11:3. Compare this to the way the homes are run today; children ordering their parents around. Sometimes this carries through to manhood and they continue to disrespect their

The young man who ran the Sabbath afternoon meeting in the game room cut me off after he asked a question of the audience which l attempted to answer. I found this rather rude and walked out mentioning it to another man, I also found the pattern of the carpet in the game room satanically influenced.

The three nights that I stayed in Talge Hall, students put me up and I stayed in good faith. They even fed me food with the Lord's blessing.

Just as I was about to leave the area, I happened to pass Dean Nelson's office. He came rip snorting out of his office like a bull, and took hold of my hand leading me into his office. He gave me the third degree, and threw his weight around like a tyrant dictator. He is young enough to be my son. I have a son about Dean Nelson's age who is a sargeant in the US Air Force stationed in Alaska named Steve. Dean Nelson knows better than to be so disrespectful to me. He knows I'd clean his clock if he tried it. May this Dean be removed.

Outside of the grievances I've mentioned above, the visit to SMC was most profitable for all concerned. Praise the Lord Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior, amen and amen.

Elder Des Cummings, Sr. will be out of town for a week. The Lord is giving SMC this time to take care of the Anti-Christ beard matter. This letter is being typed in the Lay Activities Department.

letters to the editor

May I add that Elder Hensen was so kind and gracious to take me into his home last night for supper. He has an excellent wife and two sons. He then drove me to a fashionable motel for the night and I had the privilege to see the last half of the movie "The Ten Commandments," with no interference from others.

May the Lord help you to straighten up the Satanic encounters. I hope you can have it where the men can be free to grow beards

It will be a wonderful thing when the women are ladies once more and wear their dresses as God described by God in Testimonies, vol. 1 page 521 and Testimonies, vol. 1 page 464, etc. The dress should overlap the boot, so it should be about half way between the knee and on the floor. Then when on the rostrum men won't have to look at their panties etc. Have the SMC women any shame about them???

In closing, I pray for the church to get back to the old standards and please God.

Basic Rights

Dear Editors:

I was definitely moved to write you concerning the letter Mr. Owens wrote to you pertaining to Ms. Buckner's.

I felt he could have been a little less biased and much more tactful in demonstrating his opinion. If reverbration type letters are to be written for the "column" they should not only be tactful but also void of sarcasm demonstrated by his and other letters previously submitted.

We may have the right to our own beliefs and lifestyles, but do we have the right to chastise another human's "rights" just because his or hers differs from ours?

Pantsuits?

"We are not to feel it our duty to wear a pilgrim's dress of just such a color, just such a shape, but neat, modest apparel, sterra snape, our near, mouest apparet, that the word of inspiration teaches us we should wear. If our hearts are united with Christ's heart, we shall have a most intense desire to be clothed with His righteousness. Nothing will be put upon righteousness. Nothing will be put upon the person to attract attention, or to create controversy."

Since the wearing of pantsuits for general campus activities, including classes, chapel, etc., is a controversy at SMC, and since tadies do have ample selection of beautiful feminine and modest dress, and since ladies "do not have to wear mini skirts" 2 and "we should seek to make the best of our appearance"3 and "In dress best of our appearance stand in dress as in all things it is our privilege to honor our creator 4 and "Self denial in dress is part of our Christian duty,"5 it would be selfish, indeed, to place our desires about that of our peers, who conscientiously believe we should not wear pants to class es and chapel. Above all we should honor God in every facet of our lives.

Oh, no, the pantsuit issue rides again and I am caught in the race. I appreciate the vote of confidence that my silent ininority or is it majority (hard to tell) has extended to me by asking me to support the wearing of pants by women for general campus wear. It is my understanding that many have been fearful of this task but I will fear about 41. this task, but I will forge ahead and bear the burden. As my students would say, "You need your head examined." The following are my thoughts alone, not even my husband influenced me! Since I've been on the Senate for the last two years, on the Female Dress Committee last year, and on the Student Affairs Committee this year, I see the issue of not allowing the wearing of pantsuits in the classroom, library, cafeteria, and Wright Hall falling into three main cate-

The first is the matter of control. Now I will have to agree that control is basic and most important to all aspects of life. and most important to all aspects of lite. Since the students have been granted the privilege of wearing slacks and pantsuits for leisure, there have reportedly been some who have taken advantage of the rule that says, "no jeans." Many types of jeaned legs have been seen at the shopng center, along the sidewalks, and in

Ellen Gilber

My question is, how many young women that we see in jeans are actually our students? How many girls are there that actually offend this rule? Until we know this, how can we then penalize the majority (I believe) that obey the rule. It appears that we get overwhelmed with what the offenders do and consequently neartively reward everyone instead of negatively reward everyone instead of negatively reward everyone instead of positively rewarding the upholders of the law and taking care of the few offenders. As Eric Hoffer said, "We are more prone to generalize the bad than the good. We assume that the bad is more potent and contagious."

The second category is "Our Image."
Does our image (whatever that means) increase Christianity? Are we hiding behind our external appearance so that we don't have to really come to grips with our Christian deficiencies in CONSTRUCTIVE INTERPERSONAL RELATION—SHIPS? It is much easier to look at a person's exterior and judge him as good or might be disobeying the dress code) means.

Nice fitting slacks, pants, or whatever you call them can look as befitting as any dress. Not everyone on this campus looks great in dresse, or skirts. How these great in dresses, or skirts. How these young ladies look depends upon their background, finances, and mental and spiritual outlook. The same would be true for the way they would look in lacks. Those who look ill dressed in skirts will probably appears that way in pental.

If they don't have it by now, they'll never have it, and if they have it, they won't lose it by wearing stacks. Femininity is a learned personality trait as much as how we eat, sleep, play, or relate to other people. Now, if the concern is that those girls who already tend to be mescrible in such as the work of the concern is that those girls who already tend to be mescrible in such as the such pear that way in pants. that does gifts who alleady ter to be masculine will appear more so, I strongly disagree. Church investment in stocks

Part II

Tom Dybdahl is an Adventist pastor in Boston's inner city.

UST AS WAR will continue to the end of time, we know from Scripture that racism, injustice, and oppression will continue and grow worse. For their source is the selfish heart of man, and until men are transformed by the grace of Christ they will continue to exploit their brothers. But this does not stop us from calling these things sin, and living in opposition to them. The message of the gospel is a message of liberation for all men. While on earth, Christ identified Himself with the poor and oppressed, and He asks His people to do the same.

The accounts of every business, the details of every transaction, pass the scrutiny of unseen auditors, agents of Him who never compromises with injustice, never overlooks evil, never palliates wrong. "If thou seest the oppression of the poor, and the violent perverting of judgment and justice... marvel not at this matter; for He that is higher than the highest regardeth." "There is no darkness, nor shadow of death, where the workers of iniquity may hide themselves."

One area where many companies practice injustice and oppression is in their employment policies—especially with regard to minority peoples. The Christian stockholder is not a policeman. But it is his responsibility to see that the companies he supports with his money are concerned about their employees, about equal opportunity, about putting minority people in leadership positions, and are seeking to eliminate structures that help bind and oppress men.

A related issue currently being considered is that of investments in companies that do business in South Africa. A look at the General Conference Investment Fund shows holdings in 19 companies with major investments in South Africa. Many aspects of the question are complicated. But some are not. South Africa is not the only nation in the world with problems of racial justice. Nonetheless, it is one of the few nations in which an official policy of white supremacy is in action. It imposes inferior status on some of God's children solely on the basis of their color. Apartheid transposes what the Christian knows to be wrong into a right.

Several issues are involved here: the policies of the South African government, the policies of American corporation in South Africa, and the effect which American business may have on South African policies.

The first issue seems clear. In South Africa, 19 percent of the people—all whites—impose their will upon the blacks and coloreds who make up the rest of the population. Their doctrine is white supremacy. "We want to keep South Africa white ... 'keeping it white' can mean only one thing, namely white dominance, not 'leadership,' not 'guidance,' but 'control,' 'supremacy.'"

Only one conclusion can be made. "Based on our understanding of the Scriptures and our firsthand knowledge of the situation in South Africa, we are convinced that any cooperation with or strengthening of apartheid is contrary to the fundamentals of Christianity."

The next issue is more difficult. Are American corporations, despite government policies, making a positive contribution toward the improvement of conditions for blacks in South Africa? Or are they simply fitting in with the prevailing practices of their South African counterparts?

The companies say they are improving things. Polaroid Corporation, after considerable debate, decided to remain in South Africa. On January 13, 1971, Polaroid took full-page ads in 27 newspapers to explain their position. They announced plans to improve dramatically the salaries and other benefits of their non-white employees" and "train non-white employees for important jobs" in the companies of their business associates. They argued that to leave the country would leave them with no hope of changing anything there.

After one year, Polaroid announced that it was continuing its program, concluding, "Although in a year's time, the visible effects on other companies of our experiment have been limited, the practical achievements in salaries, benefits, and education have shown what can be done. In this respect the experiment has exceeded the expectations of

Many others disagree. Some other examples of the behavior of American corporations in South Africa are worth noting. Newmount Mining, which controls the Tsumeb Mine, earned $15 million profit in 1970, but paid black workers an average income of $28 a month. Starting wage for blacks in Chrysler's Cape Town plant is $75 a month. Minimum subsistence level for a family is $106 per month. In the Caltex plant, seven of eight grades of jobs available to blacks pay wages below this level.

In addition:

American corporations reflect the apartheid system in their general practices. All facilities in U.S. corporations' plants in South Africa have:
a) racially segregated (and not equal) facilities; b) all the best jobs are reserved for whites, and no black man may ever supervise any white, no matter what his skills are; c) the black trade unions, such as they are, are powerless; and d) employment of men under the migratory labor system who may not live with their wives and

All of this is not surprising when one discovers that in a study conducted by the Charles St. Thomas Group in 1969, only 10 percent of U.S. businessmen interviewed in South Africa felt that apartheid was wrong.⁶

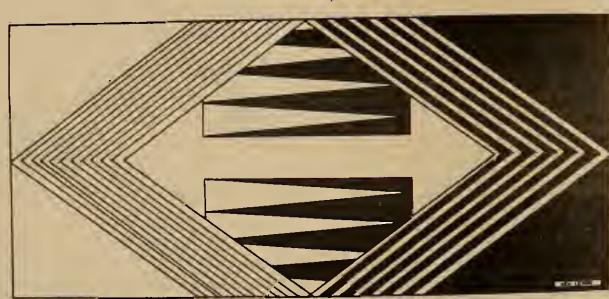

Others argue that even this avoids the real question.

In a country like South Africa, where the ruling class is united in its determination to defend the principle of white supremacy, economic expansion can be controlled and directed to ensure the preservation of the established "national idea" of those in power. Since the whole purpose of apartheid is to defend the existing power structure, which ensures total political, military and economic control in the hands of a minority, any meaningful changes in apartheid would mean the eventual abandonment of white supremacy.

Some churches have been willing to act on this question. Last year, five major denominations—Episcopalians, Presbyterians, Baptists, United Church of Christ, and Disciples of Christ—held a press conference to announce that they would submit similar resolutions to six major U.S. corporations that do business in South Africa—Gulf Oil, Mobil Oil, Goodyear, GE, IBM, and GM. Rather than asking for withdrawal, the resolutions asked for full disclosure of operations, to see if their presence has indeed been a positive contribution to the country's progress. It was the first step in a campaign calculated to raise public opinion about American business presence in South Africa.

According to Reverend Everett W. Francis, public affairs officer for the Episcopal Church's Executive Council and one of the prime movers of the action, they "don't expect to succeed. We're filing the resolution because it's right." But already IBM and Mobil have voluntarily agreed to disclose the details of their operations in South Africa, and the proxy statement will not be presented at their meetings.

In conclusion, the Church is the only institution that doesn't have to protect its capital. For the life of the church depends, not on its monetary success, but on its faithfulness in following its Lord. If we are as certain of the future as we say that we are, we should be free to live boldly and creatively in the present.

Some analysts today, including Polaroid Corporation and the U.S. State Department are pretending that if General Motors and other U.S. companies suddenly became equal-opportunity employers in South Africa they would no longer be accomplices in apartheid. Of course such a claim only presents half the story. Would a U.S. company in Nazi Germany providing strength and health to the German economy be freed from all responsibility if it equitably employed lews on its staff in the German subsidiary? The thought boggles the mind! To the extent that U.S. corporations are agents which support and strengthen the South African economy they are also responsible for the strength of apartheid. A healthy economy strengthens white control, white imperviousness to economic sanctions, white ability to keep blacks oppressed. As U.S. companies contribute toward that economic strength they become automatic accomplices in perpetuating the racist status quo, a fact which no amount of Polaroid-type public relations in the U.S.A. can wipe out.

A final consideration is the effect upon the company itself. Any investment in South Africa by a U.S. company involves the expenditure of considerable capital. Whatever the intent of an investment, when the company begins to profit from its investment, it ends up with a vested interest in the economic and political stability of the country where its plants operate. So U.S. business interests become tied up with the interests of the minority which imposes its will on South Africa.

The last issue is debatable as well-It is easy—and conscience soothing—to believe that by being in South Africa, a business can help to influence and change government policies. "No sacrifice is demanded, no conflict, no struggle; just up the investment and the profits, and the change will inevitably come." But this ignores the real dynamics of the struggle in South Africa.

I believe that the current policy of the Seventhday Adventist Church in its corporate investments represents both unfaithful witness and unfaithful stewardship. I believe that our use of investment monies compromises the gospel we preach. And thus I believe that it is an important issue for every member.

It may seem like a small thing. But as Jesus reminded us: "He that is faithful in that which is least is faithful also in much" (Luke 16:10). And if we are not faithful in that which is least, it will be impossible for us to be faithful in that which is

Bryant defends defunct Recreation Committee before SA Senate

At 7.30 p.m. last Monday hight, the tenth regular SA Senate meeting was called to order by parliamentarian Stephen Jones. Before discussing the is-sues outlined in the agenda, the floor was given to David Bryant who clarified first semester actions of the Recreation Committee, which was recently dissolved. Committee, which was recently dissolved. After explaining many accompishments of the committee of which he was chairman, Mr. Bryant also explained the reason for no Hawaiian lagball all-star game and why no trophies were given out during first semester. An insufficient number of team captains returned Mv.P. (most valuable player) slips, accounting for the lack of an all-star game, while a passage was read from Mrs. White about the school policy concerning the evirue of trophies policy concerning the giving of trophies. According to Mrs. White, the purpose of recreation is not to bring glory to one's self, but to refresh and build up mentally and physically

The first point of the agenda was pre-sented by Haskell Williams, who reported on the activities of the Student Initiative Resources Fund. As one will recall, $200 was appropriated to this fund as an SA project, for the use of students who need financial assistance for some project they themselves are involved in. Mr. Williams revealed how twelve students have recently started a project called the Summit Pro-ject, which uses the health-evangelism ap-proach in giving bible studies. They have proach in giving bible studies. They have asked for an appropriation from the fund to defray expenses they have encountered for materials, etc.

Roland Marsh then posed the question on the second point of the agenda, "Should the responsibilities of the President and Vice-President be combined into one executive office?" Although the President has no specifie duties outlined in the working policies of the constitution, it is his duty to supervise all the various com-mittees under him and make sure everything is functioning properly and flowing smoothly in the Student Association. It smoothly in the Student Association. It was decided that the responsibility and work entailed in each of these important offices would be too much of a burden on one individual.

Duane Hallock then put in a request on behalf of the Southern Accent for funds to bind all old issues of the Accent.
Thirty years of back issues need to be bound, and several years can be bound in one volume. The estimated cost was $7.50 per volume, or approximately $112.50 total cost. After brief discussion, this proposal was voted upon and passed. The last area discussed before adjourn ment was the announcement of the schedule for the election of next year's SA of-ficers. The schedule approved was as fol-

For the Asking

This past semester the SA Senate voted (on student approval by poll) to set up a Student Initiative/Resources Fund with an initial appropriation of $200. The purpose of this fund is to allow students to become involved with community activities in a variety of manners. Those currently involved or just contemplating such a project (or small endeavor), should check with the Initiative/Resources committee for financial support. The committee is small enough (three members) to act quickly upon requests, yet it has the support of the SA Senate as its sponsor. The members are Nita Haight, Gary Eldridge, and Haskell Williams (Chairman).

One example of such a plan is the Summit project. Several individuals (the committee operates on a "no name" policy) had Bible Study interests in the area and others had different types of contacts. These dozen students decided to try a low key "health approach" to evan-gelism. First they distributed home-made bread of their own and asked if the families would be interested in learning to bake bread. There was good interest, so they are continuing to plan such a "bread

To receive funding for projects, a request form is required and can be obtained from any of the committee members or at the SA Executive Office; it should then be filled and returned. The committee meets weekly (or sooner if the request is urgent). Upon approval, persons will be notified and completed approximately 300 hours of will receive a "grant" from the SA. The committee is hence responsible to the Sen- Training School, on general and technical ate for its actions.

If you have wanted to, but didn't have the funds, here's your answer. The money is here, all YOU have to do is GET INVOLVED. It's yours for helping."

More Kudos !!

Dear Editors:

Well, you did it again-even exceeded yourselves. More kudos! Perhaps this is why I have been picking up hints from a variety of sources that I owe you a chocolate shake. My first reaction to these rumors was one of curiosity: how could that deduction possibly have been made from my previous letter to you? Upon re-reading said letter, I am constrained to admit that my curiosity was transformed into mystified puzzlement.

Here are a few reasons which constitute the foundation of my perplexity: 1) the letter doesn't say that the shake is to be given TO anyone, 2) nor does it say that anyone-for example, me!-will purchase it, 3) or if he does purchase it that he may not drink it himself, 4) and finally, I can't make out whether (if indeed the shake IS to be awarded) it is to encourage you to do a better or worse job on the next issue! In fact, although I hate to concede it, the greater part of that letter seems to be rather ambiguous. And you know as well as I that ex nihilo nihil fit.

However, just to demonstrate to you that my heart is not cold and calculating, but warm, anxious to respond to the spirit of the law rather than the letter-just to show this, I am enclosing enough money so that everyone on you staff may drink a milkshake. You may even choose the flavor you prefer!

-James McGee

P.S. If you are wondering how to spend the enclosed fifty cents, this is what you do: buy one shake (which liquidates most of the money) and use the remainder to pay the tax and bribe the CK management to give you 18 straws-one for each of "Our Gang."

Travel Lecturer Don Cooper to present "Montana"

Travel lecturer, Don Cooper, will return to SMC this next Saturday night at 8 p.m. in the physical education center, presenting the film "Montana," which follows the trail of Lewis and Clark toward the Pacific, over land and water. Much of it was filmed in a virtually unknown wilderness of towering mountains and crashing white water rivers, unsurpassed scenic beauty, history, a touch of humor, and some spectacular wildlife sequences will be included in the program.

Cooper has been coming to SMC for nine years; this will be his sixth appearance, which makes him the most performed person on this campus, after being here last year with "Trails of the Mountain West.

Chief Keller praises Police Reserve Force

Chief Douglas E. Keller has given the nighest praise and professional tribute to the members of the Collegedale Police Reserve Force. Members of this force serve without pay and since they were organized by Chief Keller and placed on active duty July 1, 1973, these Reserve Officers patrol an average of 500 to 800 hours each month, volunteering their time in the Police Service for the members of their community.

Each member of the force have now training through the Collegedale Police police subjects. The Detective Division is comprised of four police detectives, all volunteers. Some serve our community by working 30 or more hours a week.

Each member of the Police Reserve takes the same oath as the regular office which states in part, "My fundamental duty is to serve mankind, to safeguard lives and property, to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder, and to respect the constitutional rights of all mankind to liberty, equality, and justice."

McCurdy attends computer science conf. in Detroit

On February 13-15, Dr. Robert McCurdy, instructor of Computer Science at SMC, attended a computer science conference in Detroit, Mich.

One reason for the conference was to meet different people and find out how each one meets certain problems in computer science.

Also, there were 200 papers presented at the conference covering current research in computer science. The papers were on educational research, industry research, theoretical papers on frontiers of computer science such as automata theory artificial, intelligence, linguistics, and formal languages.

Some of the papers were more relevant to computer science at SMC, such as what should be taught in the first computer science courses and pedigodical methods of teaching computer science, which also includes teac the subject to five to ten-year-old child

To qualify as a student missionary, a person must have completed his freshman year and have a 2.25 GPA, a good medical examination record, and good references from both his friends and the college. The completion of a first aid course and a close personal relationship with Christ are highly recommended

Anyone interested in being a student missionary should take a look at the Student Missionary Request Bulletin, 1973-74 (found at the desks of the Studen Center, the library, and the dorms) which gives a brief description of the openings and needs. Des Cummings to leave SMC to complete Master's degree

In March of this year Des Cummings, the college chaplain, will be leaving SMC for Andrews University. He will finish his work fur the Master of Divinity degree in two quarters and return to this campus to continue his ministry in September, 1974.

During an interview we asked Eld Cummings huw his leaving would affect the religious life of SMC students. In answering he first uutlined his concept answering he first untlined his concept of his own rule before pointing out that he will only be gone for six weeks of regular school session this term and will be back before college begins in the fall. Many students may searcely notice his absence because of the structure of his work. He defines his own work as implementing the aims of the MV Society—part of the many to relate - through the rule.

Fowler takes B league 1st place by defeating Chrispens in overtime 56-54 ln A league basketball action last week. Halversen edged closer to Hale in the standings by defeating Bird in a runaway game 91-66. Halversen played one other game last week in which very little went right for them. But then they were playing Reading and that meant trouble, for Reading had beaten them twice before in regular season play and this was the last meeting between the two teams. Haiversen couldn't shake loose whatever it was that haunted them and fell to Reading's hot shooting (50.7%) team 76-68. In other games played, Holland barely snuck by Reading 66-64 and Bird finally won after seven loses in a row by defeating Hale (without the services of Nelson Thomas) 73-63. In that latter game, Hale's team shot only 17.3% from the field in the first half.

In B league action Fowler defeated Chrispens 56-54 in overtime to take the lead in the standings. Fowler won two other games last week by trouncing Davis 75-41 and crushing Jimenez 64-55. This leaves Fowler with two more games and if they can win those two that will give them the title of B league champions. Chrispens did stay right behind Fowler with two victories, smashing Brown 55-35 and scoring at will against Davis with a 95-55 decision. Weigley pulled up in the standing with victories over Hayes 66-63 and Jimenez 57-51.

In C league action, Fisher pulled into a tie with Garibaldi for first place. They did this by defeating three opponents last week. Fisher took Martin 63-35,

Voorheis 59-39, and Shaw 72-53. Garibaldi nearly lost it all last week when they slipped by Martin 42-39 in overtime. Landess pulled up over .500 by winning three, defeating Carmichael 36-33 and Voorheis twice 79-36 and

A special game was played late Monday night, February 25, between the college freshman B leaguers and junior high students from Louisville Junior Academy. The college team almost lost in a close score of 60-59. High scorer for the college team was Brooks Bumsed with 13 points. The visiting team was led in scoring by Dan Medanich and Rick McCoy with 25 and 18 points respectively.

John Maretich shoots from the free-throw line as Reading suprised Halversen 76-68.

"Fiddler on the \ Roof" to be shown Saturday night

The film version of "Fiddler," which was produced in 1970, will be shown in the college gym, March 23, at 8:45 p.m. Admission for everyone will be 75 cents. In this story, which takes place where the Russian Empire is on the verge of revolution, 1905, Man and his relationship with his family, his people, and the enemies of his people, is brought out.

Traditions are breaking down, and values are confused. The small town, values are confused. The small town, Anateka, inhabited by Russian Jews, is striving for pride and dignity. Their unique life styles, and feelings, such as their special relationship with God is reflected in their daily living. The thought behind this fascinating story is that though it actually takes place in a small village in Czarist Russia it really takes place everywhere

The series operates on an annual budget around $3,000 according to Jan Rushing, professor of business and co-ordinator for the series. The seminars are held in Summerour Hall, Room 105, at 8 p.m. almost every Thursday night.

They are open to everyone though some would obviously be more interesting to business majors because of their

Pantsuits rejected by Faculty Senate

The proposal to allow pant attire to be worn by women was voted down by the Faculty Senate in the March 4 session. The proposal would have allowed the women to wear pantsuits or dress slacks to the library, cafeteria, chapets, and classes, if they would so choose. During the session the senate chairman, Dr. Knittel, read several letters which had been sent to him by students interested in this issue. All of the letters which had been sent and signed were in opposition to the proposal. There were no signed letters which were in favor of the proposal.

no signed letters which were in rayor of the proposal.

As the proposal was written, the issue was not really whether to allow pantsuits, but pant attire. Since pantsuits are generally worn by women who are past their college days, and slacks and jeans are worn by the college women, it was generally felt that the decision was whether or not to allow Levis as classroom attire. The proposal was handily seed down. voted down.

R.I.P.

This year's Student Association is rapidly heading for a most prominent position on the endangered list that represents animals currently on the brink of extinction.

The Student Association is merely a hollow echo chamber where student reform propositions can merely be bandied about. Thoughts of implementing school policy changes through the SA can be forgotten. Consequently, it is in grave danger of being tilted from the prominent position of respect it may have held many years before our attendance at SMC.

Records show that most of the SA's energy has been directed toward activities such as elections, some programs, and unification within the senate instead of projects that could benefit the majority of the student body.

It may be noted that out of all the time spent by the SA on elections, around 70% of the student body did not even bother to vote in the last SA election.

This past Wednesday evening, the situation was worsened by the fact that there weren't enough senators present to even

In conjunction with the upcoming elections, SA officers had advised candidates interested in running for election that they must file a petition of student signatures. Later, after many signatures had been solicited, it was brought to the attention of certain SA officers that this action was unnecessary and that candidates need only to file a platform according to the working policies of the SA. It might be interesting to note that in the last election the required procedures were even further disregarded when the two people writing this article were placed on the ballot when they failed to file a platform for candidacy.

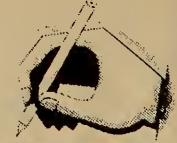

Student involvement in SA has reached a low ebb when on SA presidential candidate withdraws his platform because competition is to stiff and when the only candidate running for Southern Accent editor has not even actively participated in the formulation of a college newspaper at SMC. We are not trying to set up these individuals or objects of ridicule, but rather to illustrate how the competitive drive to attain an SA office is absent in most SMC students. In other words, the problem of the SA is not the lack of qualified personnel but rather the lack of interest in SA functions among the student populace. However, the notion that students attend college to obtain an education and not to pursue a political career is not to difficult to understand. But, the question that comes to mind with such a great disinterest in the SA, why should so much money and so much effort on the part of a few continue?

The question really is, why even have an SA?

letters to the editor

Would Christ approve?

Dear Editor:

Although this letter may appear to be written by a "biased" faculty member, it is not. I have been an Adventist since June 1973. I am thankful that God has led me to the true message and there is no way for me to keep this wonderful truth pent up inside like many of the students here do.

Beards, or no beards; short skirts, or long skirts; pantsuits, or no pantsuits...self, self, self, me, me, me!!! That's all I hear around this campus. This school is dedicated to God; not to our selfish needs! We who are supposed to have claimed Christ as ruler of our lives are supposed to be witnesses and ambassadors for Him. The truth is, whether we realize it or not, we are either His representatives or His "misrepresentatives."

ambassadors for Him. The truth is, whether we realize it or not, we are either His representatives, or His "misrepresentatives."

Paul said in 1 Cor. 9:20, "And unto the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews..." We are living in the state of Tennessee, in the year 1974. Our society has set up its own standards and ideals concerning what "Christians" should be like. These ideals may not be attainable, but, nevertheless, we are being judged by them.

ideals may not be attanable, bit, nevertheless, we are being judged by them.

Society is changing, and we will to some degree change with it. But the whole problem of beards, short skirts, pantsuits, etc., must be handled in two ways. First, would Christ approve of it? Would we dress that way or act that way in front of Christ? Would we dress that way or act that way while we were knocking on doors trying to get others to hear the gospel? Second, would society approve of it? Has all of society accepted beards, short skirts, and pantsuits as an approved mode for Christian witnesses?

It's not whether or not beards are Biblical that matters in 1974. We are a product of our society and our society, to a great degree, has not accepted beards as suitable in their "ideal" concept of a Christian. If the beard would harm our Christian witness, then we should leave it off until our society accepts it.

Short skirts and tight pantsuits are both sexually exciting to many males. They lead to spiritual fornication which has the same weight as physical fornication. This is hard for a female to understand because they are not stimulated in the same way that males are. Also, our society has not yet approved of short skirts as fitting for those who claim to testify for Christ in their life.

not stimulated in the same way that males are. Also, our society has not yet approved of short skirts as fitting for those who claim to testify for Christ in their life.

When we look at the problem in this view, the key question is not, "I want these things because other people do it and because it is my right." Instead let's look at them in the context of, "Will these things harm my testimony and service for Christ? Can I effectively witness for Christ to the majority of society, with a beard, short skirt, or pantsuit?" Have you prayed about it?

Let's put Christ and His kingdom first (for a change?).

Write for Insight

Dear Editor:

We at Insight are hopeful that student missionaries from your campus who have some writing ability will take time to record and write up those outstanding experiences that come along and send them to us. To guide such students who are willing, we will send a copy of our "Information for Writers" to everyone who sends us a note requesting one.

We are also interested in action oriented.

We are also interested in action-oriented black and white photos and color slides or transparencies that tell a story. One good example is the Feb. 18 cover of the North Pacific Union Gleaner. I wish Insight had run that.

No more. By streaking, by making a mad dash in the buff across quadrangles and gymnasiums, the kids are telling us they recognize what behavior they know in their hearts is decent and responsible-and what

Streaking is like a certain kind of joke that honors its target. By seeming to flout the conventions the streakers are really approving them. We need to start worrying only when the streakers stop running.

Some people might argue that Adam and Eve were the first to ever go "streakin. Perhaps this is true, but it is interesting to Perhaps this is true, but it is interesting to note that they were streaking to find a few fig leaves to cover themselves. I think if I read the story correctly they felt terribly ashamed in the naked condition. But why did this barely righteous couple experience shame when they realized themselves naked? It is likely that Adam and Eve possessed a very keen conscience that would cause them both to feel shame even in the presence of each other. There-fore, if man back then, possessing a keen conscience, felt ashamed for being seen naked, what has become of man's keen conscience that would prevent such out breaks or disorders as "streaking?" It would seem, that when man has lost his state of keen conscience, that when it no longer controls his actions man is that might be considered is the loss of respect one has for himself. As we all ruled by the same power that controls many demoniacs, their beastly passions. I guess you might say I'm looking on the leavy side of the subject when I could asily look on the light side and laugh easily look on the light side and laugh. Yes, I would laugh at a group of streak-ers, moonshining by me as if in a parade, but it would be my carnal nature that laughs, my spiritual nature would cry. Looking through spiritual eye glasses what are the real objections to streaking besides plain old common sense? Prob-besides plain old common sense? Prob-bly the foremost argument is the de-inoralizing effect it places upon God's deal for fallen man. Ever since that first sin in Eden, God has sent message after message by prophets and by ha-wns son to try and restore man to a modest and perfect being. Running raked through a crowd of speculators lardly upilits man before God or his follow human beines. Another point fellow human beings. Another point know overt acts or words many times have a larger impact on the one doing them than upon others. Thus, when a oerson does a demoralizing act, such as streaking, it cuts deep into whatever is left of his own self-esteem and opens the door to other acts of the same man-

Besides the general philosophy of the Plan of Redemption and the uplifting of humanity, what does the Bible say point-blank about "streaking?" Of course, the Bible does not contain the statement

"thou shalt not streak or behold a streaker." But it does speak against one beholding another and lusting after him or her. Matt. 6:28. Jesus here seems to or her. Mart. 6-28. Jesus here seems to imply that anyone even lusting or causing one to lust has committed sin in his heart already. And it would take a mighty pure mind to withstand the shady suggestions minto to with stand the shady suggestions one would have if a streaker of the opposite sex went flashing by. And as growing Christians we don't need such delicate food to feed the carnal nature, when it is hard enough starving it as it is, do we?

Phoenix Crisis Center "youth help youth"

The phoenix was a legendary bird who lived for centuries on end. As the story goes, he finally burned himself to death, only to rise fresh and young from his own ashes. And this is where the Phoenix Crisis Center got its name, for its purpose is to help people who get "burned."

Founded three years ago at 758 Oak St. near UTC, the center is a part of the Family Service division of the Community Services of Greater Chattanooga. Monetarily, they are supported by United Fund. Phoenix, which originally evolved around the theory of "youth help youth," now is into services for elderly persons, families, and alcoholics.

Out of the 28 Phoenix employees, only four are paid salaries. Jim and Nancy Riggs, who live at the center, receive room and board plus $200 a month. Director and Administrator, Dennis Gill, is the third full-time employee leaving one part-time counselor who receives $100 a month. The remaining 24 persons associated with

Phoenix are all volunteers. A training course is completed by the workers, but they do not necessarily hold specialized degrees,

According to Vickie, one of the volunteers, many different services are offered at the center. Although most of the contacts are made by phone, there are quite a few "walk-ins." Phoenix has 21 beds which are used to house families, elderly persons, or singles who, for example, are waiting for placement or are evicted from their homes.

Three free meals a day are served for the temporary residents. It is surprising to note that in spite of the fact that only $190 a month is allowed for food, 7,200 meals were served last year for 28 cents a piece.

When asked about their success, Vickie put it this way: "When we started three years ago, we had an average of 20 calls a month. Now we get 200 plus, and that's not counting the walk-ins. I'd say the center has been pretty successful!"

Computer closes gap between science and art

In a continuing effort to demonstrate | word to put in a part of a poem. the harmony of science and the arts, the Physics and Computer Science departments have programmed the SMC computer to write poetry. An example of one of the poems created by the computer is the following:

> Ocean, O ocean Discover the fishes Discover the sand From joking be onesself water Skip thoughtfully Distinctly Skip, O ocean

This program was conceived while listening to some lectures at the first International Conference on Computers in the Humanities which Dr. Hefferlin attended in July of 1973. It was written by Steve Gothert.

The program is available to anyone who can run a terminal. It asks the user to create lists of words about a certain topic, such as the sea. Then it places nouns, verbs, and other word forms in specified places in the poem: which noun goes in the "noun" place is actually decided by a random number generator; it is very much the same process as that which a live poet goes through when he tries to think of a

The program is readily adaptable to various poem meters, such as "Jack and Jill", "The Assyrians came down like wolves on the fold", "Roses are Red"

The course Introduction to Computer Programming, Physics 54, will feature this program.

Traveling some 2700 miles in two Dodge vans the Ornithology class under he direction of Assoc. Professor of Biology, E. O. Grundset made its anmal trek to Florida in search of bird ife. Purpose of the trip is to help equaint the ornithology students with he great variety of bird life which exists n this long peninsular state and to be eminded of the various life zones vegetational habitats) that are found herein and the species of birds endemic o these zones. Consequently the class eft the campus early on the morning of March 6 and travelled through Georgia ecording birds along the way to Orlando. The first major stop for serious birdvatching (with telescopes, binoculars, bird guides all in vigorous use) was Payne's Prairie near Gainesville. Here the Sandhill Cranes, mature Bald Eagles, Glossy Ibis, White Ibis, Wood Storks, and other marsh birds were spotted.

Next day with the assistance of veteran bird-watcher Chuck Turner from Orlando, the class identified all manner of shore birds (Long-billed Curlew, Whimbrel, Sanderling, Pelicans, and hundreds of wintering ducks). Subsequently, visits were made to Loxahatchee Wildlife Refuge and all the points of interest in the Everglades

National Park. Highlights of this area were the sightings of the rare Everglade Kite, Fulvous Tree Ducks, Black Skimmers, and the elusive Roseate Spoonbill In Greynold's Park in northeast Miami, the class learned of the universal experiment of introducing the Scarlet Ibis (from Trinidad) into the rookeries of the White Ibis. Several hybrid (salmon to orange) Ibises have been produced giving credence to the idea that Scarlet and White Ibises are really one species of bird. It was at Greynold's Park that he rarest bird of the trip, the Brazillian Cardinal, was discovered.

All was not work and on Monday the class was given time off to visit Disney World or do what they wanted to. That plus several non-ornithological water lights, candid camera posing, snacking, and good natured pranks and games made the trip enjoyable and memorable. The problem of gas shortage did not deter the enthusiasm of the class to 'move along" and record 150 species of birds. Sun-tanned and far wiser in the ways of bird identification, the class returned to SMC late Tuesday night, March 12. "It was a tremendous trip," declared Liz Diller (a novice turned into an experienced bird watcher).

Resident-tuition basis granted to out of state students

Students in several Southern states, including Tennessee, can now enroll on a resident-tuition basis in selected graduate programs in other states.

The arrangement, which will become effective this fall, is made possible through the Academic Common Market, a project of the Southern Regional Education Board. The interstate agreement provides for the reciprocal sharing of academic graduate programs.

Students from participating states will have access to master's or doctoral degree work in such fields as African history, home economics, radio astronomy, water pollution ecology or nuclear engineering--to name a few of the program entries.

Thus far, Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Tennessee have joined the Market. The participation of Maryland, North Carolina, Virginia and West Virginia is tentative but expected in the next several weeks--pending, in some cases; only the almost certain ratification of the agreement by state legislatures of boards of trustees.

The programs in which residents of a participating state can enroll depend upon | additional students. their state's arrangement. Under the Common Market agreement, each memb state puts a number of its programs in a "market pool" and then arranges for its residents to have access to out of-state programs not offered in its own institutions.

As the examples illustrate, the typical Common Market program is one that is somewhat unusual, both in excellance and program specialization, and one that is needed by residents in one or more of the other states. By making such programs available to students, needless duplication of gradus programs will be avoided.

As Dr. William Hovenden, who directs the regional administration of the program, phrased it, "It is not only impractical and expensive, but also nearly impossible for any single state to provide the full array of programs required to meet the diverse higher education needs of its citizenry.

On the other hand, by offering high y specialized programs to out-of-state students at in-state rates, participating institutions will increase enrollments .n such "uncommon" programs which, n many cases, have the capacity for

Thatcher receives new study room

A new study room in Thatcher Hall, ocated at the west end of the basement. provides a comfortable place for Thatcher residents to read or work on class assign-

Work began on the room in July of 197 and was completed in April of 1973. It was originally intended to be used as a special classroom for the ladies in the dormitory. This was later decided to be impractical, however, and plans were made to convert the room to a library

Due to delays in furniture delivery and problems in obtaining books, this plan faded out also. Another problem was that of finding a monitor for the room.

It was finally decided to open the room as a place for quiet study for limited hours although it is now available at all times to Thatches to Thatcher residents. It has been furnished with an ed. ed with comfortable chairs and tables for convenient study.

Dr. V. Norkov Olsen new pres. at Loma Linda

Dr. V Norskov Olsen (Ph.D., Th.D.) was selected during February as the new president of Loma Linda University, according to University Trustees chairman Neal C. Wilson.

Dr. Olsen, currently the dean of the College of Arts and Sciences and provost of the La Sierra camps of the University was chosen by the University Trustees o replace Dr. David J. Bieber (Ed.D.) who recently requested reassignment within the University structure. Dr. Bieber will become vice president for development.

The new president assumes office on July I. He was chosen over a field of 20 candidates considered by the Trustees

Dr. Olsen is a recognized scholar in the area of Christian church history, aaving published a major work on the ife of 15th century theologian John Foxe last year. He previously authored a book on divorce as seen during the Reformation era from Erasmus to Milton.

A native of Denmark, Dr. Olsen was a pastor and evangelist in that country from 1937 to 1946. He was academic dean and chairman of the religion department at Newbold College in England during the 1950's, becoming president of that college in 1959.

He holds doctoral degrees from the University of London, England, and the University of Basel, Switzerland.

Mr. Wilson commended the trustees for their choice and observed that Dr. Olsen is familiar with University philosophy and objectives. "In addition to his background in administration and theology," said Wilson, "Dr. Olsen brings to his new assignment a humane and deeply spiritual comprehension of Christian education."

Dr. Olsen has been on the faculty of Loma Linda University since 1967 as Professor of Church History and Chairman of the Department of Religion. In 1972 he was assigned his current post as dean, and soon after, was appointed provost of the La Sierra campus.

Wagner and Dunn have also been working closely with Helton Fisher of Seventh-day Adventist World Service in Cambodia in distributing food and clothing for the refugees of the city.

WSMC's membership drive looked like this at 8:00 on Monday night, March 11. This was the second night of the first WSMC membership drive, a 63 hour on-the-air drive for funds. Two SMC graduates jog cross-country

This summer two SMC graduates, Heinz Wiegand of Collegedale, Tenn. and Philip Castleberg of Frederick, Maryland, both in their mid-twenties, will jog through 13 northern U.S. states on a cross-country benefit for the American Heart Association.

Co-sponsors of the program are the American Automobile Association, the President's Council of Physical Fitness, and the American Temperance Society.

The 3,000 mile trip will begin on June 2 in Seattle, Washington and end at Rehoboth Beach, Del. on Aug. 18, with the team stopping at some 135 towns and cities along the 12-week route to conduct clinics, seminars, and fund-raising activities.

The jogging team has been preparing several years because they feel a desperate need to make the public aware of the one million deaths that occur each year in one out of every 10 persons under the age of 35 and in one out of every three persons over the age of 35, from cardiovascular diseases

Several persons have made the 3,000 mile cross-country jog, but never on a program basis to help detect, prevent, and/or educate the population in regard to heart diseases.

Castleberg and Wiegand have set a goal of $300,000 to be raised for the American Heart Association Fund. The Frederick County (Md.) Heart Association, Inc. is the co-ordinating center for the journey.

All necessities of the team and their assistants will be supplied by sponsors in addition to their donations of one cent for each of the 3,000 miles traveled.

Castleberg graduated from SMC with a major in religion and a minor in history.

He received his B.A. in three years by carrying 18-20 hours per semester. He was involved in the Flying Club and the Collegiate Chorale, and also received his teacher's certification and private pilot's license while at college.

Wiegand graduated from SMC with a B.S. degree in health, physical education and recreation, and a minor in history. He ran many races in the Tri-State area, and for two years held the title for the SMC three-mile cross-country race. In his junior year at SMC he served as Student Association recreation chairman.

April declared Clean-Up Month

One item on the agenda of the College. dale City Commission Monday evening was the proclamation by Mayor Fuller of April as "Clean-Up Month." Similar action is being taken in all municipalities in Tennessee, with April 27 specified as "Clean-Up Day." However, since this falls on a Saturday, the mayor has designated Tuesday, April 23, as "Collegedale, Beautiful-by-You Day."

A resolution was carried to adopt sewer project 201. It is hoped that in the future Collegedale's sewage can be transferred over the ridge to Chattanooga Walter Hewell has been appointed to represent the city in Chattanooga as plan are made in this area.

A proposal to bring in cable TV was made, but postponed to a later date when Collegedale could better use the facility.

Mayor Fuller fields questions on call-in show

Tri-Community Forum, a new monthly program on WSMC-FM featuring leaders in different aspects of community life, will begin this Sunday at 5:30 p.m. It is produced particularly for the citizen of Apison, Ooltewah, and Collegedale.

Collegedale mayor, Fred Fuller, and commissioner of finance, Wayne Vande Vere, will be the guests on Sunday evenings program. They will field questions from Forum hosts Steve Grimsley and Greg Rumsey as well as discuss any matters presented them by concerned citizen who call in during the program.

Citizens are invited to call and expression their feeling on issues or ask any question of the mayor and commissioner. The number to call is 396-2320.

SMC band on the move again

Now that SMC Band has completed their three scheduled concerts on campus. they are concentrating most of their remaining appointments at locations far removed from Collegedale.

This Wednesday the band leaves on a five-day tour, playing a concert Wednesday night in Atlanta, then going on to Federal Prison in Alabama at the end of the week. Saturday night they will finish the tour with a performance at Bass Memorial Academy, and will return home on Sunday.

One of the band's most anticipated concerts is scheduled for Mar. 29, when they will play for the opening ceremonies at Six Flags Over Georgia. They also plan to spend some time riding around on the train there, playing all the while!

The next day, Mar. 30 the band will be performing their last concert of the year on the SMC campus, which will be a joint performance with the Collegiste Chorale. And the next week, they plan to play April 8th for the end of the College Days weekend.

Plans for next year include an extended tour, although just where it will be to is still under investigation. The possibilities are Peru, Eastern Canada (Nova Scotia), or perhaps Jamaica, and though very diversified, it sounds as though any one of them would provide an interesting background for a band tour.

Then there is the Florida tour, which includes a performance at Disney World, and they are working on getting Doc Severinsen to join them next December for their Christmas concert.

Halversen goes home with A League first

March 20, 1974

The basketball season came to a close this reek with Halversen capturing the A League hampionship after an exciting play-off game etween Halversen and Hale. Halversen had o come from behind in the standings in order tie Hale and force a play-off between the two cams. The championship game was a close battle ll the way through with Hale leading by one oint at the half and Halversen coming from ehind to tie the game and send it into overme. In the three minute overtime Halversen ut six points on the board while holding Hale coreless. Hale's team shot 43.1% from the eld while Halversen 's team shot only 37.5%, ut Halversen put the ball up fifteen more mes and had 20 more rebounds than Hale od that makes a difference. High scorers or Halversen were Warren Halversen with 5 points, Mike Schultz with 1S, and Steve pears with IS. High scores for Hale was Nelson homas with 20 points. High rebounder of re game was Warren Halversen with 17. In ther A league action prior to the championnip game Hale dumped Halversen 79-71, Readag upset Hale (without the services of Dave wheatley or Randy Cockrell) 50-48, Halversen apping Holland 78-67, Hale taking Holland 6-60. Bird forfeiting to Holland, and Halversen defeating Hale 67-63 to bring about a playoff between them for the championship.

The game between Halversen and the All Stars started to look like a romp after the All -Stars quickly jumped to a 12-0 lead before Halversen called a time. The time out payed off because when play started again, Mike Schultz went right to work and sunk four straight buckets before the All-Stars could blink their eyes. This helped to spark Halversen's team somewhat but they still remained nine points behind at the half. During half time the special awards were announced and awarded. Those honored were Warren Halversen for MVP, Keith Peden for "Freshman of the Year", and Ron Reading for most sportsmanlike. Others honored were the five top All-Stars chosen by their fellow players which were, Wes Holland and Ron Reading as forwards, Warren Halversen as the center, and Roger Bird and Rick Hale as the guards. Rick Hale was the top vote getter in the balloting with 31 of a possible 38 votes. A unique thir! happened this year in that these five All-Stars are also the five captains of the A League teams. Now back to the second half of the All-Star game with Halversen trailing by nine points. In the third quarter Halversen pulled down 21 points to the All-Stars 10, which gave them a two point edge. Halversen tied the game in the fourth quarter gaining four more points on the All-Stars to win the game 58-52. High scorer for the game was Warren Halversen with 28 points (22 of them in the second half). Both teams shot about the same percentage from the field with Halversen hitting 24 out of 73 for 32.9%, and the All-Stars sunk 25 out of 75 shots for 33.3%. Halversen won the game on the line, making 10 out of 13 free throws for a sharp 76.9% compared to the All-Stars making 2 out of 6 for

In the games last week in 8 League, Davis dumped Hayes 77-62. Chrispens'shattered Weigley 68-47, Fowler pounded Brown 96-67, Jimenez edged by Davis 54-53, Fowler strung Weigley 58-46, and Chrispens ran over Hayes 72-54 to end the regular season play. Fowler B League champions) had problems in their game with the all-Stars as they bowed to a 55-59 defeat. Bill Arnold dumped in 18 points for the losers while Tom Hayes led the All-Stars with 18 points. At the end of the game, the special awards were awarded. Randy Northington received MVP, Bob Mills for "Freshman of the Year", and Dave Weigley for Most Sportsmanlike. The All-Star trophys went to Randy Northington and James Lamb as forwards, Doug Bainum as center, and Steve Welch and Tom Hayes as guards.

To round out the season in C League, Garibaldi dumped Carmichael 44-34, Fisher tore up Martin 59-36, Carmichael ran over Voorheis Shaw gave up two forfeits, one to Garibaldi and the other to Fisher. The season ended in a tie between Garibaldi and Fisher so they had to play a championship play-off game. Garibaldi picked up a new player because one of his other players dropped out for legal reasons. The new player he picked up was Rick Frazier, a new face on campus. He helped to put more depth into Garibaldi's team which resulted in a victory for Garibaldi over Fisher 57-41. Rick Frazier ended op with 22 points in the game for the games high. Garibaldi defeated the All-Stars 58-44 in a game which was never close. Rick Frazier', Tony Mobley, and Bruce Johns led in the win with 18, 16, and 14 points respectively. Steve Fuchcar was high scorer for the All-Stars with 10 points. The awards were presented after the game to Tony Mobley for MVP, and "Freshman of the Year", Terry Carmichael for Most Sportsmanlike, Gary Fisher and Steve Fuchcar as All-Star forwards, Rob Griffin as All-Star center, and Tony Mobley and Terry Day as All-Star guards.

The present entrance to Industrial Drive would be seaded off to enable the McKee Bakery to place a fence around their entire property. This would be seaded protection to the plant and the employees' cars.

A five lane road coming into the college would speed traffic movement. The lanes would spen traffic circle in the direction of the Flaza, the music building, and a new entrance to Industrial Drive. Later, a foundant and SMC welcome sign might be added to the center of the circle.

The "Doll House"—the little house on wheels presently behind Thatcher Hall—would be set on a side road and circled with a wrought iron fence. When manned by a city official it would act as a small museum-Chamber of Com-merce. The house, which has sentimental value to some alumni, once served as the college pres-ident's office and was later used by the music department. An outdoor map near the building would aid visitors in finding their way around the campus.

Although the City Cemmission was initially balky at the proposal, Mayor Fuller seems assured of its passage.

What will be the advantages, if or when the improvements are made? Says Charles Lacey, head of SMC's Grounds Department and the man who engineered the plans. Besides, increasing the safety and elfidency of automobile movement, this design will enhance the beauty of the entire campus."

Slice the red tape!

Recently, rumblings of an impending change have been heard throughout the Student Association. These rum-blings came to a head this past Monday evening when a proposal was made before the Student Senate to change the structure of the SA.

To state it briefly, this proposal set forth that the responsibilities of the SA should be consolidated into fewresponsibilities of the SA should be constituted in the er offices. As it currently stands, the duties of certain SA officers can be shirked and passed on to other office holders warping the original ideal plan. One who wishes to find out about certain SA functions may easily be referred to other offices. Essentially, the proposal, if accented, would eliminate beaurocratic red tape.

The proposal states that there should be only five elected officers of the SA; the President, Vice-President, and the Editors of the three publications, Southern Accent, Joker, and Southern Memories. The reason for this is mentioned in the previous paragraph.

As would be expected, the President would take on new duties, namely the chairing of the Student Senate and the responsibility of organizing elections. Both duties currently are being handled by the Vice-President with the aid of the Student Services Committee on the latter.

In my way of thinking, this would give the President a definite duty. In the past, the President has been the bead public relations official for the SA and that's just about it. Oh, he could, if he wished, try to impress the student body by thinking up a fantastic project to pursue or he could even skip that and simply call and chair the required four general assembly meetings. You see, the SA President can do as little or as much as he likes. In this proposal, his office would not be a bowl of gold. It would require a mature person who has assessed his abilities and his time in filling this office. To put it bluntly, the president would either succeed or fail.

By chairing the Senate, the President would be in a direct working relationship with center of power in the SA. Cur-rently, people wishing to express problems do not seek the President, but rather the Vice-President who now chairs the Senate. The President is alienated from the Senate and in essence is subordinate to the Vice-President. He has respect but not power (except that of a veto).

Hopefully, after reading the story on page 1 con-cerning this subject you know basically what the new duties of the Vice-President are. If amendments are not added, the consolidation of the responsibilities now held by the Student Services Committee, Social Vice-President, Programs Committee chairman, Social Committee chairman and Public Relations is a good move for several reasons: 1) It would greatly cut down on salary expenditures, 2) Banking on the fact that the budget committee appropriates an adequate budget for his duties, the Vice-President would be at liberty to hire students for certain tasks on a job-by-job basis, A lengthy impeachment proceeding would not have to be put into effect if a certain ad hoc committee chairman or member is doing a poor job. He will simply be relieved of his duties.

These changes are being put into effect to facilitate a more efficient SA. We can not have an SA when responsibilities are sometimes redundant and overly diffused.

Support this more reasonable and workable con stitution in the next General Assembly meeting on April 2nd.

9 want to go kome

Dear Editors

Dear Editors:

"Freshmen are allowed to go home four weekends a semester," as quoted in the SMC Handbook. I melly don't see how this applies. Just because we're freshmen, and might get a little homesick, doesn't mean when we go home we'll never come back. We're in college now and should be able to make our own decisions.

Many students work pretty heavy hours besides taking on a full load of studies. Then comes the weekend, and it's nice to get away from it all to another atmosphere, it makes you feel too. This, is also not first in this to the individual to use his own judgment when and when not to go home. Besides, we make our own grades in school; no one else does that for us!

Dr. Clark leaves SMC this summer on writing spree

Dr. Jerome Clark, chairman of the SMC History Department, has been asked to help with the writing of a set of books to be published by Loma Linda University entitled Studies in Ad-

The material will be consolidated into a three volume set, the first book being the chronological history of the Adentist church, and the second and third books being topical chapters. Dr. Ronald Numbers, ceedfire of the series, has asked Dr. Clark to write the chapter on the temperanee movement, including a one page biblio graphic essay. The finalhed manuscript is to be turned in by Aug. 31 of by Aug. 32 of

Nurses week proclaimed for April 7 - 14

This coming week, Apr. 7-14, has been officially proclamated to be Nurses' week. The influence of this special week, the first of its kind, encompasses six counties in this part of Tennessee, including Hamilton County

Goals for this week are among others: interpreting nursing to the community, conveying concern to the public as regards the quality of nursing service, offering assistence to interested students, and raising scholarship funds.

These funds are being raised from nursing students selling the pins which say,

"Love a Nurse Today." There will also be a banquet for the community to help raise money, with SMC nursing students providing the entertainment.

There will be special radio and television broadcasts, one of which Christine Shultz. broadcasts, one of which Christine Shintz RN, of the A.D. nursing department will be seen telling the public about the de-partment here at SMC. This will be Apr. 7, at 1 p.m. on channel 9.

Nurses' week is sponsored by the Tennessee Nurses' Association, Chattanooga League for Nursing, and the Tennessee Association of Student Nurses'.

deans or the discipline committee. Teachers need to find ways to talk of the blessing they find in church attendance. We need to tactfully ask students, as we meet them privately, whether they are enjoying Sabbath school, and let them should church attendance be mandatory?

I don't think we can get around the divine admonition given through the apostle Paul of "not forsaking the assembling of yourselves together. . . and so much the more as ye see the day (of the advent) approaching." Jesus, our example, went to divine service on the Sabbath day, "as His custom was." To receive the outpouring of spiritual blessing, we must be in the place where it is falling. An observation shows that it is those members who frequently absent themselves from Sabbath fellowship who are most likely to find themselves on the fringes of community with Remnant believers, if not altogether outside.

Thus the fact that a significant number of the school family are not attending Sabbath services at all, or at least not systematically, is a problem to which SMC must address itself, because one of our major reasons for being is to educate people in a strong, positive Seventh-day Adventist life style. One of the key facets in that life style is attendance at Sabbath services.

I believe this is a matter we all have a responsibility. I think it would be a mistake to move into a legislated church attendance without having exhausted every other devisable means for getting the reluctant to attend voluntarily. There are three main reasons why I believe this is

First, I believe a Sabbath attendance rule would be a rule very difficult to enforce. Not only are there two church services and quite a variety of Sabbath schools on campus, but there are Apison, Ooltewah, and many other churches within a few miles. A simple room check would not accurately indicate that anyone was or was not in church.

Secondly, a legislated church atten-

The third reason seems to me even more important than the first two. It is that for the student who is even slightly reluctant, coercion is likely to stop his ears and block his heart from any blessing. We might oblige bodily attendance, but can we keep him from writing a letter, thinking about his Saturday night plans, or listening only to criticize?

I said I had three reasons for fearing legislated church attendance; now it seems to me that my proposed alternative is actually a fourth reason, perhaps the strongest of all: attendance by rule would allow all of us to go on shunning our personal responsibility, one we must be trained to assume, that of our brothers' keeper.

It seems to me that all of us in the family should pray much about our nonattenders and about how to help them. We dare not leave their well being to the know we care about their sharing the blessings. We need to remind these students that going to Sabbath services is part of what they promised to do when they applied as students.

Even more effectively, students must assume responsibility for each others' spiritual health. Couldn't we be very direct? How about inviting the kids across the hall (or in the next trailer) to church? Telling them they're missed? Telling them what they're missing? Being really enthusiastic about what we're getting ourselves at church? Telling them directly that we're praying they'll attend?

I should think a few weeks in such a concerned environment, along with the Holy Spirit's promptings, might tempt almost anybody to go and see for himself what was happening on Sabbath morning. And hopefully he'd come with eyes and ears open, ready for a blessing.

Should church attendance be mandatory?

To the question, What about mandatory attendance for religious services? There is another related question. It is this: Why do some professed Christians come to a Christian school knowing required attendance at religious services is an integral part of their religious education program-yet oppose it after they come without adjusting to it before they come?

This question is rarely answered. So the usual response to mandatory attendance is: 1) Religion is a voluntary proposition. It can't be forced nor legislated; 2) Trust us to come and we will come; 3) Religion is an individual matter. Given this freedom the student will find his own way and in a more satisfactory manner to him.

These ideals, while true, do not answer the question. Nor do they encompass the whole picture. The second one proves too much. For if trust is the basis for coming to meetings or even functioning on one's own, why mistrust others committed to your education? Who is mistrusting whom?

Anti-mandatory worships are old history. I was a student years ago at Washington Missionary College, now CUC. The same situation obtained. "Religion," they said, "can't be gotten with regulations, and those who want it will get in spite of

The dean accepted the challenge as an experiment. Within a short time the attendance was ridiculously nil. It failed miser-

A question which gets to the heart of the matter is this, Does God want us to have mandatory religious exercises? The answer: Yes, and No! Let us explain.

No, He does not! Because "love cannot be commanded." (DA, 22.)
"God desires from all his creatures the service of love, -- service that springs from an appreciation of His character. He takes no pleasure in forced obedience; and to all He grants freedom of will, that they may render him voluntary service." (PP, 34)

In heaven, before sin, everyone loved God and each other. Religious worship operated on this principle: Law + Love = Voluntary service. In other words, God's commands, including "Worship Me!", performed in the spirit of love by spiritually mature creatures was looked upon by them not as dictatorial, tyrannical "rules," but rather as an opportunity for joyful, cheerful

Don't miss the point,

"In heaven, service is not rendered in the spirit of legality. When Satan rebelled against the law of Jehovah, the thought that there was a law came to the angels almost as an awakening to something unthought of." (MB, 121)

Behold, creatures behaving in a commanded situation as though they had not been commanded! Strange, indeed, that sinless beings were checked on (EW 39) and had "chapel worship periods" (SR 25), but fallen creatures resist being checked on and dislike structured wor-

Now the other side. What about sinners, fallen beings? Does God support mandatory religious exercises? He does! The principle in this situation looks like this: Law - Love = Necessary Regulations. Love lost requires more specific "rules" (See GC 467) As the old Negro said, "Lord, prop us up on every leaning side."

In this context love is commanded. Said Jesus to the sinful lawyer, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God." To Satan as to us, He affirms, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God.' Look at Lucifer as sinless, spiritual then as carnal and sinful. In his innocence he led out cheerfully in the angelic "chapel exercises." He was scarcely aware of rules. ater, however, as a sinner he became obsessed with and vigorously promoted antimandatory chapel worships. Story of Redemption, pages 15-19 informs us "he rebelled against the authority of the Son' and that he would abolish rules to bring about "a better government...in which all would have freedom.'

What did God do in this new circumstance?

"All the heavenly host was summoned to appear before the Father. Satan unblushingly made known his dissatisfaction Then God "REQUIRED ALL the family of heaven, even Satan, to yield Him implicit, unquestioned obedience."

The point is clear. The degree to which a person is piritual and mature, he needs little or no mandatory reinforcements. To the degree he lacks, he needs something "extra" to implement his own private devotions.

Calvin Coolidge, deceased President of the United States talks to the point. In the book, Autobiography of Calvin Coolidge, page 54, we find this "chapel experience" of his student life at Amherst College:

"The places of general assembly were for religious worship, which consisted of the chapel exercises and the first morning period each week day, and church service in the morning and with vespers in the late afternoon on Sundays. Regular attendance at all of these was required. Of course, we did not like to go and talked learnedly about the right of freedom of worship, and the bad mental and moral reactions from which we were likely to suffer as a result of being forced to hear Scriptural readings, Psalms singing, prayers and sermons.

We were told that our choice of a college was optional, but that Amherst had been founded by pious men with the chief object of training students to overcome the unbelief which was then thought to be prevalent, that religious instruction was part of a prescribed course, and that those who chose to remain would have to take it.

If attendance at these religious services ever harmed any of the men of my time, I have never been informed of it. The good it did I believe was infinite.

Not the least of it was the discipline that resulted from having constantly to give some thought to things that young men would often prefer not to consider. If we did not have the privilege of doing what we wanted to do, we had the much greater benefit of doing what we ought to do. It broke down our selfishness, it conquered our resistance, it supplanted impulse, and finally it enthroned reason.

The board met last Tuesday and unanimously approved a new construction proposal for a campus lightning fod. This action came as a direct result of last year's unfortunate fire in Hackman Hall due to lightning strike.

SMC's general manager, Charles Fleming, stated, "Because of increased electrical phenomena since SMC was established here in Happy Valley, it has become imperitive that a project of this nature be undertaken to preserve the safety of the buildings, land the village inhabitants.

Some of the special features of the tower will be a self cleaning mechanism designed to alleviate the unsightly problems cauged by migratory birds passing over a structure of these dimensions. Another special feature will be an umbrella shaped canopy covering the top.

This provision was requested by the newly formed parachuting club to avoid serious injury from impaling and resulting inaccessibility.

This is another "milestone" in SMC's efforts to make Collegedale a better and safer place in which to live.

First of all I'd like to preface my remarks with a few words of thanks to my dear friend and other most worthy people. I'd like to thank the student body, for without a large and active student body a column such as Viewpoint would not be possible, nor would a paper; in fact, without a student body, the school wouldn't even be possible

Then I would like to thank the faculty for allowing the students to have a Student Association which makes possible a student paper able to have a column in it like Viewpoint. Then I would like to thank the SA officers. These are the true student leaders of the school and without their continued support and leadership the SA could not exist and without the paper this Viewpoint column could not exist.

And finally, I would like to thank the paper staff, for without them not only would the paper not exist, nor this Viewpoint column could not exist, but I would not exist as having been chosen to write this viewpoint on this most pressing topic here at SMC. I consider it quite an honor to have been chosen to express my views in the students paper and I hope that I can rise to meet the occasion in coming to grips with this most pressing problem as entrusted to me by the Student Association, the fac-ulty, the student leaders, and the paper staff.

Is SMC too monetarily minded?

It is with humbleness of heart that I submit this Viewpoint and 1 make no boastful claim to any kind of authoritative insight. This is strictly my own opinion and I will be soley responsible for

This is not to be taken as indicative of the views of the faculty as a whole, or even as a part. Nor do I want any student pointing to this article and using it for correction or reproof of anyone for this is not my intent. By asking me to write this Viewpoint, I believe that the students, in particular the paper people, want my opinion and my opinion only and so this is what I most humbly intend to give them.

Yes, I believe that SMC is too monetarily minded.

No, I don't believe that SMC is too monetarily minded. In fact, I think that if anything we might not be monetarily minded enough. Let me give an example to illustrate this point. I had a friend who ran a small grocery stors which was located in one of those beautiful and quaint little communities in the Rocky Mountains, and some of those towns are really beautiful with the picturesque back ground of those majestic mountains.

Anyway, my friend's little store just wasn't making any money and he couldn't understand why so he decided to increase the sales of his little store. One method of doing so was to bring in new and better quality groceries. Things like Worthington Foods, Loma Linda Products, Granola, Little Debbies, etc.

My friend thought that there might be a terrific market for these kinds of health foods, since most of the people of this and surrounding communities weren't aquainted with the ways of healthful living and were filling their bodies with such poisons as mountain stream rainbow trout, wild turkey smothered in mushroom gravey, and fresh venison and wild cranberries, etc.

Well to make a long story short, this approach didn't work to increase sales nor did it solve his lack of cash problem. Then one night it hit him, like a bolt of lightning out of the sky, and if you've ever seen lightning in the Rocky Mountains you'd know what I mean. Anyway the solution was so simple he could have kicked himself.

His sales on account were surpassing his collections of accounts receivable, thus tying up working capital. This problem was further complicated by an expanding inventory at twice the inventory turnover rate. My friend wasn't too "monetary minded," but as soon as he became that way his problems vanished and his store started to produce cash hand over foot, and he never had any problems

Obviously you can see how this little parable is analogous to SMC. Let's not fall into the pitfalls of de-emphasizing monetary policy; this is a necessity. No, SMC is not too "monetarily minded."

Dear Gabby

Dear Gaboy:

I'm what you'd probably call a normal all American male of 20. Sure I have my share of hang-ups, but no more than anyone else. I have a normal healthful attitude toward the opposite sex, but when ever I get alone on a date I just clam-up. I'm so cold I get chills, my teeth rattle and "goose bumps" cover my entire body. I can't carry on a conversation, or even talk at all my teeth are rattling so loudly. It's terribly embarassing for me and for my date. What should I do, Gabby?

Frightened

Dear Frightened:

Have you ever thought of being a priest

Dear Gabby:

It all began about three weeks ago just . Dear Gabby: d from spring vacatio first night it happened I was sound asleep and the phone rang, I don't remember how many times it rang because I was asleep, but when I awoke and answered it, there wasn't anyone there. This has happened every night since precisely at 3:41 a.m. It has made me so jumpy that I can hardly sleep, and when I try to talk to my roommate about it she just tells me its all in my head because she never hears the phone, but I know that its real, Gabby.

So in despiration last night I left the phone off the hook and got the first good rest I have gotten in weeks until I heard a knock at my door, so I got up, put on a robe and some slippers and answered the door, but there wasn't anyone there. I looked up and down the hall, but there wasn't a soul in sight. Gabby, I just can't bear it any longer. I can't eat, I can't sleep, I can't even study. Will you please tell me If I'm really going crazy?

Sleepless.

Dear Sleepless:

Your conclusion seems to be a pretty fair assumption to me.

When I was a small child I was in a car accident and lost one arm. This could have been avoided if I was not hunch-backed. Towards my junior year in academy, my mother took me to a Chiropracter and in the treatment he permanently cruved my neck at an odd angle. Upon entering college I had braces put on my teeth and ever since I talk with a lisp. I do admit I have an acute acne problem, but when my boyfriend gave me a pint of wood putty to help my complexion that's going too far. I told him where he could go. I told him there were other squid in the sea. Now, my boyfriend, P. T. Barnum says he loves me so much, he wants me to travel around the world with him so he can show me off to everybody. What should I do?

Third Thought

Pretty Please

Dear Editor:

I just want to tell you how happy I am, and how much I appreciate this opportunity to write in your paper. All of my life since I was a little child I've wanted to have something that I had written in print. First, I wrote an autobiography which came out to just over 350 words and Life magazine wouldn't publish it cause it was too long. Then I wrote an essay and Newsweek didn't want it cause I wasn't handsome enough. Therein despiration I wrote a letter to the New York Times and they told me that they didn't want to commit themselves on political issues and besides that they had the audacity to tell me that it would be a detri ment to their image. So now I'm scraping the bottom of the barrel, so to speak, and in despiration I've sent this letter to you. Won't you please publish it, pretty please, . . . with ice cream and sugar and a cherry on top.

Richard M. Nixon

P.S. Could you send me a copy so I can have it framed for the wall of my oval office.

You tell them, George

Dear Editor:

I can't help but notice the above letter to your paper. Let me make one thing perfectly clear. If I was an editor of a big newspaper, I wouldn't print it either. For one thing, it was hand written with Nixon's left hand at the same time he took a $20,000 hribe with his right hand. Now, if he expects to have an editor consider his letter, the least he could do is make it legible. Not only that, it was hard to read because there were drops of water splashed over the page. Ron Ziegler says that those were tear drops induced by a harsh press and an unsympathetic public. But they aren't. In fact, that was a +*O($&†& lie. Those spots on the page are merely from pidgeons lodging in the eaves of the White House. You see, Nixon had to sneak outside into the garden to even write that letter. (He had an appointment with Rose Mary Woods there.)

Well, anyway, I think you get the point. If the American people had things to do again, I think they'd surprise old Dick.

Oh, and hello to Thomas Eagleton and Sargeant Shriver out there in newspaper land.

Dear Editor:

Marshall Zimmerman would not reveal how much the mobile crime laboratory cost, but did say that it was within 5 cents of $5,892.50. This does not include the Glich audio detector, the body radiation detector, the engine, the chasse, the transmission, the braking system, the tires or any other laboratory equipment. Marsha Zimmerman did point out that the windshield wipers were included as well as the -door handles.

"Choosing paintings for the inside of the lab was a difficult decision for me. But, after talking it over with the other fellows on the force, I came to a final conclusion. The paintings finally chosen were those depicting table scraps in a feeding trough and an exquisitly done replica of a mud hole," said Marshall Zimmerman. He failed to mention other paintings decorating the walls showing open corn and soybean fields.

But, choosing paintings was not the first hard decision to make on the part of Marshall Zimmerman. Many items were (and still are) needed by the Camwere (and still are) relevant by the Carling bus Security Police Department, and a crime lab was only one of them. After much debate with the other officers, Marshall Zimmerman narrowed the choices down to three; a record of the Canadian down to threes a record of the Canadian Mountainer lighting song, a water pick for Marshall Zimmerman and a mobile crime laboratory. The crime laboratory was finally decided upon when Marshall Zimmerman admitted that he didn't know Canadian and that he'd rather leave his teeth necrusted with food so he could have between meal snacks.

Because of some growing reverberations concerning the irritation of the churches "tolling" Bell Tower, The Drawl took a random sampling poll throughout Collegedale to find out the sentiments of the community. Faculty members acheive earth shattering feats

Many faculty members of SMC whose talents and knowledge have been taken for granted have finally stepped forward and many of them expound on their talents, inventions and discoveries in the following

Art encompasses a large area of expression and associate professor of art at SMC, Howcome Childless, has invented a new form of self expression.

"The qualities involved in this new form of art is unsurpassed, but despite this handicap, the earthiness still is there," commented Mr. Childless.

The process involves squeezing turnip juice onto blueprint paper and then smearing it around with a kosher dill pickle. Childless mentioned that variations on the same theme can be used, for example, "beet juice can be smeared around on sand paper with a three-week-old loaf of bread to achieve similar effects.'

Childless could only describe this new form of art as "groovy, man."

Turning to another form of self expression, namely music, it has been brought to the attention of the Drawl staff that Dr. Darvon Robertson, professor of music at SMC, has formed the final model of a push button conductor's baton that Dr. Darvon Robertson says will revolutionize the art of conducting.

The small device operates rather simply "It's just a small box with two lights on it; one is green and the other is red. You see, when the green light goes on it means that the chorale should start singing," explained Dr. Darvon Robertson

Dr. Darvon Robertson said he culminated motto is "Spare the rod-boil the child." the idea for the invention by sitting at the corner of Fifth and Market Streets watching the traffic light change from red to green. Although, this resulted in three rear end collisions, Dr. Darvon. Robertson was sure he could pay for his car injuries when the money started rolling in from his invention.

Dr. Darvon Robertson said the main reason he made the push-botton conductor was because of the bursitis he contracted in his right arm as he wrote 1,582 quarters in 3 min. and 12 seconds. Dr. Darvon Rob. ertson said he wanted to see his name in Guinesse's Book of World Records.

Still staying within the bounds of the music department, Dr. Burst Duston, assistant professor of music at SMC, wowe the audience in his piano performance with the Chattanooga Symphony this past Tuesday evening at the Tivoli theatre. Dr. Duston while playing Beethoven's Prelude in C Minor, mashed potatoes, brushed his hair, juggled three bowling balls with his feet and ate animal crackers. The crowd responded by saying "Well?"

Leaving the arts to go to the field of science, The Drawl has found out the results of some scientific studies being conducted by Dr. Beam Cowerlin, professor of physics at SMC. It has been concluded by Dr. Cowerlin that the left hind leg of a Wilshire Terrier is extremely similar to the handle of a monkey wrench. Therefore, Dr. Cowerlin has determined that the only way to treat a Wilshire Terrier's broken right hind leg is to weld it back together.

Turning now to behavioral sciences, Dr. Perry Coughin, professor of psychology has theorized that children should be kept in line by severe methods of punishment other than simple beatings or floggings. Dr. Coughin cautions that parents should always say "I love you" before removing their children's limbs, "because children need to be assured." Dr. Coughins' new

These are just a few of the great achievements by the SMC faculty. Next week (if you're lucky) this section of the paper will be devoted to inventions, discoveries, theories, and achievements by other faculty members such as B. O. Grunt, Dean Sticky, Daddy Zacheus, and D. Loverboy.

Travel and adventure awaits you...

If you're a normal, ambitious American high school graduate, you've come to a time in your life when you're ready to bust out. You want more than to spend four years and $12,000 getting a college education. Maybe you want to see more of the world than your home town. You'd like to travel, meet new people, make new friends. Maybe you'd like a job, but not just any job. A job with a good future. A job that will teach you a skill that you can develop into a career.

Then Today's Army is for you. In the Army you have unmatched opportunity for travel. Where else could you be stationed in such exotic places as Nome, Alaska; Soul, Korea; Greenland; and even the South Pole. Not to mention some of the long time favorites like Phen Pen, Cambodia, and South Viet Nam. And as for meeting new people where else could you be given a chance to have a first hand encounter with other young men your own age from places like Loas or North Viet Nam.

Speaking of a career, you'll be given on the job training in such highly specialized fields as intermediate range artillery gunning, aerial defoliation techniques, or even hand-to-hand combat,

If ecology is your bag, then we can place you in Antartica or Greenland classifying and taging penguins.

Speaking of a career, We'll pay you $360.30 a month (after training) plus you get a month's paid vacation each year. That all comes out to well over $4,000 a year in salaries before deductions.

With Today's Army, the skill you learned on the job goes on with you when you are back in civilian life too. For more information about our Travel options, send this coupon, or call 800-523-4800 toll free

A.D. Nursing students to spend ne semester at Madison campus Effective next year, the A.D. Nursing addents will spend one semester at the highson campus in Nashville, known to me as SMC West. According to Dr. and Knittel, president of the college, is program was carried out a few years obut dropped for different reasons. For one, it was impossible to keep andequate staff employed. Also, the hostal facilities available at the time were ficient. Even though the students were ficially at Madison, they spent most of their time at hospitals other than Madison.

A number of changes have taken place at Madison to insure an improved curriculumn. The physical plant itself is being enlarged to serve more patients. Insung emphasized the misconception many people have of the self-defense arts. "They come to class asking how many boards I can break," he says. But he is quick to point out that breaking boards or bricks is merely demonstration show for spectators. It shows in wishle form some of the theories embodied in karatesseed, halaces, concentration of speed, balance, concentration of force, breath control, and reaction force

Insung's hopes are that sometime soon all the Adventisk karate experts from places such as Andrews University and southern California can have a convention to give demonstrations and to share ideas. This would be especially unique in view of the one-violent aspects stressed by Adventists.

Five games were played in soccer this past week as the Mustangs widened their 1. ad to three points over the second place Li ns. The Mustangs shut out both opponents last week, blanking the Bearcats 2-0 and the Lions 3-0. The Lions, despite their loss to the Mustangs, captured a win last week with a 5-2 decision over the Grasshoppers. In that game Wonil Kim kicked four goals, with assists from Joe Kolesnikoff on two of the goals and Denzil Newman assisting on one, to spark the Lions to an important win. The Hammers pulled up some in the standings by defeating the Bearcats 4-1. High scorer in that was Craig Waters with two goals. The Grasshoppers had a so-so week by nipping the Bearcats 3-2 and losing decisively to the Lions 5-2. The Bearcats couldn't get anything going last week as they fell to defeat in their three scheduled games.

The "Player of the Week" award goes to Wonil Kim, who scored four goals in a single game. His quick moves and agile mobility are his assets along with good team play. Our congradulations to Wonil

Why Vote?

Thursday and Friday of this week we are faced with another SA election, and if the past can be used to predict the future, this election will receive about the same interest as a tortoise race and not nearly as much enthusiasm. SA elections have been rating right up there with mandatory chapels and College Days in student popularity polls.

It seems that most of us just do not want to be burdened with making any decision about who should be next year's SA officers. "I'm just too busy to wade through all those ridiculous platforms, and I just wouldn't feel right voting without putting any thought or consideration into it," one coed mentioned.

Another stated that he didn't feel that his "one vote" would make any difference.

So another election will come and go just as it has in the past with possibly only one out of three voting; or no, maybe this time it won't even be one out of ten.

It seems a shame that so much effort and work has to be done by so few when we as students are just too lazy or too selfish to take five minutes out to vote.

And you say, "Well, the SA never does anything anyway." You'd be surprised how much could be done by some well-chosen officers who have the strong backing of the student body.

At stake in this election is the question of who will control over $30,000.00 of your money, but even more important is the influence these officers will have in determining such things as the SA Chapels, Saturday night programs, and what students will serve on the faculty committees, not to mention the fate of the three publications.

All is needed is a little motivation on your part and about five minutes of your time to vote.

Drawlback

Last week marked the arrival of SMC's first "April Fools" supplement to the Accent, the Southern Drawl. Since we have received no letters to the editors concerning their effort, we can can only base our assumption of general public opinion on what students, faculty, and administrators have said to us personally.

Our "Dear Gabby" column was a real favorite among many students. Some even went so far as to say, "Have 'Dear Gabby' in every week so we can write into her and ask questions." This is a move we are still contemplating.

The Accent has gotten a couple of calls asking where to find out more about the loveable python mentioned in the Drawl's classified ads section.

Dr. Knittel and Dean Spears said the Drawl was "great." James Hannum's favorite saying from the Drawl was "If we can't nip it in the bud we'll kick it in the bud." Bob Zima thought the mobile crime lab story "was the funniest part of the paper. Mrs. Genevieve McKormick did not like the Drawl, and I got five copies for his mother, even though I wasn't on the front page.

Hopefully, next year's Southern Accent editor will put a similar "April Fools" edition. I'll be somewhere looking. —grimsley

On Second Thought

Keep on bracking

Dear Editors:

I was intrigued by the implications of the Collegedale Road System Article in March 27's issue of the Accent, paragraph 1: "Another related project hinging on a decision by the railroad tracks..." I couldn't quite understand if the railroad tracks are involved in decision making these days, or if this is the favoirte retreat of the Committee who makes these decisions. Perhaps it is to favor those with one-track minds, or are they railroading it through the Committee? There are all kinds of wonderful possibilities.

Devastating PR

Dear Editors:

Another irony (inconsistency) in the continuing issue over pants attire:

During college days a visiting prospective student entered the cafeteria for supper. Although she had her visitor's card prominantly displayed, she was refused access to the serving area because she was wearing a neat pant suit. She returned to the dorm and skipped supper. She is no longer a prospective student.

This is not the first time this has happened. In another instance, a friend of mine was told to leave while she was half-way through the serving line because she was attired in pants and a blouse. When I told the kitchen-worker that she was a visitor he replied that this made no difference.

Not only is this bad business (no signs were displayed as to appropriate attire) but it is potentially devastating PR as well.

It is understandable that the college would want its students to abide by the rules. Students signed a pledge to this affect. Yet visitors fall into a completely different catagory. In one's house, an individual would treat visitors' conduct differently from that of those in his own family. If a visitor to the campus was smoking pot strong administrative action might be

understandable. If he were smoking cigarettes we might ask him to stop. But a pant suit is by no means a moral issue, hardly enough for which to deny someone a meal. Something should be done to change the current policy.

Here are a few alternatives:

Change the rule for visitors. Allow them to dress as they please, especially if they are a guest of the college. Or,

Erect a small box at each campus entrance and fill it with student handbooks. If a sign were placed over it reading, "Read this before continuing," the visitors couldn't complain that they hadn't had fair warning. Or,

Eliminate the no pants attire rule altogether. If Dr. Knittel had wanted to see some other signed viewpoints the last time the issue came before Faculty Senate, he could have consulted his school paper. Of five letters to the editor sent this year concerning this part of student life four were in favor of pant suits. As it was, the way the issue was treated seemed somewhat analogous to the Bell-Tower survey in the April Fool's edition of the paper.

Maybe visitors in the future will be treated with common decency, consistantly.

Lions slip past Hammers 3-2

Freshmen defeated by academy seniors 9-3 in softball action

Three games were played in soccer this past week. The Mustangs were silent while the Lions pulled up in points with a win over the Hammers 3-2 and a deadlock decision with the Bearcats 1-1. In the other game played the Hammers and Grasshoppers battled to a scoreless tie. Each team had a chance to score at one time or another. Craig Waters (Hammers) had a chance to score with a free shot but failed and Fred Hoover (Grasshoppers) rifled several shots toward the Hammers goal but Jim Woolley (Hammers Goalie) stifled each shot Fred made

This last Sunday and Monday the SMC campus was packed with academy and high school seniors. On Sunday the academy seniors challenged the college freshman to a slow pitch softball game and creamed the dazed college team 9-3. The college team was shut out until the bottom of the seventh when they managed to get three runs on four hits. The academy team played excellent team ball, both offensively and defensively. Stars on offense for the academy team were Bobby Hoover (Forest Lake Academy) who collected three hits (one a towering homer); and Thom Alternose with a single and double. Defensively the academy team made many great plays. The hest defensive player in the game was Steve Bictz (Georgia-Cumberland Academy), who made several excellent plays at third base. Steve also went one for two and a walk from the plate and scored twice,

On Monday the college freshman struck back with 65-57 decision over the academy seniors in a game of basketball. Rick Frazier led the college team with 27 points while Kim Peden (Collegedale Academy) was the hot gun for the visitors with 28 points.

Jones / Foster capture SA Exec. offices

Gale Jones sneaked past Duane Hallock by 86 votes in yesterday's SA elections, winning herself the presidency for the '74-'75 school year. In contrast, Grenville Foster ran away with the vice-presidency, claiming 461 votes against Taylor's ewen 200.

Gale captured the favor of 56.6% of the 660 voters, as opposed to Hallock's 43.4%. Foster, however, swayed 69.7%-a clear 2/3's majority-of the voting population, while Taylor was supported by 30.3%. When the Accent interviewed Gale about her feelings on winning the election, she

One thing Foster is especially concerned about in next year's SA is the social activities. Annual delivery delayed until June 8th

Anticipation among students increases as the school year speedily draws to a close. Everyone looks forward to the termination of another year's labors, to graduation and to time-to rem-ninese with their yearbook and remember the "good cle' days" of the year about to close. This year, being no different than any other, these same thoughts begin to enter the minds of many, but with slight yet important difference this year, SMC students will be heading home without their Southern Memories, the SMC yearbook, had traditionally arrived on campus each Spring. Util three years ago when Sandi Lechler, then South. all three years ago when Sandi Lechler, the signed state of the contract with Hunter Publishing Company for the foreign special properties of the following year. The state of the following year. The state of the following year. Though much effort up to the following year. Though much effort was made by S.M. staff members to mail annuals was made by S.M. staff members to mail annuals was made by S.M. staff members to mail annuals to the non-returning students, stacks of hterally annufreds of 1972 and 1973 annuals testify to the fact that many just never received these nostalga filled binders.

With the trouble-ridden time that had been faced by his predecessor burning wirdly in the memory of the then newly elected S.M. editor, Harry Haugen it was not a hard decision to return to a Spring delivery.

According to Hangen, "For the first time in recent history at SMC we went out to several publishers to do competitive bargaining." As a result Hangen was able to save over $575-by result Haugen was able to save over $575-by switching to Joestan American Publishing Company. Haugen went on to state that this year's annual will have a full color cover and sixteen pages of color photos which are both direct results of their bargaining with the publishers. One of the unique features of this year's yearbook is its size which is appropriately 9 inches square. Work on the Memories was raped up in late February and all that was left "After Helf SMC, I called the advisor at the press and changed a couple of items that might have been questionable in order to avoid any problems that might arise between the college and me." Haugen said.

When the Accent first got wind of the possible delayed arrival of the yearbook, they went to Eider K. R. Davis, faculty sponsor of the SA to enlist his help in assert taining the facts. Eld. Davis was less than cordial when approached. While home on Spring Vacation in early

According to the production manager for Joeston American, the Memories met their final deadline in time and the Memories was expected to have been out by the first week in May.

"I took the final copy to the press personally" stated Haugen, "we went over it item by item with Gary Dyer, our advisor, and he told us we were two days ahead of the deadline for plant time."

In futher discussion with sources at the publisher the Accent came upon the real causes for late delivery of the annual, now projected to premier in Collegedale around June 8-over one

They said that on a Thursday shortly after, Spring break, Elder Davis called the publishers wanting to see proofs of the total SM before it was printed. "Davis appeared to be worried because of the editors sudden transfer to another college. Elder Davis was afraid that something about the annual might be the cause for Haugen leaving," stated a press source.

Up from submission to what?

For years we've been hearing that creative people in America are - like gasoline, golden eagles, and campus riots - becoming scarcer and scarcer. To which many feminists reply, "Just wait until we 'new' women find our voices, then you'll see the real

Apparently, this boast was hasty and naive. Women may have "come a long way, baby," but if their creative effortsthe books, magazines, films, canvases, TV shows, plays and the poems-are any indication, it isn't nearly far enough. The sad truth is that the words women are writing, the magazines they're editing, and the shows they're producing sound almost exactly like what their husbands have been turning out for years.

In fact, women are going men one better: They're running faster, swinging harder, and playing rougher. The writing they're doing in Ms. magazine is so hard-edged, so tough, that it makes any of the magazines for men look mushy in comparison. Bella Abzug and Shirley Chisolm, the new kind of female politician, practice their art with a sharpness that their male colleagues can only envy.

The female toughness may be excused as an entrance fee, a survival device that women feel they have to use. But what it really is, it seems to me, is a capitulation and a copout. It's as if women were all sticking their thumbs under their overall straps and saying, "See. See how sharp and quick our little minds are. We can think like men after all. We can even out play you at your own game." But finding a new and better game, a game where might isn't necessarily right? Have women thought about that?

Now don't get me wrong, what I want for women is equal rights-professional, emotional, sexual. What I don't want is that good old American brand of equality that insists that women are not equal only in rights but in body and soul as well. What I don't want is for women to give up their specialness, their female ethnicity. The trouble is that there seems to be only one game in town. And like the blacks who had to take the kinks out of their hair and the jive out of their language to get into the game, there will be enormous pressure for women to leave their frills at the entrance gate. Why should women want to eat, sleep, talk, laugh, act or write like me? Why should they want to wear a handsome suit, carry a briefcase and anticipate clogged arteries at 40.

I worry that women will round-off their corners to slip into the game unnoticed. I worry that women will aspire to be a Sally Quinn or a Gloria Steinem rather than a Pearl S. Buck or an Emily Dickinson, because the rewards are more visible. I fear that women will learn all the short cuts, to steal all the bases. All of which makes me wonder if women will ever hit a home run, or even try. And if you don't hit home runs, why play ball?

And Now The Lemmies!

Is it the worst commercial that's the best commercial? It seems that some Madison Avenue Admen think so. They believe that the viewer remembers best the spot that is most irritating to his sensibility and insulting to his intelligence. The doctrine is most likely wrong, but its adherents cling to it as firmly as any Maoist grasping the little red book. In the mean time the viewer has suffered in silence.

My purpose for writing this is twofold: First, to call your attention to this insulting problem. And second, to express to someone, anyone, the intense frustration I experience everyday. All I can hear are words like, "Ring around the collar, ring around the collar," coming from a shrieking parrot to a guiltridden hausfrau who forgot to use Wisk.

After my morning shower, I go to use my Mitchum Anti-Perspirant and in my mind I see a bare-chested fellow leaning out of bed announcing that because of Mitchum he didn't use a deodorant yesterday, and does not plan to use one today. No wonder he's sleeping alone.

I've tried others, but its the same old story. When I use Hour-After-Hour deodorant, I see this housewife in a track suit running around her kitchen to

Then I'll go to brush my teeth. It's terrible. I'll look in the mirrow and see an arrogant brat interrupting his father, busy at work, to announce that because of Crest he has fewer cavities. From the Ford commercial the guy adds, "I didn't know that." I haven't even gotten out of my house yet.

At breakfast while spreading my toast with Imperial Margarine, I have to feel my head to see if a crown has appeared. Then I remember "I spread with

Did you ever see the ones about toilet paper? These really bother me. Here's a group of half-crazed women pouncing on poor, effeminate store manager Mr. Whipple. What do they want? Why, to squeeze the Charmin, of course.

I feel for the poor guy who doesn't even recognize his girl because she is wearing a new Playtex Cross Your Heart Bra.

What is our "highly civilized" society turning into-a bunch of television addicts like me who are slaves to the incessant repetition of obnoxious TV commercials-so much so that as we go about our daily routines we hear these things over and over in our minds? Instead of emmy awards, I think they should give out lemmy awards--perhaps a walnut plaque topped with a plastic lemmon for the worst commercial.

I didn't think it was all bad. I even kind of enjoyed the Gillette take it all off commercials. Then they tell me there's these sublimanal influences woven in and out of the pictures-things I couldn't possibly print in this article.

Will this lonely cry ever be heard? Probably not. In the next generation, people will still be trying Scope that a friend left for them, and exclaiming, "Why, my breath feels fresher for hours!"

Mrs. Priscilla Walters God created woman from Adam's rib to signify her oneness with him. God tely designed woman for the privilege of bearing and nurturing children. I feel this unique contribution is a priceless treasure of womanbood. However, woman's ability to have and rear children is only a part-and I emphasize PART-of her potential Sliaping a pre-schooler's character is the parents' responsibility and should not be trusted to those who are less interested in the child parents than are the parents. In certain unique as-pects, the mother has more parental respon-sibility than does the father.

unity than does the father.

Traditionally, rearing a large family and maintaining the home required a wife's whole life. Trying to support the family on the farm usually consumed the husband's whole life.

Then came the world wars, and women were needed in the labor market.
Women began to supplement their husbands' incomes Now we live in the age of the nuclear family. Bringing more than two children into the world is considered undesirable. This creates more pre and post child-rearing years for the wife today. Along with decreased child-rearing years, the time required for housework has diminished. This fact increases the amount of time a wife case.

the amount of time a wife can spend outside the home while her children are in school. Frankly, many fulltime housewives are bored and waste time on TV and needless activities less activities.

Though the machine age has complicated life, it is a tremendous buon to women. It has freed them to choose 1) a career outside the home, 2) a career inside the home, 3) a combination of the two.

I contend that with this new cultural situation a wife should feel free to choose from a constitution of the two.

tion a wife should feel free to choose from a variety of life styles. She has the right to form and live her life just as her husband has the right to form and live his life. She should feel free to choose a career. She should be free to excel to the top in her area and not purposefully try to remain inferior to her husband in salary, position, and knowledgeability. (This of course will have to be handled with great care if a husband has a weak ego which is threatened. But women have egos too, and adults shouldn't have to play carrier.) It are not defined in counts life in the like allows games.) I am not advocating competition—only full develop ment of our talents.

A wife has the right to be a fulltime housewife, filling her hours with clubs and volunteer services and being a "supermom" (shouldering 90 per cent of parental duties.)

She also has the right to prefer the dependent, passive,

She also has the right to prefer the dependent, passive, adult-child relationship with her husband versus a reciprocal relationship. This type of wife probably would prefer leaving all decisions up to her husband and merely take orders from him.

Does Paul's admonition for wives to be subject to their husbands mean that a wife is her husband's slave? I am afraid this is exactly what happens if a marriage is not founded on Christian principles of mutual love and respect. But Paul continues by admonishing husbands to love their wives as Christ loved the church.

Before God, the human race stands on equal ground. "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither male nor female; for ye are all one in Christ Jesus." Gal. 3:

Christ is the head of the house. Unselfishness should lead each spouse to pre-

For example, instead of a wife's having to demand that her husband do certain duties, the husband should realize that he is in a partnership. He should want to help her grow as a person, which may mean equal sharing of home duties if both he and she are full-time students or employed full time. There is nothing feminine about dusting furniture or washing clothes.

I have experienced the beauty of a partnership marriage. It is emancipation to personhood. To have entered into any other type of relationship would have negated part of my freedom.

For a husband, the advantages are many: 1) Being married to one who needs him solely because she lowes him should be conflorting and good for the ego; 2) In the business world two heads are considered better than one. This is true also in marriage. 3) While sharing home and parental tasks, hile can become more meaningful because he spends more time building beautiful and lasting relationships with those God designed from to love most of all. 4) The buggest bonus is the quality of the husband's marriage. He will find himself married to a woman who is as eager to love and consoled.

So of more one of the desired properties of the properties of the properties of the properties. part of my freedom.

To sum it up, a marriage will be happiest when each person is primardy seeking the other's happiness. When both husband and wife are liberated, they may share alike in life with its joys and sorrows, its comeptition and leisure.

I'm weary of all this talk about Women's Lib. They tell me, "Be independent". I am-if they don't believe it they can ask my husband. "Demand your rights" they urg. I don't need to-God gave me my rights as an individual when He created me. "Put your husband in his place!" He's already there-as head of our home and doing a excellent job sets. "Dny't Let anybody start better as excellent job. of it. "Don't let anybody stand between you and your rights to be a fulfilled person-not even your children!" Now that's going too far. I resent the implication that being a wife and Tresent the implication trad being a wite armother is a demeaning, nonfulfilling, second-rate career. The downgrading of motherhood is one of the most devastating influences of the Women's Liberation Movement. Children have rights, too, the right to a full-time mother. The Lord never intended motherhood to be a part-time job. It's just too important. Jesus, when on earth, honored His mother and took time for the children. Can a Christian mother do less?

There is no career that demands more of a woman's intellectual, physical, and spirit-ual abilities as does that of a homemaker. She is chief cook, laundering and cleaning woman. She is also teacher, nurse, guidance counselor, accountant, mediator, hostess, comconsector, accountant, incutator, insiess, com-panion, and much more. She is on call 24 hours a day-one of the most important being the home-from-school hour. Few children enjoy coming home to an empty house

The Women's Lib Movement has influenced countless numbers of women to leave their small children to the dubious care of others that they might satisfy their own egos-something they have accused the men of doing for something they have accused the men of doing for years. What may have begun as a campaign for the good of others has degenerated into a battle for self-recognition and glorification, a principle dia-metrically opposed to the life Christ lived on this earth. He never contended for His rights. The church also suffers from the influence of this movement. No one who has served on the nominating committee can deny this. Many wo-men who work full time feel they have no time to assume choice. Which these has a place for line to assume the choice of the machine when the themselves a disservice by assuming men's role and responsibility in the home structure, for it goes against God's plan for the home. Though I had no choice in being born of lemale (I'm delighted to be one) I certainly had the freedom of choice in becoming a wife and mother. And when I made this choice I acquired certain God-given responsibilities that I must account for in the judgment. There is no excuse for me not to do my best. God's Word tells me what to do, the Spirit of Prophecy tells me how to do it, and the Holy Spirit brings peace to my heart while I do it.

Women's Lib? No, thanks. I have a mandate from my Maker and that comes first!

Bettie's Beauty

BIG DEAL!

"Between the hours of nine in the evening and three a.m., I would venture to say that there is a game going on somewhere in the dormitory, sometimes as many as five," states a former SMC stu-

"Hardly a night goes by that someone doesn't come into my room and asks if anyone wants to play a game of poker," says a Talge Hall resident.

Yet a junior theology major, when questioned about card playing in the dorm said, "Do men play cards in the dorm?"

What really does go on? Rook seems to be the going thing in the women's dorms, reports Mrs. Faye Rees, assistant dean of women. Once in a while on Saturday nights or vacations the girls get into a game of gin or rummy. But it has not become "a pasttime any-thing like it is in the guy's dorm," states one informed source.

"Four to eight guys get together to play cards when they don't have too much homework," says one sophomore who frequents the poker circles. "Guys do it for recreation. Instead of watching a soccer game, some people get into a game of cards. They find it relaxing. Then again there's the association." He doesn't feel that one of the reasons for playing is to increase your income. (You can be there an hour and win only a nickel in penny annie.) "I don't know of any dollar gambling, only matches or pennies," he adds.

Those into card playing most generally agreed that about 50 per cent of the guys in Talge Hall play card games, other than rook, two to three times a week or more. Estimates ranged as low as 20 per cent and as high as 65 per cent.

A few years ago there was a bridge playing spree in Talge but now hearts, gin, rummy, poker, and blackjack seem to be the stand-bys. Of these, rummy and poker are the favorites. Even poker has its variations. One student had a little mechanical device on which he played poker by just pushing buttons. Little rotating wheels would pick cards at random. "Draw poker and stud poker are popular, but I don't know of any stnp poker unless its in the women's dorm," quipped one card shark. "In the dormitory the gambling games are less popular than the non-gambling games,"says Don Davis, a former SMC student who spent several years in Talge Hall. "The reason is that the guys don't have the money to bet. Only twenty-five to thirty per cent of the guys who play gamble, and even then l don't know of any big stakes going on in the dorm right now," he explains.

About the only form of gambling which has received widespread popular-ity is "penny annie" in which pennies are bet on the game. The maximum bet is usually three cents, hardly enough to put yourself through school.

Many of those who gamble do it because it is against the rules but relatively safe. It is a way of letting off steam when you can't seem to cut the deck in a conventional manner. One student said it was better to break one of the small rules than the big ones. Another old hand at cards sees it as a "diversionary tactic." He believes it is "a form of recreation when the gym is closed, when the girl's dorm is closed, and when you can't afford a TV.'

In contrast, a junior spending his third year in the dorm thinks that men caught gambling "should be reprimanded. They should get a $25 fine if the cards are illegal." He sees nothing wrong with "Rooks or Birds of the World" and adds, somewhat jokingly, "before we use any cards we ought to be sure they are approved by the General Conference or the Review and Herald.'

This points out the inconsistency with which the deans and the resident assistants

One resident assistant spoke of the "double standard" which the church has between Rook and other playing cards. What would he do if he walked in on a card game in process? "I would say that technically I'm supposed to confiscate the cards, but I think I would have to take them, maybe. There's been a little doubt on that." Lyle Botimer, dean of men, stated that if he were confronted with the same situation his "first concern would be to talk to the people who live in the room and are responsible for the activities." room and are responsible for the activities." big 'hello' to signify that they're there and the would "also talk with all those involved that they have their head together." sooner or later....At times like that you kind of play it by ear. I would try to get the cards out of the dorm and pray that the Lord will give me the right words to

To Botimer, card playing isn't much of a problem this year. "Based on my experience in the dorm it has been a very normal year as far as card playing is concerned. I haven't the foggiest idea what percentage of the guys in the dorm play cards."

"I know of only a couple guys on my hall that play regularly but I don't know anything definite," says one resident Adds another, "I really wouldn't know how widespread card playing is on my hall,

Why is this? A pro deals with the answer: "When an RA walks in on a card game, and it has happened before, people tend to grab a blanket or some other large article and just dump it over the cards. If there are any pennies there they just lay over the pennies and greet the RA with a

In lieu of the survey that the by the committee, which retaken by the committee, which restudents do not attend church, some went so far as to express that "even other worship services were abolished, church attendance should be required, and that there should be no question about it." Many feit that the survey was invalid be-cause less than half of the student body responded to the survey, and these stu-dents probably were indicative of a cer-tain class of students who only would respond to such questionnaires. A cross section was probably not achieved. Other voices of opposition expressed that "Mrs. White gave council that parents should see to it that their-children go to church. This was met with a response by Debbie Lintner, student representative, that college students seemed to be recognized as adults, and that they should be given the responsibilities of adulthood. She also pointed out that you can take a horse to water, but you can't make it drink.

In conclusion, the faculty senate suggested that it be the RA's responsibility to find out who is going to church and who isn't, and report this to the deans. And from those opposed to mandatory church attendance it was urged that "the faculty should love students into the church—not club them into it."

Editors - elect discuss future plans

Joe Rudd, Don Bogar, and Everett Wilhelmsen were voted in by the student body to fill the positions of Southern Memories editor, Joker editor, and Southern Accent editor respectively for the 1974
1975 school year. The narrowest margin in these races was for the Memories editor position taken by Joe Rudd who won by these three winners and interviewed them to learn of their plans and innovations for ner onnes.

Joe Rudd is proposing to the student senate a radical change in the format for next year's annual. His plans, if passed by the senate, will split the annual into three sections. The first which would come out two weeks after school begins would re-place the Joker and would serve the same purpose as it does now. The second sec-tion would come out at the beginning of tion would come out at the beginning of second semester, and would include senior portraits and events that occured up to Christmas. And finally there would be a third section that would come out at the end of school, containing the events of second semester. All of these sections would be covered individually with a soft binder, then they would be encased into

Upon questioning of Joe concerning his ideas for the annual he responded by saying, "I do not want it to be just anothsaying, I do not want it to be just another procure book, and I think it should represent the kind of quality which could be used in public relations for SMC." He added that he would be willing to take a cut in salary since the senior pictures would not have to be reprinted! This deletion of reprinting costs will mean a savings of over $1000.

Don Bogar, Joker editor, was asked if he could integrate these proposals into his plans. He expressed favorable feelings and said that he could conceivably see this type of merger. His basic goal is to get it in the student's hands within two weeks from the beginning of school.

With regard to the publication of the Southern Accent, Everett Wilhelmsen expressed a goal of more humon involved, and the continuation of the Viewpoint and Dear Gabby sections that were introduced this year. He went on to say. "Its my aim to provide a lively newspaper with meaningful information, and some humor, hoping thereby to be of benefit to the students' needs. I do not want to come out with a paper just because it's expected to come out." —Doug Clarke

Dr. T.C. Swinyar spoke of his faithfulness in God to Accent editor, Steve Grimsley.

"I can't help but be optimistic"

Upon entering the Swinyar home, a large bouquet of colorful flowers was seen with a card from the SMC student body attached to it expressing the desire for Dr. T. C. Swinyar's quick recovery. Mrs. Swinyar gave words of gratitude as she rearranged a few of the blooms. Hundreds of "get well soon" cards from friends, neighbors, family members, acquaintances and patients were filed neatly in boxes on a small table

Without any further ado, Mrs. Swinyar said "Dr. Swinyar is soaking in the tub which precedes his daily physical therapy treatment by Don Humberger, an able-bodied 220 lb. R.P.T, but he said it's all right with him, if it's all right with you, if you want to conduct your interview in there." The acceptance was made and upon entering the bathroom Dr. Swinyar peered out from behind the glass doors with a boyish grin on his face and said, "Sorry, about the cramped quarters.'

Dr. T.C. Swinyar, now entering his 14th year as a physician in Collegedale, began to notice that he was losing a significant amount of weight. He attributed this to the heavy patient load he was taking on-quite normal for the months of January and February. The acute weight reduction worsened, so, he entered Memorial Hospital on March 16. X-rays verified the problem as a mass in the colon which proved to be malignant with subsequent damage to the liver-a formidable diagnosis.

move the colon mass. Following surgery, Elder Gary Patterson, pastor of the Collegedale S. D. A. church, Elder Roy B. Thurmon, former pastor and long time friend, and others performed an annointing service for Dr. Swinyar. This service involves placing a small bit of oil on the forehead to signify that one's life is now in God's hand.

During the anointing service, children at the Spalding elementary school, students from Collegedale Academy and SMC, along with friends from Washington. D.C. and Loma Linda were praying simultaneously, asking God's mercy.

Dr. Swinyar returned to his home this past Tuesday slightly weak, but full of optimism and grateful for the many prayers ascending in his behalf." I received so many flowers at the hospital they had to request no further flowers. I'm just so thankful for all the prayers. With all my friends praying for me, I can't help but be optimistic. I thank God for the doctors who are caring for me. Man's extremity is God's opportunity," Dr. Swinyar remarked as he turned on the hot water

They're still giving me chemotherapy which kind of takes the starch out of you, but they'll continue with this for a few weeks. I'm fortunate in that I'm in no pain, whatsoever. The physician mentioned that we're at least two weeks ahead of therapy as far: as progress goes. So, I'm

No senior portraits will be available

No senior portraits will be available to this year's seniors, stated Harry Haugen, Southern Memories editor, in a telephone interview with the Accent Monday night.

Meisel Photo Lab of Atlanta, Ga., had been contracted to do the portraits. According to Haugen, a misunderstanding between the involved parties caused Meisel to refuse the business he presented them. Haugen did, however, retain the negatives from the senior shots and these will be available to the seniors next week

The negatives may be picked up at any time after this Monday from Elder K. R. Davis in the Counseling and Testing Office in Wright Hall. With these, the senior man still have a portrait made at the photo la of his choice.

For those seniors who have already paid for their pictures, a full refund may be obtained by contacting Mr. Robert Merchant, the college treasurer, in Wright Hall. Evidence of payment must be presented to receive the refund.

His immediate goal is to first see his son Dan's graduation from Collegedale Academy and then his daughter Audrey's graduation from Loma Linda University with a degree in dental hygiene. A trip to Oregon to visit his son, Gary, and wife, Carol, who teaches at Laurelwood Academy in Gaston, Oregon. After this he would like to work for the American Cancer Society or help relieve other physicians in the immediate area so their load would not be as heavy.

Dr. Swinyar has "claimed the promises" and gives as his favorite Bible verse, Psalms 118:17-"I shall not die, but live and declare the works of the Lord.

He sums up his attitude by using a phrase he has used throughout his life in the field of medicine, "I dressed his wound; God healed it."

AEC grants Dr. Hefferlin research position

Dr. Ray Hefferlin, chairman of SMC's Physics Department, has been granted a "Faculty Research Participation" position for this summer from the United States Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). "SMC has granted me a summer service leave for this summer,"he said.

His work with the AEC, covering approximately two months from mid June to mid August, will be his principal activty aside from preparing classes for the 1974-1975 academic year.

Dr. Hefferlin's position is in the thermonuclear division at Oak Ridge, Tennessee. Also known as the Sherwood project, the division is doing research into developing the practical fusion of hydrogen to create power to help solve the en-

We're surprised that they don't claim it cures cancer.

The makers of STP Oil Treatment make it sound like a fountain of youth for old cars and a super tonic for new cars.

They claim it does everything from protecting engine parts to reducing heat, noise, friction, and wear.

They say it's the "racer's edge." Whatever that means. Well, here's what STP Oil Treatment really is.

It's a can of thick goo that makes the oil it's added to thicker.

But if you want a thicker oil, you can just buy a heavier grade of oil (like 40 or 50 weight) in the first place. Or if you want a "multi-viscosity" oil (like 10W-30), you can just buy that, too. And save the expense of STP. For most cars under almost all driving conditions, the right motor oil is all you'll ever need for your car's crankcase. The very nicest thing we can say about STP Oil

The very nicest thing we can say about STP Oil Treatment is that it's probably a waste of money. But there are less nice things, too.

Many motor oil manufacturers, including Kendall, Quaker State, Pennzoil and Valvoline, advise you not to use additives like STP.

Even Consumer Reports (July 1971) says you don't need STP. The makers of STP must have forgotten to mention all that. And what do you have on the other side? "The racer's edge." Whatever that means.

Sweet cherries & Sour grapes

On the outset of the Southern Accent turnover season ranging from September until December, Ric Carey and I emerged to grab the guiding reigns of this SA publication. This entailed organizing the duties of 18 staff members, not including the reporters; spending 20 and sometimes 30 hours a week at the Quality Shopper building in Ooltewah, typing out every word seen in the Accent on special composition machines, plus laying out and pasting up in order to prepare camera-ready copy; spending 10 to 15 hours a week hashing out what stories should be written, plus explaining the stories to reporters; writing some stories ourselves; deciding what editorial cumments should be made; writing editorials; taking photographs then printing them; and finally explaining to the printer how the paper should be

The Accent operates on a budget of just over $11,000 including the editor's salaries and advertising revenue. It's equivalent to a small business and it has to be treated as such in order for it to be a success. There are many unsung heroes on the Southern Accent staff who, by their diligence and dedication patiently pieced together this weekly publication. News editor, Barbara Palmer spent 10 to 15 hours a week in the office identifying news leads, assigning news stories plus writing 2-4 stories a week. Associate editor, Doug Clarke originally thought of implementing "Viewpoint" within our publication and he has faithfully kept up this column while also writing a story or two a week.

Other unsung heroes include Ed Jackson, Business Manager, who has tripled advertising revenue over last year's publication; Ben Stone, Circulation Manager, a steady, hard worker; Greg Rumsey, Copy editor, a fast and articulate editor; Ken Burnham, Sports Jock, a personable writer; and all layout people who spend a combined total of over 50 hours a week typing and laying out

Last, but not least, Danny Serns, Frank Potts, Jack Waagen, and Roland Marsh have proved to be very competent reporters.

This semester, the Accent has never failed to come out every week, except for vacation and test periods. One major reason the Quality Shopper was chosen to print the Accent was due to the fact that a Wednesday delivery would be possible, as opposed to a Thursday evening or Friday morning delivery as would have been the case if it were printed in Summerville, Georgia, like last year's student newspaper.

The Accent was highly instrumental in changing the SA constitution to it's present form. The Accent introduced "Viewpoint" this semester, a column in which two people present different sides of a certain issue. The Accent got the story out on the SA run-off results the very day it happened.. The Accent devoted a full page to sports news alone, an asset to a college extremely interested in intramurals. The Accent has sparked within our readers a desire to speak-out; dozens of letters to the editors have been printed this semester.

At the beginning of the semester, Ric and I stated in our first editorial that the Accent would not be a mere public relations tool for the school. We were not afraid to (aod did several times print objectively written articles and surveys on certain political academic, and social problems.

In reference to our behind the scene critics who claim to be qualified communication experts; gentlemen, criticism comes cheap. Did you ever speak to Ric and I to offer helpful suggestions? Did you ever compliment the paper at all? No. You chose to use dictatorial denunciations and smirky derogatory remarks to other administrators, faculty members, and students concerning our so-called lack of journalistic style and editorial judgment. You should have told Ric and I your opinions and offered us alternatives. You should have worked with the Accent, not against it.

I personally am pleased with the outcome of second semester's Accent. The experience I have gained from working on our publication in the areas of organization, creativity, cooperation, writing, and decision making have been comparable to future real-life situations. So, with this sweet and bitter note I end a journalistically productive year. Mr. Wilhelmson, never --grimsley

500 bye-byes or more

It's good-bye again. My senses reel between the sweet of accomplishment and the sour of departure. I'm leaving this cushiony atmosphere for a metallic sensationalistic world complete with its concrete fortresses and glittering tinsel.

I now enter a lonely arena clogged with traffic arteries, technology, and people: a world where a simple greeting is socially discouraged and if emitted is regarded with strains of suspicion; a world where mechanics are primarily involved in human relationships rather than sensitivity and understanding; a world where I'll be regarded as a digital code rather than a rationally thinking human being. The rapier sharpness of reality slices the previous year here into bits and pieces of remembrances.

But it's these remembrances that give me the courage and fortitude to withstand worldly threats. Memory saves the soft embraces, singing groups, a wellcoined phrase, a respectable professor, a deep religious conviction, a job welldone, a well earned grade, a funny joke, a beautifully sung song, a roommate's propensities and strengths--all these weave an eternal character pattern into my mind. This miscellaneous hodge-podge of cherished recollections instill in me a desire to change the cold, hard visage of a human robot into a warm, soft

So it's good-bye again. I'm leaving restrictions to find freedom. No. I'm leaving security to fall into insecurity. No. I'm leaving make-believe to find reality. No. I'm leaving peace to find mayhem. I just don't know, it's all so confusing. I probe for answers, but then I realize that I'm not leaving anything. For everything that I experience and everyone I come in contact with becomes a part of me. All this binds my reference book and I will have wisdom in coping with new situations.

In the lives of each one of us, in the brief light of human existence, between the darkness of birth and coldness of death, I stand as one small, insignificant bolt in an immeasureable machine. I am capable of great and mighty works; I am capable of ghastly and terrible works; and I am capable of doing essentially nothing. Dear God, show me the way.

ATribute

A little over two weeks ago an older gentleman, in his early 80's, dropped in on our campus for a few days' visit. Unlike most visitors to SMC, Harland Johnston came to give rather than to take. Johnston not only gave us a sum of money, but he gave something far more precious-he gave of himself.

Mr. Johnston gave us inspiration at a time when it was badly needed; the proverbial "Shot in the arm." He gave encouragement to the Accent staff that by far excelled any hinted at on this campus. His influence stimulated creativity among us that transformed these last two issues for four page excuses into much more.

Mr. Johnston demonstrated to us what it is to be a living Christian witness by his quiet thoughtful manner and keen sense of humor. Mr. Johnston, much thanks for giving us more than you could ever imagine.

Flickled

The Accent is dealing with this issue because it is an integral part of many students lives who attend SMC. To our critics this will be another "one of those" articles designed to dig a little dirt to show to the public. But we feel a responsibility to report and to speak out on an issue such as this when it plays such a large role in campus life, is condemned by many, and is even against the college rules.

The glittering generality so often abscribed to theatre attendance like "If we love the Lord this won't be a problem" and "Why concern ourselves with it? It's wrong and that's all there is to it!" are indicative of an ignorant and unconcerned attitude--a pitiful syndrome.

It's not difficult to understand why there is a ruling against theatre attendance when movies, such as the "Exorcist" and "How to seduce a woman," are readily available. If students subscribed to these sort of movies, it would seem that the spiritual life on this campus would degenerate, especially when the subject matter absorbed is dealing with the devil and sex in the context of sin. However, it is difficult to understand why a blanket ruling or policy is set down concerning ALL movies. Young people are just not accepting the inadequate reasoning behind this ruling.

The plain fact of the matter is that many SDA young people are attending the movies. It seems that instead of clinging to archaic reasoning-like the poor atmosphere-guidelines should be given just as they are in such instances as television, books, and life in general.

It is not my intention to define what is right and what is not, but rather to recognize the facts and suggest a logical, reasonable alternative to the "sneaking" that obviously occurs, even among SDA youth, even among those who love the Lord.

Should women ask men out for dates?

Con

After about three to five minutes of nausea, I meekly ask my roommate to get me the Joker (and there are plenty of them!). But what good does a Joker do, if a girl won't tell you her name, until you accept? So the only logical, manly thing to do is say, "Uh. . .no." Flatly, decisively, and finally.

Now, people being what they are, they get their feelings so easily (especially me! hurt when they're turned down. And I must attribute this to a person's being unwilling to accept the unwanted.

The way I was raised has little to do with you, but then a lot. I was taught that the man was the one who saw lower and decided to capture it for him self. I shy off from a strange girl calling me up and asking me for a date. why? The primary reason for writing this paper was to give my view on why a gir. should not ask a man out. And after thinking this over, I can easily understar the opposite side of this issue; but girls my escort Sunday night, (July 4, 1776) hold on, I'll let you know I'm around.

Most of us here at SMC have been prought up in a culture in which it was ustomary for girls to be asked out for lates. Closer to the truth, it was custom ry for girls to wait until the young men ither out of physical and psychical deelopment (which was usually relatively etarded), or more likely, just simple em-

This is a very traditional part of growing up, I take it, and a stage most have passed through.

I have nothing against inherent tradition. Neither have I anything against standards. However, I do try to look at ssues with some amount of attention before accepting or rejecting them as I am sure we all do. and not as how you can change them. It also involves accepting the fact that you feel 'no OK' (if that is true) and vorking through it.

Everyone is OK, you know, and the only thing that is standing in our way of feeling so is certain traditions and folkways-maybe like dating customs. arassment, would ultimately ask her out (But we haven't established that yet.) After you accept the concept that you are OK and have accepted yourself, then

> Does the tradition or concept encourage open communication? To me, this involves the dropping of facades, the dropping of all armour, and communicaing feeling. It involves letting yourself feel with another, and letting others feel and know you.

> It involves 'Letting go on in the gut, go on in the mind and in the communi-cation with others.' Communicating how you think instead of how you think you re supposed to think! A pre-requisite for this type of communication is honest requirement met in step number 1.
> Test number three is: Does the tradition encourage or discourage unproduc-tive games? Games like 'something just came up and I'm going to have to break our date;' 'third party-find out how she really feels about me' (or I'm too insecu to ask); or 'let's solve the problem by ignoring it.' As is obvious, the games I have mentioned depend on the present system of dating for their existence. And I feel the present system is unhealthy.

The reasons I think the problem is unhealthy all reflect my belief in the three tests I have mentioned. Our present system fails all three. Should girls ask guys out? Well, not if they want somebody to play games with. But if it is an honest (honorable) invitation, I say, why not?

Obviously, I've been picked for the unpopular side of this question, but the last days afford no time for popularity contests, so here goes.

the majority of the girls on this campus would be embarrassed to be seen, by us men, in their underwear. Righteously so, me thinks. Experience has shown, however, many of these same girls would show no hesitation at publicly prancing around in something no more substantial if a body of water was present. To an objective observer this dichotomy of action would seem queer.

I would be expounding no new truths to my audience by mentioning the standards of modesty and the need of dress that doesn't attract attention to self. Paul and Mrs. White go on to great lengths about this. Apparently applying these concepts to activities at the beach may be new to some.

It would take a great stretch of the imagination, not to mention the apparel, | from the love we have for Christ. He for swimming trunks, suits, and bikinis,

Consensus would undoubtedly indicated to fit into either of these two catagories. As a matter of fact, with some swimming trunks and bikinis, it is difficult to see anything but self.

In Testimonies, Vol. 5, p. 472, Mrs. White, writing about Christians being aroused to a greater zeal and earnestness in overcoming will, says, "Every defect in character, every point in which they fail to meet the divine standard is an open door by which Satan can enter to tempt and destroy them; and, further more, that every failure and defect on their part gives occasion to the tempter and his agents to reproach Christ."

Life in this sense can be compared in many ways to a football game. Satan is on the offense with inconceivable amounts have a good time on this earth? Would of logic and craftiness. He is trying every anyone care to join me this weekend to possible angle from which to tear us apart sing praises to Christ and pass out literaknows he will never be able to tear us a-

We, being somewhat mature players but hardly fit for the big league of Satan, must take into account our every weakness. Having seen our passion and pride give us great set-backs in the past, our defense begins to take perspective. Every good ball team sets its defense up the farthest possible point away from their goal line, so must we. I pray the connection is clear.

How does the evidence given in the Bible and the Spirit of Prophecy stack up against the clearly loaded side of our own desires. There is no doubt, most of us enjoy a fun day at the beach. How does our desire to be with Jesus in the heavenly kingdom compare with our desire to ture at Lake Chickamaugua? Paint some dresses on your sun-glasses and let's go!

On being approached to write a view on co-ed swimming at SMC, my primary reaction was one of surprise. I suppose my near naked body hasn't frequented the watery repose in the gym often enough to find out whether guys and girls can swim together or not. I did know, however, that both sexes can participate in practicing class laps, because whenever I did manage to get my courage high enough to relinquish my soaked position under my umbrella for an equally soaked position in the swimming pool, my unspectacled eye discerned some fuzzy shapes that are rarely seen in the Talge showers.

So to clarify the administration's stand on the matter, it appears that we can swim together if the red-and-white lane separators are in place, no doubt providing ample protection for any buxom maidens, and if we are participating in a serious effort to improve our swimming techniques.

On the other hand, we may not swim | together if the lane separators are not in place, thereby removing the effective protection formerly afforded, or if we are swimming about in the haphazard fashion unique to goldfish and SMC students at leisure.

This brings me to the crux of the entire field of dispute. "What is the administration's basis for determining whether both sexes may swim together?' If the reason is that they disagree with letting males catch a glimpse of a female figure clothed in immodest attire, or vice versa, what do they think happens when we get together for class lap practice, or when we take a date to the lakeside?

If, on the other hand, we are thought to be too immature to know how to con trol our natural instincts and would be unable to hold back our sexual desires in unable to hold back our sexual desires in a public place, then why do they force us to find our own secluded spot by some remote lake, instead of letting us swim in our own pool where they can watch us little kids at play?

My personal feelings toward the issue are very straight-forward. I see no legitimate, mature reason why a male should not learn how to relate to a female and vice versa, while they are participating in a decidedly healthy activity under the supervision of the lifeguard that is always present.

After all, the administration should take advantage of the fact that they can get students of both sexes together under supervision, rather than laying down ridiculous laws that cause us to find our own swimming areas which, needless to say, tend to be away from the watchful eye of our beloved SMC guardian.

In my own opinion, the pool would be used much more if the absolutely childish rules were relaxed and the students would benefit from being in contact with the opposite sex in the varied situations that life in our modern society dictates. I would hate to graduate in one

Student senate accepts SA budget proposal

In Tucsday night action, the Student senate voted to accept the proposed SA budget for next year. The budget, set at $36,950, was based on dues from 1300 students, each paying $27 in their general fee. Next year's SA treasurer, Ed Jackson, presented the budget.

The quorum for the meeting was reached after the "unquorumed Senate" voted to dismiss five senators so that a quorum could be reached. They were aismissed on counts of excessive Senate meeting absences. Certain points of the over-all budget were discussed at length before accep-iance. Included in this was the budget for next year's Southern Accent. The question was raised why the Accent editor and the paper budget would be getting more money if they planned to cut back to four pages next year, instead of the regular weekly eight iges. Editor-elect Everett Wilhelmsen pointed out that the paper was going to be printed in Summerville, Georgia, which is 50 miles south of SMC. He said the change in printers was due to the lack of his experience in the fields of printing and graphic arts. Summerville will be more financially expensive than the process now being done by the Quality Shopper in Ooltewah.

A motion by Senator Jess Landess, also president-elect of Men's Club, was passed requesting that the dormitory club sports directors be given salaries. The Men's Club director will receive $100 and the Women's Club director will receive $50.

Student Services Chairman Dennis Burke pointed out that only $2,000 was oudgeted for the Speaker Funds. Burke, who has been responsible for getting speakers for SA chapels, said costs of getting top-notched lecturer to come to SMC were expensive. He expressed the desire to see the budget enlarged in this area. Jackson, however, explained that the Budget Committee had appropriated only $2,000 to the Fund, leaving the end open in order to give more money to the Fund if it is necessary.

Gale Jones, SA president-elect, preented her proposed dates for Senate elections next fall. The Senate approved her suggestion that they be held on Sept. 12 and 13.

Senate President Robert Zima thanked all of the Senators for their faithfulness throughout the year, in spite of the fact that the Senate had whithered towards the end of the year.

266 Seniors to graduate Sunday, May 5

Next Sunday morning, May 5, Comnencement exercises will be held for 266 graduating seniors. This will highlight a weekend of activity celebrating the fiftyciphth annual graduation at Southern Missionary College.

The weekend will open with a Conscration service Friday evening, May 3, at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium. Edwir Zackrison, assistant professor of religion at Southern Missionary College, will give the address, followed by Haskell Williams, pastor of the class, giving the class response.

The Baccalaureate service, also in the college auditorium, will be held Sabbath morning at 11 a.m. Leroy J. Leiske, president of Southwestern Union College will be the speaker.

The following morning the auditorium will be the scene of the Commencement service with Gordon M. Hyde, field secretary of the General Conference, addressing the graduates and visiting relatives and friends.

After the degree candidates are presented by Cyril Futher, academic dean, the diplomas will be conferred by Frank Knittet, president of Southern Missionary College, and Arno Kutzner, director of admissions and records. The presentation of the class gift will follow. Finally, the seniors will march out with music from Suite for Organ by Rogers.

One hundred sixty-six students will be receiving the Bachelor's degree and 100 will receive the Associate degree. Of the four-year seniors, 38 will receive degrees in Nursing, 30 in Elementary Education, 20 in Theology, and 11 in Biology. All other fields have less than ten graduates. Those receiving Associate degrees include 79 in nursing and 19 in medical-office administration or office administration.

The pinning service for B.S. and A.D. Nursing graduates will be held in the church Saturday evening, May 4, at 7:30. The program, somewhat comparable to the nurses' dedication earlier this year, will begin with roll call by Doris Payne (B.S.) and Christine Shutz (A.D.). Dr. Charles Mason Von Henner will be the speaker. The instructors specially chosen by the nursing students to do the pinning are Kristine Perkins (B.S.), Ellen Gilbert, and Cheric Goulard (A.D.).

Parents and others responsible for sceing the nurses through college will be presented with a long-stemmed red rose after the pinning. Receptions for both departments will be held afterwards in the eafeteria.

Haskell Williams, class pastor, is co-ordinator of the graduation weekend sabath school. Elder Goodwin, pastor of the Jasper, Tennessee SDA church, will have the general tesson study. Speakers for the weekend are chosen

Attending the theatre —

How should Christians act?

"What's wrong with going to movies?" Christian youth have been asking this question for years. And adults have been answering it by asking another one: "What is right about going to the movies?" These superficial questions have brought few answers. As modern Christians, we must go deeper; we must look closely at our values, at what we can gain from the theatre, and at how we can decide what will benefit us. We can start by askng our own questions.

Should we distinguish between drama and einema? Some individuals would say yes, drama is action is somewhat more distant in the cinema, but the scenes are more realistic. Drama has an advantage of establishing a feeling of closeness between the actors. Content differs little. Certainly, there is no justification for denouncing the cinema while condoning the attendance at dramatic productions.

Just how prevalent is movie going at SMC? According to one Talge resident, "Hardly a day goes by that I don't hear someone talking about some flick they've seen. And I haven't been to a movie yet where good ole' SMC wasn't we'll represented."

Is this a realistic reflection of what actually does take place? Quite startling, yet interesting, was a "straw" sampling of about 30 SMC students taken one afternoon this past week by questioned answered positively to the question 'Have you attended the theatre this year?" Out of those 45 percent, 1/3 also said "yes" in response to the question of "Would you classify yoursell as a frequent or habitual movie goer?"

Kenneth Spears, dean of students, reminds us that theatre attendance is against school policy and is classified as "questionable entertainment" in the student handbook.

When asked to comment on the question tossed around frequently by many students, that of showing movies here previously shown in theatres, and thereby practicing a double standard, Dean Spears had this to say: "We try to select movies that are compatable with church policy. Some students would say 'Why not let us make our own selections and choices?', but some can be discrete while others can't. A person that saw you there wouldn't know whether

acceptable but movies are still "off limits." The Iyou were discrete or not, and would classify you as a movie goer. The same theatre that shows "Fiddler on the Roof" one week might show "The Exoreist" the next, and for all this individual would know, you would probably see it too."

Dean Spears went on to say that one objection he did have to us bringing movies on campus is that we are supporting an industry that makes all the other "junk."

When asked his position on theatrical attendance, Elder K. R. Davis, director of counseling and testing, responded by saying, "Personally, I am opposed to theatrical attendance. I'm on the film committee, and very few films produced in the last few years are acceptable for use here. To me, the theory people use about the bad environment of the theatre holds no water. You can, for instance, sit in your own car at a drive-in. this reporter. Forty-five percent of the students Su what's so bad about seeing an occasional goud movie? People associate bad things with the theatre and if seen attending, we could impart a negative influence to others."

What can we learn from E.G. White about the theatre? According to one theology major, Mrs. White's ideas concerning theatre attendance closely parallel her ideas on the novel. He says, "When Mrs. White used the word 'novel' in her writings, she always used it in a derogatory sense. This would mean there are no good novels.

"Throughout her writing," he explains, "you find these criteria: sensationalism, sentimentalism, and that which is designed to evoke emotion tor its own sake. She always condemns things with these quali fications. It's not the form that's wrong, its the content."

Mrs. White refers to theatre attendance many times in her writing and nearly always denounces it along with horse racing and gambling as an addictive, "worldly" amusement. With the advent of television and educational motion pictures, however, we have come to accept visual media as a valuable means of presenting ideas. Realizing that we ean gain much from drama and cinema, we must decide what is valuable and what is acceptable to us as Christians.

The Christian must consider content. That which is superficial and sentimental will not prepare us to cope with reality as we will find it. That which dwells upon the sordid and ugly sides of life will not bring us closer to Christ or help us relate to others in a more meaningful way.

Life must be portrayed realistically. This does not mean it will always be pleasant, but we have fo remember that we cannot constantly view the evil side of life and not be affected in a harmful -Frank Potts

Everett Wilhelmsen, currently a junior English major, has talked about his plans in depth for next year's Southern Accent. In order to keep our Accent readers informed about pertinent news relating to the publication, we interviewed Everett. to get first hand his views on what's inestore for next year's publications.

When questioned about his innovations, he eame across with such ideas as including more humor into the paper and some feature articles that would present meaty dialogue between people." He went on to say, "I like a pro and con side presented on issues and questions being raised, but I don't want to print anything that would hurt the school."

This brought up the question: If an event occured, or there was some issue that the students should be made aware of would you pursue it, knowing it may be of some detriment to the school's public relations? Everett responded with a brave, but qualified "yes." I would make sure though, that all the facts were presented and that it would not be a personal opinion. Then it would be up to the reader to make any judgments.

This year's Southern Accent has received some critism, as probably every well read publication does, the paper." but one in particular was given by one of uur guest writers for the Viewpoint. As this respectable individual was turning over his contribution the comment was made that he was opposed to such piting of individuals against each other on controversial issues. It was suggested that the Accent reevaluate its philosophy in terms of the admonition' whatsoever things are luvely think of these, as given in Phil. 4:8.

Everett's response was solicited in regard to this change. He expressed himself by saying, "I haven't seen been ugly. of things th dents need t titled to his his civil right

Rumsey has worked at WSMC all four years as a student at the college. Most of his work has dealt with news and announcing. Currently he is co-host for the hour news program Newsbreak '74 each morning. He also hosts Afternoon Classics.

As nusic director, Rumsey will select all the music programming. Don Self, the incoming station manager, says that a full time person has been needed in this position for a long time. Rumsey will also begin editing the monthly Program Guide, and he will continue doing some on-air announcing.

Jim Waiters, director of development and pub-lic relations for WSMC-FM, will continue his theology education in California this fall. Insinnia becomes "Good Deeder" editor

Shanon Insinna, a communication major here at SMC, has accepted a position in Berrien Springs, Mich., as editor of the Story Hour ewspaper starting this September.

The Story Hour is a nation-wide radio program produced in Ohio and broadcast weekly over 520 stations. Their home office, however, is located in Berrien Springs, and it is here that they publish the corresponding newspaper, The Good Deeder, every month for children 6-14 years old.

Last January, Shanon was offered the position of editor of The Good Deeder, and besides taking this job, she will also be involved in marketing cassette tapes for the Story Hour.

Shanon, 26, has spent the past eight years in and around Atlanta and Florida working in public relations. This year she has written several articles for the Chattanooga Papers concerning SMC, and is currently the friendly voice giving the weather report every morning on WSMC's Newsbreak '74.

In addition to her qualifications of age and background experience, Shanon has the distinct characteristics that accompany her status as a new Seventh-day Adventist. She is a former Catholic who was baptized into the SDA church only last July

a forgotten past

Nestled off in a corner of the Eastgate Mall parking lot, seemingly untouched by hundreds of passers by, is the sight of the old Brainerd Mission. When strolling through the semi-kept grounds of the walled cemetary, one is reminded of a heritage that has almost been forgotten by the tempo of our fast paced society.

Inserted on the gatepost stands these few lines of inspired counsel to modern man: "Remove not the ancient land mark which thy fathers have set." Proverbs 22:28.

On Second Thought

(continued from page 5) hat the press would have the annual out two months after all the material was delivered. Since the final pages of the Memories were sent two months before school was out, this did not necessitate any delays at the press because of the forementioned agreement.

Assuming the Annual article is "lopsided" and a "misrepresentation" as Mr. Jones repeatedly points out, this would not have been the case if Elder Davis had been more open. The Accent would gladly have presented Elder Davis's opinions if he would have given them to us. Therefore, this article is not lop-sided but merely a report from sources direcly connected with the yearbook.

The only comment Mr. Carey used that may be taken as an editorial com-. ment is the phrase "less than cordial in reference to K. R. Davis's disposition when confronted with the late delivery of the annual. The rest of the article is written a newspaper feature style. Another item that emerged this week is that if the Memories staff would have met their deadlines with regularity they would also have been allowed to do a special supplement that would have covered the final happenings of the school

In further investigation this week the Accent has learned that K. R. Davis received his information from one source at the publishing firm while Mr. Carey interviewed another source at the press (Mr. Thomas Young, yearbook representitive). At the time of the interview those statements quoted in last week's article were given to the Accent by Mr. T. Young. It appears that the ambiguity stems from a difference of opinion between sources at the press rather than lop-sided journalism. Whether or not Joeston American Publishing would have been able to deliver the Memories in the eight weeks that Young promised is still a matter of debate and will probably stay an unsolved mystery.

"A thank you"

Dear Editors:

I'd like to express my appreciation to Ric Carey for not burdening the Accent readers with the "facts" in last weeks article concerning the Annual's delay. I would also like to express my gratitude to Ric for offering us a convenient scapegoat in the form of Mr. Davis, rather than "raking muck" by focusing on the real bunglers of the Annual. This is true journalism in its highest form. Again, thank-you.

Lets get it on

|Dear Editors:

In the Feb. 27 issue of the Southern Acent, I noticed an imported editorial from The Collegian calling for the church to stop investing in the armaments industry.

In a subsequent issue of the Accent, I noticed that the Student Association is called "a hollow pus newspapers! "Viewpoint" has gotten us echo chamber," with 70 percent of the students not even bothering to vote in SA elections.

Why haven't the editors of the Accent and the officials of the SA written to the General Conference requesting the list of companies in which the church has investments? Does the church really reap profit from the manufacture of armaments? If so, how cen the SMC student body sink into apathy? Why aren't they organzing petition drives and alerting their home pasors and churches to this obvious degeneration of Seventh-day Adventist morality?

I should think such a project would give the SA a sense of purpose as well as "something to

Credit is due

Dear Editors:

I have been reading the Southern Accent or three years, and I have seen staffs come and go. This year was no exception. First semester the staff changed every week. It was like a game to see who had joined the staff and who quit. The game really started to become interesting when Ric Carey, e chemstry major, took News Editor and leter Ass. Ed. Then it happened, Hallock resigned and Ric Carey and Steve Grimsley took over. What was in store for the Southern Accent was Caesars coming back. I must say now, with all seriousness, good work Ric and Steve. You handled gauselers. Well, I know that you feel that your long hours were spent in vain, but nobody understands your situation better than You deserve credit. Last weeks paper was excellent, a fresh new exciting format, and an impressive looking cover photo. You both worked hard and I am one person who is not letting this year go by without telling you thank you. Thank you for a paper that has been greatly improved with every issue. Agein Hard-nosed reporting like Carey did on the belated delivery of this year's annuals is a continuing need.

Perceptive editorials like the Grimsley piece on women's lib and the Clarke observation of TV commerciels are appreciated.

Who knows? Maybe this semester's school paper will be a new "Accent" on life here at

Re-deal

Dear Editors:

was not surprised, but nevertheless disgusted with last week's article "Big Deal." 1 do not feel that the article's statistics were accurate and I could give some contrasting but equally valid facts on the same subject.

However, accuracy is not the basis of my rebuttal. I am disgusted with not just this article but all articles of this type appearing in our school paper. I fail to see the purpose of this particular article. Was it intended to glorify these card players end gamblers? Was it to awe the rest of the student body who do not play cards? Or could it have been written to give some "outsidar" an accurate (?) description of life in a Christian College?

I do not believe it is the purpose of our school paper to magnify, glorify, and publicize all the faults within our school. I cannot see that any good will result from articles of this

-a peanut butter sandwich completely covered with two months' luxurious growth of Rhizopus nigricans--blackish-green mold, -a lavender piece of stationery (obviously never delivered) with the invitation carefully printed out with purple ball-point, "Let's double-date in the SDA room tonight." -a set of knitting needles with directions for knitting the "wedding-loop shawl"-Douglas von Kriegelstein name on the directions! -a dead catfish.

-a live Hooded Warbler in a stete of shock-evidently an escapee from Carl Swafford's banding activities.

-several apple cores.

-some yellow sheets of paper containing the tried-and-true mnemonic device: On Old Olympus' Towering Top; A Finn and German Viewed A Hop.

-the hind leg of a cat with several muscle tags attached thereto.

-Liz Diller's complete score to Bach's St. Matthew Passion--several large blotches of gentiana -some carrots used once in diffusion experi-

-a "Vote for Nixon" button.

Scotty Hodges' leb coet-each pocket containing some jelly beans and scalpel blades. -a map of St. Petersburg-Tampa with Busch Gardens conspicuously encircled in red. --an envelope containing, among other things, "The Master Key System of Thatcher Hall and a recipe for making lasagne-something left behind by a frustrated RA? -a roll of film belonging to Dave Durham, which, when developed, contained pictures the nature of which cannot be revealed.

Faculty for '74 - '75 school year

As the school year draws to a close. t becomes evident that day to day lives here at SMC must become dormant during the summer months. The process of packing, storing and saying good-bye be-comes a reality. Some will be graduating, some will be attending other institutions of learning, while the rest will merely return for another year of "superior learning" and "Southern living." Surprisingly Surprisingly enough, these same trains of thought are also present in faculty circles. It has come to the attention of Accent that a portion of this year's faculty staff will not be with us for the 1974-1975 school

Some teachers will be taking their sabbaticals, a year's leave of absence; some will be leaving with their husbands who have found jobs in other parts of the country; one will be retiring; while still another will be leaving due to a necessary cut-back in departmental staff.

Genevieve McCormick

Perhaps the faculty member leaving for the most joyous reason will be Mrs. Genevieve McCormick, associate professor of speech. She will be married in August and the man is to be Dr. Walter Ost, layfield secretary for the General Conference After the wedding the newlyweds will spend three months in the Far Eastern Division. Following their excursion to the far east, they will return to Avon Park, Florida where they will make their

Mrs. McCormick, in years past, served as Assistant Dean of Women at Walla Walla College. After receiving her M.A. in 1966 from the University of Washington in Seattle, she desired to teach fulltime on the college level in the field of speech. It was at this time that she received the position of associate professor of speech here at SMC. She has since then completed additional studies at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois; University of Michigan in Ann Arbo and Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan.

Mrs. McCormick is a member of the Southern Speech Association, the Speech Association of America, and the American Association of University Women-Music Study Group.

After eight years at SMC, Mrs. McCormick says she is going to hate to leave. For six years of her stay at SMC she has enjoyed being the sponsor of the Student Association Programs Committee. thing I have found most enjoyable here s working with the students rom this, she and her Oral Interpretation lass have put on religious plays almost very year since she's been here. McCormick said that teaching has been er whole life and that it would be hard o give up. "I think this is the great-school and the most wonderful depart-"I think this is the greatest ent to work under

Dr. John Christensen

Other faculty members will be taking their sabbaticals. One will be Dr. John Christensen, professor of chemistry, who will be writing a textbook for "Survey of Chemistry." He has, in past years, been writing abstracts for Chemical Abstracts. to be In 1966, he wrote an article for Treese Times entitled "How Reasonable is Evo-ultion?" He also served as chairman of Ultion?" He also served as chairman of the American absent ultinar le also served as chairman of a subcommittee producing the American Chemical Society Examination in Increganic-Organic Biological Chemistry. This examination was published in December

Dr. Christensen graduated with a B.A. in chemistry from Union College in 1939. In 1946, he received his Master's degree from the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. He majored in Biochemistry, min-ored in Analytical Organic, and wrote his thesis on "The significance and use of these on the significance and use of the Reduction of Sugars of Cold Bene-dict's Reagent." Ten years later, in 1956, he received his Ph. D. from Michigan State University in the same fields as his Master His dissertation was entitled "The Mechanism of Periodate Oxidation of Simple Sugars." Dr. Christensen is also a member of the American Chemical Society

Dr. Christensen, who has been teaching here at SMC since 1955, will be by no means absent during next school year, but will be teaching one section of "Survey of Chemistry." He will return, however, to teach full-time for the 1975-1976

Dr. Lawerence Hanson

Dr. Lawrence Hanson, professor of mathematics, will also be taking his sab-batical next school year. However, as of yet no confirmation has been made as to what his plans for his year of absence will

Dr. Hanson, who has been at SMC for the past eight years, became head of the Math Department in 1969. He previously received his M.A. from the University of California in Davis and his Ph. D. from Florida State University in Tallahassee. His doctorate dissertation was entitled "Inductive Discovery Learning, Reception Learning, and Formal Verbalization of Mathematical Concepts." Dr. Hanson is a member of the Mathematical Associa tion of American and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics

Mr. James Zeigler

Mr. James Zeigler, assistant professor of biology, will be retiring as of the end of this year. Mr. Zeigler graduated with a B.S. from Madison College in 1935. In 1944, he received his M.A. from Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, majoring in Biology Education. He then returned to Madison College where h became professor of biology. In 1965, he left Madison for SMC where he has taught various biology courses. His interests include the entire natural history field, the study of home and marriage, and the repairing of small home appliances.

Mr. Helmut Ott

Due to a necessary cut-back in the language department, Mr. Helmut Ott, assistant professor of modern languages and instructor in spanish, will be leaving SMC. According to administrative policy a professor who enters a department last must be the first to leave if a reduction of staff in that department is necessary Mr. Ott, being the last to join the Modern Language Department in 1971, is the

The tests are also on tapes and students must score at least ninety-five per cent before they can continue on to the next chapter

Mr. Ott intends to take advantage of his situation by working towards his Mas-ter's of Divinity at Andrews University.

Moon & Stepp

Mr. Donald Moon, professor of physical education, and Mrs. Beth Stepp, instructor of nursing, will be away on a study leave. Mr. Moon, who left SMC's campus at the end of last semester, will be returning to teach second semester of next school year. Mr. Moon received his B.A. in Health and P.E. from Andrews University and his M.A. in the same thing from San Diego State College. His thesis was entitled "Immediate feedback in learning the whipkick." He is now working towards his Ph. D. at Florida State

The position of secretary has been given to Gloria Perkins, a freshman business administration major, who received an award in chapel Tuesday for having a typing speed of over ninety words per minute. During this phase of the interview, Gale added "I just don't want people to think I'm chosing my friends.

Another completed facet of the preliminary duties of the student government is the budget proposals. Gale stated that, "Instead of the $2,000 surplus in SA funds this year, we foresee a surplus of $5,000. Steen to join SMC Biology dept.

The Biology Department will take on a new professor next year, and a Bachelor of Science degree will be offered in addition to the present Bachelor of Arts degree. Forty hours will be required for the B.S. including cognate requirements in chemistry and mathematics.

David A. Steen attended SMC and is currently attending Loma Linda University to work on his doctorate. He will be joining the Biology Department of SMC in the fall.

Two new three-hour courses will be offered in Biology next year. Mycology, course number 115, will be a study of fungi with emphasis on mushrooms, molds, and yeasts. Philosophy of Science, course number 123, will involve the study of the theories of origins and the variations among animals today.

others: a supermarket, a laundramat, a pizza restaurant and ice cream parlor, a bank, a clothing store, and perhaps a large department store that would move out of Chattanooga due to increasing harassment over Sunday blue laws.

The projected cost for building the plant runs as high as $500,000. Problems have arisen, however, from a present inadequate sewage disposal system. An application has been submitted for the county to absorb this cost, but in the event this is turned down a cost of $125,000 will be necessary to cover this.

Much has been accomplished toward the feasibility of such a project, as the county has agreed to reroute the road leading into Collegedale from 4-corners. This work will begin in April and involves doing away with the hill between the two, and incorporating three lanes instead of the present two lanes. The road leading to Summit from 4-corners, and the Ooltewah Ringold Road will be resurfaced. These road improvements will provide easy access to the 12,000 people that will serve the shopping center.

Even from these improvements, and from solutions to other problems ahead, it will be at least five years before any building will begin.

"God 'invented Sex" new book by SDA professor

"God Invented Sex," a new book by Dr. Charles Wittschiebe, professor of pastoral care at the Seventh-day Adven-Mich., has been released by the Southern Publishing Association.

Dr. Wittschiebe plans to donate his royalties after expenses to the Fellowship Fund, which assists students needing financial aid at the Seminary.

According to Dr. Wittschiebe, the book does not concentrate so much on the physical aspects of sex as on the mental and emotional factors of sexuality Topics covered include lovemaking, birth control, college marriages, integrated marriages, and divorce.

The book is designed for both married and engaged couples. Dr. Wittschiebe has compiled the questions most frequently asked during his lectures, and has drawn upon his many years of experience as a marriage counselor.

"The way Satan has capitalized on sex tist Theological Seminary, Berrien Springs, lately, you would think he had invented it," said Dr. Wittschiebe. "However, Scrip ture clearly teaches that God invented sex He intended it to be such a beautiful experience that He even used it to illustrate Christ's relationship to the church."

Dr. Wittschiebe noted that sexual problems are rarely caused by physical defects. "Those who do not experience the beauty of sexual performance usually fail because of unhealthy attitudes," he said. 'Sex is more a matter of mind than of

Besides lecturing for Adventist groups in the U.S. and overseas, he has conducted classes in Christian sex education for other churches and public schools in the Andrew University area

Six SMC students embark on "Project England"

May 28 is the scheduled date for a group of nine Adventist youth to embark for a one year "youth ministry" known as "Project England." Three cities in Devonshire, England-Torquay, Exeter, and Barnstaple--will be the field of service for these young evangelists.

The program will have component parts consisting of the Torquay Gate, housework in all three cities mentioned, Andrews University evangelistic field school, street witnessing, youth center ministry, and weekend church ministry.

John Wohlfeil and his wife, formerly of the Heritage Singers, will be the directors of the team. Crystal Norris, and six from SMC-Leclair Litchfield, Mark Drennan, Olga Soler, Scott Hale, Linda Wheeler, and Dennis Hunt-complete the group.

"England is a country desperately in need of the gospel," says Dennis Hunt. He explains, "England has been estimated to be 99 per-cent agnostic. Exeter alone has a population of 94,000 and only 7 Adventist in the city." (There is no record available for the number of other Christian faiths.)

When asked about the financial need of the group, Mark Drennan said, "Yes, there is one! The Lord has been good to us with donations from both the English and American people, but we still need almost $6,000 for the transportation over and back."

Students and faculty can give donations to members of the group; or for a tax deductable donation, send dollars to: Forest Lake Academy, Project England, Box 157, Maitland, Florida.

Ed. note: The following interview was done by Accent staff members Doug Clarke, Duane Hallock, and Doug Faust.

Accent: How are you?

Noorbergen: Good, I just finished a book.

Accent: What is it called, and when will it be out?

Noorbergen: It is entitled The Ark File and it will be out May 15.

Accent: Could you briefly tell us what it is about?

Nuorbergen: Yes, the whole thing is about the people who are looking for Noah's ark and how they are not looking to vindicate the Bible Story. They are looking for the ark for self-glorification. They really don't want anybody to Incy really don't want anyondy to. find the ark. They get glory out of it. Because of that, they would believe anything they get ahold of. The information they come up with is far fetched. So, ve taken some of the latest stories apart. There is a man with a story out about ome Russians that are supposed to have seen the ark on Mount Ararat. I have taken that story apart to the point. There may be a couple of minor highlights in the ret that may be true, but the rest is xaggerated

Accent: Could you tell us a little about the story heard so often concerning the three scientists who sighted the ark and wed never to tell anyone?

orbergen: No one can prove the idea don't think it's possible, but I have the story in the book as a possibility.

Now, what I stumbled on a year or two go in the last part of the book deals with a young man who claims to have worked at the Smithsonion in 1968. They brought in some pieces of the ark and of the budy when. which was supposed to be Noah and he ames a bunch of scientists who worked it. All kinds of details, fantastic dealls on the whole thing, but I tracked it down and I went to France and I went all over the place trying to get the exact details on it. A few weeks ago, this expert just disappeared before we got to his home. He got in his car and took off And he did not come back until late that night until after we had left. We returned and tracked him all day. He agreed to take a lie-detector test on Sunday. His final answer was he would Sunday. This tinal answer was he would not mind taking the test providing he was sure that Noorbergen would never get a hold of the results.

Noorbergen that he didn't know was that there is a thing called PSE. It is sort of a lie detector test that's been developed a couple of years ago. All this thing does is tapes your voice. He came to my hotel room and for two hours we put selected questions on my tape recording. And within seconds it showed that he were him. in seconds it showed that he was lying on the test

You see, there's two frequencies, the AM and also the FM, and when your oice becomes sensitive, and this it does when you try to falsify informa tion, it tenses up your voice box and it depresses the FM frequency. Now you can't hear it when your talking but the PSE can detect it

Accent: Can you show us graph sheets that illustrate lie patterns?

Noorbergen: Here (he points to graphs of the PSE recordings) the guy responds to a question I asked concerning the relevant facts of his story. As he said, "I don't remember it now," the graph becomes open and wide. (Noorbergen adds): Of course he couldn't remember, What he claims never happened, now what he saw. The graph shows a tremendous strain and stress when he tried to put across his story. If he had been telling the truth all these FM peaks would have shown all the way through here. Some other lie patterns showed up when he made the statement: "Marich, one of the m at the laboratory was the one who told me that it was Noah's ark. And that he has the bandages from the mummy of Noah We got so many lie patterns here.

Accent: Can you print those results from these PSE tests?

Noorbergen: Oh, certainly

Accent: Is it accepted by the courts?

Noorbergen: Already the state of Mary-land and the state of California have accepted this as legal evidence. They put John Dean on it, and he turned out to be 100% correct-no stress patterns at all. John Mitchell's was one big mess.

Accent: Why hasn't this come out in Noorbergen: It came out in some magavaries: Time and Newsweck, to give examples, tested this thing on "To Tell The Truth" and it was 94.6 per-cent accurate in showing which man was telling the truth and which man was lying

Accent: Can you pick this up off a Noorbergen: Oh, yes, anything. Al-ready police departments are using it. When they interrogate them and they listen to the guys, ask them questions and they answer back. When the anwers are coming in, he sees patternswide open pattern

Accent: I heard there has been recent speculation that Adam was in the ark.

Noorbergen: Yes, there were various rumors because there is an ancient legend and many old books recorded that Noah was supposed to have taken the body of Adam in the ark and that he prayed be-fore the body of Adam every day. I talked to the body of Adam every day. I tak-ed to the boy again for an interview, and he admitted that he heard the archeologists talking about more bodies in the ark and that they haven't found a way to get the others out.

Accent: Is The Ark File going to be sold by non-Adventist book stores?

Noorbergen: Yes, it will be. Pacific Press is publishing it and they will be working with outside sales organizations to promot selling books to their salesmen in non-SDA book stores. Usually, our church is reluctant to do this because it might affect the sales of the colporteurs, but that's a redic-ulous idea because I think colporteurs don't reach more than 50% of the population

Accent: I talked with Elder Vanderman, I talked with Elder Robert H. Pierson and some other men in Washington and they won't tell me hardly anything about Noah's ark or their expeditions. They're very secretive about i Noorbergen: Elder Pierson, of course, wouldn't stick his neck out. Vanderman and Vanderbilt don't know anything and Vanderbilt don't know anything about it. There's a lot of people you'll talk to that will give you a lot of propaganda. George Wanderman will give you some too. He's been involved in this issue since 1960. Earl Cummings, the oldest wanted to the control of oldest researcher in this field lives in New Mexico. Dr. Hewitt a man in Huntsville, Alabama, claims he is only interested in flowers and botany, and that is why he goes to Mount Ararat. There's a new group now that is called TransWorld and Herb Douglas of the Review is involved in that thing. All wery scretive. They all feel they have got the answer but actually they don't know a thing. It's all very sick. Elder Crawford preaches and talks about finding the ark. You can't believe him.

Accent: Whenever he preaches he always has a piece of the ark

Noorbergen: He knows it isn't. He know as well as anybody else that its really not part of the ark. What happened was that Navara, a frenchman, found this piece of wood in 1955 and claims that this was wood of Noah's ark. Now, this wood has been tested by various laboratories an ti is about 1300 years old. And the ark has to be at least 4000 years old. Also it is not cyprus wood which is gopher wood. It is white oak. The outside he said was made of gopher and the inside was made of white oak. The Bible doesn't

Accent: Have you been on the mountain

Noorbergen: Oh, yes.

Accent: Do you believe personally that the ark is up there?

Noorbergen: Oh, I do. I think so.

Accent: Are they just prowling or finding?

Noorbergen: Well, they are still prowling Noorbergen. Well, they are still prowling for it in an area of 40 sq. miles. A rough mountain territory at a height of about 14,000 feet. All major stories indicate that it's supposed to be at that height. Most of the expeditions that go are always from 2.8 people. It's enough to comb the 40 sq. miles. They are full of enthusiasm. but physically they are not in shape. Once these people get hooked on the case of ark fever, they are gone. They lose all caution, they just go wild. Many times the expedition would end up in a fist fight because each one wants to get the glory

Accent: Do you think it will ever be

Noorbergen: The people who look for it will leave with the attitude that they got the glory out of it. God has protected the irk for 4000 years. I think we should stay completely away from this thing and give it to the church; give them all the in-formation; give them all the financial help that is necessary; and let them find the thing for us. In that case, it makes alot more sense. If we find the ark, they will say they are trying to prove a point.

Accent: When are you planning to go back to Mount Ararat yourself?

Noorbergen: I don't even think I have time. I have camp meetings all summer and next year I'll probably be somewhere in Egypt.

Accent: Some people believe that Mrs. White states the ark will be found before time ends. Is this so?

Noorbergen: Yes, but here she's speaking of the ark of the convenant. I'll probab Noorbergen: Yes, but here she's speaking of the ark of the convenant. I'll probably be looking at something next year about what has been happening or what is happening with the Israeis who are looking for the ark. I've gut some eyewitness accounts, and people saying that they we sen things that are unbelievable. Again, I don't halieva without approach. believe anybody anymore.

Accent: Do you ever have a free mo-

Noorbergen: I'm tied up to writing books until 1978 right now.

Accent: Really? Is this book like a series, like the one on E.G. White? Something like the same idea?

Noorbergen: Well, no. This deals with a Noorbergen: Well, no. This deals with a lot of psychic phenomena about how the devil trys to play God, but he doesn't do it exactly as well as God. He fails and I show why he fails and how and what has show why he fails and how and what has happened and so on. After that I've got Daniel and Revelation coming up. That chook is going to be a hairy one. After hook is going to be a hairy one. book is going to be a hairy one. After that I have plans for an interesting health reform book to show that there is a program to die and a program to live.

Accent: Are Ellen G. White's books copyrighted?

Noorbergen: All the books that Ellen White has written personally and most of them she has written are no longer protected by copyrights because she has wen dead for fifty years. Anyone, can take any of the books written by Ellen white and update it, reprint it, revise it publish it and no one can do one thing about it. Not even the White estates.

Accent: How did they react to someone revising her writing?

Noorbergen: They are not happy about

Accent: Well, thanks for your time, and we'll be looking for your book on May

Fleming Asks Retirement; Mills, Wallack Assigned

Charles Fleming Jr., general manager for finance and development of Southern Missionary College, has requested retirement effective September 25, 1975 after serving SMC for 28 years in various capacities. The Board of Trustees reluctantly approved his request. His plans for after retirement are incomplete at this time.

SMC's president, Dr. Frank Knittel, announced that Fleming will continue as general manager for SMC's industries and enterprises and as chairman of the college's building committee until his

Self has held his current post since his graduation from SMC in May 1971, when he joined the station as a full time employee, prior to that, his experience included the job of production director in his junior year and student manager in his senior year.

Management responsibility is not new to Self. As program manager he has been the individual most responsible for the day-to-day running of the station. Hannum, as director of broadcasting, has given over-all leadership however, his divided schedule--half teaching and half radio station--has limited his involvement.

Self, who recently turned down an offer to manage the radio station at Andrews University, Berrien Springs, Michigan, confidently looks forward to the "challenge and opportunity that the new position presents." "I hope," Self adds, "That the service of the station and the general efficiency can be improved."

Self was born in Mobile, Alabama. He has always lived in the South, taking his high school work at Greater Miami Academy and then attending SMC.

Greg Rumsey, a communication major assumed the title of music director of WSMC-FM after his graduation from here on May 5. Rumsey who currently hosts the hour-long Newsbreak '74 news program and Afternoon Classics, will select all of the music programming. In addition he will begin editing the monthly Program Guide.

Jim Walters, director of development and public relations for WSMC-FM, will continue his theology education in California this fall, Walters came to the station last September from a pastorate in Georgia. He has set up a development program which should be able to continue bringing in approximately $40,000. per year. A person is now being sought who can maintain and further develop the program.

City of Collegedale Will Consider Budget, New Taxes

The Collegedale City Council will start the first of three readings on the city bud-get for 1975 at its regular meeting on May 20, according to Mayor Fred Fuller. Af-20, according to Mayor Fred Fuller. Af-ter the three meetings, the other two coming on June 3 and June 17, the bud-get will be voted. A new tax structure for city real estate taxes will be consider-ed in order to balance the budger. The proposed new rate would add 25¢ per $100 to make a $1.00 rate per $100 assessment evaluation.

"For example," Mayor Fuller said. "For example," Mayor Fuller said, "the average assessment figure in College-dale is around $5,000 percent of the home's value. Therefore, the 75 frate would mean a yearly tax of $37.50. The proposal at the added 25 frate would proposal at the added 25 frate would proposal at the said to the control of the proposal at the said to the control of the proposal at the said to the control of the proposal at the said to the control of the proposal at the said to the control of the proposal at the said to the control of the proposal at the said to the proposal at proposal mean a yearly tax of $50.00, an increase of $12.50

The mayor pointed out that this proposed increase would be the first increase since incorporation. He also indicated that the county tax might go down as a result of the recent new assessment program that has added to the county sessment program that has added to the county's assessment values and revenues.

SMC Representatives Will Visit States and Campmeetings

The college will send five representatives to the local conferences as well as to the campmeetings in the Southern Union. Other SMC personnel will visit the campmeetings. President Frank Knittel will speak at the Carolina dam Kentucky-Tennessee campmeetings, and Elder Ed Zackrison will have a series of talks at the Carolina campmeeting. Dr. Donald Dick will hold a workshop on communication at the Carolina campmeeting, and William H. Taylor will conduct a public relations workshop at the Alabamarelations workshop at the Alabama-Mississippi campmeeting. Dean Kenneth Spears will visit the Florida campmeeting The field representatives for the various local conferences are as follows: Elder K. R. Davis, Florida; Elder Ed Zackrison, Carolina; Dr. Don Dick, Kentucky-Tennessee; Dr. Jack McClarty, Georgia-Cumberland; and William H. Taylor, Alabama-Mississippi.

Oop! We're Sorry!

In the April 24, 1974, issue of the Southern Accent, there was a lengthy interview with author and researcher, Rene Noorbergen, of Collegedale, TN.
The article was transcribed from a tape

The article was transcribed from a tape recorded interview with Mr. Noorbergen concerning his latest book, The Ark File, which will be published May 15.

The Southern Accent wants to apologize to Mr. Noorbergen for giving incorrect impressions to its readers by quoting him out of context and by excerpting desilies and abstractions. tails and allusions without quoting him completely.

Some of the tape was unintelligible and fragmentary; therefore, the transcriber had a difficult time and was unable to transcribe all of Mr. Noorbergen's re-marks verbatim.

Many of Mr. Noorbergen's statements were "off the record" - unavailable for publication - but the transcriber could publication – but the transcriber could not catch all of these exceptions? therefore, some items ascribed to him were actually not available for communication.

The Southern Accent realizes that it should have published a statement in connection with the interview that this was only a partial statement of his remarks. The Southern Accent also wants to apologize to those institutions and individuals that were under discussion in the iduals that were under discussion in the interview since the above errors may have given an incorrect impression of them. Again, our apologies to Mr. Noorbergen and our readers.

Two SMC Grads Plan Cross-Country Jog for Heart Fund

This summmer, Heinz Wiegand of Collegedale, Tenn., and Philip Castleber of Frederick, Md., both in their middle twenties, will jog through 13 Northern US states on their cross country jog benefit for the American Heart Association.

Co-sponsors of the program are the American Automobile Association, the President's Council of Physical Fitness and the American Temperance Society.

The 3,000 mile trip will begin on June 2 in Seattle, Wash., and end at Rehoboth Beach, Del., on August 18, with the team stopping at some 135 towns and cities along the 12 week route to conduct clinics, seminars and fund raising activities.

The jogging team has been preparing several years because they feel a desperate need to make the public aware of the 1 million deaths that occur each year in 1 out of every 10 persons under the age of 35 and in 1 out of every 3 persons over the age of 35, from cardiovascular diseases. There have been several persons to make the 3,000 mile jog cross country, but never on a program basis to help detect, prevent and/or educate the population in regards to heart diseases.

Phil and Heinz have set a goal of $300,000 to be raised for the American Heart Association Fund. The Frederick County (Md.) Heart Association, lnc., is the co-ordinating center for the journey.

All necessities of the team and their assistants will be supplied by sponsors in addition to their donations of one cent for each of the 3,000 miles travele
